

ROOSEVELT MAY BE RIVAL TO GAYNOR

Election of Either for Governor Means Nomination for President in 1912.

EACH PARTY'S STRONGEST

Old Guard Plans to Name Roosevelt With View to Defeat and Destruction—Fight in New York Is Likely to Be Close.

BY HARRY J. BROWN.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 4.—The opposing candidates for Governor of New York in the campaign this year may be the Republican and Democratic candidates. Particularly in this likely to prove the case if Theodore Roosevelt is nominated by the New York Republicans and Mayor Gaynor, of New York City, by the Democrats.

Because of this possibility—which by many is now regarded as a strong probability—interest will center around the New York campaign this Fall, for in the event Roosevelt and Gaynor are the contending candidates the result of the election next November may be felt later in the Presidential election of 1912.

Nothing would do so much to force the nomination of Gaynor by the next Democratic National Convention as his nomination and election over Theodore Roosevelt in New York this Fall. Gaynor has sprung into prominence and to the front of his party in a remarkably short time. But if, in addition to the prominence and popularity he has already attained, he can be elected Governor of New York when running against Roosevelt, he will have a walkover in the next National Convention, for that very achievement would stamp him the best runner in the Democracy, and there is no man now in the front rank of the party who would stand a ghost of a show against Gaynor, so far as the nomination is concerned. All this is on the assumption that nothing happens after November this year to change materially the status of things.

Old Guard Longs to Use Knife. On the other hand, the question is being asked quite generally, "What would be the effect upon Roosevelt, politically, if he should be nominated for Governor of New York and defeated by Gaynor?"

At first blush it would seem that defeat by Gaynor would indicate that "Taddy" cannot "come back." But there is reason to doubt if this answer would hold good. The old-line Republican bosses of New York have long known that they favor the nomination of Roosevelt for Governor, not that they want or expect to see him elected, but that they believe his nomination would pave the way for his destruction.

These men know that Roosevelt's nomination would be popular, and that a large number of delegates to the convention would vote for him. They may also fear that a majority of the convention will support him, even if they map out a contrary plan. Therefore, they are considering the advisability of making his nomination unanimous.

Once nominated by a unanimous convention, there seems to be no doubt that Colonel Roosevelt would be killed and make the race. That would afford the old crowd an opportunity they long for, to get as their knives as they chop away at the state ticket. It is the belief of such men as Barnes, Woodruff, et al. that there would be heavy knifing of a ticket headed by Roosevelt, and that many Republican votes would be cast for the Democratic candidate. Sympathizers with the old bosses, so the presumption is, would refuse to support the Roosevelt ticket, and a full Republican vote would not be polled.

Both Are Good Vote-Getters. It is undoubtedly true that a straight-out, honest fight between Roosevelt and Gaynor in the State of New York would be a better race than a better vote-getter, and neither party a candidate who could inject more life and interest in the campaign. There is no Republican in the state who could give Gaynor as hard a race as Roosevelt, and on the other hand Gaynor could make a better race against Roosevelt than any other man the Democrats could name.

If, under these conditions, Roosevelt should be nominated and then be defeated, and if it should be found on analysis that some of the strong Republican districts turned up weak at the polls, Roosevelt's friends would set up the cry that there had been knifing of the ticket, and his defeat, rightly or wrongly, would be attributed to the treachery of Republicans following the lead of the old bosses. Such a defense would satisfy most of the personal followers of Roosevelt, both in New York and in the country at large.

Defeat Would Handicap Either. Nevertheless, Republicans interested in preventing Roosevelt's nomination for President in 1912, would lose no opportunity to bring up his record in New York State as an argument against him, especially as Gaynor would likely be nominated for the presidency by the Democrats. The argument would be made that a man who could defeat Roosevelt for Governor of New York, at a time when Roosevelt's popularity was at its height, would have an advantage over him before the country at large. Just how much of a handicap defeat in the New York campaign would be for Roosevelt, no one can predict at this time. On the other hand, should Gaynor be defeated by Roosevelt in November, it might operate to prevent his nomination by the next Democratic National Convention for the Presidency.

