Portand clinched first place by trimming the Oaks yesterday in the third straight game, by a score of 3 to 2. The Mackmen game, by a score of 3 to 2. The Mackmen nailed the game by scoring all the runs in the first inning, when they were favored by the muffing of a third strike by Catcher Mitze, which bobble was followed by an error by Nelson and a couple of healthy hits one of the latter being a triple by George Ort.

It was ladles' day, too, and the dear ones, clad in their finest openwork Summer regalia, were there in droves, and succeeded in stirring up the enthusiasm at inopportune times, as usual. The girls did not care who made the sensational plays, or the long hits; they applicuded anyway. The bevy of charming though talkative ones who perched back of the press box yelled themselves so hoarse that they must have had difficulty explaining to the worse half on their late arrival home.

Steen in Pitcher's Box.

Sweet Six Steen was on the hilitop for Portland, and the Oaks went to the bench in order in the opening rounds in Port-land's half, the procession was around the sacks, instead of to the water bucket, and, naturally, this pleased the bugs and Buddy Ryan was the first assallant to face "Slim" Nelson, who, though defeated, allowed but half the hits his teammates found off Steen. Ryan whiffed at the third pitch, but Catcher Mitze was on the ob with buttered fingers, Buddy reaching first before the backstop could recover the elusive sphere. I van Olson then dumped a sacrifice at the slim person, who picked the ball up, but heaved somewhat wide to the first corner, Cutshaw failing to hold the ball in the mitt he stuck out to

This put two Portland men on bases and none out, when Bill Raps advanced both with a sacrifice, George Ort smashed one to center, which took a hop away from Carroll, and before it was recovered Ryan and Olson had scored, and Ort was perched on third. Captain Casey then pulled a squeeze hunt which tailled Ort, though he went out at first on the toss from Nelson. Total, three runs for Portland, which proved enough to win.

the eighth inning the Oaks became most threatening, for they succeeded in filling the sacks, but Steen settled and disposed of Bill Hogan without damage.

In the ninth, the visitors put over the second run, but that was all for them. Carroll opened with a double to center, and took third on Cutshaw's sacrifice. Wares went out at first, but Thomas, who succeeded Milze, singled. Lively, batting for Nelson, falled to negotiate, and the game was over. game was over.

BLUEJACKETS' BASEBALL TEAM ISSUES CHALLENGE.

Members of Yorktown's Crew Have Fast Nine and They Are Anxious to Demonstrate It.

BLUE JACKETS WANT GAME. The baseball team of the gunboat baseball team in Portland to play a game tomorrow afternoon. Any team desiring to play a game with the blue jackets should call No. C 2540. Home telephone, which con-nects with the ship, and ask for the baseball manager.

The blue jackets aboard the gunboat Yorktown have taken such an active part in Portland affairs since the warship anchored in the Willamette, assisting in fighting fires and doing other things that make them feel so other things that make them feel so much at home, that they have challenged any amateur baseball team in the city to play a game tomorrow afternoon. Although the men of the Navy are floating around the world most of the time and must practice in cramped quarters, except at long intervals when they have an opportunity to be ashore, it is said they have a team that will give any "landlubber" organization a sharp contest. As the challenge was not issued till last night no local team has had the opportunity to accept. There are several local teams that are fast on the diamond and it will be hard fast on the diamond and it will be hard to convince them that bunch of sailors can defeat them at the National sport. The Yorktown was a drawing card for hundreds yesterday afternoon, and the sailors were delighted at the op portunity to show Portlanders their General Walter Howe, commander of the Department of the East, however, acting as reviewing authority, passed on the case today and disapproved the finding of the court. General Howe said:

court. General Howe said:

"The evidence clearly shows that Captain Lyon first received the ball cartridges in question in April, 1906, and that in August of that year he had not only 2500 rounds (in three original packages) as reported on his ordnance returns for the period ending June 30, 1908, but also approximately 20 rounds company.

"From the evidence, the only reasonable and probable explanation of the apparent surplus was that too many rounds had been dropped as expended June 30, 1906. This surplus was covered by firing in supplementary practice during the month of October and not dropping any as expended during the period ending December 31, 190s, and by taking up that time 200 rounds as surplus.

"The reviewing authority has no doubt, from the evidence, that the exact condition of his ammunition was known to Captain Lyon, especially after his inspection following the Brownsville affair. As the question of ammunition entered so largely into all the subsequent investigations, there is no reason why he was unable before the court of inquiry to give exact and full information thereof, except his desire information thereof, except his desire to cover up the error in his returns and certificates.
