Pendleton "Wets" Heap Insult on Prominent Portland Minister.

DARROW DRAWS BIG CROWD

"Good People Do More Harm Than Criminals," Argues Chicago Lawyer Who Talks for Home Rule for Cities of Oregon.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 14 .- (Special) -With rotten eggs, decayed tomatoes and cries of "Let 'er buck," Pendleton-lans greeted Dr. Parsons, a Portland minister, who attempted to steal the crowd which poured from the theater after hearing Clarence Darrow.

Parsons mounted a box and began a speech. That was as far as Pendleton people permitted him to get, as, surpeople permitted him to get as sur-rounded by his prohibition friends, he vainly begged for a hearing for 39 minutes. The scene continued, the streets being in an uproar. With the aid of the National anthem, a mement's respite was obtained and Parsons sat

Darrow Offers New Logic.

"The good people in this world do more evil than all the rogues and criminals," declared Clarence Darrow, the famous Chicago lawyer, in this city tonight. He was speaking against the effort to make Oregon dry and in favor of the home-rule bill, which will make it impossible for counties to vote cities dry unless cities also vote that way.

When Darrow arose to speak, the op-
