

TWO AFTER-PLAGE

Candidates Out for Short Term in State Senate.

MANLEY IS FOR ASSEMBLY

Direct Primary Should Ratify or Be Rejected. He Declares—Locke Opposes Views—John B. Coffey Files Declaration.

James K. Locke, of 424 Madison street, and A. B. Manley, of 662 Williams avenue, have filed their declarations to fill John B. Coffey's unexpired term as State Senator from the Thirteenth Senatorial district. Manley declares himself in favor of the assembly, and Locke declares himself against it.

"I will support a sane, business-like and economical administration of public affairs and will strive to represent the people honestly, faithfully and to the best of my ability. I believe in the direct primary as the best method of suggesting party candidates, and in the direct primary as the best method of electing representatives to the assembly. I will work for ratification or rejection. He will have the platform. For direct primary with an open assembly," on the ballot after his name.

"I will perform the duties of the office honestly and to the best of my ability," he declares. "For Statement No. 1 and the direct primary. Strictly anti-assembly."

Coffey Declares Platform.

John B. Coffey, of 443 Benton street, has filed his declaration to run for County Clerk on the Republican ticket. He says:

"I will expect only the salary allowed by law and will turn over to the county all interest accruing from unearned fees, litigation on hand, and trust funds deposited by the County Clerk in the different banks, also the declaration and naturalization fees allowed to the county by the United States Government. I will deposit all these funds as County Clerk and not my personal account. I will give to the people an honest, economical, efficient business administration of the office."

On the ballot he will have the words: "First salary. Interest money, fees and all emoluments belong to the county."

MANY ENROLL IN Y. M. C. A.

Opening of Day School Is Marked by Large Classes.

Although night classes at the Young Men's Christian association will not open until September 26 the registration for day work yesterday was very large. No attempt was made to start classes yesterday, the entire day being given over to matriculation. Educational Director French and his assistants were busy from 9 o'clock to late last night.

"Both our commercial and boys' departments promise to be particularly strong," said H. W. Stone, the general secretary. "Of course, our trades school will also be important, as it has been in the past. We have greatly increased the faculty of all our departments and secured much additional equipment. Harry P. Andrews, who is to be superintendent of the trades school, is industrial engineer of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works and will be a link between our classes and the active industries of the city."

The large registration yesterday was somewhat of a surprise to the Y. M. C. A. officers, as the day registration is always much smaller than that for the night classes. It is confidently predicted that the total enrollment during the coming school year will go well over 1500. There were 1182 students in the Y. M. C. A. educational department the past year.

PASTORS ELECT OFFICERS

Ministerial Association Chooses W. F. Reagar as President.

Election of officers was the principal feature of the meeting of the Ministerial Association of Portland, held at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium yesterday morning. The meeting was called to order at 10:20 o'clock by Rev. Young, retiring President, and was opened by the singing of a hymn. About sixty-five members of the Association were present, and several new members were received into the organization.

Owing to other matters of momentary importance having to be considered, the report of the Edinburgh Convention which was to be given at the meeting yesterday, will be postponed and read at a later date.

The question of whether the Ministerial Association should take steps towards making arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the delegates from the National Purist Association, who will be through this section in October, was brought up, but not decided upon.

The meeting of yesterday marked the beginning of the Association's fiscal year, it being the first meeting held since June. The first Monday of each month has been chosen as the date of meeting during the coming year.

The newly appointed officers are as follows: Rev. W. F. Reagar, of the First Christian Church, President; Rev. F. B. Finley, United Presbyterian Church, Vice-President; Rev. E. H. Moore, M. E. Church, Secretary.

DRIVER THrice ACCUSED

Charge of Being Without Rear Auto Light Only One Pressed.

Though charged with nearly all the offenses in the automobile regulations, Charles L. Dall, a chauffeur, escaped with a light fine in police court yesterday. Through the intercession of the arresting officer, he was charged with carrying no rear light, with driving without a license and with speeding. He was signalled by Sergeant Keller at Grand avenue and East Morrison street Saturday night, but paid no heed and drove on to the office in another automobile. He was stopped by the street-flushing hose, which was stretched across the street. He was fined $5 for carrying no rear light and the other charges were dismissed.

Archie Cooley was arrested by Patrolmen Sims and Evans at Fifty-fourth and Belmont streets Monday night and charged with exceeding the speed limit.

