

FORGOTTEN BOOGE SEEKING BOOGE

Mrs. Patty's Second Venture in Matrimony Quickly Ends in Unhappiness.

HUSBAND NOW IN PRISON

Wives Plaintiffs in Three of Four Cases in Which Decrees Are Allowed—Love of Jewelry Causes Marital Woe.

With her husband, Rufus Patty, in the City Jail for passing worthless checks and obtaining money by false pretenses, Mrs. Isma Clifford Patty has brought suit in the Circuit court to secure a divorce. She was married to him in Portland July 3, only 14 days ago. This was her second marriage. Her son, Wayne Clifford, 14 years old, Patty threatened, in the presence of her son, she says, to kill her, saying that she married only to get his money.

Patty compelled her to endorse his checks for him, she says, although he had no money in the bank and would be liable to prosecution. He also took from her, she alleges, money belonging to J. Florin, and neglected to return it to him, thereby incurring a prosecution for obtaining money under false pretenses. She says that when his checks were dishonored at the bank, he became a fugitive from justice, leaving her penniless and ill, and that he is now in the City Jail.

Another Wife Dissatisfied.

Lella Dietz is also dissatisfied with married life. She says Enoch Dietz, her husband, accused her of being unfaithful to him with her brother, William Williams. She has been without support from Dietz for nine months, she declares. Circuit Judge Cleaton yesterday, after a hearing yesterday, to Ruby Gorham from Bert Gorham, to Gertrude Ward from Harry Ward, to Louise Sherman from Sarah Sherman, and to Mary J. Luce from Frank C. Luce.

Mrs. Gorham accused Bert Gorham of telling her that he would be perfectly satisfied if she would have her hair cut repeatedly was told by him, she said, that he wished she would pack her things and leave him. She said she was sitting at her white table when he said she asserted, and at last, when she wearily asked him not to swear so loudly the neighbors could hear her, she said she would go to a place noted for its tropical climate. At last she was informed that he was becoming so angry with her that she would have to be responsible for his actions. He twisted her arm and wrenched her shoulder twice, kicked her out of bed on Easter Sunday morning, 1909, and left her destitute on July 4 of the same year for five months, she declared. She was again deserted by her husband, who she says, she learned at Oregon City, June 15, 1907.

Wife Loved Jewels Best.

Sherman complained that his wife loved jewelry, diamonds and trinkets better than she did him. She told him, he said, there were plenty of men whom she could marry, who would give her diamonds. His meals were unprepared when he went home tired at night, so that he was obliged to cook his own supper or go to restaurants, and when Sherman threatened daily to leave, he married her August 12, 1906, at St. Paul.

Mrs. Luce said she tried married life with Luce, but she never received his promise to do better. But it was a failure both times. She was scolded, abused and driven out of her home, she said, at John Day, July 4, 1908. She demanded $15 a month alimony, and $50 attorney's fees.

Mrs. Ward charged desertion. She was permitted to take back her maiden name, Gertrude Lang. She was married to Ward at Deadwood, S. D., May 9, 1900.

Father-in-Law Cause of Trouble.

Lola W. Porter makes the charge, in a divorce complaint filed in the Circuit court yesterday, that Leonard W. Porter, her husband, compelled her to cook and wash for his father, although the father was worth $10,000 and well able to pay for her services. She says, too, that her husband's father, who is his own, she remonstrated with her husband because he charged Porter, Sr., nothing but a common laborer, to prevent her from telephoning for assistance. She thinks Porter, Sr., is a miser, three years ago, when she was obliged to call the police to prevent him from doing her bodily harm. She says he left her in jail for three days, and she is trying to sell her home, at 238 East Sixty-fourth street, which they are buying on the installment plan. She thinks Porter, Sr., is a miser, and she is without making provision for her and the three children. She was married to him at Pendleton, October 15, 1903.

DISOWNED SON CHANGES NAME

Solomon Littman Ostracized, He Says for Changing Religion. Disowned and ostracized by his parents, Adam and Sarah Littman, of Philadelphia, because he left their church, Solomon Littman filed a petition with County Judge Cleaton yesterday, asking that his name be changed to Thomas Ray Jackson. Because he is not yet of age it was necessary to appoint Albert J. Edwards his guardian for the purposes of the legal proceedings.

