

BOURNE GAINS STRENGTH IN VAIN

Democrats, Resenting Bourne Domination, Will Support Republican Nominee.

ROUSING MEETINGS HELD

Business Houses in Cottage Grove Close for Afternoon Rally—In Eugene Candidate Pays Respects to Bourne.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Lane County will give Jay Bowerman, Republican direct primary nominee for Governor, a majority of from 1200 to 1500 votes at the election of November 8.

This is the forecast made by leading Republicans of the county after a careful canvass of the situation. The normal Republican majority approximates 1200 votes. The belief prevails that Mr. Bowerman will run above normal, inasmuch as scores of Democrats in the county are resenting over the manipulation of the Bourne-Chamberlain-West machine.

Enthusiastic receptions were given today to the head of the Republican ticket at Cottage Grove and Eugene, the two principal towns of the county. Cottage Grove suspended business for two hours this afternoon and attended a mass meeting at the opera-house, where Mr. Bowerman spoke. He was escorted to the meeting place by a large delegation of leading citizens, headed by the Cottage Grove brass band.

Strong Impression Made

Upon his arrival in Eugene tonight he was met by a delegation of leading party men. The Cottage Grove rally spoke tonight on campaign issues, was packed, many standing in the aisles throughout the meeting. It was clear that a strong impression was made by the meetings and that hundreds of voters were added to the ranks of active Bowerman supporters.

Democratic indignation at the Bourne-West combine has not only driven many Lane County Democrats away from the head of their ticket, but it has served to put scores of them to work in the interest of Mr. Bowerman, so it was ascertained today.

Democrats Voice Protest.

"We are supporting Mr. Bowerman not because we are disloyal to the Democratic party, but as a protest against the prostitution of our party to the selfish interests of Jonathan Bourne, whose name is being used as a 'wild West' was the explanation made at Cottage Grove by J. S. Medley, prominent lawyer and party leader in Lane. 'For 25 years I have been a Democrat,' said Mr. Medley, 'and I intend to remain a Democrat for 25 years more. But on November 8 I am going to cast my vote for Jay Bowerman, not because I am voting for a worthy man, but my particular object will be to register my disapproval of Bourne, who, through West, is being used to betray the Democratic party of the United States as a misrepresentative from Oregon.'

West Tool of Cunning Men.

"West is a nice young fellow. I think the world of him personally, and we have long been good friends. But I cannot countenance the use of his name as a head of the Democratic party, he is now being put by a cunning politician who seeks to gain control of the office of Governor for use in his own behalf. The Cottage Grove meeting was held at 2 P. M. Although it was the busiest part of the business day, the Opera House was well filled. Several business houses closed for the afternoon. Mayor Kime led the delegation which escorted Mr. Bowerman and Mr. Hawley to the meeting, which was presided over by Colonel W. H. Blair. In introducing Mr. Bowerman, Colonel Blair brought down the house when he compared the Republican and Democratic candidates from the viewpoint of Americanism.

Candidates Are Contrasted.

"Mr. Bowerman is a strong, virile, mainly Republican, and a splendid American," said he. "The word American means everything. We are all Americans. America has done more for progress and for the human race in the past 50 years than has any other nation in the past 5000 years. And as showing the kind of American Mr. Bowerman is, I wish to say that he is serving his country as a volunteer from Oregon in the war with Spain two years before Oswald West saw fit to take out his naturalization papers as an American citizen."

Colonel John M. Williams presided at tonight's meeting in Eugene. Mr. Bowerman was greeted with cheers and applause as he appeared on the platform. In opening his address, the speaker took up the inevitable issue, Bourne.

"To condemn a fellow mortal is a task that does not come to me as a pleasant one," said he. "But the best interests of our state demand that the people should know this man as he is. He has made the issue himself by tricking the people of Oregon to send him to the Senate and then, with the trick dispensed, seeking to maintain his place by new trickery."

Bourne Deceives People.

"Bourne deceived the people into a belief that he was an innocent and champion of their rights. In doing this he expended a fortune sending out craftily devised letters to voters and buying up such portions of the press of the state as could be corrupted. 'Champion of the primary law and guardian of the rights of the people' was the guise in which he was presented by his mercenary press agents. But the very minute that primary law deviated from a course that advanced the selfish interests of Bourne, he turned against it.