B. M. Lombard, a real estate dealer, was arrested by the same officers for the same offense and paid a fine of $10. J. A. Ward, another real estate dealer, underwent a similar experience.

E. G. Swigert, of 1055 Thurman street, was arrested by the motorcop police for speeding at Grand avenue and Burnside streets, within the fire limits. His hearing was set for today. Lyle P. Spaulding and Charles Olsen paid $10 for speeding. W. W. Robinson exceeded the maximum speed within the fire limits and paid $5.

WATER MAIN TO BE LAID

New 30-Inch Pipe Insures Good Supply of Water to West Side.

On the East Side a 30-inch cast-iron water main is being laid on East Clay from East Third street down to the Willamette River through the freight grounds of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. It extends south on East Third street to a connection with the main to the Mount Tabor reservoirs, and is the East Side connection to the new submarine pipe which is soon to be laid on the bottom of the Willamette River to the West Side.

The new submarine water main will be laid in a trench 38 feet below low water mark and will never interfere with the channel of the river or with any dredging that may be undertaken to deepen the channel of the river. It will be the third pipe to be laid to the West Side and will render it practically certain that no breakage will ever deprive the West Side of its supply of water and necessitate cesspools pumping Willamette River water.

A dredge is at work dredging out a channel for the submarine main. The same as were used in the first two pipe-lines, but will be a better make and it will be much easier to repair.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE HELD

Pair Thought to Have Planned to Rob Aged Companion.

While leading an old man about the streets in a supposed attempt to get him into some retired place and rob him, a woman and a man, Sidney Hayes and an unnamed woman, were arrested Monday night by Patrolmen Montgomery and Schaefer, who had been watching them.

The woman had been seen earlier in the evening leading the old man about. Later she and Hayes were observed taking him down Morrison street. The officers saw the woman and the man and woman held to him and drew him into a doorway at 22 1/2 Morrison street when the officers came upon them. Montgomery went to the patrol box to call the wagon and they seized the moment of his absence to break away from the officers. The officers gave chase. Montgomery caught the woman, who fought. Meanwhile Schaefer overtook Hayes. The woman offered Montgomery a dollar to let her go. He accepted the money and offered it as evidence against her. The pair were fined $25 each by Judge Bennett yesterday morning.

CITIZEN HELPS OFFICER

Crowd of 150 Adds to Difficulty of Making Arrest.

A crowd of 150 men surrounded Police Sergeant Cox Monday night when he attempted to arrest H. Peterson and Albert Hansen at the east end of the Morrison bridge, and for a time the outlook was bad for the officer, but he stuck to his man and with the assistance of one citizen made the arrests he had started out to make.

A disturbance was taking place as Cox passed. He seized Peterson as the ringleader. Two of the crowd seized Cox by the arms, and while he was in that position Peterson struck Cox in the face, casting a badly bruised eye. Cox called upon J. W. Heppner, of 122 East Third street, and with his assistance worked his way out of the crowd. Heppner was struck in the jaw in the melee.

In Police Court yesterday Peterson was fined $10 and Hansen $10.

CHAS. A. CRAFT IS HERE

UNDERWRITER PACIFIC STATES FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Will Begin Work of Agency Organization at Once—Work of Company Outlined.

Charles A. Craft, underwriting manager of the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company, reached Portland on Sunday last. He will take up his duties with the home company at once.

In speaking yesterday of the promise attending the development of the company's business, Mr. Craft said: "I have but little appreciation of the magnitude of an established fire insurance company to a community. In Seattle, where I have been located for the past two years," he continued, "the case 'we have a company started only five years ago, whose gross income last year amounted to over $424,000. The gross income of the Fireman's Fund of San

CHARLES A. CRAFT, Underwriting Manager, Pacific States Fire Insurance Company, Portland.

Francisco in 1909 was $4,895,105.75. In Oregon today the people are paying out regularly over $6,000,000 a year for insurance premiums. During 1909, for instance, the exact amount paid out by policy holders in Oregon for all kinds of insurance was $6,522,956.25. Of this amount, $3,040,245.48 in losses sustained and $362,104.12 in premiums were returned to policy holders during the year. There is no city of the size of Portland in the United States today that does not support a well-established and prosperous fire insurance company. While I have been in the fire insurance business at my home, I am surprised in looking up the statistics covering the business of the fire insurance companies of the country generally to find that the magnitude of the business of these companies has attained. A concrete example of the value of insurance companies to a community is Hartford, Connecticut. With a total population of 85,000, the gross income of the fire insurance companies of Hartford for 1909 amounted to over $40,000,000. The gross assets of these companies approximate $70,000,000. Des Moines, with a population not much above 75,000, last year made a showing of its fire insurance companies as follows: total assets, $2,500,000; income, over $2,000,000. These figures do not include the heavy additional income which both Hartford and Des Moines enjoy, from premiums of the large life insurance companies located in each of these cities.

