

MUSICAL NUMBERS
PROVE EIGHTFFL

Dr. Fox Lectures on Sir Walter
Raleigh and His Times, at Chautauqua.

Y.M.C.A. GIVES PROGRAMME

Interest in Classes at Gladstone
Continues and Plans for Dramatic Reading Clubs Are Discussed at Session.

CHAUTAQUA GROUNDS, Gladstone Park, July 19 (Special).—The Pasmore sisters were the bright particular stars of today's programme. With violin, piano and cello, the trio delighted a large audience this afternoon, and will appear tomorrow night for a concert, when they will give the entire programme. They arrived yesterday from Boise, where they have been on the programme of the Idaho Chautauqua, and were given a warm and enthusiastic welcome. The ensemble work is a delight to the ear.

Dr. D. F. Fox, a prominent Congregational clergyman of Pasadena, Cal., lectured this afternoon on "A Neglected Cavalier." He has a wonderful command of language and was one of the most pleasing and entertaining speakers that has been heard on this platform during the session. He talked of Sir Walter Raleigh, and of that period in the world's history, and referred to the different nationalities with their predominant qualities all blended into one to make good Americans. Dr. Fox will lecture again next Friday night on "The Torchbearer of the Middle Ages."

Honeyman Team Wins.
Honeyman Hardware Company's team practically clinched the Chautauqua pennant this afternoon by winning the baseball game from Eagle Creek, by a score of 3 to 0. Clackamas and Chemawa play tomorrow. The result of the game will decide the tournament which will come Friday afternoon when the Honeyman team will play Clackamas.

The interests in the classes continue. The class in English literature is discussing the Elizabethan drama, and tomorrow will be given over to a discussion of the best methods of forming a dramatic reading club.

Most dramatic Professor Berchtold said, "are not closet dramas, to be enacted on the stage, to be read alone, but they were written to be enacted on the stage or to be read and studied by groups of people."

Southern men and women had a pleasant hour this morning in the gymnasium, when Mrs. Sylvia McGuire, of Portland, read "Echoes From Dixie Land," and was cordially received. Miss Goldie Peterson, of Pacific University, sang Dixie songs and was encored repeatedly. She was accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Williams.

Athletic Turns Given.
The programme tonight was given by the Portland Young Men's Christian Association, under the direction of Physical Director A. M. Grilley. The entertainment was athletic and is an annual and exciting feature of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua.

The great day of the entire session will be next Thursday when Joseph W. Folk, ex-governor of Missouri, will lecture. A delegation of 100 members of the Missouri Society will occupy seats on the platform and the Oregon City people are planning to give Folk a royal reception. The programme for Wednesday follows:

- 8 to 11—Classes.
- 11:00—"The Cincinnati Biennial." Sarah A. Evans, president State Federation of Women's Clubs, "Public Health," Mrs. E. C. Dunbar, of Portland; "Educational Work of the Oregon Federation," Mrs. Clara Graves Fremont.
- 1:15—Concert, Chemawa Indian School Band.
- 2:00—Elocutionary and caricature entertainment, Elias Day and Oranna Trutt-Day.
- 3:30—Baseball, Chemawa versus Clackamas.
- 7:15—Concert, Chemawa Indian School Band.
- 8:00—Concert by the Pasmore Sisters, who will give the following programme: Trio, Concert Royal, E minor; Couperin, Valse Solo, Ballad and Polonaise; Viotemps, Piano solo, Polonaise; C sharp minor, Chopin; Autumn, Schumann; "On the Lake," Godard; Cello solo, "Tarentelle," Popper; Trio, "Tramontane," Schumann; Hungarian Dance, Brahms (Arranged by H. B. Pasmore).

LEGAL PROBLEM PECULIAR

If Clackamas Is Divided, What District Will It Be In, if Any?

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—If the initiative measure in which it is proposed to annex the Eastern portion of Washington County to Multnomah County is passed by a vote of the people, a legal question will be presented which has no precedent in the Oregon courts.

