Elevator Crushes Out Life of Mabel Putnam.

BONES OF CHEST BROKEN

Lift in Pacific Monthly Building Drops Unexpectedly-Victim Was Engaged to Marry Alfred Burnett of Ashland.

Caught between the roof of the eleator cage, suddenly released by alleged defective machinery, and the steel gird ers of the fourth floor of the Pacific Monthly building. Miss Mabel Putnam. a stenographer in the offices of the magazine, was literally crushed to death while on her way to work yesterday morning. day morning.

The girl was 20 years of age, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Putnam, of Ashlard, and the affianced bride of Aifred Burnett, an expressman of that place. She had been in Port-the land only two months.

It is a miss Putnam, suffering untold agony was held for 15 minutes in the few inches of space that separate the car from the edge of the floor before she could be extricated. She was taken out unconscious, but partially recovered before death relieved her. She in-quired feebly for her sweetheart, then sank back into the arms of J. P. Gerardi, the elevator attendant, and ex-pired. The bones of her chest were broken and her vital organs were so badly crushed and torn that those in-juries alone would have caused her death.

Cashier Gives Aid.

C. N. Foulk, cashier for the magazine, as soon as he learned of the accident, rushed to the telephone and called the Red Cross ambulance and an elevator expert. Both arrived promptly and the work of the expert in brief space re-leased the elevator, at which others had been prying with crowbars and every-thing available, in a fruitless effort to

With a smile on her lips, Miss Put-nam stepped from the elevator and was in the act of removing her hat prepar-atory to going to her desk, when the elevator suddenly dropped. Her body was caught between the top of the cage and the wall of the shaft and dragged down for two stories be-fore her tortured flesh blocked the further progress of the cage. She screamed frantically, and Gerardi shouted for help.

The stricken girl lived a few minutes The stricken girl lived a few minutes after being released.
Her body was turned over to the Coroner, who will hold an inquest this morning at 19 oclock.

Gerardi, the attendant who was in charge of the elevator, is 45 years of age and enjoys the highest confidence of his employers. He is totally overcome by the shock and was taken to his home at 780 East Twenty-ninth street in a state of collapse.

Miss Putnam had been with the Pa-cific Monthly only two weeks. She came from her home at Ashland about two months ago and lived at the Wom-an's Union, on Flanders street. She had recently completed a course at a business college in Ashiand and came here to secure a position

THIRD CHURCH MAY JOIN

United Brethren Would Be Part of Evangelical Family.

It has been decided to postpone the organic union convention of the Evangelical conferences announced for next Wednesday night in the First United Evangelical Church, owing to the absence of so many of the ministers. The conference will be held at a later date. Rev. C. C. Poling and Rev. A. A. Winter, delegates to the general conference, which meets at Canton, O., October 6, will carry before that body the expressed wish of the two Oregon conferences for organic union and urge the appointment of a commission of 15 to meet a similar commission from the general conference of the Evangeilcal Association.

"The only real opposition is in Pennystvania," said Rev. Mr. Pooling yesterday, "but I think we can over-come that opposition. The United Brethren want to come in with us, but we shall get our own family together first. I received a lotter from Bishop William Bell, of the United Brethren Churches this week full of enthusiasm for organic union. I hope to see the three branches united within the next five years if not sooner.

Rev. Mr. Pooling is a member of the board of missions and the publicity commission of the United Evangelical Church, and Rev. Mr. Winter is presi-lent of the Dalias College. They will leave for Canton next Thursday

MUMMY NO LONGER SECRET

Chicago Expert Says Egyptian Art Is Now Duplicated.

The annual election of officers will be the feature of the third day's ses-sion of the Oregon State Funeral Di-ectors' Association at the Commercial Club today. The meeting will likely lose tonight. The most important part of the ses-sion's activity thus far has been the lecture upon embalming by Professor Horace Moli, an expert from Chicago. He delivered one lecture before the Ore-gon association Thursday and two yes-terday and will deliver another this morning. In his talks so far he has said that the methods of embalming have been so perfected that it is now possi-ble to preserve a ble to preserve a human body so that it will mummify, as did the bodies in ancient Egypt, but will still maintain its natural shape and appearance These lectures have been a feature of the convention.

Manage Ma Going Ahead

No city in the country is doing better than Portland. The building operations now under way are so met hing phenomenal, outstripping all other cities of the class by a long way. Money invested now in realty in or around Portland, provided good judgment is used in making the purchase, is just as sure to bring a rich reward as were the buyings of the elder Astor in New York, buyings which made the Astor fortune of today. And here in Portland it now takes but little money to operate. Every man wants a home. Buy a homesite large enough so that when the city's growth encompasses you, there will be surplus land enough to more than pay for the home and all improvements, and leave enough for a large garden, orchard and lawn. Banner Acres offers such advantages. The most sightly tract. mer Acres offers such advan-tages. The most sightly tract, at the lowest price, in the direct line of the city's growth.
