Eugene Krapp's wildness lost a game to the Oakland bunch yesterday which would otherwise have been converted into a Portland victory. He walked two men in the fifth inning, and this happening to be combined with an excusable error by Ivan Olson, gave the Wolverines a 2-to-1 decision over the home guard. It also lost Portland a chance to clinch the series, which resulted in three wins for Oakland and a similar number for Portland.

That fatal fifth inning acted like a wet blanket on the enthusiasm of the Portland fans, who were present in large numbers, though they did not catch a wink of sleep. The Oakes pitched good but gassy with Jack Lively in the eighth. The bid Portland made for the game was crushed into oblivion when the game tied at 1-1 in the eighth. Lively with all his skill to Gus Fisher, Portland's heavy-hitting backstop, and then fanned him out with the bases loaded. A hit would have won the game for McCredie, but Gus could not solve Lively.

Trouble in Fifth.
Krapp started trouble for himself in that fifth canto by hitting Wares, the first man up. Thomas sacrificed him to second, and when Lively hit sharply to Olson, the shortstop standing up at third, but unfortunately the toss to Helling failed to reach the baseman's hands, bounding off Wares' shoulders to the grandstand. Wares fell at third, and Helling, who retrieved the ball, tossed wildly to the plate, allowing the score, and Mr. Lively to skid in, in a most lively manner into the arms of catcher Swander. Krapp beat out a tap to Wolverton, and then Maggart padlocked the game by scoring Lively with a single to left, giving the Oakes a 2-1 lead.

Rally Not Effective.
A grandstand rally was undertaken by the Portland in the eighth, but the one run scored when Fisher fanned. Speas was the first man, and sat down on a skier by Maggart. Krapp beat out a tap to Wolverton, and Buddy Ryan slammed a single, his third hit of the day, to center. Olson then connected for a liner to left, which was caught by Maggart, and on this account Krapp held second, but the Oakland out-gardener merely flagged the ball, and Krapp just managed to reach third, hitting the bases. With any kind of luck Krapp should have scored on the play, and Ryan taken third. However, Bill Rapppe proved a good fielder, and his pass to first forced Portland's only run, and still the bases were populated. This put it up to Gus Fisher, and he tried hard to hit it, and would off several before he finally fanned him on a healthy swing, and he was out. Martine then had a chance to distinguish himself, but he could only hit to center for an out, ending the excitement.

Fielding Stunts Sensational.
All during the game sensational fielding stunts were pulled off by the players of the rival clubs. Casev, Ryan, Olson, Maggart and Wolverton being the special stars. In the ninth inning Tommy Sheehan had his first chance to figure in a Pacific Coast League game since 1906, the year he went to the big brush. Speas was sent in to bat for Sheehan, and with George Ort on first in place of Helling, who was taken out after getting on because of Chahwa's error, which Maggart gathered in sensationally, and doubled Ort at first. It was a great catch and a fine throw, connecting one of the nearest plays seen this season. The face of that sort of playing Portland had not much chance.

TEENAGE LOBBY WILL OPEN TODAY

All in Readiness for Oregon State Meet on the Irvington Courts.

FAST PLAYERS ENTERED

Week of Entertainment Carefully Planned by Multnomah Club to Give Royal Good Time to Visiting Guests—Drawings Made.

The twelfth annual Oregon state tennis tournament to be held under the auspices of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club this year, opens this morning on the courts of the Irvington Tennis Club, and at 10 o'clock the first matches will be played. The recent fire destroyed the Multnomah Club buildings and damaged the courts, whereupon the Irvington Club immediately placed its courts at the disposal of the Multnomah folk.

This year's tournament will be especially interesting for the reason that Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, National woman champion, and Nat Emerson, one of the foremost tennis players of America, are among those who will compete. Other notable tennis experts from various parts of the Northwest are also entered, and among these are: Carl Lewis and M. B. Judd, of Seattle; W. R. Du Bois and A. R. Munger, of Vancouver, Wash., and Schuyler Purford, of Tacoma.

Emerson Plays Today.
Emerson, who is now a resident of North Tahoma, Wash., was formerly of Cincinnati, and in 1908, at the end of the tennis championships of the country, he was ranked seventh best man in America. The ranking list that year was as follows: W. A. Larned, Beals C. Wright, F. B. Alexander, W. J. Clothier, R. D. Little, Robert Le Roy and Nat Emerson. Emerson's first match in this tourney will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when he is scheduled to meet Ames.