The 15th Judicial District is composed of Clackamas, Columbia, Washington and Clatsop counties. With the strip cut from Washington County and annexed to Multnomah, Clackamas would no longer be contiguous to a county in that district. The question has arisen as to whether there can be a judicial district composed of two or more counties that are contiguous, and the general sentiment among attorneys here seems to be in the negative.

By the proposed division the Circuit Judge, as it now stands, would reside in Clackamas County and the District Attorney in another part of the district. It is a question which half would comprise the district and whether there would be a judicial district at all.

NEGATIVE ARGUMENT FILED

McCannan Protests Against Proposed Amendment to Article IV.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The first negative argument to an initiative measure was filed today by Wallace McCannan, of Portland, who is protesting against amending article IV of the constitution. The proposed amendment would provide for annual sessions of the Legislature, lengthening the legislative term to six years and proportional representation.

Alonso Genser, of Salem, today filed his declaration of intention to become a candidate for nomination as State Senator from District No. 1. He declares himself as in favor of Statement No. 1.

BALLOT TITLE IS VALID

Suffrage Amendment Not Seriously Defective, Crawford Holds.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Although the ballot title of the proposed amendment to article II, section 2 of the constitution, relating to suffrage for all taxpayers, contains reference to only the last clause of the amendment, Attorney-General Crawford says that should the amendment be voted upon favorably it will stand.

The ballot title indicates that the amendment is to grant the right of suffrage to taxpayers, regardless of sex. But in the body of the proposed amendment, which is partially copied from section 2 of article II, in the opening sentence the word "white male" is omitted. The effect of this omission, in case the amendment is carried, is to give equal suffrage to all citizens, regardless of sex or financial standing. In the closing clause of the section reference is made to suffrage for taxpayers, regardless of sex, and it was from this clause that the Attorney-General prepared his ballot title.

"In the hurry to complete the titles and have them ready for the State Printer I entirely overlooked the omission of the words 'white male,'" he said today. "The ballot title must stand, however, and appear that way on the ballot. But this will not invalidate the amendment if it is passed. Under the initiative and referendum, the voter casts his ballot with reference to the number of the measure and not with reference to the title. Consequently, while no doubt the title is misleading and the amendment will grant much more than the title suggests, the voter is supposed to pay attention to the measure through the number and not through the title.

"It is now no possible way of applying a remedy to the defect in the title."

ARMY POST NEAR EMPTY

Greater Part of Troops Make Trip to Tacoma Dedication.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash., July 19.—(Special).—In command of Captain Alfred Abo, of the First Infantry, Companies A, B, C, D and the Band, of the First Infantry, and Battery B, of the Second Field Artillery, will leave by rail for Tacoma at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. These troops will take part in the military tournament to be held at the large stadium, to be dedicated July 24-25, by the Tacoma High School. Those who ride to Tacoma will be expected to march back, as it is customary in the army for the troops to take a 200-mile march each year.

With these soldiers gone, the post will be in charge of Companies K and L, of the First Infantry, and Major Robert H. Noble will be in command. These companies will do guard duty for six weeks the troops will be away. The barracks will be a place deserted, for the time being.

Major Beaumont B. Buck, of the Sixteenth Infantry, who was stationed at the Army War College at Washington Barracks, Washington, D. C., arrived today. He is to be Adjutant-General of the Department of the Columbia, relieving Captain Francis E. Lacey, First Infantry, who is Acting Adjutant. Major W. H. Sage, was Adjutant-General, but he was ordered to the Philippine Islands several months ago and Major Buck will succeed him. He is accompanied by his wife and child.

FIVE AUTOS ATTACHED

Motor Vehicle Dealers Will Air Troubles in Court.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 19.—(Special).—Still further to complicate matters in relation to the ownership of a carload of automobiles, unloaded here last week, a second suit of attachment has been started. The Willamette Auto Supply Company, George Prosser and E. C. further, forming the copartnership, has filed a writ of Superior Court against the Northwest Carriage & Auto Company, to collect $338, alleged to be due.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant company sold to it five automobiles, that $100 was paid, and is suing for the balance. A writ of attachment for the machines was issued this afternoon.