Covering the policy which has been adopted by the management of the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company in its acceptance of risks, Mr. Craft desires to make it particularly plain to the people of Oregon, that during the first year of the company's existence it will be the aim of the management to eliminate every element of risk in the conduct of the company's business. This end can be easily reached by retaining in all cases down to the point of safety, the managers of some of the largest fire insurance companies in the world, with established agencies in the Northwest, have already approached the management here with a tentative offer to take over all the surplus risks that the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company may not want to handle. Recently the Northwestern manager of one of the strongest of the London (England) companies came to the city and with the view of making definite arrangements for handling any surplus risks that the management of the home company might not want to carry. It may be stated here, for the benefit of the stockholders in the home company, that definite arrangements will be made in the near future with the strongest of these outside companies, on a re-insuring basis, that will prove of the greatest benefit to the home organization. This arrangement, too, made on a basis of reciprocal interest to both parties to the compact, will result in opening up a wide field for the future operations of the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company, where an extensive business may be handled on a profitable and safe basis.

In opening the field of Oregon for the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company, Mr. Craft took occasion to make it particularly plain that the policy of the home company is to be a contributory one in all cases. "We have no fight to make against any other company," said Mr. Craft. "We feel that there is business enough in Oregon for us all. I think the mutuals even are doing a good work just this far; they are opening up new fields and educating people to an appreciation of the value, even of the necessity of carrying fire insurance, fields that the old-line companies in many instances have not been able to reach. The policy of our company will be to open up Oregon first, and later we will reach out for business in the other states that make up Portland's tributary district. Through the reciprocal relationships that will be early established with the strong companies of the East, it is the hope of the management that it will not be many years before the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company will be conducting a business that will reach to all parts of the United States."

Mr. Craft today is one of the best known insurance men of the Coast. For several years he was surveyor in the Northwestern field for the Pacific Board of Underwriters. Afterward he served as special agent for the Union Assurance Society and the Law Union & Crown, of London, in the same field. His powers in the latter position, were wholly executive. He was then advanced to the highly responsible position of manager of the Northwestern branch of Johnson & Higgins, the largest insurance brokers in the world, with headquarters in Seattle. He has come to Portland to stay, and he will devote all his energies and ability to the upbuilding of the business of the Pacific States Fire Insurance Company. In referring to the work already

RIOT CHARGES REDUCED

ONLY TWO NOW HELD FOR SERIOUS OFFENSE.

Ira B. Chapman and Louis R. Tichenor to Be Tried for Inciting Crowd to Attack.

Persons implicated in Labor day disturbances, and their friends, filled the police court yesterday. An imposing array of legal talent, representing the accused and private prosecution by the injured parties, was also present. Only three minor cases growing out of the riot were tried, however, and the gravest charges went over until Thursday, against the strenuous protest of one of the attorneys for the defense.

"These cases are trumped up by Hamilton and Josselyn," he declared in a loud tone, "and we demand an immediate hearing." The court followed the rule, however, of granting one day's continuance to either side.

HUSBAND SHOTS TO KILL

at 925 Williams avenue, yesterday morning, Joseph Dixon was discovered by the husband, who fired a revolver at the fleeing intruder, and believes that he hit him. At latest reports Dixon was still running and had not been found. After firing the shots Schmeer proceeded to the police station and gave himself up.

Schmeer charges that Dixon carries liquor to the woman, who is said to be addicted to its use. He says he has been tormented by the intrusions of Dixon for a long time, and when he found him in the house yesterday with whiskey, he lost his temper and shot to kill.

Dixon was released from a long sentence at the rockpile on Monday and evidently at once hastened to renew his associations with Mrs. Schmeer. On a former occasion he leaped out of a window to escape Schmeer. He was arrested for trespass and, while confined at the City Jail, attempted to commit suicide, first by eating glass and later by tying a handkerchief tightly about his throat.
