

SAILOR'S ARREST MAY SOLVE WRECK

Sheriff Stevens Overhears Man Boasting of Crime in Colorado.

SOBER, HE IS RETICENT

Wires Are Kept Busy and Colorado Authorities Want Prisoner—Man Convicted for Wreck Ditch While Serving Sentence.

The keen sense of hearing possessed by Sheriff Stevens may lead indirectly to the ultimate apprehension of a gang of train wreckers who ditched a Santa Fe train and injured a score of persons near La Junta, Colo., eight years ago.

When on a hunt for a fugitive from justice in the North End resorts Sheriff Stevens and Deputy Sheriff Beatty chanced to pass G. M. Gerbruch, a sailor who was drunk near the corner of Third and Ankeny streets. As the officers neared the spot where the sailor stood leaning against a building the Sheriff heard him declare boastfully:

"I know the gang—they put the train in the ditch."

Reticent When Sober.

In another moment the sailor was partially aroused from his stupor and was uttering a series of rambling reminiscences concerning the train wreck.

Concluding that the sailor had grounds for his assertions, the officers took him into custody for a further examination. When Gerbruch had grown sober he talked reluctantly of the train wreck. He intimated that he was familiar with the gang of wreckers and all the incidents in connection with the ditching of the train.

Following Gerbruch's commitment to a cell Sheriff Stevens took the case up with the local officials of the Santa Fe Railroad. Telegrams were sent to Chicago to the offices of the railroad company and to La Junta, Colo. Responses were received to the telegrams sent to both points, verifying the statements of Gerbruch.

Colorado Officers Want Him.

Sheriff Stevens later received a communication from the railroad officials at Colorado town urging him to hold Gerbruch as a witness until an officer arrived to return with him to Colorado.

Gerbruch said that he was a deserter from the United States Navy, having served six years of a life-sentence for the alleged wrecking of a Santa Fe train near Wray, Colo., in 1907, may be shown to have been innocent as the result of the arrest of G. M. Gerbruch, a sailor, at Portland, Or., last night, is the belief of those familiar with Devine's story.

SECRET KEPT TO HIS DEATH

Innocent Man May Have Suffered for Colorado Train Wreck.

CANON CITY, Colo., Aug. 3.—

That John Devine, known at the state penitentiary here as the "man of silence," died in the prison hospital last year after having served six years of a life-sentence for the alleged wrecking of a Santa Fe train near Wray, Colo., in 1907, may be shown to have been innocent as the result of the arrest of G. M. Gerbruch, a sailor, at Portland, Or., last night, is the belief of those familiar with Devine's story.

Devine was taken into custody at the scene of the wreck, having been found asleep in a clump of bushes 100 yards away. He was tried on the charge of robbery, in company with other persons unknown, found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. In the sixth year of his sentence and at the age of 71, he died.

Devine from the moment the prison gates closed on him, refused to talk, maintaining silence even when Governor Shafroth tried to interview him. Officers left tonight for Portland to bring Gerbruch to Colorado.

EX-HUSBAND IS FIGHTER

Divorced Wife's Appearance in Another's Company Makes Trouble.

Samuel Kinsman, more than 50 years old and badly crippled, struck R. A. Marshall, a case-maker, in the face with a cane, and the two went to the pavement together in front of the Beck building last Monday. It was a professional point of view, but Marshall caused the arrest of Kinsman.

The trouble arose from Marshall's taking Kinsman's divorced wife out automobile riding. Although the Kinsmans have been divorced a month, the ex-husband felt that he still had some claim on her, and Kinsman has been divorced twice. He said that he bought a $7000 home and turned it over to his wife, and that from that time she cooled toward him. He said that she told him that he "ought to get out and give a better man a chance."

Marshall declared that he took Mrs. Kinsman riding, just as he took other men's wives, as an act of courtesy. He said that on two occasions when Kinsman had beaten his wife he had advised her to give him another trial, but not begin divorce proceedings. Kinsman explained the beating by saying that his wife attempted to stab him with a hat pin and that he defended himself.

When the combatants, who are both contractors, appeared at the desk at police headquarters, it was worth $50 to get "satisfaction." He also made threats which caused the issuance of a warrant against him for threatening to kill, but upon request of Marshall it was not served.

Judge Bennett read a lecture to the fighters and continued sentence during good behavior.

OFFICERS RETURN HOME

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS TO STRENGTHEN WORK.

Secretaries Representing 17,000 Members Are Present at Notable Conference on Orcas Island.

Nearly the entire executive force of the Portland Young Men's Christian Association returned yesterday from Puget Sound, where they attended the Pacific Northwest employed officers' conference. The gathering was held on Orcas Island, 30 miles north of Seattle. The Portland officers report it was the most successful session of the kind ever held on the Pacific Coast.

The officers present represented associations with a total membership of 17,000. These associations are in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia. There were 76 men in attendance out of a total of 119 eligible. When the officers have met in previous years the attendance has been far smaller. The Portland Association alone had 14 secretaries there, and there were 12 in attendance from the other cities with headquarters in Portland.

One of the features of the conference was the need shown for more men in the Young Men's Christian Association. New associations are being established so frequently and the old ones growing so rapidly that there is a constant demand for more trained men. The officers are in the next two months at 20 positions are to be filled in associations in the Pacific Northwest. It was estimated that hereafter 30 new secretaries will be needed in this territory each year.