Another attachment against the machines was issued for $300, last week. This is the lot of automobiles which came consigned to W. J. Wood, who was unknown here. He appeared later.

NEW THEATER PROMISED

Klaw & Erlanger Will Build in Tacoma at Early Date.

TACOMA, Wash., July 19.—(Special).—A new theater was promised Tacoma today by E. C. Cooke, personal representative of Klaw & Erlanger, of New York. He said the proposed playhouse would be built large enough to accommodate a performance of "Ben Hur" or any other show on the stage. Said Mr. Cooke:

"I can say nothing now in regard to the Tacoma site. Klaw & Erlanger now have the Northwest well in hand and developments will be fast. The outcome of the theatrical controversy here will simply be the 'survival of the fittest.'"

PIONEER WOMAN TEACHER OF INDIANS DIES IN EUGENE.

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Wilson.
EUGENE, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Mrs. Elizabeth V. Wilson, wife of Rev. T. J. Wilson and a pioneer woman in the work of education among the Indians, died here Sunday.

Mrs. Wilson came to Oregon in 1867 with her husband, who organized the First Presbyterian Church of Salem. They moved in 1870 to a homestead near the Warm Springs Reservation, where Mrs. Wilson organized a Government industrial school for the Indians and conducted it until it was well under way. She again was appointed matron and teacher of the Warm Springs school in 1888. For the past four years she had been connected with the Eugene Hospital.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by her husband, a son, J. V. Wilson, and a daughter, Miss Jennie Shoemaker.

GIRL ATTACKED IN CAR; PORTER HELD

Miss of 14 Spends Night of Terror on Sleeper—Negro Denies Guilt.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—An interesting question in the law of real property was decided today when the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of the lower court in an action to quiet title, brought by A. J. Langley, appellant, vs. Abraham L. Keeler, respondent. The appeal was from Washington County. Certain property was sold to Davis Keeler in 1904, his name appearing in the deed as "Keeler." Six weeks later the same grantors made to Keeler and his wife, Edith, a deed to correct his error. In granting the property to Keeler and his wife the grantors became tenants by survivorship, which estate, under the Oregon law, passes by survivorship. The entire estate going to one upon the death of the other. Later Keeler deeded away the property to his wife, his name being omitted in this deed. Shortly after he died and his widow followed. The question arose as to whether the second deed to Keeler and his wife took effect, or whether the title in fee was vested by the first deed to Keeler alone.

Langley, one of the heirs claiming to hold title from the wife, brought this action and attorneys contended that Keeler was estopped on taking the second deed. The court held that the second deed was of no effect and that the title in fee vested with the original transaction.

The Multnomah County Circuit Court was affirmed in the case of Frank Miller, respondent, vs. Brown & McCabe, appellants. The action was to recover damages for personal injuries sustained while the respondent was engaged in loading lumber on a steamer lying at the Portland docks. The court, in speaking of contributory negligence, stated that the workman was not required to anticipate that the which in question, with which Miller was working, would fall to perform its function.

Other cases were: J. H. Fildeu, appellant, vs. J. T. Miller, et al., appealed from Tillamook County. The action was to quiet title and the order appealed from is affirmed and the cause remanded.

Charles H. Bean, appellant, vs. S. B. Pettengill, respondent, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The action is to remove an administrator.

George Porter, et al., respondent, vs. S. B. Pettengill, et al., appellant and defendants, and John Irwin, et al., defendants, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The suit is a controversy as to the priority of water rights.

