ASSEMBLY TICKET IN GENERAL FAVOR

Opposition Is Weak, as Indicated by Filings With Secretary of State.

MANY NAMES UNOPPOSED

Three Nominees for Supreme Bench Have Clear Field in Republi-Party - Legislative Nominees Run Alone,

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2—(Special.)—That the Republican assembly ticket is an ex-ceptionally strong one is indicated by names of candidates filed with the cretary of State's office. With only to-crow for filing it seems improbable that any more candidates will enter the race with the exception of one or two in the Legislative field. There have been some rumors during the past week to the effect that some more anti-assembly candidates would present their names, but inquiries among anti-assembly leaders here brought mo verification of this report.

Frank A. Moore, Thomas A. McBride and George H. Burnett, assembly candidates for the Supreme Bench, are running without opposition on the Republicanticket. L. R. Alderman, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction is also running alone. Of the nominations John H. Lewis, candidate for State Engineer, and George T. Cochran, candidate for Superintendent of Water, division No 1 are all assembly candidates and in ne case is there opposition before the pri-maries of the party.

A similar condition is found among many of the Republican Legislative can didates. In Lane and Clatsop counties as semblies will be held tomorrow and it is understood that no opposition will de-valop to the Senatorial apprants in those two counties. Other assembly Legisla-tive candidates who are in the race for Legislative honors without opposi For State Senator-Baker, W. G. Ayer, MARSTERS' BLOCK.

ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 1 .- (Special.) -- Work on the Marsters block, at the corner of Rose and Cass streets, in the very heart of Rose-burg's business district, is progressing rapidly, and W. F. Rodolf, the supervising architect, announced today that the structure would be in readiness for occupancy by October 1.

The structure is being erected by H. L. Marsters, a local capitalist, and will represent an expenditure of something over $30,000. The building will be three stories high with a basement. The first story is divided into three large store rooms, while the second and third floors will be utilized for hotel purposes. According to the plans, the upper stories will contain 46 sleeping-rooms, each of which will be equipped with a bath. The fire escapes are so arranged as to be accessible from the halls, all of which are large and conform with the requirements of the fire commissioners. The building is being constructed of brick and is fireproof.

Willamette Valley Reports Scarcity of Laborers.

Boats Unable to Take Thousands to Hop Fields as Needed-Crop Yield Predicted to Reach Over 90,000 Bales in 1910.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2-(Special.)-Hoppicking started generally today all ove the valley and just at the present time a scarcity of pickers is reported. For the acreage of from 23,000 to 24,000 that is to be picked this year from 46,000 to 48,000 pickers are needed and it is safe to venture the assertion that nothing near this number has appeared to start work

Low stages of water on the Willamette River have handicapped ranchers in many sections of the valley. Practically all of the hop yards along the river have annually depended on the little passenger oats along the stream to bring pickers and this year shift is being made many ways to import men, women and hildren who no longer have access to the ranches by the river route

The Oregon Electric into Salem for a number of days has found it practically impossible to keep on schedule time owing to the large number of pickers who have arrived at various stations along the valley. The Southern Pacific has brought in many, while the West Side line is reported to have done a big business, al-though some of the Independence yards probably will not start picking for a day or two, according to reports that are sent into Salem.

Various estimates are still given of the crop. Last year's pick showed $3,000 bales and a number of dealers assert that the crop this year should go better than last by from 10,000 to 20,000 bales. One of the estimates which is considered about as SALEM, Or., Sept. 2.—(Special.)—Arrangements are now being made for a state fisheries exhibit at the State Fair.
