Ernest Lane, Who Created 9 Days' Sensation Here Two Years Ago. Meets Death Fleeing From Officer After Effort to Rob.

That the "Pink Domino Burglar," who a nine days' sensution in this city three years ago, was killed while fleeing from a police officer at Sacramento, Cal., last Friday, is the belief of Captain of Detectives Moore and Detective Sergeant Joe Day, to whom the question of the identity of the man was submitted.

The conclusion is based on the simi-farity of descriptions in the two cases, the fact that the dead man came from Lebanon, Or., and the fact that he was killed immediately after committing acts of a nature similar to those of Ernest of a nature similar to those of the land in this city.

The Sacramento man was identified as Brest A. Franier, of Lebanon, through a letter received after his death from a girl who signed her name as "Mona," is which the writer cautioned him to stay away from Portland and grow a mustache.

Upon more mature comparison of the sport from Sacramento with the history and description of Ernest Lane, the "Pink Domino," Captain Moore and Joe Day scame convinced that he was the man death at Sacramento.

Ernest Lane's criminal career in Port-and included three episodes. When a say he was sent to the Oregon State leform School in 1904, but was paroled hout a year later and soon afterward committed several burglaries and was reeveral burglaries and was recommitted several burglaries and was remarned to the school, remaining until 1807.

But the proposition, according to the calculations of Acting Secretary M. Mosessohn, is so "raw" that it serves no purpose other than to entertain the members who have time to read through the ten pages of carefully-written, but poorly-edited, manuscript that is now on file in his office.

The writer, who says he is inventor of the "airship," as well as the president of the company that proposes to manufacture the machines, is at present located at Amarillo, Tex, where the first demonstration of the finished product of his skill is to take place.

He devotes several typewritten sheets to pointing out the wonderful advertising the City of Dayton, O., is receiving through the presence there of the Wright brothers and their aeroplane factory, and predicts that similar publicity will come to Portland through the location of the proposed new plant in this city.

Now, it is a fact, the inventor-manufacturer admits, that his air craft has never been tried out, but ministure models have worked successfully, and he is positive that the large, practical size will operate with equal success.

Probably the last group of boys that will go to the Summer camp of the Young Men's Christian Association at Spirit Lake left Portland yesterday morning. Five boys from the Y. M. C. A and eight from the Sunday school of the First Congregational Church made up the party, six more planning to overtake them on the way.

It is expected that the camp will be closed August 27. It was intended to keep it open a week longer, but C. J. Clark, boys' secretary, and Harold Rounds, the new assistant secretary. find that the work of their department demands their presence in Portland. The Summer camp has been a great success, more than 190 boys having enjoyed an outing there under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A secretaries.

So says this Texas phllanthropist, but further on in his communication he states that it is imperative that Portlanders buy $30,000 worth of stock if they want to secure the enterprise.

It is evident, too, that the writer has little knowledge of geography, for he sent one of the letters intended for an Eastern city to Portland, in which he gives his reasons for wanting to locate in the East instead of the West, saying that the East is always a few years in advance of the West in grasping new ideas and new inventions.

challenged W. R. Ellis, George S. Shepherd and C. J. Reed, his opponent for the nomination, to meet him in public discussion of the issues of the campaign at the courthouses of the 17 county seats of the district, beginning at Astoria, Monday, August 29, at 8:15 P. M. Mr. Lafferty says:

"A Congressman should be a fluent speaker and an advocate of some force. A man who can't get up publicly and tell the people why they should elect him to Congress could not tell Congress why it should act in behalf of the district. It is reasonable to suppose that when the campaign of a candidate is marked by dignified stience, that his career in Congress would bear the same melancholy stamp.

"If a single one of the opposing candidates accepts this challenge, I will cheerfully meet him. Otherwise I shall make some additional speeches anyway, to be hereafter advertised."

A large number have filed their intentions to enter the primaries for the positions of Representative from this district, both those who are indorsed by the Republican assembly and those who are opposed to the assembly.

bly.

The primaries will take place September 24, and the last date for the registration of voters for this election is September 14. For the general election, the registration books will open September 29 and will remain open until October 17. The general election will be November 18.

17. The general election will be November 8.

There are quite a number of candidates who have announced their intention of running for various offices in the primaries, but who have not as yet filed their petitions with the County Clerk. Among these is George W. McMillan, assembly-indorsed candidate for Sheriff, who will oppose Robert L. Stevens and N. H. Bird, and John B. Coffey, assembly candidate who will oppose County Clerk Fields for that office.

There is promised a lively skirmish between assembly and anti-assembly candidates for the offices of Sheriff, County Judge and County Clerk.

The largest crop of candidates thus far is for the positions of Representative in the lower house. Twelve are indorsed by the Republican assembly and 17 have already filed as anti-assembly candidates. It is understood that others will do so

PORTLAND, Aug. 15.—(To the Editor.)—wish to add to what Mr. Samuels said in communication in The Oregonian of last miserable existence on account of liness, which has been caused most of the time through undue exposure to the weather.

This man's one dream has been that he might one day be able to own a little newsstand or popcorn wason, where he could be sheltered from the elements. Through the help of some good men he was installed in a plain, simple wagon—not one bright with brass and red paint—but what to him was the fulfillment of all his dreams. For a few months he was sa happy as any king, until, as some of us know, some of the members of the City Council, careful always to safeguard the finances of the city, refused to allow this man to remain on the streets without the payment of a license of $600, which he was unable to do, and he is now once more wearily standing day by day on his old corner selling his papers. Surely, now that the little crippled chorus girl has been provided for, we might be able to do something for this man, who has been a familiar figure on our streets for years.

Malaria is a systemic blood poison, a disease which gradually destroys the richness and nourishing elements of the blood. When the malarial poison begins to absorb the rich, red corpuscles of the circulation we see pale, sallow complexions, and a general impairment of health. But Malaria means more than this, and as the blood becomes weaker from the poison, the appetite fails, digestion is disturbed, chills and slight fever are frequent, and in aggravated cases boils and eruptions, liver spots, and even abscesses break out on the fiesh. To sum it all up, Malaria means blood poverty, and the only way to cure the trouble is to enrich and purify the blood. Nothing is equal to S. S. S. as a blood purifier and it is specially adapted to the cure of malarial troubles, because it contains no harmful minerals, and while ridding the blood of the malarial poison, S. S. S. builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effects. If you are suffering with malaria, begin the use of S. S. S. at once, and by cleansing the blood, rid yourself of this wasting disease.
