13 IMPLICATED IN FRATERNAL FRAUD

Conspiracy to Wreck Insurance Society Is Charged by Grand Jury.

DISCLOSURES ONLY BEGUN

Merger of Tribunes With Home Circle Followed by Disappearance of Reserve Fund—Big Sums Paid to Conspirators.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 13.—Indictments against 13 persons were returned today by a Rock Island County grand jury, which since May 2 had been going over alleged fraternal insurance frauds.

All those indicted were officers of the American Home Circle or of the Fraternal Tribunes, or concerned in the merger of the two societies in 1908.

This merger is said to have been followed by the disappearance of the Tribunes' reserve fund and the alleged mismanagement of the society's affairs to such an extent that it was ultimately wrecked.

Perjury and Embezzlement Charged.

Those indicted are: Dr. A. L. Craig, C. F. Hatfield and Max J. Franckel, Chicago; H. A. Weld and Robert Rexdale, Rock Island; Thomas W. Wilson, Washington, D. C.; Michael B. Garber, C. H. Walters and George W. Kenney, Springfield; S. S. McIlvaine, Miss Margaret McIlvaine and Otho L. Caldwell, Auburn, Ill.; K. M. Whitman, Aledo, Ill.

Craig, Hatfield, Rexdale, Weld and S. S. McIlvaine were indicted for alleged embezzlement and conspiracy and larceny of the records of the Tribunes, and Franckel, Margaret McIlvain and Caldwell for alleged perjury.

Craig, Weld and Whitham, anticipating their indictments, appeared in court this afternoon and gave bond in the sum of $12,000 each and were released. Capiases were issued for the others and they will be brought in as soon as found and placed under bond.

Official Resignations Bought.

Whitham when the societies were merged two years ago was supreme tribune; Rexdale was supreme secretary, Craig supreme physician and Weld supreme attorney of the Fraternal Tribunes. They conducted negotiations on the part of the Tribunes for a merger, agreeing to resign and give the Home Circle officers control of the united societies. For this they received, it is said, $50,000, Whitham and Craig getting the greater portion. Officers of the Home Circle, who promoted the deal and who took charge after the others resigned, were Wilson, supreme tribune; Garber, secretary; S. S. McIlvaine, treasurer, and Walters, medican examiner. Rexdale became vice-tribune after the merger.

Negotiator Receives $27,000.

Hatfield is a Chicago insurance agent who was employed by the home circle coterie to open negotiations with the Tribunes for which service he, it is alleged, received $27,000. Kenney is an attorney who is alleged to have been employed in the same connection. Franckel, Margaret McIlvaine and Caldwell are alleged to have been holders of dummy notes by means of which reserve and other funds of Tribunes were taken down and dissipated. The last three were witnesses before the grand jury and their indictment for perjury followed the discovery of alleged untruthful statements in their testimony.

Hatfield is said to be in Europe and difficulty is expected in finding several of the other accused.

States Attorney Magill said tonight that the disclosure was only a beginning. More than a dozen fraternal insurance societies, he says, will be involved, if leads brought to light here are followed out.

DELAY PLAYGROUND WORK

Money Not Available to Secure Needed Improvements.

Playgrounds and paraphernalia for their equipment, now under consideration for the Receiving Home of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society will be held back for a time because money is not available for the purpose. William F. Woodward, Frank H. Strong and Robert S. Farrell, the committee having the matter in charge, hope to be able to secure the improvement during the month.

Next to the playground matter, the greatest subject of interest at the monthly meeting of the society yesterday afternoon was the purchase of a suburban site along one of the electric roads for the home. The officers of the society are looking for 20 acres, and the selection of the tract will receive the close scrutiny of Judge W. S. Gilbert, of the United States Court of Appeals, president of the society.

There have been 60 cases handled by society during the past month, 23 of them being new and from the counties of Baker, Marion, Multnomah, Umatilla, Washington and Wallowa. President Gilbert appointed the following standing committees for the year:

Executive—Dr. T. L. Eliot, chairman; Judge Charles E. Wolverton and Mrs. Levi White.

Finance—J. C. Ainsworth, F. E. Beach, and Robert S. Farrell.

Assistant secretary—W. T. Gardner.

SEVEN MINES TO MERGE

Seven-Million-Dollar Company Files Articles of Incorporation.

