Modart Corsets

"The Mould of Fashion" The dictates of fashion, rigid as they are in their requirements, are strictly adhered to—indeed forestalled, in the Modart Corset.

Experts anticipate changes in the season's styles so that the woman who gowns herself over a Modart Corset not only realizes the exquisite ease, but appreciates that her figure possesses the marked distinction so requisite in the world of Fashion.

MODART CORSETS are made in ten models, and forty-eight styles. Every possible figure requirement has been considered so that every woman, when she goes to the MODART dealer, is assured that her particular figure will have its particular model, which will give to her the irresistible charm so easy of attainment in the MODART CORSET.

Women wear the MODART because it brings to them that elegance of figure, that ease of bearing, that graceful poise which only unusual bodily comfort and confidence in the correctness of one's dress can give to women. It is the figure, not the fabric, that makes one's gown beautiful.

Anybody whoknows Craftsman Furniture

Has no difficulty in realizing that the principles upon which it is based are honesty and simplicity. Those who have seen the L. and J. G. Stieckley productions know that in them has the truest "craftsman" type been developed—in design, in construction and in finish.

The call of the modern home is for the practical and good in furniture, and the craftsman styles in the fumed oak answer it best. Take for instance the living room pieces. The chairs and rockers are large and restful, with wide arms, wide back parts and lather upholstered seats, some with leather cushion backs.

The library tables, too, are very fine examples of craftsman art—all hand made. We are Portland Agents for L. and J. G. Stieckley Craftsman Furniture, which is shown entirely in the fumed oak—that soft and harmonious shade of brown.

Arm Rockers with removable spring seats covered in leather, in fumed oak at $12.75. Other Craftsman Rockers, in fumed oak, with solid seats—at $8.50.