Littman says he was born March 24, 1882. He was turned out, he says, and compelled to earn his own living, his father and mother giving him no recognition, and the society and other organizations of which he was a member refusing to have anything further to do with him. He says he has gone under the name of Jackson, and that his social and business standing will be greatly lessened if he is obliged to use his parents' name.

SCHOOLMATES MEET IN JAIL

Two Held Here for Murders Committed in North Carolina. Jesse Burleson and George Holder, schoolmates of Mitchell County, North Carolina, are in the Multnomah County Jail, waiting to be taken back to their old home to face murder charges. Burleson is 27 years old, and married, while Holder is only 16. Both admit the charges against them, but say they killed in self-defense. Holder thinks he cannot be convicted because he is not of age.

"I never thought of Johnny Wilson when I cut him with the knife," he said. "It was really an accident. I was going home from school one day and was invited to get some grapes and apples. Wilson ordered me down and then started to beat me. I escaped, but Wilson caught me about 360 yards away and kicked me. Then I drew a 15-cent pen-knife and stabbed him in the thigh. There was no doctor near, and he bled to death."

Burleson shot and killed Melvin Thomas. He was working in a Carolina logging camp, he said. Thomas was his boss. But Thomas was a bully and berated him because he did not haul more logs. On one occasion Thomas pulled a rope and snapped it. Burleson, discharging it once, at which Burleson shot him. This is Burleson's story. He said that he has made no attempt at concealment; that he fired the shot only four months after the shooting but was not arrested.

Executrix Cannot Act.

J. Silverstone petitioned the County Court yesterday to be appointed administrator of the will of Godfrey L. Lewis, because Alice Halberstadt, named in the will as executrix, is a resident of California, he says, and cannot act. Lewis died February 15, leaving an estate valued at $1000. His will was made September 28, 1907, the beneficiary being Kate Halberstadt, a sister, San Anselmo, Cal.; Sadie Gregory, sister, San Francisco; Annie Crawford, sister, San Francisco; Cook, sister, San Francisco; Alice Cook, sister, San Francisco; Florence Nathan, niece, San Francisco; Gertrude Lewis, a niece, Oakland, Cal.; Minnie Lewis, niece, Oakland.

Amanda W. Reed Estate Closed.

Martin Winch was discharged by Judge Cleaton yesterday as executor of the Amanda W. Reed will and the estate was closed. It covers the sale of certain personal property, mostly jewelry and furs. It was distributed at auction on the 22nd inst. for $5905, the amount distributed to the heirs being $5759.80. This gave $384 from this source to each. Two other heirs, Mrs. A. C. Feldner and her son, received $1630.

Regan "Back to the Soil" Man.

The newly elected president, James J. Regan of St. Paul, Minn., is a firm believer in the "back to the soil" movement and predicts that in time the great numbers of the well-to-do class in the United States will own country land. The election of officers consumed the entire day yesterday and late into last night. Those elected are: President, Joseph McLaughlin, Philadelphia; secretary, J. T. McGinnis, Scranton, Pa.; treasurer, James J. Maloney, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Good Things in Portland Markets

The most beautiful things to be seen in the markets this week were cucumbers, and Alberta peaches from further down the state. Both were very attractive. The apples were selling at 10 cents a pound, the peaches for a quarter; but very good yellow ones at 15 cents a pound. A large supply of lower figure and canning stock at $1.75 a box.

The first of the grapes have made their appearance in the market. The seedless variety. They retail at 15 and 20 cents a pound and come to us from California. A large supply of peaches are making a very creditable showing this week also, and look well worth 25 cents a dozen. Southern Oregon is sending forward an abundance of peaches. A large supply of changing hands freely at 20 cents a dozen.

First-crop plums, with the "made in Oregon" stamp, were very inviting, and 15 cents a dozen or 65 cents a basket seemed by no means dear for them. A quantity of peaches are being offered at 5 cents a pound, the kind that do well in pies and for sauce. Probably the last of the Royal Anne peaches are in the market. They were retailing at 20 cents a pound. Of the small fruits, wild blackberries at 15 cents and huckleberries at 30 cents a bushel. The watermelon market is looking better. Leganberries at three boxes for 25 cents were considerably in evidence, and a consignment of white currants and blackberries are also in the market. There were also blackberries of the "tame" variety at 10 cents a box, and blackcaps averaging the same.

