

"TAIL END" AVERS ITS INDEPENDENCE

St. Johns Democratic Revolt to Be Renewed Tonight at Sunnyside.

VAN DUZER IS INDORSED

Messages of Encouragement Pour in on Candidates Who Protest One-Man Rule—Party Divided Over Chamberlain.

Encouraged by expressions of commendation on the part of prominent members of the party, which were more than sufficient to offset the outbursts of condemnation, H. B. Van Duzer, who Wednesday night at St. Johns declared his independence of the "tail-end" of the Democratic ticket of the Chamberlain-Bourne-West machine, announced yesterday that there will be another and more pyrotechnic display of revolt at the meeting to be held tonight in Hunter's Hall, East Thirty-fourth and East Yamhill streets, Sunnyside.

Prominent Democrats yesterday endorsed Mr. Van Duzer's stand with only few dissenting voices. In some instances he was roundly criticized and berated for his audacity in "daring to take exception to the actions of the 'big moguls' of the party, but for the most part he received messages of encouragement. Many told him that he had expressed their sentiments almost literally, and that the Democrats are divided into two wings, Chamberlain and anti-Chamberlain, with the anti-Chamberlain faction strongly in the majority, at least so far as prominent members and actual workers are concerned.

Movement Not Weakening.

In line with his statement at St. Johns, Mr. Van Duzer last night made the following declaration, principally to show that he has not been "bluffed out" by the "machine" pressure brought to bear on him yesterday:

"We have taken our stand firmly against this one-man domination of the party and we have no intention of weakening. For years we have labored loyally to promote the best interests of the party, and have now awakened to the fact that the only result of our efforts was the elevation of a party machine to the position of a dictatorship. I was put on the Democratic ticket against my will and would have withdrawn had I not learned that the powers that be in the party had decided that we were to retire gracefully and announce that we had sacrificed ourselves to the interests of the party. It was all nicely planned in advance, but for one refusal to allow any party boss to dictate to me whether or not I shall run for office."

Chamberlain Called Ingrate.

Frank T. Berry, another Democratic candidate for the Legislature from Multnomah County, was not so particular about his phrasology. He bluntly accused Chamberlain of being an ingrate in the following words:

"George E. Chamberlain owes all he is politically to the Democratic party of the State of Oregon. It is unfortunate, now that he has arrived at the dignity of a United States Senator, that he should see fit to turn to convert the party into a personal machine. I unqualifiedly endorse Mr. Van Duzer's utterances. I believe with him that the men who have labored to put Chamberlain where he is are entitled to his hearty and wholehearted support, when they themselves aspire to office. The cry that Democrats cannot be elected in this state is no excuse for the conduct of the party leaders for years we have seen the party gradually weakening in the state because no attempt has been made for success all along the line."

"Smaller Fry" Have Rights.

"I believe that every Democrat should support the ticket from top to bottom, should, in fact, take off his coat, preach the Jeffersonian doctrine and work for general party success," said E. V. Steg, another candidate for the lower House at Salem. "It is all right to work for the election of the head of the ticket, but the smaller fry should be allowed to become lost in the shuffle."

John Gruss, who is also seeking election to the Legislature on the Democratic ticket, said:

"I have made no attempt to make an active campaign, realizing that our lack of organization precluded the possibility of success. It is the duty of the head of the tail-end of the ticket to be deserted in the interests of one man."

George H. Thomas, chairman of the Democratic county committee, in working tooth and nail for the success of the party's Multnomah County candidates for the Legislature. He has not bolted the ticket, so far as his head is concerned, but the failure of the party to get in Oregon State Democracy to give him some assistance in his single-handed fight, had caused him to reflect bitterly and dream about his lost opportunities.

All Entitled to Support.

"The men who are running for the Legislature on the Democratic ticket in this county are entitled to my support," said Robert A. Miller, who four years ago was a candidate for Attorney General on the same ticket with George E. Chamberlain, is inclined to deplore the outburst of Van Duzer, fearing that it will result in discord. The disaffectionists come back with the answer that he was the "best man in the state" when he was left "out in the cold" by Chamberlain four years ago.

"I am a Democrat of the old school," said Robert A. Miller, "and I believe in supporting the whole ticket from top to bottom. I am afraid, however, that Mr. Van Duzer's statements have placed Chamberlain and West in a false light. The move was ill-advised and can result in no good to the Democratic party."

My feeling is that Van Duzer is right," said E. M. Watson, another aspirant for the Legislature. "We have been humiliated by this one-man game for years. I have been a member of the Legislature since and merely accepted the nomination this time in the hope that I would be of some assistance in building up the party. I thought that we would receive some help from the men higher up but have made no attempt to make an active campaign, realizing the futility of it, since it became apparent that that hope is a delusion."

LEADERS COMING TO BANQUET

Large Attendance of Republicans Is Promised for Saturday.

There is every indication of a good attendance of Republicans from all parts of the state at the banquet under the auspices of the Portland Republican Club, which will be served at the Portland Social Club at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Prominent among the resident and out-of-town Republicans who have responded to the invitation to attend the banquet are: Stephen A. Lowell, of Pendleton; Judge Dimick, of Oregon City; Colonel James S. Saltonstall, of Astoria; George Ham, Henry E. McGinn, Dan J. Maloney, Dr. Emmet Drake, George S. Shepherd and County Judge Cleaton.

