CASE IS SUBMITTED

DEFENDANT DULY WARNED.

Witness Tells of Giving of Notice to Mr. Wood That Failure to Comply With Contract Would Result in Forfeiture.

After a two-days' hearing of the damage suit of H. L. Pitcock against W. D. Wood, a Seattle real estate man, final arguments were submitted to Judge Bean yesterday afternoon, in the United States Court.

In support of the claim against the $125,000 bond that it is charged was forfeited by the negligence and refusal of Mr. Wood to erect a building on the "Pitcock homestead," between Washington, Stark, Tenth and West Park streets, O. L. Price went on the stand soon after the opening of court yesterday morning and related the story of occurrences on two occasions in August, 1908, when Mr. Wood called at the office of Mr. Pitcock in answer to notices requiring him to pay the rentals which had become delinquent and which were due in monthly installments, and notifying him that a failure on his part would cause the cancellation of the 99-year lease granted to J. Whyte Evans, February 23, 1907, and to which Mr. Wood succeeded by assignment.

Witness Denies Agreement.

Mr. Price told of the demands that had been made for the payment of the rentals on the lease, and denied that Mr. Pitcock had ever in his presence agreed to an extension of the time in which the erection of the building should be begun or payments of the money.

Mr. Wood was the chief witness for the defense. He related the particulars of his acquiescence of the lease and told how he had undertaken the construction of the Olds, Wortman & King building at about the same time. The witness admitted receiving several notices from Mr. Pitcock asking for a compliance with the terms of the contract.

"I was willing to cancel the lease at any time," said Mr. Wood, "but I wanted Mr. Pitcock to throw off the amount of unpaid rentals. If he cancelled the lease I thought the back rentals should not be collected because of the consequent loss to me.

Extension Hoped For.

"In case Mr. Pitcock did not desire to cancel the lease on those terms I hoped to have the term for beginning operations extended."

The witness said that he believed that Mr. Pitcock was sending him the notices as a mere matter of form and had no intention of beginning the suit for recovery on the bond and a cancellation of the lease.

No evidence of any character was introduced by the defense to substantiate the assertion that H. M. Calk, attorney for the plaintiff, had refused to give over possession of the written lease, or that Mr. Pitcock had been requested to vacate his residence on the property and had refused to do so.

The evidence of the case was summed up by Mr. Calk, the plaintiff and Colonel C. E. S. Wood for the defendant.

NATURALIZATION IS DEFERRED

Applicant for Citizenship Not Informed on State Government.

John Macuga, a subject of Austria-Hungary, could not tell the difference between the National and state government in the Federal Court Wednesday, when he applied for naturalization papers, and Judge Bean postponed the hearing for 30 days, to give Macuga time to secure a similar ruling in the Oregon court.

Macuga passed a fairly good examination. Recently Judge Hanford, at Seattle, charged of being untruthful in the United States could be held without bail. Relying upon that decision, Assistant United States Attorney Evans has hoped to secure a similar ruling in the Oregon court. Upon the hearing of the Chin Wah application for bail, Attorneys Banks and Simon produced a number of rulings from Federal courts which reversed Judge Hanford in the controversy.

SUSPECTED CHINESE NOT HELD

Federal Officers Lose in Attempt to Hold Men Without Bail.

Federal officers who have been endeavoring to prevent the operations of the alleged "underground railway" from Puget Sound to California, which is said to be used by Chinese coolie laborers in securing access to the United States, were yesterday defeated in their efforts to hold arrested suspects at the County Jail.

Attorneys William W. Banks, who appeared in the role of "amicus curiae" to the court, and Roger B. Sinnott, representing Chin Wah, the slant-eyed defendant, are considered to have won a victory when the United States Commissioner Cannon admitting the Celestial to bail.

Bail was immediately furnished by Chin Wah and Chin Hong, merchants of the Portland Chinese district, and members of the tong to which the prisoner belongs. Trial of the deportation charges against the prisoner will be held on Monday morning at the County Jail.

Federal officers have been endeavoring to prevent the operations of what is believed to be a school of instruction in the Chinese language, which has been held on the streets which have been unable to give a satisfactory explanation of their presence in the city, have been repeatedly arrested. After being released from the County Jail on bond it is charged that the men are coached in the history of San Francisco and its streets, and by reason of their "schooling" have been able to defeat the efforts of the Government to secure their deportation.

Those who passed the successful examination and were admitted to citizenship were: Albin Immonsen, of Russia; Lars Anderson, of Norway; Achille Seghers, of Belgium; and Baren Martin Ellis, of Norway.

Indian Gets Jail Sentence.

Eli Parr, a Umatilla Indian who appeared in the United States Court yesterday afternoon, decorated with store clothes, pointed slippers and eye shades, will be required to refrain from exhibition of his finery for the next three months. Judge Bean will require Chief Parr to reside for that time in the custody of the jailer of Multnomah County. There was a fine of $100 in cash attached to the red man's offense, which was carrying liquor on the reservation and leaving it exposed where other Indians might be tempted.

