LAWYERS SELECT SUPREME JUDGES

Bar Assembly Names Four Justices Now in Office for Re-election.

TERM LENGTHS SPECIFIED

Nominations Are Made With Utmost Harmony and by Unanimous Vote - "Non-Political Judiciary" Phrase on Ballots.

Lawyers from all parts of Oregon, more of them from without the city than within, assembled in Department No. 1 at the Courthouse yesterday afternoon and placed in nomination for election to the Supreme bench of the state tion to the Supreme bench of the state next November the justices who will go out of office at that time: Judge Frank A. Moore, for six years; Thomas A. McBride, for four years, to fill the unexpired torm of Judge Bean; Judge Will R. King, for six years under the act of 1909, and Judge W. H. Slater for four years, under the act of 1909.

The record made by the secretary, W. J. Sinnett, showed 175 attorneys present. A. C. Woodcock acted as chairman.

The nominations and a speech by exGovernor Folk, of Missouri, who arrived in Portland at 2:30, took only about an hour. Attorney Colvig nominated Justice King, Thomas O'Day, formerly Judge of the local Circuit Court, nominated Justice McBride; D. Solis Cohen cominated Justice Moore, and Attorney
Julius Silverstone nominated Justice Slater, remarking that he is of the opposite political party.

Length of Terms Stated.

Attorney A. E. Clark then called attention to the fact that it would be best to state in nomination the length of the term each candidate is to hold office, as two judges are to be elected for the four-year term and two for the six. Colonel E. Hofer seconded all four nominations and Charles J. Schnabel moved that the nominations be closed and that the assembly proceed to ballot. Attorney Clark moved as a substitute that the secretary be instructed to cast the unanimous ballot of the assembly for the four candidates.

A motion that the chairman appoint

A motion that the chairman appoint a committee of five to name candidates in case of the death or disability of those nominated did not meet with favor, and was withdrawn.

There was difference of opinion as to whether the words "nonpartisan," "non-political" or "independent" should go on the ballot after the names of the candidates, but upon motion of Judge M. L. Pipes it was voted to use the phrase, "Non Political Judiciary."

Assembly's Platform Given.

A motion by Attorney Cohen that the chairman appoint an executive committee of five, the chairman and secretary to be ex-officio members, was carried. to be ex-officio members, was carried. This committee will have charge of the campaigh, and will mail literature to the voters of the state in an endeavor to secure votes. The attorneys were asked to contribute as they saw fit.

It was voted to have the assembly's platform printed in the local newspapers. It reads:

"To the Voters of the State of Oregon: The State Bar Association of the State of Oregon, on June 1, 1910, adopted the of Oregon, on June 1, 1910, adopted the of Oregon, on June 1, 1910, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the State Bar Association is in favor of the principle of nominating and electing judges without regard to their political equinons or affiliations, because judges are required to decide questions presented to them upon legal and not upon political considerations.

In order to accomplish that result, we favor the nomination of judges for the Supreme banch by a proper and legal assembly called for that purpose only, composed of lawyers representing the bar of every section of the state, without regard to politics.

section of the state, without regard to politics.
In order to carry into effect the principle of the resolution the association appointed a committee which was authorized to call an assembly of at least 100 voters, under the provisions of the statute of this state, for the purpose of nominating four judgms of the Supreme Court, to be voted for at the coming election in November, and provided that all the lawyers admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the state, and who were legal electors within the state, should be eligible as members of this assembly. The committee so appointed met and issued a call for an assembly, to meet in Portland at 2 o'clock July 15, and the call was princed in the public prints, and a copy of it sent by mail to every lawyer in the state whose address and name was found upon the roll of attorneys on file in the Supreme Court record.

Purposes and Objects Outlined.

Purposes and Objects Outlined.

In pursuance of this call the assembly not at the Courthouse in Portland, and terminated the following candidates for the supreme Bench.

met at the Courthouse in Portland, and nominated the following candidates for the Supreme Banch.

Frank A. Moore, for six years, to succeed himself; Thomas A. McBride, for four years, to fill the unexpired term of Judge R. S. Hean, Will R. Kins, for four years, under act of 1909; W. T. Slater, for four years, under act of 1909; W. T. Slater, for four years, under act of 1909.

This assembly, in presenting these candidates to Oregon votors deems it proper to make a brief statement of its purposes and objects. We believe, as the resolutions indicate, that the time is ripe for eliminating political considerations in the selection of judges. Since the duty of a judge is to decide causes according to the law of the land, and since the law must be the same to all men of whatever condition, station or opinion, it follows that the judge cannot properly be influenced by politics in the discharge of his duties, and since the court cannot properly premote or obstruct political policies, good or bad, in deciding causes before it, there is no rational ground for the selection of judges by the machinery or usages of political parties. We believe that a man's political opinion of afficiation should neither be a bar nor a qualification for a judicial office.

