Use Constitutional Privilege in Lorimer Probe.

> CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Whether Minority Leader Lee O'Neil Browne, State Sena-tor John Broderick and Representative Robert E. Wilson, each of whom is under indictment on charges of bribery or conspiracy to bribe, can avail them-selves of the constitutional privilege of refusing to give self-incriminating testimony, is a question still undecided by the Lorimer investigating committee today.

The question has been raised in behalf of State Senator Broderick, who, for a few minutes yesterday, was on the witness stand, and the ruling, it is believed, will be applicable to Browns and Wilson.

An early adjournment was taken by the committee today, and in executive session the Senators will wreatle with the problem of whether to admit the testimony of Broderick or excuse him until a later session, after he has been tried in Sangamon County on the charge of having bribed Senstor Holst-law, to vote for Senator Lorimer.

The notes belong to a manufacturing com-pany and were stolen from the mails June 13, 1910. Sweeney swore on the stand that he gave $40,000 of the notes to Turner to sell and burned the rest. All the stolen notes except those that Sweeney says he destroyed are in evi-dence. Judge Land has taken Sweeney's punishment under consideration until after Turner's case shall be tried.

ROYAL PALACE BOMBARDED

Republicans Reported in Control of Situation at Capital and Manuel II Is Practically Their Captive in Home.

(Continued from First Page.) ier Monday of Professor Bombarda, medical scientist and director of the insane asylum, who recently entered politics and threw himself heart and soul into the Republican and anti-cierical propaganda. Some dispatches destined for Louison giving details of the assassination were suppressed by the Censor, but two versions got through, which, although differing in details ascribed the murder to a mili-tary officer. These were the last tele-grams that left Lisbon until the news of the revolution was briefly recorded.

Report Reaches Paris.

The Echo de Paris prints a wireless dispatch from its correspondent, dated Marie de la Mar. Cape Blanco, 9:20 P. M.:

"A revolution has broken but in Portugal. A great part of the army and all the navy have gone on the side of the Republicans. At 2 o'clock this afternoon a bombardment of the royal palace commenced. All ingress to the city has been forbidden. It is impossible therefore to procure and forward details."

Private advices received from Portugal recently had reference to the danger threatening the monarchy. A cable from a well informed Lisbon correspondent, received here only last night, criticises the King as giving little or no aid to the progressives, and declares that his lack of force in political affairs has been accentuated by public suspicion of his private life.

The Times further points out that there have been many recent indications of approaching trouble, the permeation of military and naval affairs with Republicanism, rumors that Conservative statesmen were entering into relations with the Republican leaders and similar signs that can have only one meaning, while the court party displayed timidity, thus prompting the belief that they would offer no serious resistance to a revoluoffer no serious resistance to a revolu-tion which might therefore be effected quietly and possibly by political methods.

In these attitudes, a goodly section of the Portuguese public had stood back of the Premier. After the assassination of the King and Crown Prince, however, many of these turned against the Minmany of these turned against the Min-istry, seemingly on the assumption that at least the Ministry ought to be able to protect the life of its sovereign. The 18-year-old King immediately an-nounced he would retain the old Ministry and expressed confidence in Franco. Within a few days, however, the King had revoked several decrees of the arbitrary Prime Minister, among them one which had imprisoned a number of members of the Chamber of Deputies and suspended their privileges. The announcement of the more moderate measures of the new King relieved the situation tem-porarily and guined him considerable public support. Then Franco was forced to resign and finally he fied the country because of the continual threats made upon his life. The government which followed the dictatorship of Franco con-fined itself to the limits of legislation, but still unress continued.

Last February the 60-acre farm owned by Jesse Stackhouse was conveyed to Mrs. Patterson in her maiden name, Mary Yonker, she having held a mortgage agains the property.