Theater Party Planned.
On Wednesday night a theater party has been arranged in honor of the guests, who will attend the Orpheum Theater Friday night. The regular social night of the Irvington Tennis Club, and this organization has issued invitations to all of the visitors and local entries in the tournament to attend this affair, which will mark the climax of the entertainment.

Evening the week one of the women of the Multnomah Club will have charge of the serving of refreshments and the looking after of the comfort of the guests. Today this detail will be in charge of Mrs. L. M. Starr.

Cartwright got six hits in the two games, one a triple. The score: R. H. E. | R. H. E. | Seattle ... 3 | 9 | Spokane ... 9 | 11 | 1 Batteries—Zackert, Henkle and Hemmenway; Holm and Shea. SWAIN BRINGS $1800 TO BROWN

Vancouver Outfielder to Go to Washington Next Season.
SEATTLE, Wash., July 17.—(Special.)—Before leaving for Spokane tonight Bob Brown, manager of the Vancouver club, confided in the report that he had a deal on with Washington in the American League for Charles Swain, right fielder and formerly a member of the Spokane team.

"What is more to the point," said Brown, "I have completed the negotiations but will not deliver the player until the close of the present season. The price was $1800."

Since the opening of the season, Brown has sold Pitcher Gardner to Pittsburgh, Third Baseman Brown to Cincinnati, and Swain to Washington. Adding the sum received for these players to what he got from his deals with Calgary, the total amount is practically $6500.

Fandom at Random

The only game Oakland had any chance to win last week was that in which Portland beat "Silm" Nelson. The three games the Oaks did win were gifts from the home team.

Whenever Gene Krapp loses a game it is usually his own fault. It is on balls generally turn Krapp into runs when the gingerly little pitcher occupies the mound.

While Olson's poor peg virtually lost the game yesterday, the shortstop played with a fine game otherwise that the fans readily forgave the hitting of Wares.

All the games in the series just completed have been hard-fought affairs. Portland broke even with the Oakes, even though out-hit by the visitors throughout the series.

Gus Fisher felt about as bad as a Portland policeman in his "Little German Band" cap when he fanned in the eighth inning. But like the policeman, the Gus simply could not help it. He tried hard.

Mr. Maggart, a dark-haired chap who chatters about the Oakes, was very much on hand during yesterday's matinee. He pulled off several porch-climbing stunts which earned him considerable applause.

In the first inning Maggart spanked one of Krapp's offerings at a mile-a-minute gallop towards left field. Buddy Ryan chased over to the line to intercept the ball, but it was needless, for Gus Helling stubbed and held it in a star play.

In the sixth Carroll figured in a play that came close to taking the ginger out of the home team. Olson was perched on second with two down, and Fisher uncoiled a drive toward the center field fence. Carroll, after a hard run, pulled it down.

If this fellow Jack Lively is not a big league pitcher next season, it will be because he chucks a way his own work. He has everything any pitcher has, and is steady as a clock. His exhibition of fanning Fisher with the bases full should be enough to warrant his being taken East immediately.

Umpire George Hildebrand is improving nicely in his work. He is ambitious to make good as an umpire, and is trying hard all the time. He did splendidly yesterday, in view of the fact that he worked behind two of the hardest pitchers in the league. Both Krapp and Lively have such peculiar breaks on the ball that it takes a keen eye to get them accurately.

President Graham seems to be using poor judgment in not allowing the double umpire system to be used here during the series between the Seals and the Beavers, for this is bound to be one of the hardest series of the season. Umpire Finney was ordered South last night, while Hildebrand remains over to work alone unless another indicator handler comes North with Mohler.

A surprise was sprung on Joe Stutt, one of Portland's fight fans who returned from Reno yesterday. Joe poses as a wise one, and in San Francisco some friends jebbed him by having an expert "dip" pick his pockets. The chap cleaned Joe and the friends expressed the loot to the victim's partner. Now the gang has the laugh on the "handsome" one.

YACHT SPARROW VICTOR IN RACE

Oregon Club Boat Gets Hold on Handsome Trophy Offered for Series.

MEYERS' BOAT RUNS AWAY

So Handily Does Craft Take Wind That Real Contest Results in Fight for Second Place.

Regatta Next Sunday.

Max Meyers' yacht Sparrow, by winning yesterday's free-for-all handicap race for the Oregon Yacht Club course, which lies from the Oaks to the Madison street bridge and return, retained the supremacy of the Oregon Yacht Club fleet and also got a leg on the handsome trophy put up by that institution for the winner of the most races out of a series of five.