SALEM, Or., July 13.—(Special.)—One of the largest corporations for mining purposes in the state filed its articles today with the Secretary of State, showing its intention of taking over seven other companies in Baker County.

The company is known as the Sampson Company, is incorporated at $7,000,000 and its principal place of business is given as Bourne, in Baker County. F. Wallace White, George T. Patterson and Piet Atlink are named as the incorporators, and the papers set forth that the corporation plans to take over the following properties: Columbia Gold Mining, Browne Gold Mining, Eastern Oregon Mining, Taber Fraction Mines, Oregon Development, Golconda and Sampson Gold Mining Companies.

INDIAN SCANDAL REVEALED

Land Case Involves Merging of Tribal Laws Concerning Marriage.

The transition of the Oregon aborigine from blankets and "gee strings" as articles of dress as late as 1880 to peek-a-boo shirt waists, expensive millinery and gold-filled teeth, was on Tuesday marked in the United States Court, when a large number of braves and squaws of the Grande Ronde tribe appeared as principles and witnesses in a land case involving the merging of the tribal laws concerning marriage and the white man's notion of that ceremony.

The case involved title to a quarter section of land asserted by Indian Frank Bond as next of kin to Calapooia Jack. The Government's feeble understanding of the intricate system by which Indians secure and get rid of their squaws caused the guardian of the red men to declare that as Jack's wife had survived him, the heir to the allotment of land was her next of kin, Moses Lane, a Tillamook Indian. Frank Bond filled the courtroom with members of his tribe to show that the Tillamook woman had been married and failed to secure a divorce prior to her wedding with Jack.

Clad in modern clothing, but wearing all the colors of an artist's paintbox, expensively trimmed hats of the latest mushroom style, and in one instance the lovely red chin streaked with wide bars of green, the belles of the Grande Ronde seemed to take the delight of their civilized sisters in informing the court of the schandalous conduct of the woman who snared the fleeting affections of Calapooia Jack, without telling him that she had a husband in another reservation.

"Yes, the Indians are becoming very much civilized," remarked an old agent of the Government, who was in attendance. "Nowadays they ride over the hills in automobiles, have pianos in their houses which cost more than the dwelling. It is only 53 years since the great Yakima Indian war in the Northwest, when the tribes were wild."

BOYCOTT LAW PROPOSED

COUNCILMAN ANNAND WOULD MAKE ACT UNLAWFUL.

Bitter Controversy Likely to Be Feature of Consideration, Temporarily Postponed.

Councilman Annand stirred up a hornet's nest in the Council meting yesterday morning by the introduction of an ordinance the provisions of which forbid the placing of a boycott on any firm, and the carrying of banners or the distribution of literature for the purpose of injuring the business of any estabishment.

Councilman Rushlight was quickly on his feet. He moved the reference of the proposed ordinance to the judiciary committe.

"I prefer to have it acted upon now," replied Mr. Annand. "I don't intend to have it go to a committee to be killed."

Mr. Rushlight interposed objection to final passage on first introduction, thus delaying action for two weeks.

Mr. Annand, several weeks ago, introduced an ordinance with the provisions rather beclouded, but which had the same intended effect as the ordinance he introduced yesterday. It was defeated.

That the proposed ordinance will prove objectionable to the labor unions is believed, and one of the most bitter fights in the history of the Council is threatened over it. Its effect, if it should become a law, would be to cut off all boycotting, which the unions declare to be one of their most effective weapons.

Many times the labor unionists have boycotted firms in this city, and have enforced such action to a large measure by the placing of banners carried by men or by printed matter systematically distributed.

HAY GIVES HIS VIEWS

WASHINGTON GOVERNOR OPPOSES DIRECT LEGISLATION.

In Speech, He Declares Change Would Mean Return to Method of Barbaric Forbears.

TACOMA, Wash., July 13.—(Special.)—Governor M. E. Hay, in his address at the annual picnic of the Pierce County Pioneers today, at Lake Sequalitschew, declared himself frankly against direct legislation. After telling of the "folkmoot" or assemblies of the folk in olden times, out of which grew the parliament of today, the Governor continued:

"There are those who now advocate a return to the system that a race outgrew as it emerged from barbarism; that is, a return to the folkmoot in its pristine simplicity. They would have us who are in the midst of a highly organized civilization attempt to govern ourselves with a system that met the needs of a simple, pastoral and barbaric age. They profess to believe, and doubtless many of them do believe, that we wh ooften refuse or fail to drop absorbing vocations and private interests long enough to call a halt to those few representatives who have gone wrong, could and would give the practical and painstaking consideration necessary to secure practical and efficient government by direct legislation.

