COURT IS DEFENDED

Judge Hanford Takes Firm Stand for Federal Bench.

CRITICISMS ARE ANSWERED

United States Courts Will Continue to Exercise Jurisdiction So Long as Constitution Remains Supreme Law of Land.

TACOMA, Sept. 20.—The opening of the Fall term of the Federal Court was made the occasion of a congratulatory meeting today when the local bar, represented by ex-Judges Shackelford and Stiles, made short addresses, to which responses were made by Judge George Donworth and Judge C. H. Hanford. In closing, Judge Hanford said the Federal Court will stay here as long as the Constitution of the United States continues to be the supreme law of the land, and it will have the jurisdiction and exercise the power provided by the National laws not diminished by mere reference to local sentiment. Exclusion laws and restrictive laws may diminish the volume of its business, but cannot circumscribe its jurisdiction by restricting the limits of increase in the number of possible litigants by hindering commercial expansion. The commerce of the city may be diminished without diminishing in any way the authority of the National Government. The National Government is supreme within its sphere as the state government is supreme in its sphere. The occasion seemed appropriate for this expression from the court in view of the resolutions adopted at a recent convention in Tacoma, which seemed to sanction utterances hostile to the Federal Court, and the judicial branch of the National Government. The convention alluded to was the state convention nominating Supreme Court Judges.

WALLA WALLA ADVERTISES

Campaign Is Begun to Bring Home-seekers From Middle West. WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special)—Beginning the largest campaign of publicity the Commercial Club here has ever undertaken, contracts have been signed with 13 publications in the Middle West for covering the territory where crop failures hit hardest this year and are most common. The publications are those which reach farmers and none is published within 500 miles of Walla Walla. This campaign is to be continued for three months, at the approximate cost of $500 a month. After withdrawing the advertising in January it will be resumed in 40 newspapers, farm journals and magazines for the Spring immigration tide, and a greater effort than ever before will be made to turn home-seekers to this city.

GRAIN STORAGE COSTLY

Interior Farmers Carrying Crop at Heavy Expense to Themselves. DAYTON, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special).—A Dayton farmer says that it is costing farmers of Columbia County approximately $25,000 a month, and growers of the Island Empire nearly $100,000 a month to hold grain now stored in the warehouses. It is estimated 2,500,000 bushels of grain are stored here and of this amount 80 per cent is in the hands of the farmers. The average cost a month a bushel for storage, insurance and waste exceeds 14 cents, so that the aggregate cost in this county is not far from $25,000 a month. Local speculators are losing $5000 in the same manner.

Neither the farmer nor the local buyer is able to check the loss, because exporters at Coast points refuse to receive interior grain in large quantities. Shipping at this season should be at its height, yet scarcely a bushel is moving from shipping points in Columbia County. Every month the grain is held shortens the period of consumption later. Several farmers here have two crops on hand.

DECISIONS HANDED DOWN

Supreme Court Renders Judgment in Five Cases Appealed. SALEM, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special).—Because it was not shown that Bettie Erickson is the wife of C. H. Erickson, judgment of Judge W. L. Bradshaw, of Crook County, was affirmed by the Supreme Court in an appeal in which the State of Oregon was respondent. Erickson and the woman were jointly indicted for assault with a dangerous weapon on Leonard Walters. Other cases were: Ladd & Bush, plaintiffs, and appellants, vs. A. G. and M. L. Roberts, defendants and appellants, and T. A. and Nettie Williamson, defendants and respondents; appealed from Polk County; William Galloway, judge, modified. T. K. Anderson as administrator of the estate of H. A. Williamson, deceased, substituted for said deceased, and Albert Phillip, plaintiff and respondent, vs. Grant Phegley and Emma G. Robinson, defendants and appellants; appealed from Josephine County; H. K. Hanna, judge, reversed. The suit of the Bennett Trust Company vs. Senackee, to test the constitutionality of the existence of the Coos Bay Port Commission, has been advanced on the docket, and will be tried in November, immediately after the court returns from Pendleton. New attorneys were admitted to the bar by the Supreme Court today as follows: Walter D. Jones, Minnesota; Henry Hertlje, Montana; Otto J. Katz, Meyer, Nebraska; Harold Newlin, Pennsylvania, all for nine months. Timothy E. Duffy, Henry M. Kimball and Hall Stoner Lusk were admitted permanently.

BALLOONS COME DOWN

(Continued From First Page.) ever met in the upper air. Only by soaring above it at a height of three and a half miles did we avert the danger of being struck by lightning. It was a magnificent spectacle as we were carried along above it." Allan P. Hawley, of the America II, had an equally eventful trip in the 44 and 20 minutes he and his companion were in the air. Farmers Shoot at Balloon. "The Government should take steps at once to protect balloonists who are likely to be killed at any time by ignorant or vicious countrymen who persist in firing at them as they fly above farms," said Hawley. "While we were passing above Noble County, Sunday evening, I distinctly heard two bullets whistle past my ears, and there were several reports. It was so serious that we decided that in the event of one of us being struck by a bullet, the other should instantly descend. "When we landed at Warrenton, Va., we could have kept in the air some hours longer and only came to earth for fear of being blown into Chesapeake Bay."

PENSION GRV HEARD

"Dollar a Day for Life," Is Demand of Veterans.

ATLANTIC CITY WELCOMES

Grand Army Men Will Parade Today—Mrs. Cora Davis, of Union, Oregon, Is in Race for Relief Corps President.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—Veterans attending the National encampment of the G. A. R. were formally welcomed to Atlantic City tonight at a monster meeting on the Million Dollar Pier. The big event is the parade tomorrow. Vice-President Sherman will review the veterans, with Commander-in-Chief Van Sant and Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A. One thing noticed at the various meetings today was the definite shape the movement for increasing the pensions of veterans is taking. The cry was "A dollar a day for life." The National encampment is expected to take up the matter. Lee Statute Considered. The National Association of Naval Veterans believes it has a solution of the matter of placing a statue of General Robert E. Lee in the Capitol at Washington. The association at its convention today adopted resolutions at which it did not oppose the placing of Lee's statue in the Capitol provided it appeared in civilian attire. The naval veterans elected William G. McEwen, Philadelphia, Commodore. There is a pretty fight for National president of the Women's Relief Corps. The candidates are: Miss Belle C. Harris, Emporia, Kan.; Lois M. Knauft, Cleveland; Ida S. McBride, Indianapolis, and Cora M. Davis, of Union, Oregon. Gilman Leads for Commander. Henry White, of Indiana, Pa., was re-elected president of the National Association of Union Prisoners of War. The selection of the next Commander-in-Chief is still going on and the indications are that John E. Gilman, of Boston, will be elected. Friends of John McElroy, of Washington, the strongest rival of General Gilman, have not given up hope, however. Among the cities that want the next National Encampment are Rochester, N. Y., Los Angeles, Denver and Chattanooga. Portland, Or., wants it in 1912.
