GRANT WELCOMES HELP

PRIVATE ATTORNEYS WILL APPEAR FOR BRIDGE.

Contention That Bond Sale Is Legal Supersedes Question of Need for Structure.

"So far as this department is concerned, no one will be prevented from appearing before the Supreme Court at Salem when the Broadway-bridge bond case is tried next Thursday," said City Attorney Grant yesterday. "My associates and I will appear on behalf of the city and I understand that other attorneys will appear for certain property owners and taxpayers. There is no reason why others should not appear."
"The report that I sought to keep M. L. Pipes and C. W. Fulton from acting in the case is erroneous. I never made such a statement, as I know that such a position would be ridiculous. They have the right to appear as amici curiae, the same as any other attorneys."
"But this much is certain: This department will represent the City of Portland and feels that it is responsible for the city's interests in the case. We never believed that much glory would attach to winning this case, as it is only one of the details of official duty. However, if it is lost we feel that we would be held responsible by the people, who are so deeply interested in having the bridge built. I am still confident that we shall obtain a favorable verdict. It is merely a question whether the bridge should be built by the city, and the real point at issue in the bond suit is the construction of the bridge itself. It is not for me to say in connection with this case whether the bridge is needed, as that is not the point at issue. What the court is to decide is whether the city shall be allowed to transfer the block of $250,000 bonds recently sold. This will determine whether the construction work shall begin.

"We are here to present the city's contention that the sale is legal. That is all that is involved at the present time, although this suit will have a direct bearing upon the merits of the main case."
Mr. Grant says he looks for results from the hearing next Thursday. The City Attorney's office has had charge of the case from the beginning and is probably more familiar with it than any other attorneys in the city, he says. While he feels that he and his force are competent to handle the city's interests, he invites all the assistance that outside counsel can offer.

WOMEN OUTLINE WORK

NEW PRESIDENT OF WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES TALK.

Organization Pointed Out as Being as Representative as Commercial Club.

The first meeting of the year was held by the Portland Woman's Club at the Women of Woodcraft Hall yesterday afternoon. Following a well attended business meeting, the new president, Mrs. A. C. Newell, gave her address of welcome to the club members. The growth of the club, not only in the matter of members, but also in regard to influence and earnestness of purpose, was the president's main theme. Mrs. Newell said in part:
"There is nothing in being able to boast that we have 700 or 1000 members in the Woman's Club, but it is very important and essential to our success that we should have the right to say that we are a representative body of women and that by reason of our numbers we reflect in our deliberations the sentiments of a majority of the thoughtful women of Portland. The Woman's Club should mean exactly the same thing to the women of the city that the Commercial Club does to the men, for it is primarily an organization for the advancement of Portland."

Miss Josephine Locke, who is well known in Portland as an authority on Oriental art and religions, gave an interesting lecture on "The Spirit of Japan," showing by way of illustration many beautiful photographs and reproductions of many Japanese symbolic art types. Miss Locke showed that Japan's whole national life and religion centers around its art activity. She urged the importance of the study of Oriental ideas by Western races if the latter are to retain their dominant moral influence.
At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and an opportunity was afforded for the renewal of old club friendships and the making of new ones.
