

STAINS OF BLOOD POINT TO MURDER

Mystery of Roy Perkins' Absence May Be Cleared at Marshfield.

BAY IS PROBABLE GRAVE

Bullet Holes Found in Walls of Ferry Waiting-Room—Frank Garrison, Companion, in Jail, Not Told of New Evidence.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Discoveries made late this afternoon lead to the belief that Roy Perkins, who has been strangely missing since Friday, was murdered in the waiting-room of the ferry at the end of the long wharf at Eastside. Blood stains were found on the floor and walls of the place and it is believed that Perkins was killed there and dragged down to the end of the ferry slip and carried in a boat or towed from there and sunk in the bay.

The waiting-room is a small frame building next to John W. Flanagan's house. It is seldom used. Consequently the fact that a tragedy had taken place there was not noticed until today, when Flanagan went into the waiting-room and saw the blood.

A close examination showed that three bullet holes had been fired and that a large amount of blood had been spilled. Marshall Carter was notified and went to Eastside.

Working on the theory that Frank Garrison, who is now in jail here, murdered Perkins, the police have endeavored to find evidence that Garrison followed Perkins from the place in the woods where they quarreled to the waiting-room and that he there attacked him.

The blood spots indicate that Perkins was lying down and was probably shot while in that position. Further examination revealed the fact that a body was dragged from the waiting-room down the ferry slip to the water's edge. Here were found blood spots, which indicated that the body was laid down on the edge of the slip.

Garrison is said to have stolen a rowboat which was tied near the slip. One of the big rocks used as a weight at the side of the slip is missing, and it is thought that this was used as a weight and that the body of Perkins was taken in the rowboat or towed and dropped into the water. It is probable that the body will be dragged.

The prisoner has not been told of the discovery.

HOPVARD'S DRAW HOSTS

Hundreds of Families Go to Combine Work With Picnic.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—All the hopvards in this vicinity began picking this year's crops this morning and hundreds of families have gone to the hopvards.

RANCH BUILDINGS BURNED

Child Plays With Matches and Destructive Blaze Results.

MYRTLE CREEK, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A very disastrous fire this afternoon destroyed the house, barn and three other buildings on the ranch of Jim Hall, about four miles from this city. The barn contained about 40 tons of hay and the granary about 300 bushels of threshed grain.

The fire was due to the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. Hall playing with matches in the hay. A calf was thrown a match in the hay. A calf was thrown a match in the hay.

The loss is estimated at $3000, and no insurance. Miss Wenger, a school teacher, lost her trunk and all other belongings.

LAUDATION FOR PRINTERS

Critic Cites Result of Organization and Arbitration.

PORTLAND, Sept. 4.—(To the Editor.)—An article in the Century cites the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers as the typical labor union, worthy of emulation by all organizations, in never having trouble with employers, never violating agreements, and the only union of workmen that has the courage to expel members for violating contracts. While true in essential, the Century writer did not go far enough in seeking information.

He would have found the International Typographical Union, approximately 10,000 intelligent men on its membership roll, doing all the things he credits to the railway men, except that it ex-

EVERETT LOSES CHALLENGE PLAY

Irvington Successfully Defends Inter-Club Tennis Trophy.

DOUBLES TEAM TOO FAST

Wickersham and Andrews Prove Better Than Pritchett and Wildes. Matches in Club Tournament Grow Exciting.

Playing on fast courts, though under overcast skies and with a brisk wind blowing making the best of tennis conditions, the Irvington Club tennis team defeated the Everett Lawn Tennis Club representatives yesterday in the final contest of the Starr-Reynolds inter-club trophy, by the score of 4 to 1. The trophy is contested for by the clubs affiliated with the North Pacific Tennis Association, and this play saw its initiation.

Though beaten by the Portland players, the Everett players deserve great credit for their sportsmanship; they were good losers. Irvington won three out of four singles matches and the one doubles contest.

Cooke Plays Great Game.

S. B. Cooke, of Irvington, won from W. Erikson, of Everett, 6-2, 6-3. A. D. Wakeman, of Irvington, was beaten by L. W. Pritchett, of Everett, 6-1, 8-6, 6-2. The Portland man should have played a better game than he did, although after losing the first set, 6-1, he "came back" and played in good form in the second set, winning, 8-6, but fell down flat in the final set, 6-2. This was the only match lost to the Everett players.

Both playing a strong, heady game, F. H. V. Andrews and Brandt Wickersham, comprising the Portland doubles team, defeated L. W. Pritchett and Maurice H. Wildes, of Everett, in two straight sets, 7-5, 6-2. It was only after a hard fight that the Portland men took the first set, but the second was easily won. The poor light apparently bothered the Everett players. Then, too, they were unused to the fast dirt courts. The Portland team most creditable, all things considered.

By playing a consistent and safe game at all times, though occasionally displaying a dash of brilliant play, S. B. Cooke, for Irvington, beat W. Erikson, of Everett, 6-2, 6-3. Erikson played a good game, but was a trifle unsteady at critical moments.