The New York campaign this year will outrank all others for National interest, especially if Roosevelt and Gaynor are the nominees. And incidentally, if Roosevelt should be named by the Republican State Convention, he will probably have to give up his contemplated campaigning tour throughout the entire country, and devote his time and attention to his own campaign at home.

A DISTRESSING CONDITION CURED

How This Los Angeles Woman Was Helped by the Tonic Treatment.

She Used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills When She Needed More Strength and the Pulse, Rich Blood Soon Brought Complete Relief.

"I can't begin to tell of the benefit I received from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. A. K. Hay, No. 875 East Forey-street, Los Angeles, Cal. "Four or five years ago at the time of life when I needed rest, I became run down through overwork and worry caring for my husband who had been injured. I became so weak and debilitated that I didn't have strength to do my work. I had no ambition to do anything. Food didn't seem to strengthen me. I had distressing pains in the back of the neck and along the spine. I suffered from headaches, was very nervous, couldn't sleep at all, and the least little noise startled me. I was confined to bed for three weeks at a time. I was reduced in weight from 124 to 115 pounds.

"I was under the care of three doctors at different times during my sickness. While taking their medicine I seemed to feel some better but would be as sick as ever when I stopped taking it. The doctors said I would never get well without an operation, but my husband would not consent to it. I had been sick over a year when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had tried so many medicines and doctors that I didn't have much faith in the pills but decided to give them a trial. It was only a short time before I began to feel stronger. The headaches and nervousness left me and I was benefited in every way. I gave the pills a good trial and was entirely cured. I weigh more now than I have in a long time. The pills cured Mrs. Hay, write today for our booklet, 'Plain Talks to Women.' It is free and will be sent postpaid.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are always the same and are sold only in packages bearing the well-known trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." SINKING VESSEL BOARDED Fire Starts in Engine-Room, Spreads Rapidly and Prevents Men Procuring Food for Use While Adrift.

PIREGLAND WALE, Sept. 5.—The steamer Mauretania arrived here today, having on board Captain Pinkham and 1 of his crew who were picked up by the Cunarder after they had been at sea in a small boat for six days following the burning of their vessel, the British tramp steamer Westport.

Captain Pinkham said the fire on the Westport started in the engine-room on August 27. The flames drove the engineers from their posts and spread so rapidly that soon the donkey engines operating the pumps were disabled by the heat.

Bucket Brigade Useless. An attempt was made to extinguish the fire by a bucket brigade, but the hopelessness of the effort was quickly apparent and the captain ordered the small boats lowered. From the bunkers the flames made their way to the store-room and galley and prevented the provisioning of the boats, the intense heat repeatedly driving back the sailors who hoped to secure food sufficient to keep them until they were picked up by a passing vessel.

Though pressed hard by the fire the crew stood by their ship until Sunday afternoon when the captain ordered all hands into the boats. Throughout that night, the boats, each carrying 16 persons, cruised in the vicinity and in the morning another attempt was made to secure much needed stores. The burning craft, which was then sinking, was again boarded, but scarcely anything of use was secured. On Monday morning the ship foundered.

MEN NEAR DEATH IN FIRE

BREAK 60 FEET WIDE 3 MILES LONG MADE IN NIGHT.

Flames Rage Over 3000 Acres in Lion Canyon, California—Men Make Heroic Fight.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 5.—Charles Omitover, a rancher, after passing through a furnace of flame in a forest fire in Lion Canyon, 40 miles north of here last week, emerged barely alive, but still living.

A tale of an heroic fight of five rangers and 23 volunteers from Los Olivos was brought here by rangers today. Ranger John Libeana and Elmer Fields, of Los Olivos, also narrowly escaped death in flames during the 10 days' battle. The fire was declared out today.

During one night 28 men equipped with shovels, rakes and hoses, built a firebreak 60 feet wide over three and a half miles long, by that means surrounding the fire and extinguishing it. Over 3000 acres of the mountains were burned over. The fire probably was started by campers.