Watermelon is proceeding to unimp more and more of the sidewalk market, and is being sold at 2 cents a pound. Cantaloupes are now two for a quarter, or 10 cents for small ones. Grapefruit at three for 25 cents, and watermelons at 10 cents each (25 to 30 cents each), and coconuts at 15 cents each seemed to complete the fruit list. Another consignment of vegetables are the star attractions of the vegetable market. The sweet potatoes are 15 cents a pound and the corn 35 cents a bushel. New, also, are California asparagus at 20 cents and lima beans at 25 cents a pound. A consignment of choice artichokes, and green beans, and another new comer is okra, or gumbo, beloved by Southerners—25 cents a pound.

The first of Oregon celery is offered this week—15 cents a bunch. Cucumbers, 5 and 10 cents each, or three for a quarter; eggplant at 30 cents, tomatoes at 10 cents, and green peppers at 30 cents a pound; Summer squash, 5 and 10 cents each, and a little rhubarb at 10 cents a pound, while all the peas, beans and other vegetables make a most wholesome array. Creamery butter is still 75 cents a pound, but quotations are predicted higher for the week. Eggs are at 40 cents a good "family" stock brings 40 cents a dozen. The price of poultry remains very firm, with the Spring chickens at 35 cents; hen, 25 cents, and ducks, 30 cents a pound.

In the fish market, crabs are 35 and 40 cents a pound, salmon at 25 and 15 cents a pound respectively. Sea-mon, 15 cents; black cod, 12 1/2 cents, and halibut 10 cents a pound. Good blood mackerel from 10 to 40 cents each.

JEWEL SWINDLE SUCCEEDS

Man Pays $350 for Imitation Diamonds Worth 50 Cents.

The man with valuable jewelry, which he is compelled to sell at a great sacrifice made his appearance in Portland yesterday and succeeded in disposing of it to good advantage. The swindler, Solomon Parnas, of 271 Baker street, was approached at First and Main streets by a countryman who asked him the fare to Chicago. Parnas said he did not know, but thought that it was about $50. "My, that's bad," said the inquirer, "I'll have to sell my jewelry." At the subject's feet he threw several apparently fine diamonds.

At this point a bystander stepped up and asked what was the trouble. His eyes were on the jewels and he went into raptures over them and wanted to buy them. Parnas suggested his price and the countryman offered him an advance for his bargain. Parnas now keyed up to the highest pitch, went to his home and secured $350 which he paid for the jewels and a "booster" then paid Parnas $450 on account, promising to bring the rest and take the diamonds. He failed to appear and the victim awoke to realization of the fact that the two men were working together and that he had been duped.

He reported the case to the detective bureau and showed imitation diamonds worth about 50 cents.

A prayerbook was among the articles found in the stomach of an ostrich dissected in London.

HI-BERNIANS RE-ELECT PRESIDENT

St. Paul Man Defeats Cummings After Liveliest of Election Contests.

POPE SENDS GREETINGS

Messages Also Come From President Taft and Cardinal Gibbons. Vote of Pennsylvania Delegation Decides Issue.

In what is believed to have been the most lively contested election in the history of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held yesterday, Matthew Cummings, candidate to succeed himself as president, went down to defeat, and J. J. Regan, of St. Paul, was chosen in his stead.

Regan "Back to the Soil" Man.

The newly elected president, James J. Regan of St. Paul, Minn., is a firm believer in the "back to the soil" movement and predicts that in time the great numbers of the well-to-do class in the United States will own country land. The election of officers consumed the entire day yesterday and late into last night. Those elected are: President, Joseph McLaughlin, Philadelphia; secretary, J. T. McGinnis, Scranton, Pa.; treasurer, James J. Maloney, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Good Things in Portland Markets

The most beautiful things to be seen in the markets this week were cucumbers, and Alberta peaches from further down the state. Both were very attractive. The apples were selling at 10 cents a pound, the peaches for a quarter; but very good yellow ones at 15 cents a pound. A large supply of lower figure and canning stock at $1.75 a box.

