SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Royal Shaw, centerfielder for the Seals, was the principal medium in the worst beating that Portland has received for some weeks and for the first time this season at Freeman's Park did the Seals get anything like concerted support.

A triple, a double, two singles, a walk and the responsibility for four runs was Shaw's complete record for the afternoon, and a great record it was.

Together with his teammates, who were batting the ball in style that counted, Shaw landed on Steen in bunches and the Beavers were beaten badly.

It wouldn't be fair, however, to give Shaw all of the credit. Browning, in his old-time form, held the Northerners to a shutout and gathered two hits for himself, one of them a double, and drove in two of the runs. The Portland crew made six hits, divided evenly in three innings, but after the fourth they could not do a thing with Browning's delivery.

Olson's error started the scoring for the Seals in the second when there were two out. The Portland shortstop booted Williams' grounder and Mohler singled to left. Browning put the ball into center and Williams made the circuit. Shaw followed that rally with a two-bagger and Mohler and Browning scored, three runs being the result.

Portland did almost the same thing in the second. With two down, Rapps was hit and Fisher and Ort singled in succession. A walk, a stolen base and an error by Casey in trying to handle Tennant's grounder scored McArdle in the third.

Steen was unsteady in the fourth and walked three men, but escaped any tallies and it was not until the sixth that the San Francisco delegation once more got into action.

In that inning Vitt fanned and Williams singled to left, stealing a base. Mohler walked and was forced by Browning, but Shaw came to hand with a three-bagger into center that sent in both men ahead of him. The last of the eighth gave the Seals two more runs. Vitt was safe at first because Ort dropped a fly. Williams forced the man ahead of him and Mohler sent one to center. Browning's double scored Williams and Browning, after advancing to third on a single by Shaw, scored on a passed ball charged to Gus Fisher. The score:

SENATORS OFFERED BONUS

Portland Merchant to Give Sacramento $400 if They Beat Oakland.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 20.—Pape was a puzzle to the Oaks today, Sacramento winning 3 to 0. But three scattered hits were taken from the delivery of the ex-Boston Red, while Moser was pounded for eight hits, Danzig lifting the ball over the right field fence in the fifth inning when two men were out.

It was ascertained today that a Portland merchant had offered the Senators $400 to win the series and $200 if the teams split even. Arrellanes was guaranteed a bonus of $100 to win two games. Score:

COACH GROUPS HIS MEN

PULLMAN ELEVEN ASSIGNMENTS STILL MYSTERY.

Giants of Game Playing With Various Squads on Eve of Contest With Idaho.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—With the biggest game of the Washington State College football season one day away, active work on Rogers Field having been in progress since September 28, the make-up of the football team which is to meet Oregon Agricultural College in Portland, October 29, and Multnomah Athletic Club on November 1 in the same city is a problem upon which Coach Osthoff declines to throw much light. The local eleven will meet Idaho University tomorrow.

For instance, big "Jumbo" Hunter, one of the giants of last year's team, this year's captain, and by his past record one of the best players the local gridiron has seen, has put in a good share of his time "subbing" with the second and third brigade. Dyke Galbraith, a fighting end last year, is similarly assigned this year, and Lyle Buck, who is the veteran player on the team of tried merits, has played in all positions in the back field and on all three squads, with neither encouragement nor particular discouragement. Osthoff, however, has his men grouped for the different positions, and from each group will pick the final team to meet the University of Idaho tomorrow and Oregon Agricultural College and Multnomah later.

Jack Foran, Eddie Keinholz and Dyke Galbraith are a trio of kickers who have an average record of about 50 yards. Foran would possibly be preferable for goal kicking. On the ends are: Left, Jack Nelson, Gaddis and Raub; right, Galbraith and Raub. The left tackle group includes Hunter (captain), Laird (last year's center) and Fishback. The guards include Joe Harter, Holmes and Wolfe. At center there are Scott and George Harter. Jack Foran is working at quarter and so is Heintzelman. Among the halfbacks are Schweitzer, Keinholz, Quigley and Ageton. At full, Coulter and Rosenoff seem to be good promises. Roy Schweitzer is working at right end.

Among the old-timers on the squad are Laird, Hunter, Galbraith, Foran, Keinholz, Coulter, Buck and Joe Harter, Pat Crame, a good linesman, is back, but refuses to play.

SEMI-PROS TO HAVE GAME

Rupert's Rubes and Hardware Players to Meet for $100 Side Bet.

