COASTERS ORDERED OFF WALK-An appeal on behalf of aged and infirm citizens against boys who ride coaster wagons on the sidewalks was made to Chief of Police Cox yesterday by P. Ferdner, who says that the baby-carriage is the only wheeled vehicle that mas any right to use the sidewalks Mr. Ferdner says that the coasters frequently monopolize the walks and that it is practically imposable for a slow-moving person to get out of the way. The suggestion appeared to Chief of Police Cox to be well made, and he issued an order to all patrolmen that they compel the coasters to keep off

YOUNG WOMEN TAKE NOVEL OUTING Young Women Take Novel Cuting.—
With Mrs. Black, wife of Rev. H. S. Black, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, as chaperone, several young women, Sunday school pupils of Mrs. Black, are taking an outing at Mount Tabor in tents. Most of the young women are employed in the city, and have taken this nethod of getting an inexpensive outing in the open air 500 feet above the city. They come to the city in the morning and return in the evening and are ing and return in the evening and are having a fine time at very little ex-

MERCURY GOES TO 91.-Climbing steadily from a snappy and invigorating minimum in the early hours of the morning, the temperature yesterday reached an enervating maximum of 21 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and hovered about that mark for more than an hour before the influence of the coming evening was felt. Though a light breeze stirred through the streets, it seemed to do little to alle-viate the heat. The relative humidity was low and no serious effects from an unusually warm day were reported.

New Chorus Is Organized.—The Portland A Capella Chorus, with Frederick W. MAJOR M'INDOE MAKES HIS RECOMMENDATIONS.

Approval Expected From Washing ton in Order Regulations May Be Effective by August 1.

If the Secretary of War approves rec ommendations yesterday forwarded to Washington by Major McIndoe, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., there will be no closing of bridge draws during the evening rush hours and in the morning they will be closed from 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock, with two intervals in which vessels may pass, from 7 to 7:15 o'clock and from 7:45 to 8 o'clock. It is hoped to receive approval from Washington so that the regulations will go into effect August L. The recommendations are as follows:

The recommendations are as follows:

As drawn, the regulations permit three closed periods of one-half hour each between $130 and $130 A. M. with two open periods of 15 minutes each (7 to 7.15 and 7.45 to $)) to accommodate passenger boats, mail boats and other vessels which might arrive at these periods. After careful consideration it was concluded that sea-going vessels should be permitted to pass the draws at any hours, in order not to interfere with their taking proper advantage of the tides. While the traffic during the evening "rush hours' is heavier than during the permit a closed period in the evening, for the reason that the prolonged delay due to opening the draws to pass several vessels following a closed period would cause greater inconvenience to some people than is now caused by several shorter openings. Delays in the evening when passengers are returning to their homes are not so troublesome as in the morning.

While it is believed that permitting the bridges to remain closed for specified periods will prove a detriment to navigation and may invite results more serious the the will prove a detriment to navigation and may invite results more serious the the community and to the position of the city as a port than the inconveniences it is sought to remedy, it is recommended that the new regulations accompanying be approved, in the hope that towboats and other vessels will be able to accommodate themselves to the changed conditions.