The first of the grapes have made their appearance in the market. The seedless variety. They retail at 15 and 20 cents a pound and come to us from California. A large supply of peaches are making a very creditable showing this week also, and look well worth 25 cents a dozen. Southern Oregon is sending forward an abundance of peaches. A large supply of changing hands freely at 20 cents a dozen.

First-crop plums, with the "made in Oregon" stamp, were very inviting, and 15 cents a dozen or 65 cents a basket seemed by no means dear for them. A quantity of peaches are being offered at 5 cents a pound, the kind that do well in pies and for sauce. Probably the last of the Royal Anne peaches are in the market. They were retailing at 20 cents a pound. Of the small fruits, wild blackberries at 15 cents and huckleberries at 30 cents a bushel. The watermelon market is looking better. Leganberries at three boxes for 25 cents were considerably in evidence, and a consignment of white currants and blackberries are also in the market. There were also blackberries of the "tame" variety at 10 cents a box, and blackcaps averaging the same.

Watermelon is proceeding to unimp more and more of the sidewalk market, and is being sold at 2 cents a pound. Cantaloupes are now two for a quarter, or 10 cents for small ones. Grapefruit at three for 25 cents, and watermelons at 10 cents each (25 to 30 cents each), and coconuts at 15 cents each seemed to complete the fruit list. Another consignment of vegetables are the star attractions of the vegetable market. The sweet potatoes are 15 cents a pound and the corn 35 cents a bushel. New, also, are California asparagus at 20 cents and lima beans at 25 cents a pound. A consignment of choice artichokes, and green beans, and another new comer is okra, or gumbo, beloved by Southerners—25 cents a pound.

The first of Oregon celery is offered this week—15 cents a bunch. Cucumbers, 5 and 10 cents each, or three for a quarter; eggplant at 30 cents, tomatoes at 10 cents, and green peppers at 30 cents a pound; Summer squash, 5 and 10 cents each, and a little rhubarb at 10 cents a pound, while all the peas, beans and other vegetables make a most wholesome array. Creamery butter is still 75 cents a pound, but quotations are predicted higher for the week. Eggs are at 40 cents a good "family" stock brings 40 cents a dozen. The price of poultry remains very firm, with the Spring chickens at 35 cents; hen, 25 cents, and ducks, 30 cents a pound.

In the fish market, crabs are 35 and 40 cents a pound, salmon at 25 and 15 cents a pound respectively. Sea-mon, 15 cents; black cod, 12 1/2 cents, and halibut 10 cents a pound. Good blood mackerel from 10 to 40 cents each.

JEWEL SWINDLE SUCCEEDS

Man Pays $350 for Imitation Diamonds Worth 50 Cents.

The man with valuable jewelry, which he is compelled to sell at a great sacrifice made his appearance in Portland yesterday and succeeded in disposing of it to good advantage. The swindler, Solomon Parnas, of 271 Baker street, was approached at First and Main streets by a countryman who asked him the fare to Chicago. Parnas said he did not know, but thought that it was about $50. "My, that's bad," said the inquirer, "I'll have to sell my jewelry." At the subject's feet he threw several apparently fine diamonds.

At this point a bystander stepped up and asked what was the trouble. His eyes were on the jewels and he went into raptures over them and wanted to buy them. Parnas suggested his price and the countryman offered him an advance for his bargain. Parnas now keyed up to the highest pitch, went to his home and secured $350 which he paid for the jewels and a "booster" then paid Parnas $450 on account, promising to bring the rest and take the diamonds. He failed to appear and the victim awoke to realization of the fact that the two men were working together and that he had been duped.

He reported the case to the detective bureau and showed imitation diamonds worth about 50 cents.

A prayerbook was among the articles found in the stomach of an ostrich dissected in London.

is just at hand. Upon reading its contents, I became so greatly shocked and disappointed that I would have keeled over had it not been that I was wearing the O'Sullivan's rubber heels. Yours, etc."

The next mail carried to the Paulist leader a handsome sum from Mr. O'Sullivan.

Colonel William Murphy, Democratic warhorse of Eastern Washington, has been in the city from Walla Walla, for the purpose, it is understood, of making a collection among the Hibernians as to their political preferences toward Colonel Dunphy's "peerless" friend, Colonel William J. Bryan. It is rumored that Colonel Dunphy is disappointed, for his Irish-American friends seem to believe that the notable Nebraska "can't come back."

