GILL SHUTS DOWN ON GAMING DENS

Seattle Mayor Orders Chief of Police to Stop All Open Gambling.

PRIVATE POKER ALL RIGHT

"A Lot of People Seem to Think I Will Run a Wide-Open Town, but I Won't," Says Executive. Orders Will Be Enforced.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12 .- (Special.)-Mayor H. C. Gill has issued orders to Chief of Police C. H. Wappenstein to close all gambling-houses, and to keep them closed during the remainder of the Gill administration. The order followed the receipt of information from J. C. Higgins that games were running openly. Higgins demonstrated to the Mayor that his statements were true and the order was issued forthwith. 'I don't care how many men go into a private room and play poker, but I will not stand for public gambling, said the Mayor this morning. "A lot of people seem to think that I am tolerant and will run a wideopen town, but I won't. I am really glad that this gambling question has been presented to me in a manner that gives me support of a substantial character and makes it certain that I can

"I didn't want to have to bother about police affairs, because there is so much really imortant business of the city to be handled. However, this is the second or third time that I have had to step in and demand that gambling be closed, and I am going to make it my business to se that the games remain closed during the rest of my administration. This order will be carried out."

CONVENTION AT ABERDEEN IS SUCCESSFUL GATHERING.

Glittering Pageants and Mounted Drills by Knights Feature in Grand Lodge Meeting.

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 12 .- (Special.)-Brigadier-General Paul Walsh, of Spokane, declared tonight that the convention of the Knights of Pythias, which began this morning, is the greatest ever held in the history of the organization in the state, due, he says, in a large sense, to the almost perfect arrangements of the local committee. The attendance is upwards of 1000.

Bright skies and cool weather is helping largely to make the gathering a success. This morning the grand lodge of the Knights and the grand lodge of the Knights and the grand lodge of the Pythian Sisters met and listened to well-coming speeches and responses and descriptions. coming speeches and responses and after the appointment of committees adthe appointment of journed until evening.

journed until evening.

The afternoon was given over to the parade of the uniform rank, in which companies of Seattle, Tacoma, Bellingham, Prosser and Camas participated. The drill was one of the best ever held and Seattle again carried off the honors for first place.

The parade tonight was a brilliant feature, there helds many Knights on horse-ture, there being many Knights on horse-back and the Pythian Sisters riding in a long line of automobiles. There were 1500 Knights on foot. The streets were brilliarly illuminated and decorated. After the parade there was exemplifi-cation work in both grand lodges and at midnight the delegates sat down to ban

Supreme Court Sustains Conviction of Wife-Slayer.

OWN WORDS CONVICT HIM

Man Who Kills After He Has De of Premeditated

SALEM, Or., July 12.-(Special.)-The Supreme Court today affirmed the lower court in the appeal of John D. Roselair from the Circuit Court of Washington County. Roselair was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang for killing his wife on May 15, He later confessed that he chided her for giving him milk instead of cream at breakfast, that she made an angry reply and threw the contents of a pan of milk at him, that he struck at the pan with a large knife, missing it and wounding her upon the neck and hands. He discovered, he said, that she could not survive and he then killed her to put her out of her misery.

In appealing, the defense contended that

In appealing, the defense contended that the preliminary proof in relation to taking the confession should have been received in the absence of the jury, the higher court, however, holding that the jury is the exclusive judge of the confession's weight and value as evidence after it appears that the confession was voluntarily made and not extorted by threats or induced by promise of immunity from the penalty prescribed for the crime.

In referring to the insanity plea of Roselair, the court states:

"The line of demarkation between sanity and insanity is so indistinct, in some instances, that it is difficult accurately to be determined even by a physician. It is also perplexing for a medical expert to explain the extent of mental infirmity In appealing, the defense contended that to explain the extent of mental infirmity or to elucidate the degree of intellectual strength so that a person unacquainted therewith may gain a correct idea of the capacity or responsibility of a person whose particular act is the subject of judicial inquiry." The court continues: "In order, there-fore, to adapt the language of a witness to the understanding of men of ordinary intelligence, courts have permitted answers to be given which would seem almost to be given which would seem almost to trench upon the issue that the jury were called upon to determine."

In the appeal of D. R. Trapp, convicted in Baker County of murder in the second degree, the lower court was affirmed. The defendant in this case was a bartender in the saloon of James Reedy, at Huntington, and on July 27, 1908, killed Chris Peterson. The defense was based on the fact that the slayer was intoxi-cated. The Supreme Court could detect no error in the record
