

BUDGET FOR 1911 TAKES BIG BOUND

City Expenses to Be Increased $1,169,102, According to Estimates Filed.

7-MILL TAX LEVY LIKELY

General Fund May Diminish, Too, if Council Approves Totals—Portland's Great Growth Responsible—Tax Revenue Bigger.

Estimated expenses of the Portland city government for 1911, as prepared by the various departments and submitted to Mayor Simon and City Auditor Barbur, show an increase of 50 per cent over the expenditures for this year.

In actual figures the increase is $1,169,102, for the estimates, as totaled yesterday afternoon, amount to $2,341,410, while the expenditures for this year, based on careful estimates made for the expense for the remainder of the year, amounted only to $1,172,308.

Tax Levy Jump Sure.

"The various departments cannot be granted all they ask for the next year," said Mayor Simon yesterday afternoon, "but it is certain that the tax levy will have to be increased materially over what it was a year ago."

"The city is growing so rapidly that it is not possible to keep its expenditures from being increased. Various departments will have to be enlarged and maintained at a considerable increase over last year's expenditures."

It will be some time before the exact tax levy will be fixed by the Council. Each estimate submitted will be gone into thoroughly by the committees to which it will be referred, and all possible reductions, consistent with the good of the city, will be made, say the officials.

While it is realized that the expenses for next year must be much in excess of those of this year, the levy will not have to be increased in proportion to the rate, for, according to the assessment rolls, the city will have in the vicinity of $5,000,000 more property subject to taxation next year than this, and this, at the old levy, would create a material increase in the revenue from taxation.

Estimates Are Compiled.

The estimates for the various city departments, as completed yesterday afternoon, are as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Department, 1910 Estimate, 1911 Expanded Estimate. Includes Fire department, Police, City Engineer, etc.

Supply Fund Duplicated.

From the total estimate should be deducted about $7,000, which is included in the miscellaneous fund and duplicated in the various other estimates. This amount is for supplies that the heads of departments have included in their estimates, but which must be paid out of the miscellaneous fund.

Not all of the expenses of the city are met by general taxation. Thus many of the forwarding estimates will have no influence on the tax levy. Expenses not met by taxation are paid out of the general fund, composed of moneys obtained from interest on deposits made in the City Treasurer, from fines imposed by the Municipal Court, from licenses and from assessments for street repairs.

The funds which are supported largely, if not entirely, from taxation are: Police, fire, bonded interest, street-lighting, street repairs, library, parks and the sinking fund.

Large Sum on Hand.

While the interest fund, according to the estimate, will take from the tax levy only $200,000, it must actually total more, as there is $2,522,527 already on hand. This estimate is based on the presumption that the proposed water amendment will be adopted at the coming election. If this amendment fails to be adopted, this interest fund must be increased $1,000 to cover the interest that will be due on water bonds and which would otherwise come out of the receipts for water.

The original estimate for the park fund was $300,000, but after the estimate was prepared it was discovered that it did not include money necessary to pay for work assessed to the city, and it was necessary to increase it $100,000.

The park fund also includes $150,000 to be used for the purchase of new land, which will be met by a special fund and will not come from taxes.

GARBAGE DESTRUCTION BY CONTRACT CALLED MENAGE.

Seattle Official Declares Health Would Suffer From Sorting to Save By-Products.

Dr. J. E. Crichton, Commissioner of Health for Seattle, is in Portland on a trip of inspection of the garbage-gathering system here. He paid Portland a flattering compliment for its sanitary conditions.

"This city is certainly in a clean, healthful condition," said Dr. Crichton, "and I think the Health Department, and especially Health Officer Wheeler, is entitled to a great deal of credit for it."

"I got up at 2 o'clock this morning and rode on a garbage wagon to observe the manner of collecting the garbage and destroying it. I stayed with the work until 5 o'clock, feeling that Portland is accomplishing much for the protection of health."

"Bonds have been voted and are now on sale in Seattle for $400,000 to be used in erecting garbage crematories and buying horses and wagons for the city garbage system that is to be established. The city will also include in its tax levy $125,000 to be used next year, beginning February 1, for the collection and destruction of garbage."

In addition to this the Council has appropriated $150,000 for the health department and are looking forward to making the city one of the most healthful in the world.