"To me the proposition would appear ridiculous were it not so dangerous in its portent. The remedy for whatever evils may have crept into this form of government could be applied without changing the form or wrecking the fabric created by the patriots of the revolution and handed down to us by our forefathers."

Multnomah Cases Argued and Set.

SALEM, Or., July 13.—(Special.)—Two Multnomah County cases were argued before the Supreme Court today. One was an action of replevin brought by Charles F. Johnson against Sam Iankovetz, it being contended that Iankovetz received a gun which was stolen from Johnson. The other was an action for damages brought by Richard Shields against the Southern Pacific. Shields asked for $20,000, but was awarded $4850 by the lower court. Cases set for hearing today were: Tuesday, July 26, Smith vs. Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Multnomah County; McCable-DuPrey vs. Holman, Josephine County; Wednesday, July 27, Edmunds vs. Welling, Coos County; Anderson vs. Phegley, Josephine County; Thursday, July 28-Ladd & Bush vs. Roberts, Polk County; Simon vs. Trunner, Multnomah County. The following were admitted to the bar in this state: Henry H. Schwartz, on a certificate from South Dakota; N. B. Nelson, on a certificate from California, and C. E. Ross on a certificate from Michigan.

Dispatcher Held to Blame.

CINCINNATI, July 13.—Albert Smith, train dispatcher for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad at Dayton, was dismissed, officials said today, more than a week ago, for his connection with the Middletown wreck, in which 23 persons lost their lives. General Superintendent E. A. Gould said:

"Smith blundered. That is all their is to it. His habits were good and it is unfortunate that we had to discharge him."

AID TO BEVERIDGE BY T. R. EXPLAINED

Fact Does Not Stamp ex-President as Ally of Insurgents in Party.

SUPPORT NATURAL COURSE

Indiana Senator Only Candidate of Republicans and Is Colonel's Friend — On Other Hand, Roosevelt Will Help Lodge.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 13.—No particular significance attaches to the fact that Theodore Roosevelt will make a speech for his friend, Senator Beveridge, during the course of the Indiana campaign. It is very natural that he should do so, and for two reasons. To begin with, Beveridge is the Republican primary nominee for Senator, and now has no Republican opponent. Secondly, Roosevelt and Beveridge have been close personal friends for a number of years.

As a staunch partisan, and a man who always stands by his friends, Theodore Roosevelt can very consistently and very properly make a speech on behalf of Senator Beveridge, for in so doing he is working for the Republican ticket in Indiana, and for a friend who, were the conditions reversed, would do the same for him.

But this is absolutely all there is to the Roosevelt-Beveridge incident. The fact that the ex-President has promised to make this speech does not commit him to the cause of insurgency, as against the course of the Taft Administration, for in Massachusetts he will aid Senator Lodge, another personal friend, closer to him than Beveridge, but for all that a recognized leader of the regular element in the Senate.

Lodge Given Support First.

If Roosevelt's support of Beveridge signified his hearty sympathy with the insurgents and his disapproval of the course of the regulars, why would the ex-President help Lodge in his fight for re-election? If he regarded insurgency as a vital question, he could not support both Lodge and Beveridge. Yet he pledged his support to Lodge before he offered to help the Indiana Senator, and now has promised to aid both men, who are candidates for re-election during the coming Winter.

Clearly, Colonel Roosevelt is not regarding the insurgent movement as seriously as some insurgents would have the country believe. It is true he has conferred at Oyster Bay with a considerable number of insurgents, with more insurgents than regulars, but it is also true that the insurgents sought the interviews in almost every instance. La-Follette wrote for an interview and had it; Bristow, Murdock and Madison of Kansas also visited Oyster Bay, but at their own request they were invited. Poindexter also went on an invitation which he solicited. Beveridge, however, and Fish of New York were invited by Mr. Roosevelt. But so was Senator Lodge, Senator Warren, of Wyoming, and several other regular leaders with whom the ex-President had been on very friendly terms while he was in the White House.

This talk of Roosevelt being an out-and-out insurgent and a critic of the Taft Administration because the President has seen fit to rebuke his insurgent critics, is all bosh. Had it been otherwise, the whole insurgent contingent in Congress would have carried out the programme of marching up Sagamore Hill to receive that for which they craved, the Roosevelt approval.