"When the people, at the primary election, named me as the head of the Republican ticket, Bourne was not pleased. He knew he could never use me to his own advancement. He knew that the best he could expect from me was fair treatment. So he issued a manifesto, an imperial mandate to the people commanding them to knife me. When he signed that manifesto he put his name to his own political death warrant. The people were not of a mind to accept him as a dictator. They began to perceive the real Bourne as those who knew the creature had always seen him.

Not a Transaction Told.

"Those familiar with Bourne and his career were never deceived as to the man. It was only the victims of his expensive system of letters and purchased newspaper notices who were deceived. His intimates had ever known him as a man of depraved practices, as a man who was not to be depended on.

elled on. They already knew that in the days of stress of the early 90s, when thousands of people in Portland were literally starving, Bourne's personal note for $1000 lay in the defunct Portland Savings Bank, a worthless asset until after seven years it was bought in at public sale for $5. And the man who bought it was George Holman, Bourne's lawyer. It is doubtful whether anyone else would have given such a large sum as $5 for the 1909 Bourne note.

"It means much to Jonathan Bourne to land his man in the Governor's chair. There are some 300 appointees which, under the Bourne system of doing things, can be maintained as a powerful machine to do the Bourne bidding. But it is essential to the welfare of the state that these men be kept at their duties and not permitted to waste the taxpayers' time meddling in political affairs."

State Policy Outlined.

Mr. Bowerman detailed the principles for which he stands as a candidate for Governor. He explained his plan for the saving of $50,000 a year by purchase in bulk of supplies for state institutions, his advocacy of a rule for safeguarding bank depositors by restricting the character of stocks and bonds accepted as assets; his plan for making better roads by putting concrete work thereon and eliminating the present manufacture of stoves in the penitentiary, which brings convict labor in direct competition with the numerous other progressive measures which hold his active interest.

"As to my stand on the primary law, the case has no legitimate question," he said in conclusion. "I have been the friend of the primary law always and shall so remain. I was elected under the primary law and am making my campaign under it. During my tenure of office as Governor, if elected, I shall permit no tampering with the laws of the people. I say this without mental reservation and if I have not made myself clear I am open to any questions that any of you here may see fit to ask."

Hawley Warmly Received.

Mr. Hawley spoke at some length on Tuesday to the head of the Republican ticket at Cottage Grove and Eugene, the two principal towns of the county. Cottage Grove suspended business for two hours this afternoon and attended a mass meeting at the opera-house, where Mr. Bowerman spoke. He was escorted to the meeting place by a large delegation of leading citizens, headed by the Cottage Grove brass band.

WEST DENIES BOURNE PACT

Democratic Candidate Accuses Bowerman of Betraying Friends.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—"Jay Bowerman can betray his friends of the assembly in order to gain a seat in the Governor's chair if he desires, but I will never forsake the friends who have been true to me to gain any office. I would rather go down to defeat, true to my friends, than to go to victory a traitor to those friends," declared Oswald West this evening before one of the largest political gatherings of the campaign.

The statement was made at the conclusion of a debate of his friends for Senator Chamberlain. In answer to the criticism that he was a member of the Bourne-Chamberlain-West machine, he declared it to be the rank and file of the Senate Bourne but once in two years, that being at a meeting of the Oregon delegation in Washington. He stated that he had not received directly or indirectly any letter or message from Bourne or any of his friends concerning the campaign and he had not made any promises to or been asked for promises by Bourne or his friends.

In referring to his opponent, the speaker declared that he had not made any public life at about the same time and that while he was running upon his record, Bowerman was running away from him. The speaker closed by giving a summary of the work accomplished by himself as State Land Agent and as member of the Railroad Commission. The speaker's rally came as the climax to a strenuous two-day automobile tour of Umatilla County, in the course of which meetings were held in nearly every town.

25-MILE LEVEE NEEDED

PLAN BROACHED TO KEEP COLORADO RIVER IN BOUNDS.

Mexican Government's Permission Required—Canal to Gulf to Save Imperial Valley.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A parallel extension of the restraining levee for a distance of 25 miles is the solution of the Colorado River problem proposed by the Imperial Valley. The plans have been completed and are now in the hands of the State Department, which is to obtain permission from the Mexican government to carry on the work. "We believe that the 25-mile extension of the levee which will restore the river to its old channel will put an end permanently to the menace that confronts the Imperial Valley," said Assistant Attorney General today. "The stream will then be carried to a point where the natural slope of the gulf serves to control it. The levee will prevent overflow and at the same time keep the stream at a level with the intake of the Imperial canal system."