PROPERTY LAW IS DEFINED

Supreme Court Decides Appeal From Washington County.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—An interesting question in the law of real property was decided today when the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of the lower court in an action to quiet title, brought by A. J. Langley, appellant, vs. Abraham L. Keeler, respondent. The appeal was from Washington County. Certain property was sold to Davis Keeler in 1904, his name appearing in the deed as "Keeler." Six weeks later the same grantors made to Keeler and his wife, Edith, a deed to correct his error. In granting the property to Keeler and his wife the grantors became tenants by survivorship, which estate, under the Oregon law, passes by survivorship. The entire estate going to one upon the death of the other. Later Keeler deeded away the property to his wife, his name being omitted in this deed. Shortly after he died and his widow followed. The question arose as to whether the second deed to Keeler and his wife took effect, or whether the title in fee was vested by the first deed to Keeler alone.

PROPERTY LAW IS DEFINED

Supreme Court Decides Appeal From Washington County.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—An interesting question in the law of real property was decided today when the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of the lower court in an action to quiet title, brought by A. J. Langley, appellant, vs. Abraham L. Keeler, respondent. The appeal was from Washington County. Certain property was sold to Davis Keeler in 1904, his name appearing in the deed as "Keeler." Six weeks later the same grantors made to Keeler and his wife, Edith, a deed to correct his error. In granting the property to Keeler and his wife the grantors became tenants by survivorship, which estate, under the Oregon law, passes by survivorship. The entire estate going to one upon the death of the other. Later Keeler deeded away the property to his wife, his name being omitted in this deed. Shortly after he died and his widow followed. The question arose as to whether the second deed to Keeler and his wife took effect, or whether the title in fee was vested by the first deed to Keeler alone.

Langley, one of the heirs claiming to hold title from the wife, brought this action and attorneys contended that Keeler was estopped on taking the second deed. The court held that the second deed was of no effect and that the title in fee vested with the original transaction.

The Multnomah County Circuit Court was affirmed in the case of Frank Miller, respondent, vs. Brown & McCabe, appellants. The action was to recover damages for personal injuries sustained while the respondent was engaged in loading lumber on a steamer lying at the Portland docks. The court, in speaking of contributory negligence, stated that the workman was not required to anticipate that the which in question, with which Miller was working, would fall to perform its function.

Other cases were: J. H. Fildeu, appellant, vs. J. T. Miller, et al., appealed from Tillamook County. The action was to quiet title and the order appealed from is affirmed and the cause remanded.

Charles H. Bean, appellant, vs. S. B. Pettengill, respondent, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The action is to remove an administrator.

George Porter, et al., respondent, vs. S. B. Pettengill, et al., appellant and defendants, and John Irwin, et al., defendants, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The suit is a controversy as to the priority of water rights.

OFFICERS BOARD TRAIN

Daughter of Grants Pass Real Estate Dealer Sobs Sad Story Into Ears of Parents as She Reaches Journey's End.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 19.—(Special).—While en route from Portland to her home in this city last night, Josephine Reynolds, the daughter of Joseph Moss, a prominent real estate dealer, who for 30 years has resided in this city, says she was attacked by S. M. Reynolds, a colored porter in charge of the Pullman car in which the young girl was riding. The car was attached to the first section of train No. 15.

Reynolds, she says, was awakened by the porter, who asked her age and made undue advances. She says that she refused him, but he returned to the berth occupied by her, for the second time, and attempted to bribe her not to relate the incident to her parents upon the arrival at her home town. She says he gave her several boxes of candy and chewing gum, and, in addition to these articles, offered her breakfast.

As soon as Josephine could leave the train upon reaching here, she hurried to where her father and mother were standing on the depot platform, bursting into tears as she related the story. Between sobs she told of the terrifying night she had spent in the Pullman car, annoyed by Reynolds.

Reynolds Is Arrested.
The father of the girl immediately procured the services of the Deputy Sheriff, City Police Judge and other officers, who boarded the train in search of Reynolds, who was finally found, securely locked in a wash-room. As the train neared Three Mile Point, just beyond this city, the train was stopped and officers started back to Grants Pass with their prisoner.

The negro was frightened and asked the protection of the officers from mob violence, which he feared would be forthcoming upon his arrival in this city, where he was placed behind the bars.