Ericksen, of Everett, Stays.

Wildes and Pritchett, of the Everett team, left for home last night, after a theater party had been given the visiting team at the Orpheum. Mr. Erikson will remain and play through the tournament. The winners of the first round of the tournament were the Portland players, S. B. Cooke and Brandt Wickersham.

Probably the greatest surprise of the tournament was the defeat yesterday of Wickersham and Andrews by Snow and Howe. The veterans carried a heavy handicap. They started out auspiciously enough by capturing the first set handily, 6-4. The younger players, though, won the second and third sets and the match, 7-5, 7-5.

In perfect form playing almost superb tennis, Miss Irene Campbell, the doughty little midge, defeated Mrs. Walter Cooke, one of Portland's best women players, each owing 15. From her game display yesterday, Miss Campbell bids fair to be placed in the final matches.

Brewer Coming Fast.

Walter Brewer proved a "dark horse" yesterday by winning from L. W. Pritchett, of Everett, 6-1, 6-3. Brewer was forced to extend himself in the first set, winning by 7-5. In the second set he played more steady and won, 6-2. Brewer is a heavy man, he is very agile and is strong at the net.

One of the best matches of the mixed doubles yet played was between Mrs. H. E. Judge and Mitchell, and Mrs. Irwin and Lieutenant Caslake, the former winning 6-2, 6-4. Mrs. Judge's playing was strong and hard, winning many points for her team. Mrs. Irwin was not up to her usual game, showing apparent nervousness and an inability to place at all in the second service, occasionally at her command. Yesterday's results:

Starr-Reynolds-Starr, Inter-Club Match—Everett Lawn Tennis Club, challengers; Irvington Club, defender. Everett Club, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4; Irvington Club, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. S. B. GORRILL WINS 45-GAME MATCH

Portland Boy, in Del Monte Tourney, Wins Melville Long Today.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The first round of the men's singles for the tennis championship of the Pacific States was played today, and as a result 16 players survive. Very few close matches took place. They were close matches took place. They were close matches took place.

The play ran close to form and only two upsets occurred. In the first round, Byron Batkin, of the Golden Gate Tennis Club, defeated Simpson Sinsbaugh, of Los Angeles, in straight sets, after a hard struggle, in which much fine play was seen and in which the score in favor of Batkin was 8-6, 7-5, 6-2. This was the best match of the day and the Golden Gate youngsters earned his way into the second round through hard and clever tennis.

In the other instance Emory Rogers, of Los Angeles, one of the Southern juniors, surprised his friends by defeating the veteran E. Galusha. In straight sets by a score of 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

The longest and hardest match was between Ralph Gorrell, of Portland, one of the Oregon state doubles champions, and W. Hunter, of Stockton, Hunter secured the first two sets, with scores of 6-1, 6-3, by playing a hard and accurate driving game from the back court.

Gorrell, in the early part of the match, took the net, but was forced to abandon it and play in the back court where he tried to swap drives with his opponent, who, however, proved too steady for him. After the second set, however, Gorrell changed tactics and closed steadily to Hunter's back hand and succeeded in breaking up the latter's driving game.

The next two sets were long-drawn-out, but Gorrell placed them to his credit by 6-1, 6-4, while his tired opponent plainly tried to save himself as much as possible and to recuperate for the fourth. With the score standing two sets all, Hunter made a desperate bid for victory and almost won. He managed to keep the lead throughout and at one time forced the score to 5-4 and 40-15 in his favor, but was unable to get the next point and Gorrell evened the score at five games all. From this time on Gorrell secured the advantage and finally won the required games and the match by a score of 1-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 9-7.

After a contest which had lasted nearly three hours, V. Sheldon won a hard match from J. A. Edwards by a score of 7-5, 8-6, 7-5, and W. Johnston, of the Golden Gate, defeated Simpson Sinsbaugh, of Los Angeles, in straight sets, after a hard struggle, in which much fine play was seen and in which the score in favor of Johnston was 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Monte Pyrie, when he joins the Portland team, will have to play here for two years under the ruling of the National commission. If he hits as well as he does in the brush league he will be welcome for 100 years. At the end of the two years he will become a member.

The Angels smashed several line drives yesterday which were turned into speedy outs by the Portland infielders. Two of those smashes resulted in double plays. In the fourth, Howard lined out straight at Krapp and Bernard was doubled at second, while in the seventh, Hallman lined to Olson, who doubled Murphy at first.

In the morning game, Gus Fisher shook down all of the telephones in the press box when he crashed into the stand and picked Howard's foul off the screen. It was a fine catch and Gus got a liberal "hand" for the effort.

Monte Pyrie, when he joins the Portland team, will have to play here for two years under the ruling of the National commission. If he hits as well as he does in the brush league he will be welcome for 100 years. At the end of the two years he will become a member.