Movement Not Temperary.

Movement Not Temporary.

Movement Not Temperary.

The movement now initiated is not designed as a temporary expedient, but is intended to be urged, and we hope with success, for all time to come.

Under the present state of the law, political parties have a right, which will doubted parties have a right, which will doubted parties have a right, we assert also the right to present to the voters the principle which we advocate in a manner and by a means within both the letter and the spirit of the statutes of this state.

This assembly is composed of citizens of the State of Oregon, having at heart its welfare and the honors and impartial administration of its laws. We have the same interest as the general public, and no opposing interests in an upright and empatted of interest as the general public, and no opposing interests in an upright and empaths and empatted of the judiciary we believe that the non-partisan estection of the judiciary new and in the future will tend to clevate the dignity and independence of the courts, and that the plan adopted by us will emable the voters of the state, without political obstruction of interfarence, to select candidates for fudical offices, rather upon their merits and upon their qualifications as judges than upon their qualifications as judges than upon their political affiliations on the strength of the parties to which they may adhere.

We present the nominees of this assembly to the voters, which confidence in their ability, integrity and learning, and with the assurance if they are elected by the voters that the cause of justice will be prometed, and a principle approved by the people which will be beneficial in the future."

—A petition signed by many Langell Valley farmers asking that the rights to the use of the waters of the streams of that part of the county be adjudicated has been filed with the State Board of Control. For years the flood waters of Lost River have been used by the farmers of the valley for irrigating their lands. This river is the natural outlet of Clear Lake, which the United States Reclamation Service has converted into a large reservoir by building a retaining dam across the outlet, thus depriving Lost River of its natural flow. The landowners effected say they are entitled to sufficient flow of water in the stream to irrigate the lands formerly watered by it. Under protest the Reclamation Service lat loose a large amount of water this year and it is undersucod that the service does not deny that the landowners Control. For years the flood waters of ice does not deny that the landowners have such rights, while at the same time the request has not been officially recognized or legally established.

CATSUP BOTTLE EXPLODES

Tragedy Reported to Police by Woman in Next Room.

The town clock had just struck 12:30 and the attaches at police headquarters had begun to nestle themselves in comfortable positions for a "still" night. The silence was unbroken save for the intermittent tinkling of telephone bells.

Suddonly the tranquil scene was thrown into one of confusion by the stern interrogation of Operator Jenkins to a woman at the other end of the telephone.
"Who did the shooting—is he there?"
asked "Jenks," in tones that vibrated throughout the station house. "Take it cool—tell me, lady, where is the murder?"

Then he hastily scribbled the reply:
"Miss Lucy Bronson, Ohio Hotel, First and Madison streets."
"Murder-Room 1-Ohio Hotel!" shouted the operator. "The gun man is still in the room!"

A moment later Patrol Driver O'Brien was "layin' th' gad" on the steeds that took the patrol wagon loaded with a dozen of policemen to the hotel.

Arriving at their des'ination, the policemen, revolvers in I ands, dashed up the stairway, expecting the capture of a murderer whose crime would be enrolled in the appairs of police history. Their in the annals of police history. Their hearts sank at the appearance of a woman, hidden in the shadows of the woman, in the shadows of the hallway, in her night clothing, who said:
"I'm sorry, gentlemen—there is no murder. It was only a catsup bottle exploded! I was asleep and heard the report like a gun in the next room, I sot up—and after a while I looked into the room."

It is the intention, eventually, of the Pacific company to have transmission lines extended over the entire Columbia River Valley. At present their lines make a network from Walla Walla to Pendleton and from Pendleton to North Yakima. In addition their lines will run down both banks of the Columbia.

Electric Plants Secured.

The plants aiready purchased consist of electire light and gas plants, power plants and electric railroads.

The Wasco Warehouse Milling Company conducted a milling business, as well as an electric supply plant. It is the electric supply plant that has been sold. The purchase embraces the water power plant on the White River, near where White River empties into the Deschutes, a sub-station at Dufur, and another at The Dalles, the distributing system in both cities, and the various city francises.

According to Mr. Taibot, a new water wheel will be added to the power plant, an entirely new plant in the distibuting department, making possible a largely increased output.

In The Oregonian of June 19 a map was published showing the transmission lines of the Pacific company. The properties purchased for the Columbia Power Company, the Yakima Pasco Company from the Northwest Corporation, the Northwest Light & Power Company and the Yakima Valley Power Company. These concerns have been absorbing the various plants which will eventually be taken over by the Pacific Company, the officers of which have not yet been selected.
