Horseshoe luck in large bunches berohed on the banner of San Francisco yesterday, and as enough of the good fortune occurred in the second inning to allow the Seals to tally thrice, that bunch of scores was enough to down the McCredie team, which could negotiate the register but belief to be seen negotiate the register but twice in nine and the feelster but twice in nine dinnings. Score, 3 to 2.

All of the damage done by the visitors was done in the second inning, and Tommy Seaton, who had previously beaten the Seals on every sashay against them this season, was the victim of the hardest kind of luck.

Bodie Makes Flest Pure Bodie Makes First Run.

"Ping" Bodie was the first Seal up in the second, and he smashed a line drive in the drection of Tommy Shee-han, who played third base in place of Hetling, whom McCredie benched. Shee-han made a stab at the sphere and man-ared to impede the sphere and manhan made a stab at the sphere and managed to impede its progress, though he failed to hold it, and Bodle was safe. Melchior dumped a bunt which bounded over Seaton's head as he came in to field it, and both runners were safe. Berry bunted to Sheehan and was out on a sacrifice at first, but both runners advanced. McArdle walked, filling the bases, and Henley's long fly to Martinke scored Bodle with the first run of the game, and allowed the other run of the game, and allowed the other Martinke scored Bodie with the first run of the game, and allowed the other base runners to advance. Vitt also walked, again filling the perches. Kid Mohler put the game on ice by singling to center, scoring Melchlor and Mc-ardle. Steen was then substituted for Seaton and fanned Lewis, which cut retired the Seals.

The three-run lead was a big handi-cap to oversome and Portland though

The three-run lead was a big handicap to overcome, and Portland, though trying hard most of the time, was unable to accomplish the desired result. In the home team's half of the second, Gus Fisher opened up with a double to the right garden wall, but in sliding into second he sprained his knee and may be out of the game for some time. Murray was sent to Fisher's relief, but the next three Portland between the contract of the c the next three Portland batsmen wer as pigmies in the hands of the attenuated Seal pitcher.

Beavers Mowed Down.

In the third inning Speas walked, nd scored all the way from first on uddy Ryan's long two-bagger. Port-Buddy Ryan's long two-bagger. Por land's second run was also due to hand second run was also due to a base on balls, Rapps walking as first man up in the sixth. "Roaring Eill" then stole second, and when Martinke smashed a single to center, Rapps scored the second run. Henley settled after that and disposed of the Beaver order in the seventh, eighth and in order in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings.

Bill Steen pitched brilliant ball after he went on the hill in that fatal second, and the Seals could not damage his stunts at all, for the three hits he allowed were widely scattered.

Harry Sutor, the Seals' star lefthander, who recently returned to that club from the Chicago White Sox, will be on the hill for the visitors today, while McCredie may send Seaton against the Seals once more. The score: SAN FRANCISCO

JEFFRIES LOSING MIND

DEFEATED CHAMPION REPORT-ED TO BE ACTING QUEERLY.

Friend Says He Never Laughs and Sometimes Rambles in His Talk Like Feeble-Minded Old Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—(Special.)

Friends of James J. Jeffries in this city are much perturbed over reports that have been received for several days from Burbank, in regard to the queer actions of the big man whom Johnson defeated so decisively at Reno.

All those who have seen Jeffries since he returned from this defeat say he is a changed man; that he has aged ten years and that he does not seem to have any command of his faculties. He was never a talker, but he liked to joke with his friends and play tricks on them. Now he sits for hours, humped over like an old man, never talking and never laugh-ing, but gazing away in the far distance, as though he was in a dream. When he talks he frequently rambles like a fee-ble-minded old man.

Another correspondent who used to go to school with Jeff complains that the big fellow forgot his name when he wanted to introduce him to another friend. This seeme to worry the letter-writer, who said Jeffries should remember his name as well as his own, if his brain

Manager Wolverton, of Oakland Team, Makes Change of Pitchers Before Game Is Called. Graham to Investigate.