Pilgrimage Is Postponed.

They found, early in the game, that the ex-President was not disposed to approve insurrection against the Taft Administration, and the "one grand pilgrimage" was indefinitely postponed. The insurgents became satisfied early in the game that Theodore Roosevelt is first of all a Republican.

To date, the visiting insurgents have come away from Oyster Bay with very little of a substantial nature to cheer them in their fight on the regular organization. Without exception they have left the Roosevelt presence wearing broad, expansive smiles; they have all been "delighted" with their reception, but with the exception of Beveridge, they have nothing material to show as a result of their entreaties, and Poindexter, for attempting to misrepresent the ex-President, has been handed a certificate entitling him to membership in the Annanias Club.

He is the first new member of that organization since the triumphal return.

INSURGENCY A FLURRY

VISITOR FROM NATIONAL CAPITAL DECRIES MOVEMENT.

Present Political Condition Said to Be One of Usual Turmoils in Party Ranks.

"Insurgency is nothing more than personal ambition," said George Uhler, of Washington, D. C., at the Portland Hotel last night. "Men see a chance to ride into office on a popular wave and later they ride out. There will be stalwarts when there is not an insurgent in the country. Insurgency is just a big flurry that will amount to nothing and in the end you will see the Republican party line up where it belongs.

"We have had these upheavals before, but they died out. For a time there is always a great clamor, then it simmers down until there is nothing to it. The men who start the agitation are soon lost quantities in politics and are forgotten. Personal ambition is at the bottom of it all.

"Politics are certainly mixed just now. Look at Ohio. I am surprised that Jimmy Garfield should open an insurgent campaign in that state. His attitude complicates matters more than ever in the Buckeye State. Garfield is a very able young man and I believe Colonel Roosevelt thinks more of him than any other one man in the United States. He was closer to Roosevelt when the latter was President than any man in Washington. It is a terrible condition of affairs.

"None of the radicals like to be called 'insurgents.' It is a bad word. They prefer to be called 'progressives.' But this agitation does not pay. Look at Dolliver and Cummins in Iowa. Dolliver was once the idol of the people, and Cummins was well thought of, but sentiment is changing. Wherever insurgency has taken hold and become victorious, you find a sentiment changing against it. So it will be all over the country. The whole movement will die out and the men who stirred up the trouble will be down and out."

MOURNING MARS VACATION

Little Son of Federal Attorney McCourt Dies on Eastern Trip.

Wilbur McCourt, 4-year-old son of United States District Attorney John McCourt and Mrs. McCourt, died at St. Luke's Hospital, Denver, Colo., Tuesday afternoon of spinal meningitis.

The family will arrive in Portland Friday night with the body, which will immediately be placed on a private car on the Oregon Electric road for Salem. The funeral will be from the home of Mrs. W. F. Boothby, mother of Mrs. McCourt, and the body will be interred in the old family burying plot of the McCourt family.

Mr. McCourt and his family were on the way home when they stopped at Denver. They have been on a vacation trip through the East, the first time that he has been absent since he took office. They went to Minneapolis on June 4, where Mr. McCourt aided in taking evidence in the Smith timber land cases, and then went on to Washington by request of the Attorney-General. After a conference with him the McCourts visited New York, Niagara, St. Louis and Denver.

Wilbur, the youngest son, was taken ill on Sunday and was immediately sent to the hospital. The best surgeons and physicians of that city were sent to Mr. McCourt and every effort that Thomas B. Ward, United States Attorney for Colorado, and other Government officials could put forth to aid the recovery of the little boy was made. It is believed that the intense heat which has prevailed in the East and Middle West was the cause of the sudden attack.

The McCourts are not left childless, having an older son, John, Jr. The latter is a sturdy boy 6 years of age.

Assistant United States Attorney Walter H. Evans was yesterday apprised of the death of Wilbur, and requested to take charge of affairs at this end. "We are heartbroken," was the message from Mr. McCourt.

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED

Tried Many Remedies but Grew Worse —Impossible to Do Housework —Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"About six years ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water I was in agony; if I tried to cook, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but without the least satisfaction. After about a year of this suffering, I got my first relief when I tried Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. After using them for a week I found to my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and in a little while my hands were cured by using only one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. I am very thankful to say that I have had no return of the skin disease since. I shall be glad if you will publish this so that others may know of Cuticura. Mrs. Minnie Drew, 23 Danforth St., Jamaica Plain, Mass., April 20, 1910."