There is some question whether the $1,000,000 appropriated on the last day of Congress in June as a result of a special message from President Taft will be sufficient. The difficulties of getting men to work in the adverse conditions may necessitate another appeal to Congress.

BLANE ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Defendant Accused of Killing Father of Boy Found Drunk.

COLFAX, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A jury was selected after two days and the trial of Lester Blane, charged with the murder of J. O. Sylvan, at Palouse, July 5, began this afternoon. Arthur Webster, Frank Green, Newton Mullins and Elmer Lowell, who saw the shooting, told practically the same story. Elmer Lowell, 16 years old, told a straightforward story. He told of seeing Guy Sylvan, aged 18, in a drunken condition.

Evidence was that Sylvan, after learning that Blane gave the boy whiskey, gave him a reprimand and asked him for the bottle, and as Blane bowed him the bottle, he took it from him and as he broke it over the rail he was shot by Blane. Blane, who sat near his wife and two children, showed very little worry or excitement as the witnesses told of the murder.

BOYS' DYNAMITE PLOT LAID BARE

Confession of Frightened Lad Gives Prosecuting Attorney Details.

PRISON TERMS THREATEN

One of Party Pleads Not Guilty and Others Will Have Until Saturday to Do So—Three, Arrested With Others, Are Released.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—That the first attempt to blow up the bunkhouse of the Gate City Lumber Company, at Gate, in which 14 Japanese were asleep, was a failure because the fuse went out; that the original plan of shooting up the place was balked because some of the members of the band lost heart when they saw their companions masked and heavily armed; that the fuse used on the night the plan was almost a success was long enough to permit all the boys to get home and to bed before the explosion, is part of the confession of a 17-year-old boy in the possession of John M. Wilson, prosecuting attorney of Thurston County, in connection with the recent outrage at Gate.

The authorities are astounded by the confession made by Ashton Watson, a 17-year-old boy, who is one of the five arraigned in the Superior Court this afternoon on the charge of dynamiting a building which housed human beings. Under the new criminal code this carries with it a penalty of 20 years at hard labor.

With Watson, Frank Hooven, aged 14; Clarence Murray, aged 16; W. F. Gilie, aged 16, and Almon Post, aged 15, were arraigned today. Hooven pleaded not guilty; the others took until Saturday, and Judge Mitchell ordered that Murray's relatives be brought into court also at that time. Gilie, who is married, has engaged counsel and will fight.

Keith Hunter, Roscoe Jones and Dwight Murray, who were arrested with the others, were released today, as there was no evidence against them. Jones merely overheard the plot and Keith Hunter and his brother, who saw the party when they saw the masks and arms.

O'CONNOR RIE SATURDAY

PLANS COMPLETE FOR WELCOMING IRISH PATRIOT.

Press Club to Be Noted Visitor's Host at Banquet—Delegates to Meet Him at Kalama.

Final arrangements for the entertainment of T. P. O'Connor, the member of Parliament, who is to visit Portland next Saturday and Sunday in the cause of Irish home rule, were completed today. The local and executive committees met in the office of Dr. Andrew C. Smith, chairman, in the Medical building.

Mr. O'Connor will arrive in Portland from Puget Sound points Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. That evening he will have to himself, Sunday morning he will attend mass at the local church. He will be entertained at luncheon by the Portland Press Club at Hotel Portland from noon until 2 o'clock.

Then will come his big meeting at the Portland Theater, at Fourteenth and Washington streets, at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Andrew C. Smith, Edward Boice and Charles E. Metcalf will be local hosts. The party will be escorted to Kalama and come into Portland from there with the eminent Irish guest. The Portland Press Club will send a representative to the train to extend to Mr. O'Connor the invitation to dine with its members.

John F. Daly was appointed chairman of the committee by the speakers of the Irish Home Rule fund for Portland. T. B. McDevitt was appointed chairman of the committee of distribution. Dr. B. L. Norden was made chairman of the committee on invitations.

It is planned to have most of the Federal, state and city officials and other prominent citizens of the local community of honor on the speaker's platform. Dr. Norden and committee will be busy today sending out these invitations. The seating capacity of the stage is about 200.