BY W. J. PETRAIN,
Judge Thomas F. Graham, of San

League, will arrive in Portland this morning, and while the chief executive of morning, and while the chief executive of the league is coming estensibly to look over the Northwestern territory, it is rumored that his visit is of a much more significant nature. In fact, it is whispered among the wise ones that Judge Graham is to investigate a charge of attempted bribery whereby an Oakof attempted bribery whereby an Oak-land pitcher was to have thrown Sun-day's game for a consideration offered by coterie of Portland gamblers

R.H.E. According to the meager details pos-sible to be ascertained, a certain pitcher sible to be ascertained, a certain pitcher on the Oakland club is said to have been offered a percentage of a pool of $600 raised by a coterie of gamblers to be wagered on Portland Sunday providing he lost his game. The deal was checkmated by Manager Wolverton, of the Oakland team who get wind of the set. oakland team, who got wind of the mat-ter in some manner, according to rumor, and the leader of the Oakland team promptly changed his mind about the pitcher to have been used Sunday. Wolverton sent Jack Lively on the mound in Sunday's game, and it was not that twirler's turn on the slab, which would seem to lend a semblance of credit to the rumored charges. Before Lively was due to pitch again both Pitchers Harkins and Willis were due, yet Wolverton called upon the other

The gamblers flocking to the Port-land Park every day are recoming ob-noxious in the extreme. Some of them imagine they own the park when they do get into the grounds, and their bols-terous conduct is anything but pleasing to the loval fans who parkenies in to the loyal fans who patronize the sport. This evil should be stamped out immediately, and if it is found to be true that a bribe was offered an Oakland or any other pitcher, the Pacific Coast League officials should prosecute the guilty parties to the limit of the law.

No half-way measures should be brooked, for the salvation of baseball is the preservation of the honesty and integrity of the game, and the mixing of gambling in this sport means its uitimate ruin in the same manner that the evil has banished horse-racing and other sports.

It is to be hoped, for the good of the sport, that the rumored attempt at bribery is not as bad as the case is Judge Graham is an astute chieftain

WINSTWICEIN DAY

National Tennis Champion Takes Doubles' Match With Miss Leadbetter.

WIND ANNOYS WICKERSHAM

Doubles Play in State Tournament Proves Exciting, With Large Gallery Witnessing-Miss Campbell and Mrs. Judge Lose.

With a gallery numbering over 200, with a gallery numbering over 200, the fair sex predominating, fast tennis the attraction and almost perfect weather, the second day of the Twelfth Annual Oregon State Tennis Tournament passed into history yesterday with some of the best playing ever witnessed on North Pacific courts.

The manner in which the Multnomah Club has thus far headled the tenner.

The manner in which the Multnomah Club has thus far handled the tourney has placed the preliminaries in the first and second round in the background and for the rest of the week the performances of the best players along the Coast on the Irvington courts will be watched with interest by racquet enthusiasts. Miss Hotchkiss Plays Winning Game

Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, National and Oregon woman champion, being an added attraction this year, brought out many friends and admirers, who saw some of the prettiest tennis the young woman probably has ever played. Paired with Miss Leslie Leadbetter, the popular Irvington club player, and Ralph Gorrill in the mixed doubles, Miss Hotchkiss executed some of the leverest strokes and displayed one of he most difficult serves witnessed in play by anyone of the fair sex.

Though Miss Leadbetter and Miss
Hotchkiss defeated Mrs. Judge and Miss Campbell, it was only after a hard tussle, in which little Miss Campbell, and Mrs. Judge, who isn't much taller, showed up to advantage, winning sevshowed up to advantage, winning several games, which, apparently, they did not expect to take. Miss Leadbetter's play was up to her usual standard, which is saying much, from the fact that her opponents, in their attempt to keep the ball from the champion as much as possible, made the games decidedly interesting for the Portland girl by playing many of their returns in her vicinity. However, the winners took the match in straight sets. took the match in straight sets.

Mixed Doubles Prove Surprise.

One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Miss Pitts and Wicker-sham by Miss Hotchkiss and Gorrill, as the gallery rather expected the as the gallery rather expected the Portland-Vancouver contingent to win. Gorrill, however, had "come back." Miss Hotchkiss was already there, and that Hotchkiss was already there, and that was all there was to it, but the heavy wind caused much damage to Wickersham's usual good play.

Though Mrs. Northrup won over Mrs. Judge in the singles, she had no easy time. Unfortunately Mrs. Judge went directly into play with Mrs. Northrup following a prolonged deuce-game match with Miss Campbell in the women's doubles, and this fact may have accounted for her failure to show her usual steady play and well-placed strokes. Mrs. Northrup won in straight sets.
