Poindexter Has Strong Lead.

Almost every report brought to the city by the arriving delegates con-cerning the Senatorial contest is that Miles Poindexter, insurgent, is one of, if not the strongest of the several can-didates. Unless sentiment changes before the primaries or there is an elimination of one or the other of the regulars. Poindexter, according to reports, will carry Eastern Washington by a strong plurality, and will get a heavy strong plurality, and will get a heavy vote west of the mountains, with the exception of the Southwest and extreme Northwest.

Consensus of opinion is that the insurgent strength in the state, even with the prospective addition of 50 percent of the Democratic vote, is not greater than that of the regular wing of the party, but the latter is so divided by three strong candidates that the prospect is admitted to favor Poindexter.

One of the attempts of the convention which seems to be strongly anti-tion which seems to be strongly anti-insurgent, will be to change the insurgent sentiment throughout the state, but opinion is divided as to the best way of doing it. Some delegates are advocating resolutions condemning advocating resolutions condemning specifically Poindexter's record in Congress.

tenbein, and in his application set forth that unless stopped, the city will pay out about $10,000 in these wages.

The strikers allege their main object in getting this injunction is to bring prominently before the public the cost of peace, and incidentally to call attention to he alleged fact that this expense is unwarranted because they say the protection of drivers is not necessary.

Mass Meeting Is Proposed.

The unions are talking about holding a mass meeting of all the labor organiza-tions in the city at which the general public will be invited to express its ideas.

The effect of such a meeting, they think, would be to demonstarte whether it would be possible to call a general strike. The committee of 12, composed of representatives of various employing inresentatives of various employing ar-terests of Portland, continues its morning meetings in the Commercial Club, and professes to gain confidence daily in the safety of the city from a general strike.