When asked if he knew the Moss girl, he said no. In an interview this evening he had nothing to say concerning the alleged attack. He said he lived on Ninth street, between Flanders and Stark, Portland, Or., and was a man of family and had worked five years for the Pullman company.

While being brought from Three Mile Point to jail, Reynolds said that he did not approach Miss Moss in any manner, but had simply climbed upon the berth in order to adjust the screen between her and the window. He said he had offered the candy and breakfast under the belief that she was sick from the motion of the train.

Porter Talks With Girl.
Reynolds further said that he had taken care of Miss Moss' suitcase, her trip down to Portland, which she paid him 25 cents, and they had conversed to some extent, but within the hearing of other persons whom were accompanying her.

Reynolds says that he went to bed shortly after leaving Albany and got up when Myrtle Creek was reached.

An incident in connection with the affair was the effort of the Pullman conductor to protect Reynolds. He is said to have remarked that if they were there he would also have to take several others.

Public sentiment against the negro is very strong.

TARGET IS DEMOLISHED

STATE NAVAL RESERVES MAKE PERFECT SCORES.

Bellingham and Everett Companies, First Time in Gunpits, Astonish Expert Marksmen.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., July 19.—(Special).—A remarkable exhibition of superior marksmanship marked today's closing of a ten-day tour of duty performed at Port Townsend by state artillery reserves, when two separate commands made perfect scores with the heavy guns, firing full service charges. These were the companies from Bellingham and Everett. In the morning the former scored four clear hits in four shots at a moving target two miles distant, while the Everett command in the afternoon put the first through the canvas and demolished the target with the second. Another mark was towed out and at the third shot was likewise demolished. The fourth shot following immediately fell within the ten-yard zone and was scored a bulls-eye.

A remarkable feature of the shooting was that it was the Bellingham and Everett companies' first experience in the gun pits. The records are said to be without precedent in the gun practice either among militia or regulars.

EUGENE TO HELP MAZAMAS

Commercial Club to Give Climbers an Automobile Ride.

EUGENE, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The Eugene Commercial Club has made arrangements to give the Mazamas a lift of several miles on their journey toward the Three Sisters country, which the famous mountain-climbing club will undertake early in August, in automobiles. The Mazamas party will gather at Eugene. Their provisions will be sent by freight wagons as far as the local Commercial Club.

Each of the Three Sisters peaks will be scaled by the Mazamas, and several side trips will be made through the upper McKenzie region. The mountain of the Cascade Range is said by those familiar with Western mountains to be one of the most attractive from a scenic standpoint of any region on the Pacific Coast.

The manager of the Mazama party

GIRL ATTACKED IN CAR; PORTER HELD

Miss of 14 Spends Night of Terror on Sleeper—Negro Denies Guilt.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—An interesting question in the law of real property was decided today when the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of the lower court in an action to quiet title, brought by A. J. Langley, appellant, vs. Abraham L. Keeler, respondent. The appeal was from Washington County. Certain property was sold to Davis Keeler in 1904, his name appearing in the deed as "Keeler." Six weeks later the same grantors made to Keeler and his wife, Edith, a deed to correct his error. In granting the property to Keeler and his wife the grantors became tenants by survivorship, which estate, under the Oregon law, passes by survivorship. The entire estate going to one upon the death of the other. Later Keeler deeded away the property to his wife, his name being omitted in this deed. Shortly after he died and his widow followed. The question arose as to whether the second deed to Keeler and his wife took effect, or whether the title in fee was vested by the first deed to Keeler alone.

Langley, one of the heirs claiming to hold title from the wife, brought this action and attorneys contended that Keeler was estopped on taking the second deed. The court held that the second deed was of no effect and that the title in fee vested with the original transaction.

The Multnomah County Circuit Court was affirmed in the case of Frank Miller, respondent, vs. Brown & McCabe, appellants. The action was to recover damages for personal injuries sustained while the respondent was engaged in loading lumber on a steamer lying at the Portland docks. The court, in speaking of contributory negligence, stated that the workman was not required to anticipate that the which in question, with which Miller was working, would fall to perform its function.