For thirty years Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded speedy relief to tens of thousands of skin-tortured and disfigured sufferers from eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations and chafings, from infancy to age, bringing comfort and peace to distracted households when all else failed.

The Royal Prize Toast-Test Contest

For the guidance of Prize Contestants, we give below ingredients contained and methods employed in the manufacture of Royal Table Queen Bread:

Table Queen contains more pure, sweet milk than is used in any other bread.

Table Queen is made from a blend of equal parts of the best bluestem flour of the Pacific Coast, and fancy patents from Minnesota and Dakota.

Table Queen is mixed by the latest improved machinery, avoiding the necessity of handling it, and under the supervision of one of the most scientific bread mixers in the world.

Table Queen is baked by the highest-paid and most skilled bakers in the United States, in white enamel-faced steam ovens of the most improved and costly type on the market.

Table Queen is delivered by the highest class of deliverymen in the service of any bakery on the Pacific Coast—all neatly uniformed.

Table Queen is carried in wagons which are built to special order, and which rival in finish and appearance a Pullman coach.

Table Queen wagons are drawn by the best horses that money can buy, dressed in the highest grade brass-mounted harness, carefully cleaned and polished daily in the most up-to-date stable ever constructed in the City of Portland, in charge of an expert stable manager, assisted by a crew of kind-hearted men, who pride themselves on grooming forty of the best horses in Oregon without a whip or a cross word.

THE real test of pure bread, it is conceded by all, comes in the toasting of it.

EACH and every baker and housewife knows that no matter what ingredients they have used, it is always most difficult to produce a bread which, when toasted, will retain the same taste and flavor it possessed before toasting.

SO, FOR years, producers of bread have vied with each other to solve this troublesome problem in a manner which would enable them successfully to produce a bread that would not lose its taste and flavor when toasted.

THEREFORE, it is a matter of no little pride with us to be able to announce that we have assembled (after scientific study of the case) a mixture of various ingredients, many of which are brought across the continent, which enables us to guarantee that our bread will stand the Toast Test, and positively retain its original superior flavor. Test!

THE conditions by following which you may win a prize in the Royal Toast Test are simple and easily followed.

ONE of the first things to do is to procure a loaf of Royal Table Queen Bread, and toast it. Then note carefully the distinctive features, when compared with any other bread (not even excepting home-made).

AFTER you have eaten and enjoyed the toast, take pen and paper and write down briefly the points as you have found them in which Royal Table Queen Toast surpasses all others. This will not be difficult, but be careful to overlook none of them.

SECOND, write your name and address at the bottom of the sheet, as legibly as possible. This is very important, as otherwise the judges may not be able to award you a prize. Give name in full and street number.

THIRD, place this in an envelope, direct it to Royal Toast-Test Contest, Room 433, Mohawk Bldg., and mail it. We want to know how many there are who realize the superiority of this Royal Dainty—so easily prepared, yet so pure, so nutritious and so exquisitely delightful—Test Toast!

NOT only the housewives, but the men, and even the children, are invited to compete, for we want every family to study over this subject, understand it thoroughly and fully, and appreciate the genuine goodness of Royal Table Queen Toast.

DO YOU know what this contest means to you? It not only means you will get a prize if you follow the conditions, but it means still more—that you will learn even better than before the unequalled qualities of Royal Toast when made from Table Queen Bread.

WE KNOW the quality which goes into every loaf of Table Queen Bread. We know that toasting does not drive out its delicate and inimitable flavor, and now we want you to know it, too.

IF YOU get the first prize it is equivalent to $5.00; second means $3.00; third, $2.00; fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth, a dollar each, and even if you are not among the lucky ten, you will get two loaves of delicious Table Queen Bread—the Bread made in the cleanest and most sanitary bakery on top of this earth—for your pains. That is, provided you follow the conditions carefully and in good faith.

NOW, the contest opens today, Thursday, July 14. It closes one week from today, July 21. This gives you ample time to study the merits of Royal Table Queen Toast. Try it for breakfast and taste it appreciatively, then compare it with others, and you will discover reason after reason why Royal Toast is the best, and why we believe in it. Test Toast and Win!
