

BEAVER GROUNDED IN SMOKE AND FOG

Avoiding Collision With British Steamer, Vessel Runs Nose Deep in Sands.

CARGO BEING LIGHTERED

Passengers for Portland Transferred to Potter—No Injury Reported and Refloating Is Expected Today.

ASTORIA, Or., July 27.—(Special)—Thick weather, caused by a combination of fog and smoke from forest fires, caused the steamer Beaver, Captain Kidston, to run aground on the sands in the lower harbor this morning and the vessel is so badly grounded that she probably cannot be floated until after much of her cargo is lighterred.

When first seen the British steamer was so close to hand that a collision was narrowly averted. Captain Kidston threw his wheel hard over and by signaling full speed ahead, succeeded in missing the St. Nicholas by the narrow margin of only a few feet. However, the headway of the Beaver could not be stopped before she ran so far up on the sands at the North side of the channel that her bow is practically high and dry at low water. The Beaver is headed almost directly toward Knappaht, but she stands on an even keel and is in no danger.

Shortly after the accident the tank steamer J. A. Chandler crossed in. She dropped two anchors in the channel, ran a line to the stranded craft and made several attempts to pull her off. In one of them the line broke and in swinging back it struck the Beaver, after which the Chandler, as well as doing other damage to the vessel.

THE BRIDGE-1

This advertisement first of a series dealing with effect of New Madison Bridge on property values.

MURRAYMEAD IN DISTRICT AFFECTED

Convenience in getting to and from business largely determinative of residence values.

Whether you buy property through me or not, it will not hurt you to read what I have to say on the subject of the new bridge.

There is a nutshell you have the first reason why property EAST of the business center is worth less than it is WEST.

The Madison bridge is up above most of the river traffic, and even if it were of the same old-fashioned type as the other bridges, would not be required to open so frequently.

Once it is completed you will find that if your business takes you over to the East Side you will have a little sign of relief if you can cross on the Madison bridge instead of some other one.

Hundreds of others will feel the same way. They will feel that if they must live on the East Side they would like to live on a cartline crossing the best bridge. This feeling will cause a demand for homes along the line which will put an ever-increasing premium on the district.

MURRAYMEAD is served by the Hawthorne-avenue and Mount Scott cartline.

Besides, it is highly restricted, has every modern improvement, and lots today can be bought for less than surrounding property is selling for. Investigation on your part will PROVE this.

Inside lots, $1700 to $2000. Corners, $2250 to $2500. Terms 20 per cent cash and 2 per cent per month. Building restrictions, $2500 to $3500.

Now is the time for you to buy—prices will advance soon, and very materially.

Take Hawthorne-avenue or Mount Scott car to East Twenty-fifth and Hawthorne, and walk four blocks south to my tract office. My agent is there all day. Or come direct to my downtown office.