"Patriotic sons and rosy-cheeked colleens of the Emerald Isle own Portland and Portland owns the sons and daughters of the Shamrock-clad hills of Old Ireland this week," was the way that James F. McIvor, of Wilmington, Del., gives expression to the occasion of the 74th convention of Ancient Order of Hibernians.

It was announced yesterday that the sum of $25,000, voted by the convention on Thursday, will be applied to the building of more church-and-school combination structures in Portland and other parts of Oregon. The structures will be built with the Roman style of St. Mary's Cathedral. The response of the congregation to the appeals of the church in Portland is considered as most encouraging and much larger charitable contributions are expected to be forthcoming on the 29th inst.

Thomas J. Maloney, who was yesterday elected National treasurer of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, is the Mayor of Burlington, Iowa. Mr. Maloney is engaged in the business of real estate in that place. He said last evening that he had attended many conventions and the work of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Mr. Regan last evening said:

"It will be one of my purposes to encourage young members of the order and Irishmen generally the idea of the advantages to be derived from living on farm lands. Such advantages are no less than in any other part of the world. It is 'back to the soil' for the Irish people."

In Minnesota there are hundreds of Irish people brought from the congested districts of the old land through the efforts of Archbishop Ireland and Bishop McElroy, who have settled on farms in the state. These people are comparatively little of the world's goods when they came to America, but in 30 or 40 years they have become some of the most prosperous and influential residents of our commonwealth.

New President Tells Policies.

Referring to his election as president, Mr. Regan outlined his policies as follows: "So far as the election today is concerned, I am much pleased in being honored with the highest office of the order. I want to take this opportunity of testifying to the splendid work achieved for the order by my predecessor in office, Mr. Cummings, my delegate, I think, fully appreciates his work and were the election along those lines, I think, the order would undoubtedly have been elected by a large majority. But the election largely turned upon the question of a third term, which I believe in accordance with the Father of Our Country, the Hibernians did not believe an advisable precedent to follow."

Regard the matter of policies, there will be no material change. I have been a part of the retiring administration and will endeavor to keep the workings of the order in the future as in the past, wholly aloof from any other Irish movement, encouraging all in the order to be done in accordance with the principles and policy established by the Ancient Order of Hibernians."

Pope Pius and Taft Send Greetings.

At the opening of the sessions yesterday morning, greetings to the convention were extended by the pope through Pope Pius through Cardinal Merry Del Val, Cardinal Gibbons, Apostolic Delegate Falconia, and Archbishop O'Connell, were also received from the pope through Cardinal McGinnis. The text of the messages were:

The holy father accepts the greetings and pleases to give his apostolic benediction. CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL.

I have received your very kind telegram of July 20 informing me that the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America in convention assembled, had decided to pledge loyalty to our flag and country, and I am glad to hear of the convention and the convention that its action in this regard encourages and helps us, and express to those in the order my hearty approval and my cordial good wishes for the order and for its members individually.

I am thankful for respectful greetings. Best wishes for the success of the order. Most willingly bless all assembled members. W. H. HARRISBURG, Archbishop of Baltimore.

Your greetings in the name of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America greatly appreciated. Send blessings for a full heart. CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Archbishop of Boston accepts with pleasure the greetings of the Hibernians in America. Thanks for renewed pledges of unity. Prays for success for the convention and sends his cordial benediction. ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS.

Election of Officers Held.

The greetings from such distinguished personages stirred the convention and each message was received with applause and enthusiasm. After the reading of the telegrams, the convention proceeded with the election of officers for the next term. The entire morning was taken up in submitting names for the office of president. The contest finally dwindled to two candidates, President Matthew Cummings and James J. Regan. It was 12:30 o'clock before the final ballot was taken, resulting in the election of Mr. Regan by the narrow margin of twelve votes.

O'SULLIVAN GIVES LIBERALLY

James O'Sullivan, of rubber-heel fame, ingratiated himself into the hearts of his fellow-Irishmen by announcing a gift of $1000 for the cause of church extension work. Mr. O'Sullivan is one of the charitable-minded Irish-Americans among the Hibernians and as a layman stands high among his churchmen.

