timber land in the Aspen Lake country. The Lakeview Land Office holds in favor of the homesteaders. Eighteen quarter sections were thrown open for settlement July 1. Before mid-night preceding the date of the openins. Is men were lined up just over the line of the opened land, and at the stroke of 13 each man stepped onto his chosen quarter section and posted his notices of inten-tion to file. A month later these men went to the Land Office at Lakeview to file. Upon their arrival at the Land Office they were told by the Register that each of the claims had been filed on by others as a timber claim. The timber men had stolen a march by appearing at the Land Office before the date of filing and registering their names. Each morn-ing at 10 gelock these men lined up at the office in turn, and the roll was called fo see that all were present, and the first if who answered as called each morning up to the date for accepting the filings received the preference and their filing fees were accepted for the land as tim-ber claims. To this the homesteaders demurred, asserting prior rights by vir-tu of having posted location notices and made improvements with the intention of living on the land. SAN FRANCISCO, C.L. Oct. 19 .-- Lo cal police activity in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case is being concen-trated on a search for a man known as D. Caplan, an alleged anarchist, believed D. Caplan, an alleged anarchist, believed to be the dark-skinned "William Capp," who played a prominent part in con-cealing the 500 pounds of dynamite found in a vacant house here. Caplan is said to be known to the police in various cilies of this country and Eu-rope. He lived in a flat with W. P. Lawson a conference avarchist accord. Lawson, a confessed anarchist, according to the police, and from whom the investigators learned that Capian disappeared from toe flat about October 1 and has not been seen since. It has been learned that the suspect known as "Smithy" or "Perry," who was a member of the trio t'at pur-chased the dynamite at Ginnt, Cal., is supposed to be one M. E. Smith, a Kan-sas City draftsman, who came to San Francisco about eight months ago. He boarded at the lodging hours of Mrs. Belle Lavin, the woman arrested here yesterday in connection with the dyna-mite case, on a "Jane Doe" warrant, charging murder. John Lofthouse, a cabinet-maker who lived in the Lavin house, volunteered the information re garding "Smithy's" luentity.