"In Seattle we have arrived at the conclusion that the city must collect its own garbage to preserve the health of its people. It is believed that if a commercial organization is permitted to collect the garbage with a view of sorting the by-products, the health of the city will suffer. Such an organization probably will hire girls and boys to sort the garbage, and work that means for them exposure to the various diseases of the places whence the garbage came, and not only their deaths at an early age, but the probability that they will later, after becoming diseased from their work, become public charges, and also aid in setting on foot the spread of diseases that might be obliterated if the garbage were burned."

Dr. Crichton will go from here to Spokane and later will visit Eastern cities on a similar mission.

JURY LOOKS INTO DRAWS

STEAMBOAT MEN SUMMONED BY FEDERAL BODY.

Report Is Circulated That Indictments May Be Found to Permit Test to Be Made.

None of the steamboat men summoned to appear before the Federal grand jury was before the examining body yesterday to give testimony in the bridge question, which has been a controversy between the great population of Portland living on the East Side, County Judge Cleston and County Commissioner Goddard one side, and the War Department and Major McIndoe, of the Army Corps of Engineers, on the other.

When Judge Cleston and Commissioner Goddard took the position that there were unreasonable delays in closing the draws to permit morning and night, when residents of the East Side were going to and from work, and backed up their opinion with a peremptory order to regulate the draws, Major McIndoe took a firm stand against the order in behalf of steamboatmen and was backed up by War department regulations. Major McIndoe intimated that the subject would be taken before the Federal courts and the summonses served on the steamboat men and considered to mean that he has caused such a step to be taken.

It is said that literal construction of navigation laws holds Judge Cleston, Commissioner Goddard and the bridge tenders guilty of certain infractions, no matter what their motives may have been. A report was circulated yesterday that the grand jury might return indictments against the County Judge, the County Commissioner and others, in order to have the case threshed out in the Federal Court and thereby bring a municipality to a halt in regulating traffic within its limits.

DRY SPEAKER HERE

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor to Assail Home Rule.

"NICE MEN" ARE CRITICISED

Georgia Woman Orator Insists Those Who Favor Saloons Are Lined Up With Baser Elements of Society—State Tour Made.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, the "whirlwind" campaigner of Georgia, who was brought to Oregon by the W. C. T. U. to assist in the campaign to make this state "dry," arrived yesterday from a ten days' speaking tour of the state. Mrs. Armor will begin a series of seven speeches in Portland tomorrow night at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Armor sprang into prominence about five years ago, when she was president of the Georgia W. C. T. U. in making a sensational and rather spectacular speech before the Georgia Legislature. Since that time she has been called upon by the W. C. T. U. in all parts of the United States to assist in "dry" campaigns. There is nothing about her appearance to indicate the hidden powers of oratory with which she is credited. She has a broad Southern accent, and speaks more rapidly than Mary Ellen Lease, yet her pronunciation is distinct and she does not lose a syllable. She is argumentative in everything she says, and drives her points in rapid-fire order. She does not use statistics, nor does she dwell upon her views of prohibition, but her great extent. Her conversation consists largely of combatting assertions of the "wets."

"Oregon is going 'dry,'" declared Mrs. Armor emphatically yesterday. "I can read human nature, and I know that this state is going 'dry.' Before I leave Portland I am going after the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association. These 'nice' men in the Home Rule Association are lined up with the liquor men, they are lined up with crooks, the divalepers, their associates are bad, and I shall prove it. When they stand for the saloon they stand for all that is depraved, for debauchery and crime. No burglar, no thief, nor gambler, nor bun, will vote for prohibition. Why? Because they want the saloon, and these 'nice' men are lined up with them. They must be lined up with them if they stand for the saloon. You can't reason it any other way."

Mrs. Armor will speak tomorrow night in Taylor-Street Church, Saturday afternoon immediately after the temperance parade in the Masonic Temple, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in White Temple Church, and Sunday night in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on the East Side.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Clarence Darrow will speak in the Grand Opera-House in this city tomorrow night in the interest of the Oregon Home Rule Association. "Prohibition a Crime Against Society" will be his subject.

The home rule movement has developed a marked interest in Salem, and Darrow has the promise of one of the largest crowds that has flocked to the opera-house this season. It is the general belief here that the proposed home rule amendment will receive in Marion County one of the largest comparative majorities of any county in the state.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.