COOK BACK, SOLDIERS GLAD

Fort Stevens Men Rejoice at Return of Famous Chef.

FORT STEVENS, Or., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Once more the Ninety-Third Company is happy, for their French chef, Wilfred La Fleur, has returned to assume charge of the culinary department. Cook La Fleur has over 15 years' service in the United States Army and is a veteran of the Spanish-American War. During practically all of his service he has devoted his most earnest attention to the improvement and perfection of Army cooking. Last Christmas, in a competition between Army cooks at Fort Worden, Puget Sound, he won first prize.

ENTRIES EXCEED 720

HORSES TO BE EXHIBITED ARE ARRIVING IN CITY.

Portland Hunt Club Receives Several Additional Entries for Fourth Annual Show.

Several additional entries were received by the Portland Hunt Club yesterday for the fourth annual Horse Show which opens in the Oriental building at the Lewis and Clark fairgrounds on Thursday, D. C. McGregor, of Vancouver, B. C., sent in five additional entries making 720 for him. Word was also received that a big horse, known as Monarch, Both are beautiful animals of the high-stepper class and they have been entered in several classes at the show. They can be used for riding or light driving, and both are well broken. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett will handle them and it is prophesied by good judges of horses, who have seen them, that the animals will carry off several prizes.

S. L. Howe, president of the Vancouver Hunt Club, has entered one of the finest strings of horses on the Coast. He will compete for prizes in 13 classes. Among his horses are many fine riding and driving animals. Accompanying him will be a number of the members of the club, of which he is president, with their horses. From Portland they will go to Pasadena, Cal., with their string to compete for prizes in the exclusive horse show to be given in that city.

R. K. Jenkins and James Nicol have been selected to act as clerk and ringmaster, respectively, to assist Colonel Jason Waters and Hester von Koch, the judges. Henry L. Corbett is also selecting a number of the Hunt Club members, who will act as stewards in the ring. A number of other assistants will be selected early next week.

Arrangements are being made to entertain the judges when they arrive in this city. A number of luncheons and dinners are to be given, in which they will be the guests. They will arrive in Portland early next week and will spend the time until the opening performance of the show in August.

Work on the Oriental building, in which the show will be held, is nearly finished and by Saturday night practically everything will be in readiness for the opening of the show. The ring was thronged with riders working out their horses both morning and afternoon yesterday. Much of the time was spent in training the horses, which are to participate in the jumping events, to take the hurdles.

HIMES HOME FROM TRIP

Historical Society Officer Delivers Lectures in Eastern Oregon.

George H. Himes, assistant secretary of the Oregon Historical Society, returned yesterday from his annual official trip into Eastern Oregon, where he delivered several lectures. When called upon to speak before the members of the Fort Dalles Historical Society and the Wasco County Teachers' Institute, in joint session, Mr. Himes surprised those present by introducing to them Mrs. Elizabeth M. Wilson, the oldest living pioneer school teacher of Oregon.

Although Mrs. Wilson lives at the Dalles, few in that city knew that she began teaching in Oregon in April, 1831, and that her work as a teacher continued until she was teacher for her great-grandchildren in various parts of Oregon. She is now nearly 80 years old.

With a speech before the visitors to the district fair at Pendleton, Mr. Himes exhibited 100 lantern slides of historic scenes of Oregon and put on foot a movement for a Umatilla County Historical Society, which, like the Fort Dalles Historical Society and other similar organizations in Oregon, will be an auxiliary of the state society. Much interest was shown in the work of the society at Baker City, Mr. Himes said yesterday, but the time is not yet ripe, he declared, for the organization of a local society for that place.

APPLE SHOW TO BE LARGE

State Horticultural Society Receives Many Inquiries.

That the annual apple show to be given under the auspices of the Oregon State Horticultural Society November 30 and December 1 and 2 will be the largest affair of the kind ever held in the state is the belief of Frank W. Power, secretary of the society. Mr. Power is in receipt daily of inquiries from fruitgrowers all over the state for complete details and premium lists.

The special prize of $50 for the largest and best exhibit, which has been made open to fruitgrowers of any district in the Northwest, is creating much interest and Mr. Power believes that a large list of entries for this prize will be received.

The show is receiving support of the Portland Commercial Club and that organization has voted $100 towards the fund to be raised for the sweepstakes prize of $50.

Mr. Power announced yesterday that the railroad had agreed to grant special rates for the show. With their assistance, it is believed that the attendance this year will be unusually large.

Nut Wood Ranch Is Sold.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The George W. Kelly ranch in the Mountaineer district, known as the Nut Wood Ranch, was sold this week to J. C. Ash of the Watts district. On this farm was grown the nut exhibit which took prizes at the Seattle fair for growing the largest number of varieties of nuts. The sale is reported at $500.

Clatsop Court Buys Crusher.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The County Court at its session today purchased a rock crusher to be located at Seaside, where it will crush material for improving the public roads in that section. The crusher is to be shipped tomorrow, and will be ready for operation the coming week.