Other cases were: J. H. Fildeu, appellant, vs. J. T. Miller, et al., appealed from Tillamook County. The action was to quiet title and the order appealed from is affirmed and the cause remanded.

Charles H. Bean, appellant, vs. S. B. Pettengill, respondent, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The action is to remove an administrator.

George Porter, et al., respondent, vs. S. B. Pettengill, et al., appellant and defendants, and John Irwin, et al., defendants, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The suit is a controversy as to the priority of water rights.

PROPERTY LAW IS DEFINED

Supreme Court Decides Appeal From Washington County.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—An interesting question in the law of real property was decided today when the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of the lower court in an action to quiet title, brought by A. J. Langley, appellant, vs. Abraham L. Keeler, respondent. The appeal was from Washington County. Certain property was sold to Davis Keeler in 1904, his name appearing in the deed as "Keeler." Six weeks later the same grantors made to Keeler and his wife, Edith, a deed to correct his error. In granting the property to Keeler and his wife the grantors became tenants by survivorship, which estate, under the Oregon law, passes by survivorship. The entire estate going to one upon the death of the other. Later Keeler deeded away the property to his wife, his name being omitted in this deed. Shortly after he died and his widow followed. The question arose as to whether the second deed to Keeler and his wife took effect, or whether the title in fee was vested by the first deed to Keeler alone.

Langley, one of the heirs claiming to hold title from the wife, brought this action and attorneys contended that Keeler was estopped on taking the second deed. The court held that the second deed was of no effect and that the title in fee vested with the original transaction.

The Multnomah County Circuit Court was affirmed in the case of Frank Miller, respondent, vs. Brown & McCabe, appellants. The action was to recover damages for personal injuries sustained while the respondent was engaged in loading lumber on a steamer lying at the Portland docks. The court, in speaking of contributory negligence, stated that the workman was not required to anticipate that the which in question, with which Miller was working, would fall to perform its function.

Other cases were: J. H. Fildeu, appellant, vs. J. T. Miller, et al., appealed from Tillamook County. The action was to quiet title and the order appealed from is affirmed and the cause remanded.

Charles H. Bean, appellant, vs. S. B. Pettengill, respondent, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The action is to remove an administrator.

George Porter, et al., respondent, vs. S. B. Pettengill, et al., appellant and defendants, and John Irwin, et al., defendants, appealed from Josephine County and reversed. The suit is a controversy as to the priority of water rights.

WATER HEARINGS ARE DUE

Testimony in Adjudication of Rights Will Be Heard.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Testimony in adjudication of water rights involving a great number of people will be heard during the next few weeks in Oregon courts. P. M. Saxton, who represents the Board of Control in these matters.

Dates for taking testimony concerning additional rights on Willamette and Malheur County have been set as follows: Ironside, August 25; Brogan, August 27; Vale, August 28. Petition for adjudication of water rights, some time ago and the surveys are practically completed.

Testimony will be taken at Vale, August 31, on the question of adjudication along Cottonwood Creek, a tributary of Bully Creek. Surveys have been completed along the Cottonwoods.

A petition was filed this morning with the Board of Control for adjudication of all the water rights on Lost River in Klamath County. The stream finds its source in California and flows for 75 miles in Oregon, terminating in Tule Lake, six miles from the point of origin. This will perhaps involve interstate water rights.

State Engineer John H. Lewis says that the board has never before encountered the problem of adjudicating interstate water rights and there is a possibility that there may be some precedents established in this case, as to the priority of water rights over Lost River, however, as so far as known there are no canals across the line.

DELAYS CAUSE COMPLAINT

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The Travelers' Protective Association has

irrigation and only in a very few sections are poor crops reported. The shipment of hay and livestock from the valley will be larger than ever this year, grain crops will be little, if any, short, and there will be a better fruit yield than usual. The scare of a month ago has about subsided and farmers are looking pleased if they are able to secure enough hands to care for the crops they have raised.