Two of this series of races have been run this year, and the first one was won by Art Sholin's Swallow. The Sparrow won yesterday's contest with a margin of 18 minutes.

All Off Together.
With but a fair up-stream breeze blowing, the craft lined up at the starting point and were off together. The Sparrow was slightly behind the other craft at the start, but before over three tacks had been covered the Sparrow had forged into the lead and was never headed.

With the Sparrow so far in the lead, the race developed into a great struggle for second place between Francis D'Arcy's Dancing Sal, George Bannan's Zephyr and Art Sholin's Swallow. By skillful maneuvering D'Arcy's craft came in second, followed five seconds later by the Swallow and with the Zephyr close in the rear. Owing to the handicaps, the Zephyr was allowed second honors, the Swallow third, while the Dancing Sal had to take fourth.

Wind, Changing, Helps Race.
At the start of the contest a poor up-stream wind was blowing, but before the craft had reached the downstream buoy this had increased to a spanking breeze before which the craft, with spinnakers set, fairly flew up the river.

The Oregon Yacht Club is contemplating the holding of the unfinished Vancouver regatta contests next Sunday for the Oakes and the Vancouver citizens. A dinghy race probably will be held simultaneously with these races.

The Sparrow is last year's champion, and has never been beaten in a class race.

SACRED MUSIC PRECEDES GAME

When Batteries Start Ball Contest, Sheriff Makes Arrests.
ELMIRA, N. Y., July 17.—The New York State League game, between Elmira and Syracuse, was stopped today by Sheriff Day, who arrested four of the local players on the charge of violating the law against Sunday baseball.

A sacred concert preceded the ball game. Admission was charged to this, and when it was concluded it was announced that the game would be postponed.

WE WROTE HIM DISCOURAGINGLY

It gives us the blues to get a letter from the parent who has a child with Diabetes, for while recovery in Bright's and kidney disease is the rule in all ages, yet in young Diabetic patients our percentage of recoveries has been small.

Hence we wrote Keller the facts, but the disturbed father insisted on putting the boy on Fulton's Diabetic Compound and we now learn with great satisfaction that we have been of much help to this distressed family. But read the letter:

KELLER'S DRUG STORE.
Buffalo, S. C., Feb. 19, 1910.
John J. Fulton Company.
Gentlemen:—About a year and a half ago we made a special order of your compound, having one patient in view. This was a boy of 16 years old with a full fledged case of Diabetes. His father had been told by physicians that nothing could be done and that he could live at longest about six months.

You gave very little encouragement at that age, almost advising against the treatment, but his father was willing to try it, and the case yielded to the compound from the start. He became much better.

But he gets so far and no further. The specific gravity will drop to 1025 and even to 1020 and stay so for a week at a time when it will jump 1042, and there is always albumen present.

Now note—he has been taking the treatment for over a year, so even though you do not expect a permanent cure, this case seems to be yielding to the treatment in a sense. Can you not advise me of some additional treatment? There is no physician attending him now and has not been for some time. You are truly,
GEORGE T. KELLER.

It has been a common experience that when the sugar disappears in Diabetes albumen shows for a while, and in view of the above, we shall not be surprised at a recovery in the case of this sixteen-year-old boy. Our physician will follow with special measures to eliminate the albumen and we would be delighted to add the recovery of this young Diabetic to our list.

In people of middle age and over with Diabetes, recovery under this treatment in nearly nine-tenths of the cases is the rule, but in young patients we haven't great confidence. In Bright's and Kidney disease there are, as above, no age limitations, a majority yielding without regard to age.

nounced the gates would be opened for five minutes to allow anyone who so wished to leave the grounds. When the five minutes were up, the gate was closed and an attempt made to play the game.

William Mack went into the pitcher's box and Stephen O'Neil took his place behind the bat. As soon as Mack had thrown the first ball, Sheriff Day arrested him and the catcher, James Nagle and John Clouder. The regular battery, were sent in and as soon as a ball was thrown, they, too, were also placed under arrest.

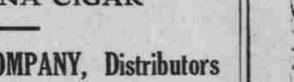

No further attempt was made to play the game. The men were released on bail.

Of the 25,000-odd persons employed in government shipping yards of the United Kingdom, about 280 are women.

In 1908 nearly 60 per cent of persons convicted and imprisoned in England had been previously convicted.