Mr. O'Sullivan frequently is asked for donations. In fact, many seem to believe, he says, that he is somewhere in the Rockefeller or Carnegie class.

Propose of his charitable work, one of his friends tells a story.

Father A. P. Doyle, of Washington, D. C., wrote Mr. O'Sullivan a short time ago for a donation or the erection of a Paulist Mission chapel. The rubber heel man replied that he could not comply with the wishes of the father. Whereupon the Paulist wrote in reply as follows:

"My Dear Mr. O'Sullivan: Your letter

ROOFTOP BOAT FLEET Launch Kittie Must Pay $100 on Federal Charge.

NIGHT LIGHTS NOT SHOWN

New Law, to Be Enforced by Officials, Relates to All Rowboats or Craft Carrying Sail as Well as Big Ships.

Bent on enforcing new Government regulations that require motorboats to be equipped with lights, bells, fog signals and other safeguards, Collector of Customs Malcolm, has issued a fine order, the maximum penalty, to be imposed against the launch Kittie, owned by H. Meister, for having failed to display proper illuminations after sunset Wednesday.

It is the first case of the kind under a law that became effective July 9 and soon after the provisions were made known instructions were issued to maintain a strict watch on the river to ascertain compliance with government requirements.

STEAMER INTELLIGENCE table with columns: Name, From, Date, and Scheduled to Depart.

which vessels were not complying with them. In order that all motorboats and other craft may be familiar with the restrictions, the law provides that two copies shall be distributed for each craft and that they must be on hand for display when demanded.

Rowboats and craft carrying sail are also included in the campaign being waged, but their equipment is governed by an act of 1887 that provides for a maximum fine of $250. The law divides the motorboats into three classes, less than 25 feet in length, under 40 feet and not more than 65 feet. A different number of lights is prescribed for each class in addition to whistles, foghorns and bells.

While it is optional with the officers to merely notify the owner that a fine has been imposed, the law gives them authority to seize the craft not obeying its provisions and hold it until the fine is paid. After the sun is turned over to the Collector of Customs an appeal may be taken to the Department of Commerce and Labor or a petition filed asking for a reduction of the amount levied.

LONG WATERWAY FEASIBLE

Captain Buchanan to Urge Opening of River to Nelson, B. C. When Captain Buchanan participates in the proposed Canadian conference as a delegate from the Open River Association, he will submit data covering the estimated cost of river improvements above Priest Rapids and he expects to make a navigation canal as far north as Nelson, B. C., at an expenditure not as heavy as that proposed to complete the Cellocco canal.

It is said by Captain Buchanan, who has traversed most of the route, that there are few places where the work will entail heavy expense and that the proposed canal, which will be completed by the end of the year, will be a navigable stretch of water 1600 miles, reaching from there to Astoria.

NORMA ON WAYS AT CELLO

Inland Empire Will Be Hauled Out for Overhauling Next Week. Having raised the steamer Norma, which recently went down near the mouth of the Neenah River, the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company has before the beach clock has been started into place. It is believed that for some reason the safety devices on the gun, which exploded in the middle of the night, had been tampered with. It is estimated that the work will not be completed until the middle of August. The steamer Inland Empire, of the Open River fleet, will be hauled out at Cello next week and it is expected she will be ready to start on her way last season the Twin Cities was overhauled, but the Inland Empire was given her annual going-over and additional labor will be necessary as a result.

NEWPORT TO SAIL FOR EUREKA

Reynolds Leaves to Join Redondo as Wireless Operator. When the steamer Newport sails this morning she will have orders to continue down the coast to Eureka, and there will be two new officers aboard, Harry Valbusch, formerly mate on the steamer Newport, who sailed yesterday from Seattle to accept the same billet on the Newport, and a new man will be appointed to succeed Pursor Reynolds.

Mr. Reynolds tendered his resignation to follow a similar vocation on the steamer Redondo, which will ply between Seattle and Eureka out weeks. He will be added to his duties the task of operating her wireless apparatus. Mr. Reynolds was formerly on the Alliance and is well known here.

Toby's Cargo Reported Undamaged.

With 2108 tons of California cement the converted barge Gerard C. Tobey arrived yesterday from the Golden Gate and was berthed at Columbia dock to discharge. Her master reported that he had inspected the cargo when the hatches were removed and that there was no damage as the case with her first load. It is probable the Tobey will load for the return with ties waiting at Stella, but definite orders have not been issued.