Pastor's House Burned.
WALLOWA, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The residence of Mrs. Clara White, occupied by the Rev. J. L. Maynard, of the Presbyterian Church of this city, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The house was insured for $700 and was valued at $1000. Rev. Mr. Maynard's loss was over $600, with no insurance.

Heart Failure Attacks in Buggy.
ALBANY, Or., July 19.—(Special).—While Otis Maxwell was riding near his home six miles east of Albany Sunday forenoon he was attacked with heart failure and pitched forward from the buggy, dying instantly. He was a native of Oregon, 33 years old, and leaves a widow and two children.

DELAYS CAUSE COMPLAINT

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The Travelers' Protective Association has

irrigation and only in a very few sections are poor crops reported. The shipment of hay and livestock from the valley will be larger than ever this year, grain crops will be little, if any, short, and there will be a better fruit yield than usual. The scare of a month ago has about subsided and farmers are looking pleased if they are able to secure enough hands to care for the crops they have raised.

Pastor's House Burned.
WALLOWA, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The residence of Mrs. Clara White, occupied by the Rev. J. L. Maynard, of the Presbyterian Church of this city, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The house was insured for $700 and was valued at $1000. Rev. Mr. Maynard's loss was over $600, with no insurance.

Heart Failure Attacks in Buggy.
ALBANY, Or., July 19.—(Special).—While Otis Maxwell was riding near his home six miles east of Albany Sunday forenoon he was attacked with heart failure and pitched forward from the buggy, dying instantly. He was a native of Oregon, 33 years old, and leaves a widow and two children.

SCHOOLS SHOW INCREASE

Enrollment in Columbia and Lane Counties Grow Rapidly.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Further reports received today by the State Superintendent from County School Superintendents continue to show increases in most branches of school work. In Columbia County an increase of 185 is shown in the school census over 1908. Enrollment has increased 27, 10 additional teachers have been employed and three schools built. The average monthly salary for men teachers has increased $6 and for women teachers $1.45.

In Lane County an increase of 599 is shown in the census and 875 in enrollment. Twenty-six new teachers were employed during the year and 19 school houses were constructed. Salary of men teachers has increased $5 as a monthly average and $4 for women teachers.

WALLOWA CROPS GOOD.

WALLOWA, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Despite the dry season, Wallowa County crops are far better this year than was expected a month ago. The valley crops, where irrigation is possible, are up to the average and many excellent yields are reported. The hill lands are growing good crops without

LEGAL PROBLEM PECULIAR

If Clackamas Is Divided, What District Will It Be In, if Any?

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—If the initiative measure in which it is proposed to annex the Eastern portion of Washington County to Multnomah County is passed by a vote of the people, a legal question will be presented which has no precedent in the Oregon courts.

The 15th Judicial District is composed of Clackamas, Columbia, Washington and Clatsop counties. With the strip cut from Washington County and annexed to Multnomah, Clackamas would no longer be contiguous to a county in that district. The question has arisen as to whether there can be a judicial district composed of two or more counties that are contiguous, and the general sentiment among attorneys here seems to be in the negative.

By the proposed division the Circuit Judge, as it now stands, would reside in Clackamas County and the District Attorney in another part of the district. It is a question which half would comprise the district and whether there would be a judicial district at all.

NEGATIVE ARGUMENT FILED

McCannan Protests Against Proposed Amendment to Article IV.

SALEM, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The first negative argument to an initiative measure was filed today by Wallace McCannan, of Portland, who is protesting against amending article IV of the constitution. The proposed amendment would provide for annual sessions of the Legislature, lengthening the legislative term to six years and proportional representation.

Alonso Genser, of Salem, today filed his declaration of intention to become a candidate for nomination as State Senator from District No. 1. He declares himself as in favor of Statement No. 1.

BALLOT TITLE IS VALID