Baseball lovers in Portland will have a farewell taste of semi-professional ball next Sunday afternoon, when Rupert's Rubes, of the Tri-City League, and the Columbia Hardware Company's fast independent team, meet on the Vaughn-street grounds to settle the supremacy of the city. The game is for a $100 side bet. Though Rupert's team was not the champion of the Tri-City League, nevertheless, it was one of the best aggregations in it, and as Columbia Hardware Company had one of the fastest semi-professional teams in the state, the teams are well qualified to meet for the championship, aver their respective players and managers.

A number of fans, familiar in local baseball, will be seen in the two nines. Parker, Jameson, Rupert, Briggs, Houston, Brown, Lodell, Shea, Druhot and Turk are some of the men who will play Sunday. Ed Rankin, who has been officiating in the Pacific Coast League the latter part of the past season, will umpire the game. The line-up will be as follows:

Rupert's Rubes.		Columbia Hdw. Co.
Shea	C.	Schultz
Winterbotham.
Druhot	P.	Parker
Lodell	1B.	Jameson
Turk	2B.	Sigsbee

ACADEMY TO MEET COLUMBIA

Portland and University Elevens Will Play Here This Afternoon.

For their annual football game, Portland Academy and Columbia University, the two private preparatory schools represented in the Portland Interscholastic League, will clash on the Vaughn-street gridiron this afternoon. In years past the games between the elevens from these institutions have been the most spirited of the year. They are really fighting for something more than a mere victory in the league; they are battling for the private school championship of the city.

Several years ago, when Portland Academy had bigger players and a larger number to choose from, it triumphed over the boys from the Catholic school. However, for the past few seasons the Columbia boys have been worsting the Presbyterians. The rooters from each school turn out to this game better than to any other during the season. This year will prove no exception to the rule, according to reports.

As is usually the case with a big game, reports are sent out that the teams are crippled. Columbia comes forth with a hard luck tale about having one of its best backfield men, "Tick" Malarkey, out of the game with a broken collar-bone, sustained in a practice contest last Sunday. Kellaher, the punter, has a sore foot which impedes his booting and Fitzgerald is slightly incapacitated with a sprained ankle. The last two men will play in the game today for a while at least.

Coach Jordan, of Portland Academy, is not very optimistic over the outlook for today's game, either. Since last week's overwhelming defeat by Vancouver High School, the boys have been earnestly at practice for the Columbia game and may spring a surprise on the collegians from Peninsula. Portland Academy has one of the best punters of the league in Small at tackle. Ted Edwards, who was hurt in the last game, is back in the lineup again and will be behind the line either at fullback or quarterback.

This will be the second game of the league season for each of the teams. R. N. Hockenberry, formerly of Harvard, and Dudley Clarke, formerly of the University of Oregon, will act as referee and umpire, respectively.

WOMEN WILL PLAY IN EUROPE

Miss Sutton and Miss Hotchkiss Plan Tennis Tour Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—It was news in tennis circles here today that Miss May Sutton and Miss Hazel Hotchkiss are planning a trip to Europe this Winter for the purpose of playing in some of the big tournaments on covered courts of the continent and in England. Miss Hotchkiss is the present American champion at women's singles. She never has been abroad, though more than once it has been reported that she intended to try for the women's singles at Wimbledon.

Miss Sutton is ex-American and ex-English champion and is remarkable as the only American to score at Wimbledon. When she played in England a few years ago, she created a great sensation and showed that she was in a class by herself. If these two California girls make the journey some excellent play is promised, as England now boasts of an excellent player in Mrs. Lambert Chambers. This season, she went through the tournaments without a single defeat.

PHEASANT LAW EXPLAINED

"Sportsman" Must Send Home First Bag or Be Liable to Arrest.

To the Sporting Editor:

Is it legal for a hunter to bring back ten (10) Chinese pheasants if he has been out hunting two days?—Sportsman.

Answer—The game law plainly states that it is illegal for any hunter to kill or have in possession more than five male pheasants on any one day during the season when these birds may be killed. This means that each hunter who kills five birds in one day, if he desires to shoot two successive days, must ship his first day's bag to his home, or be liable to arrest for having more than five birds in his possession. The law also provides that a hunter may not shoot more than ten birds in one week.

HILL ELEVEN TO PLAY QUEEN ANNE

Academy Team Practices Hard for Game With Seattle Lads.

STRONG ELEVEN IS COMING

Visitors From Puget Sound Average in Weight 155 Pounds to Man and Recently Defeated Bellingham Normal 20 to 0.

The time set for the big annual game between the Hill Cadets and Queen Anne High School of Seattle is rapidly approaching and consequently football enthusiasm is at fever-heat at the Military Academy. The rooters have been organized and are practicing daily new yells with which to cheer their team to victory on Saturday afternoon.

