SEATTLE KIDNAPS HIBERNIAN CHIEF

President Cummings Is Not on Train Met by Reception Committee.

Arriving Delegates Are Met at Vancouver and Brought Into Portland Automobiles - Visitors

Will Be Dined Today.

Kidnaped at Seattle, Mathew Cummings, National president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will not arrive in Portland until an early hour this morning.

The Seattle spirit also succeeded in restraining the wishes of other officials who were to have been aboard the train which was met at Vancouver by the Portland reception committee. Among them were National Vice-President James J. Regan. National Secretary James T. McGinnis, National Director

James T. McGinnis, National Director John D. Kennedy, state secretary of Hilmois, D. S. Tuohy, Rev. George A. Daugherty, of Washington, D. C., Miss Anna C. Malia, National president of the Ladles' Auxiliary, and Mrs. Mary McCarthy, National vice-president.

The party was invited to join their Seattle hosts in an automobile ride over the city, and having a few hours to spend, they accepted. The Puget Sound folk set back their watches, and with an engaging degree of hospitality kept the distinguished lodge officers entrancingly engaged until after the train was well on its way to Portland.

Party Comes in Automobile.

The Portland reception committee met their guests at Vancouver and hav-ing transferred them to a rose-andbanner-decorated car, accompanied the delegates to next week's convention to the Grand Central Station. After disembarking, the party was placed aboard 15 automobiles, and with the combined flags of Ireland and the United States (Introduction from the Central States) ring from the fronts of the ma-s, the visitors were escorted to headquarters at the Imperial

Among the arrivals last night were Rev. Phillip H. O'Donnell, of Boston, the man who was chosen to accompany President Cummings on a mission to Ireland in April, 1809. The distinguished Irish-Americans were charged with at-tempting to unite the Irish people for their own advancement in educational, political and other directions.

"The measure of success which came to our mission will be made plain in the convention of next week," said Rev. Mr. O'Donnell last night. "The big thing of the convention will be the movement to ratify the work of the National Board along the same lines. Father Peter C. Yorke, known as one of the greatest speakers of the Irish race on the Pacific Coast, is to arrive on the Shasta Limited tomorrow afternoon. He will speak at the Armory on Sunday night, and it is announced that a number of excursions are to be arranged to accommodate those who desire to hear him. Father Yorke is known as a consistent friend of laboring men. He will be the guest of the Christian Brothers College and Archbishop Christie while in Portland. Brother V. Andrew, of the college, is in charge of the reception which will be tendered the prelate upon his arrival. Cummings Boosted for Re-election. Cummings Boosted for Re-election.

The delegates who arrived in the city The delegates who arrived in the city yesterday were unanimous in the support of the re-election of President Cummings and the present National board of directions. They are positive that the opposition to their favorite will fail to poll a sufficient number of votes to make the contest dangerous. The great argument in favor of the Cummings slate appears

MANY DEMOCRATS IN OREGON REGISTER AS REPUBLICANS

Democratic registration frauds are glaringly revealed in comparison of party registration and party vote for President in 1905; also in the partial totals of this year's party registration. The Democratic vote for President in 1908 was 38,049, whereas the official registration for the general election of that year was 28,788. Thus, the Democratic vote exceeded the Democratic registration by 2561.

The Republican vote, however, was 18,391 short of the Republican registration. Here, then, is presented the strange phenomenon of a Republican vote far short of registration, and a Democratic vote far in excess of registration. The conclusion is natural and inevitable that thousands of Democratic voters registered as Republicans, in order to participate in the Republican primaries in April, 1908, and that they voted their own party ticket in the election.

This same false registration Democrats are repeating this year. Returns from the several counties up to July 2, and from Multnomah up to July 9, show a total of 13,036 voters registered as Republicans and 2173 registered as Democrats. While, therefore, the registration two years ago was almost three Republicans to one Democrat, this year it has been more than four Republicans to one Democrat.

The official registration in 1908 and the official vote for President that year are as follows:

William O'Connor Thinks This City Is Inland Empire's Market.

William O'Conner, of Walla Walla, an Oregon pioneer who is heavily interested in lands in Eastern Oregon and Washington, arrived in the city yesterday, to remain a few days. Mr. O'Conner likes Portland so well that he would come here to live if it were practical to do so, but says that he must be contented only with occasional visit.

In discussing the relation of the Inland Empire to Portland, from a commercial standpoint, Mr. O'Conner declared that it was a mistake that all of Eastern Washington south of Snake River was not included in Oregon at the time Washington and Idaho were carved out of the original "Oregon country."

"I believe it was decreed by nature that our part of the country should have remained in the old Oregon territory," said Mr. O'Conner. "It was destined that that district with its fertile soil and National Board along the same lines.

"Contrary to reports, I doubt if the name of Colonel Roosevelt will be mentioned in the convention. It is true that President Cummings differed with Mr. Roosevelt's London speech dealing with the government of English colonies. Cummings differed with Mr. Roosevelt in the same open manner that the Colonel acted, and it is not a server, and I believe that shipping between ever, and I believe that shipping between the Inland Empire generally and Port-land will soon reach such magnitude that this city will control practically all the business. There will be very little left for Tacoma or Seattle."

However, the members declared emphatically that it was their idea to be on the safe side, and when W. C. Van Dyck "Quality" Cigars

Hach leaf is chosen with painstaking care—then mellowed into exquisite fragrance and flavor on native soil, before shipment to our factory in Tampa, Fla. Here we employ only the most skilled Cuban workmen—the best cigar makers in the world.

So, by importing the leaves and the workmanship, but not the cigar, we put duty money into more quality. And the "Van Dyck" price is just half, the value double, that of the Cuban made cigar of equal quality. In 27 Different Shapes larkey, in discussing his stand, said he wished to make clear his position in advance of the meeting today in order that the impression might not arise that he had gone to the other side after failing of the recommendation. He has had the matter under con-sideration for some time past, having been widely urged to enter the race, but heretofore has not indicated his po-sition regarding the assembly. Mr. Ma-larkey has served three terms in the Legislature, in 1993 as Representative and in 1995 and 1997 as Senator.

TAFT PARDONS MINISTER

Man Is Convicted of Using Coins in Making Plaster Molds.

WASHINGTON, July 15 .- President Taft has granted a pardon to take effect July 17, the date his term will expire, to Rev. James R. Kaye, who is now serving a term of six months in the Peoria House of Correction for making molds in the similitude of silver coin. Kaye had filled pulpits in Presby-terian churches at Lincoln and Wheaton, terian churches at Lincoln and Wheaton, Ili., and whie at the former place to increase his Sunday School attendance he conceived the idea of offering medals to children. In experimenting with a view to making the medals he made plaster molds, using coins as a model.

The experiment was unsuccessful and the molds were thrown away. Subsequently they were found and Mr. Kaye was arrested for violating the law. He was twice tried, the first time being sentenced to two years. This was reduced to six months at a second trial.

It was said in Kaye's behalf that there was no fraudulent intent involved and the

was no fraudulent intent involved and the President, in order to re-establish his citizenship, granted him a pardon.