At last night's meeting it was decided definitely to charge an admission fee of 25 cents to hear Mr. O'Connor speak and to have no reserved seats. Boxes will be sold at a little higher price than single seats. The idea was suggested and adopted to have envelopes printed and distributed among the audience to be used as contribution envelopes. When Mr. O'Connor makes his appeal for funds to free Ireland it is thought that contributions to the cause will be large. In Vancouver, B. C., this week his appeal for funds was greeted with a shower of coins, aggregating almost $1000.

Ministers of nearly all the churches in the city have signified their intention of announcing Mr. O'Connor's visit, what his purpose is, where and at what time the meeting will take place. This feature alone is expected to add considerably to the fund.

The theater will be decorated with Irish and American flags. Mr. O'Connor will leave Portland at 6 o'clock Sunday night for Spokane.

FIRE DEVASTATES RANCH

Arthur Belknap's Property on Upper McKenzie Food for Flames.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A report reached Eugene this evening that the ranch and belongings at the Belknap ranch on the Upper McKenzie were destroyed by fire Saturday, the loss being $3000 without insurance.

The place was owned by Arthur Belknap, a well-known guide, and it is from that point that hunters leave for the South Fork of the McKenzie.

MRS. DYE GOES TO HAWAII

Oregon Authores Prepares Material for New Novel.

Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, the Oregon authoress, left on the Beaver yesterday for San Francisco, from where she will sail for Honolulu. The purpose of Mrs. Dye's trip is to obtain data for a novel, on which she has been working for two months.

This is the fourth book to be written by this Oregon woman. Her previous productions have been more on the historical order. While a romance will be woven in Mrs. Dye's new book, yet the two principal characters will be taken from the lives of two Oregon pioneers.

These two persons were a man and wife who came from the Sandwich Islands and settled in Oregon in 1823. They had spent several years in the islands, previous to which time they resided in Malina. Mrs. Dye has ascertained that a merchant in Honolulu is in possession of a notebook written by the brother of this pioneer woman, with whose life her story deals. She also wishes to become familiar with conditions on the islands, which for years were the home of these Oregon pioneers.

The wife of the early settler died many years ago. The husband married again, since which time both he and his second wife have died. The woman's brother, who wrote the notebook now in possession of the Honolulu merchant, is also dead.

Mrs. Dye expects to return in three weeks. On her return trip she will stop for a short time in California and visit Berkeley library, in search of additional information. She is making the trip unaccompanied.

GIRLS NEED WATCHING

WOMAN PATROL SUGGESTED FOR VANCOUVER.

Mrs. Mason, Assistant Labor Commissioner, So Recommends After Visit to City.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A woman patrol for Vancouver, with such powers as are recommended by Mrs. Blanche H. Mason, Assistant Labor Commissioner, who has been studying conditions here for several days, should have this woman police officer look after the welfare of young girls on the streets nights and those who attend dances.

"Walia Walla has such an officer and the results of her work are gratifying to the city, conserving as she does the safety and morals of the girls of that city," said Mrs. Mason today. Mrs. Mason says that Vancouver is rapidly approaching the size and importance that demands, in the interests of health, a regular system of collection of the garbage, a regular system of collection of the refuse, and a regular system of collection of the garbage, a regular system of collection of the refuse, and a regular system of collection of the garbage.

CARS CROWDED IS CHARGE

Passenger Says People Have to Stand in Oregon Electric Coaches.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—In a complaint to the State Railroad Commission, E. J. Frost objects to service on the Oregon Electric Railroad, contending that there are many times when the facilities are entirely inadequate for the amount of travel done. He complains that on September 15 he boarded a train at Portland for Salem and that both coaches were so filled that the conductor was compelled to stand in the aisles and vestibules and that several women were compelled to sit in the smoker with Japanese hoppers. The train stopped at the car shops, and there was ample opportunity to add more coaches.

Frost says he refused to give his ticket to the conductor until the conductor provided him with a seat. The conductor told him there would be more room at Garden Home, but at that place the train stopped and the car was crowded onto the train. At Metcalf he was offered half a seat next that the smooth, mellow flavor of Pabst Blue Ribbon is duplicated in no other beer? It is simply the result of "knowing how."

Why Is It

No two housewives will bake bread that is exactly alike, even using the same materials. One bakes better than another because of her peculiar "knack" or "know how."

Pabst Blue Ribbon
The Beer of Quality