Probably the chief result of the conference was the determination to lay more stress on religious work. While this department is already strong, the conference leaders believe that Christian effort should be made the dominant feature in every phase of the Young Men's Christian Association activity. Much attention will be directed in every association in keeping the religious department up to a high standard. More attention will also be paid to the forming of new associations in cities of 5000 and over.

R. R. Perkins, religious work director of the Portland Association, was elected chairman of the committee on arrangements for the conference next year. The plan is to hold the gathering nearer Portland, which is more central for the territory included. Some places on the Oregon shore of the Columbia will probably be chosen.

JOSEPH WILL OWN WATER

Puts in New Water Plant Despite Water Company's Opposition.

ENTERPRISE, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special).—The city water works fight that has rent the town since Joseph Joseph time has not hindered the city in putting in a municipal plant. When the city manifested a desire to have a municipal water plant the Joseph Water Company secured a temporary injunction to prevent the city from tearing up the company's mains. The case is still in court, though the city is going ahead with a municipal plant, the contract having been let to J. M. Mitchell for $16,810.20.

Both Joseph and the entire upper valley here are peculiarly fortunate in water supply. Wallowa Lake, which Joseph will tap, lies perhaps 600 feet higher than the highest city in the valley and averages over 200 feet deep. It presents evidence of having been originally a huge gouge made in the earth by a tremendous glacier. It is fed by springs running down the side, and the water is almost ice cold and as clear as glass. For the City of Joseph, perhaps, the whole depth of the lake would lie at least 20 feet higher than the city, and give a tremendous power to any water system.

STRIKE BRINGS ARRESTS

Driver and Union Man Clash—Boy Sympathizer Attacks Teamster.

Ed. Wright, a striking teamster and William Hoggan, a driver for the North-Western Logging Company, engaged in a fight at First and Yamhill streets yesterday and were arrested. The trouble is said to have been started by Wright hurling an abusive epithet at Hoggan.

James Hutton, a youthful strike-sympathizer, was arrested and turned over to the juvenile court, for abusing E. A. Ganser, a driver, at Eleventh and Kearney streets. The boy hurled insulting epithets at the driver and picked up a beer bottle with intent to assault him. Patrolman Harrington made the arrest.

BIDS CAUSE TALK

Realty Men Surprised at Post-office Sites Offered.

BIG DISTRICT COVERED

Belief Held That Corbett Block, South of Postoffice, May Yet Be Secured Through Condemnation Proceedings.

Real estate men generally profess considerable surprise that some of the sites offered to the Government for Portland's new Postoffice should have been thought worthy of consideration. One dealer expressed the opinion that the sole idea animating some of those who offered sites was to get their names in the press dispatches.

There is a belief more or less prevalent that the real site of the new building has not yet been named. Said Henry E. Reed, of Walker & Reed:

"The new Postoffice will either be where the present building stands, or else on the block south, the Corbett property."

It has been generally supposed that by the terms of the Corbett will this property was out of the question. That it might be brought into the range of eligibility through condemnation proceedings was the theory advanced yesterday. By exercising the right of eminent domain it was said the obstacles set up by the will of H. W. Corbett could be overcome and this block made available for a Federal building.

All Do Not Want Change.

There are many interests, representing much money, that would be glad to see the Postoffice remain in the part of the city where it now is. Whether sufficient pressure can be brought to bear to accomplish this is a question under discussion.

Altogether 11 sites were offered, and the values put upon these properties range from $80,000 to $500,000. The list follows:

Howard Garrison, Hoyt, Gilman, Ninth and Tenth streets, 20x200, $175,000.

Foxton & Ames, agents, Sixth, Seventh, Salmon and Main streets, 20x250, $465,000.

Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, First, Second, Ash and Pine streets, 125x250, $110,000.

Pacific Coast Trust & Investment Company and Espey Estate Company, Seventh, Eighth, Hoyt and Gilman streets, 20x200, $340,000.

Honeyman Hardware Company and others, Park, Ninth, Hoyt and Gilman streets, 20x200, $350,000.

Sengstacke & Lyman, Sixth, Seventh, Everett and Flanders streets, 20x200, $500,000.

Chester V. Dolph and others, Fifth, Sixth, Columbia and Jefferson streets, 20x200, $250,000.

Samuel J. Beeswick, agent, frontage on 20-foot alley, Irregular, 212x131, $20,000.

W. R. Mackenzie, Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Main streets, 26x370, $500,000.

W. R. Mackenzie, Fourth, Fifth, Main and Madison streets, 20x200, $475,000.

Andrew C. Smith and others, present site sub-station, block P, 20x250, $500,000.

Analysis of these offers shows nearly an equal division between sites north and south of Washington streets. The specifications called for a lot 200x250, for which the appropriation was $500,000. Owing to the plan on which Portland was laid out this size was practically impossible, but it was announced that smaller sites of the same proportionate dimensions would do.

The offer of W. R. Mackenzie of the Kamm homestead, between Fourteenth and Sixteenth on Main street, is interesting. It is thought this is too far out of the way, however.

Other Bids Sent In.

Bids were opened at the same time for postoffice buildings in Medford, Roseburg, The Dalles, Or., and Vancouver, Wash. In Medford the limit was to be $100,000 and the size wanted 160x160. The

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "33" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "33" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "33" Hair Tonic and will guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can find it only at the Rexall Drug Co., Inc., Cor. Third and Washington Sts.