Speedy Klamath Brings Full List.

Another full passenger list, numbering 60 persons was brought yesterday from the Bay City by the steamer Klamath.

PORTLAND IS 13TH

Rank in Amount of New Building Shown by Survey.

FRAME STRUCTURES LEAD

Rose City Seventh Among Cities in Value of Wooden Buildings, but Holds Lower Rank for Fireproof Construction.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 21.—The U. S. Geological Survey rates Portland 13th among the big cities of the United States, measured by building activity during 1909. During that year 4738 building permits were issued in Portland, representing a total expenditure on new buildings and on repairs aggregating $13,481,580. This is a gain over 1908 of $3,976,229, or more than 28 per cent.

Portland's wooden buildings are concerned, Portland ranks seventh, for the Government figures show that 3104 new frame buildings were erected there last year at a total cost of $6,532,185, while $466,880 additional was expended in extensions and repairs on old frame buildings, the total expenditure being $7,020,065.

Fireproof Buildings Increase.

When it comes to brick, stone and concrete buildings, grouped under the heading "fire-resisting buildings," Portland drops back. The tables show that in 1909 permits were issued for the erection of 115 new brick buildings, representing an investment of $3,201,725, and an expenditure of $74,945 additional for extensions and repairs of old buildings. Only three permits were issued for stone buildings, costing in the aggregate $160,000. In 1909 permits were issued for the erection of 115 new brick buildings, representing an investment of $3,201,725, and an expenditure of $74,945 additional for extensions and repairs of old buildings. Only three permits were issued for stone buildings, costing in the aggregate $160,000.

Adding these figures, together with nearly $2,000,000 on other buildings not classified, it is shown that 892 fire-resisting buildings were authorized, at a total cost of $5,418,315. This is more than $500,000 below the outlay on frame buildings in the same period. The bulk of building in Portland, measured in dollars and cents, was of frame construction.

Seattle Was Stands Seventh.

According to this same report, Seattle stands seventh in the amount of expenditure on buildings. Tacoma is in 23d place and Spokane 24th. The total number of permits issued in Seattle in 1909 was 14,835, representing a total expenditure of $10,044,536, a gain of $5,267,000 over 1908. The report does not show the gains made by Tacoma or Spokane, though a total of 243 permits issued in Tacoma last year, representing an expenditure of $5,462,308, and 2663 permits in Spokane, representing an outlay of $8,764,243.

In Seattle, 12,000 permits were issued for wooden buildings, new and extensions, representing a total investment of $1,000,000. In Tacoma 256 permits of this character were issued for work to cost $2,665,408. No details are given for Spokane.

The total number of permits for fire-resisting buildings in Seattle was 2794, the work to cost $7,945,276, and in Tacoma, 38 permits, representing a cost of $2,320,000.

GAELIC LEAGUE JUBILANT

Compulsory Study of Irish, However, Diverts Students. DUBLIN, July 22.—It is said that the decision of the Senate of the National University of Ireland to make the study of the Gaelic language compulsory for matriculation on and after the year 1913, was taken by a majority of 21 votes to 12.

The Gaelic League is jubilant over the victory, which is mainly due to the pressure which the league was able to exert through the Nationalist county councils. The compulsory study of the Gaelic language at the universities act to strike rates in aid of scholarships to a total amount of about $300,000 per annum. Many of them made the striking of the rate conditional upon the adoption of compulsory Irish. If the new rule is strictly enforced hundreds of students will be diverted to Dublin University or to Belfast.

The Irish Times, in expressing regret at the Senate's decision, says that it does not think that either the Trinity College or Belfast University wishes to be enriched at the cost of Roman Catholic Ireland's first venture in educational home rule.

Colonel Thompson Surrenders.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Colonel Robert M. Thompson, who was abroad on June 17 last, when the Federal Government indicted him together with James A. Patten and five others for conspiracy in restraint of trade in connection with the operation of an alleged cotton monopoly, today surrendered himself to United States Commissioner Shields. Colonel Thompson was released on $5000 bond.

Raymond Wins From Traveling Men

RAYMOND, Wash