NEEDS ARE APPORTIONED

Women's and Children's Clothing and Shoes Placed in Luxury Class—Money Goes Back to Those Who Buy, Is Urged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Inside light on how the higher freight tariffs were made up was shed by Charles F. Daly, vice-president of the New York Central lines, under cross-examination today before the Interstate Commerce Commission now inquiring into the proposed increase in freight rates in the Eastern territory. Mr. Daly said that each road had decided on its own increase in rates and the railroad representatives then met in this city to check up results and make the advances uniform.

More Money Needed.

Counsel desired to know when the higher tariffs were decided upon, and Daly said in June of this year. Counsel tried to learn whether the advance was contemplated before the wage increase became a fact, but Daly would not admit it. Replying to a question how the railroads had fixed the amount of increase to be borne by each class of freight, Daly said the railroads needed more money and apportioned their needs to the different class of freight as seemed best.

Food Not Much Affected.

"What effect on the man who sells foodstuffs?" "Very little; it will be more than balanced by the improved conditions of the railroads of the country and its aid to general business," replied Daly.

BIG AUGER RAISES WATER

NEW METHOD PROVIDED FOR SUPPLYING FLUID FOR IRRIGATION.

THE DALLES, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The mammoth iron water lift, which has been in course of construction at The Dalles Iron Works, was moved yesterday out by the back door of the shop and through the garage to Monroe street on the wooden frame in which it has lain like a disabled giant since it was first placed there. Today it reached the first lap in its journey to its anchorage on Bialock's Island in the Columbia River near Bialocks, when it was put aboard a car at the railroad track.

The pneumatic water lift, which works in a tube on something the same principle as an auger, in fact looks like a gigantic auger in the tube, is an adaptation and improvement of an idea first patented by a man in Wyoming and then bought by a company of business men of The Dalles who realized its possibilities. The lift and tube in which it works is seven feet in diameter, 18 feet in length and weighs five and one-half tons. It will lift 100 gallons of water at each revolution.

While this is such an immense concern that it is not thought practicable to depend entirely on the current of the river to propel it, the principle of the lift is to use the river current to run it. This will be attached to a gasoline engine.

The lifts are designed especially for irrigation purposes and this one will be anchored in the Columbia River at Bialocks. The manufacturer is J. B. Kirk.

PITCHER IS SUSPECTED

MYSTERIOUS F. MITCHELL MAY BE SUSPENDED PHILLIE.

New Seal Twirler Thought to Be McQuillen, National League Player Recently Sent to Bench.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—F. Mitchell, the phenomenal pitcher of the San Francisco club, who has been winning his games with ease, since that of yesterday, is believed to be McQuillen, the suspended pitcher of the Philadelphia National League club, who was benched several weeks ago because of insubordination.

Mitchell became a man of mystery as soon as he joined the Seals, and the most noticeable action on his part was his avoidance of the camera, and repeated refusals to pose for pictures, an uncommon thing for a young "bush-leaguer," as he represented himself to be, on breaking into the game.

In order definitely to identify Mitchell, if he is McQuillen, all that should be necessary would be to place him before Harry Wolverton, manager of the Oakland team, who knows the real McQuillen, and the question would be quickly established. Phil Cooney, shortstop of the Portland team last season and now with Spokane in the Northwestern League, also knows McQuillen, and the San Francisco club, if it desires to establish the identity of the player, could send his picture to Cooney and have the matter settled.

The Seals had better establish the chap's identity, for, in case he is a "ringer," all the games in which he has officiated will be thrown out, and the San Francisco club will also be subject to a heavy fine.

It is feared the accident will prove fatal.

James P. Hyland Asserts Weighers Sometimes Deducted 50 Per Cent.

Says He Received Half of "Rakeoffs" on All Duties.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—As the corollary to the statement, made recently by the witness, made by George T. Lunny, alleged go-between of importers and Government weighers in bribery operations, that he had never known a weigher who would not accept a bribe, James P. Hyland, formerly an assistant weigher, testified today that he had never met an importer who refused to pay for underweighing.

Hyland was the chief witness of the day in the trial of George E. Bedell and other ex-customs officials on charges of making fraudulent weights. He said he sometimes took off 50 per cent from the weights and sometimes did not weigh cargoes at all, but merely guessed at the weights.

Hyland in Office Eight Years.

Hyland was assistant Government weigher from 1891 to 1905. On the stand, he was asked if he had ever done any underweighing.

"I underweighed the very first cargo I was assigned to weigh," was the reply of the witness. He said he continued underweighing from that time on, receiving most of the corruption money from "Big George" Lunny, who has been described in the testimony as the "go-between" for importers and weighers in bribery operations to secure underweights. The underweighers always got half the amounts of the duties out of which the Government was defrauded, Hyland testified.

Hyland said that at one time he was not satisfied with the amount of his "rake-off" at one dock, and offered Bedell $50 a ship if he would have him transferred to a more fruitful field. The transfer was made, the witness testified. Bedell was chief clerk to Deputy Surveyor Vail. He paid Bedell, on the average, just what he promised to, Hyland declared.

Southern Pacific Adds to New Orleans Exposition Fund.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Thornwell Fay, general manager of the Morgan Louisiana & Texas Railroad & Steamship Company, which comprises the Atlantic division of the Southern Pacific, in a letter to the World's Panama Exposition Company, notified that organization that the officers of this railroad had added $40,000 to the original subscription to the capital stock of the exposition company.

The addition brings the total subscription of this particular railroad company up to $75,000.

Mr. Fay referred to a telegram from President Lovett, authorizing the subscription, provided New Orleans gets the exposition, and added:

"If Congress selects New Orleans as the site of the exposition and it is held there, the line referred to will subscribe a total of $75,000, as requested by you.

"I trust that you will be able to raise the necessary funds to carry through the great undertaking."

This letter was addressed to the Mayor, the Governor and Charles Janvier, treasurer.