The team is working harder than ever and is rapidly rounding into form. The task of selecting a football team that can hold its own with the powerful elevens from the big Puget Sound high schools, out of a total number of 30 cadets or less who are big and husky enough to make the first eleven, is no easy task and Coach Clark has had his share of troubles and worries. However, the intense loyalty and the fighting spirit, that in the past six years has won for Hill Military Academy many a football battle against heavy odds, is again strongly in evidence this season, and the cadets are grimly determined to do or die on Saturday afternoon. Captain Paul Shearer, the heavy and powerful tackle, is a tower of strength, and is ably seconded by Studley on the other side of the line. Moran and St. Martin, the guards, are husky and aggressive players. Prestor Shearer at center has his 198 pounds in every play, while Perham and Luptor are showing up well at end. Thompson at quarterback and Smith at halfback are showing marked improvement over past performances, though injuries may keep the latter out of the game. Stiles, at halfback, has been playing a star game all season, and Fullback Ramsy, the hero of the game with P. U., one of the best tacklers and line buckers on the team, has shown excellent form in punting and place-kicking.

Queen Anne High School is sending to Portland an eleven that is a dangerous foeman for any team to meet on the gridiron. The team averages over 155 pounds to the man, is extremely fast and has just added to its string of successes a decisive victory over Bellingham Normal School by a score of 20 to 0. Captain Cook, the mainstay of the Seattle team, was second choice for All Northwest interscholastic tackle last Fall, and in Bryant and Cunningham, Queen Anne has a pair of punters and place-kickers that will bring the fans to their feet.

Both elevens are well coached in the intricacies of the new game, and the contest on the Vaughn street field Saturday afternoon will be replete with brilliant forward passes, "foxy" formation plays and good punting and place kicks.

After the game the members of the Queen Anne team will be entertained at a football banquet at the Academy, followed by a dance to be given in honor of the visitors.

BIG JUNIORS FAIL TO SCORE

Lincoln High Sophomores Play Older Players to Standstill.

In a football game full of spirited playing and some good plays, the sophomore and junior teams of the Lincoln High School battled to a no-score tie yesterday afternoon on Multnomah field. The game is considered a victory for the sophomore team, for the junior team was really the Lincoln second team. Huntington and Schultze for the sophomore team and Reinhald, Dooley and Risley for the junior eleven, were the star players of the game. The lineup:

Juniors.	Position.	Sophomores.
Risley	C.	Gloss, Case
Reinhald	LG.	Linklater

Shiffer	LT.	Beach, Schultz
Peterson	RT.	Moulton

BERRY MAY KEEP HALLINAN

Manager of Los Angeles Team Closes Deal With St. Louis.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—It is rumored that Hen Berry has closed a deal with the St. Louis Browns whereby he will be permitted to keep Hallinan another year. Just what sort of an arrangement was made cannot be ascertained, but it probably was conditioned upon first call for the Browns upon any of the other Angels next year.

Hallinan is a classy player, but in justice to himself he should stay in this league another year for the experience and development he will get. He hardly is good enough for the big brush right now, but another year will make him cheery.

How the Sealshipt Oyster System Insures Oysters at their Best

Through a perfect organization—the Sealshipt System—Sealshipt oysters are shipped straight to us from Atlantic Coast and Gulf beds. Every mile of the journey under refrigeration—every mile under seal. And the seal which is put on at the seaside is broken only when the shipment reaches our stores.

The Sealshipt System as perfected today provides safety and satisfaction in oyster buying never known before. So truly protective is it that the United States Government has recently enacted an oyster law based in effect on the Sealshipt System of handling oysters.

The Sealshipt System safeguards the growing, the packing, the shipping and selling of oysters. Besides being under the supervision of State and Federal Government, the waters where Sealshipt Oysters are grown are analyzed by the Lederle Laboratories—the famous food experts.

Thus Sealshipt Oysters are protected at every move from oyster beds to you.

Sealshipt Oysters

Packed in the Prime of Their Freshness

The plants of the Sealshipt Oyster System are directly on the oyster beds. So the oysters are packed the day they are dredged. They are packed just as you get them from us—fresh and delicious—with the tang and zest of the sea.

Sealshipt Oysters are shipped in patented, air-tight Sealshiptors—perfect shipping refrigerators—which keep the oysters at a uniform degree of coldness in transit.

Sealshipt Oysters are all solid oyster meat—no water, no waste—hence their vast economy.

The Sealshipt price is the standard of oyster value. When you pay less, you get less.

You can obtain Sealshipt Oysters from your dealer.