The committee on arrangements yesterday received the regrets of Acting Governor Bowerman, who will not be able to attend the dinner. The itinerary, arranged for Mr. Bowerman two weeks ago, includes a big rally at Corvallis Saturday night, making it impossible for him to be in Portland on the occasion of the banquet.

CLELAND BECOMES CANDIDATE

Judge Will Ask Re-election on Non-Political Judiciary Ticket.

John P. Cleland, now presiding judge of the Circuit Court, announced yesterday that he will be a candidate for re-election. He will run upon the non-political judiciary ticket.

Judge Cleland has been on the bench 12 years. He says that he does not intend to seek votes by holding meetings, but asks the voters to look closely upon his record for justice while on the bench, and be guided thereby. "I accepted the non-political nomination before the primaries, and believe that those who know the facts surrounding the recent campaign will support me on November 5."

Headquarters have been established in the Railway Exchange building and the campaign for the re-election of Judge Cleland is being managed by a committee of five men. W. R. Glaske, H. B. Rogers, William F. Woodward, Dr. J. R. Wetherbee and Charles Smith.

PRECINCTS WELL ORGANIZED

Secretary Apperson Working to Get Out Full County Vote.

W. R. Apperson, secretary of the Multnomah County Republican Central Committee, is organizing the precinct committees, preliminary to waging an aggressive fight in this county for the success of the Republican ticket.

"Every night this week he has held conferences with groups of committeemen from different sections of the city and county, with the result that an active working force among the Republicans has been provided for every precinct in the county."

The purpose of this work of organization is to arouse some enthusiasm among Republican voters and get out as big a vote as possible in support of the party's nominees.

LICENSE PLAN UPHOLD

SIDNEY STORY SHOWS FAILURE OF PROHIBITION.

In an address delivered at Arion Hall last night on "Prohibition is Not Temperance," and the auspices of the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association, Sidney Story argued that the system of regulating the liquor business under the model license laws of Louisiana, which state, he said, had profited by the experience of other states and had handled the liquor question by a system of close regulation.

Mr. Story said the dry counties of Oregon were dry in theory only and cited the experience of Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala., to show the failure of prohibition in contrast to the experience of Denver. He continued:

"You cannot legislate a man into sobriety and you cannot legislate morality by moral suasion. You must begin with the child at its mother's knee."

"The local option law is one of the criminal laws of the State of Oregon and the obstacle which is proposed to be overcome by the home-rule amendment. A reading of the home-rule amendment clearly shows that the exclusive power given to municipalities thereby to make laws, and to amend, repeal or criminal laws of the state," writes E. L. Eddy, an attorney of Roseburg, Or., in a letter to The Oregonian.

Mr. Eddy expresses the belief that the Greater Oregon Home-Rule Association is deliberately trying to deceive the voters of the state, basing his belief on the reading of the proposed home-rule amendment to article 4 of the Constitution and the literature which he says is being sent out by the association. Article 11 will, he says, read as follows when amended:

"The Legislative Assembly shall not enact, amend or repeal any charter or act of incorporation of any municipality, city or town, or any act which every city and town are hereby granted power to enact and amend their municipal charter, subject to the Constitution and criminal laws of the State of Oregon, and the exclusive power to license, regulate and control or to suppress or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors therein vested in such municipality, and such municipality shall within its limits be subject to the local option law of the State of Oregon."

Mr. Eddy says the following is quoted from the home-rule literature being distributed over the state:

"The home-rule bill seeks to amend the Constitution, giving to each municipality the right to make laws, and as regards the sale or prohibition of liquor, subject to the Constitution and criminal laws of the State of Oregon."

"I take this to be a false statement, because, if this power is given to every city and town, the laws of the state, it must be exercised in subordination to the local option law, and the sole object of the home-rule amendment and to get rid of the local option law so far as it permits the voters outside of municipalities to vote upon prohibition. This seems to be a deliberate attempt to deceive the voters of the state."

D. Solis Cohen, a member of the law firm of Bernstein & Cohen, said yesterday when asked for a legal opinion on the question:

"The state is the sovereign power. Laws passed by the state would take precedence over any legislation passed by the city regarding the sale of liquor. The city would have the right to license, regulate and control, but such regulation and control must be in conformity with the laws of the state. I am merely quoting an opinion of counsel, but I feel certain

DARROW HARMS ROSEBURG HARBOR

Speaker's Address "Prohibition Against Liberty," Evokes Applause.

ANTI-YOUTHS AT DOORS

Lecturer Scores League for Distribution of Its Literature at Hall Entrance — "Search Warrant" Bill Denounced.

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Clarence Darrow, the noted Chicago lawyer, stirred the citizens of Roseburg and Douglas County tonight as they have not been for years, when he delivered his famous lecture "Prohibition versus Liberty." Mr. Darrow appeared at the Armory under the auspices of the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association.

From every corner of Douglas County people came to the city to listen to the noted lecturer. At times the applause compelled him to remain silent for several minutes.

Members of the Anti-Saloon League had employed several boys to stand in front of the Armory and hand out Prohibition literature. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Darrow took a few sharp shots at the practice and those who prompted the move.

Dismissing somewhat from his regular lecture, Mr. Darrow pointed out the objects of the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association and explained the true meaning of the bill on which the voters of the state will be called on to ballot at the November election. He pointed out the injustice of the clause in the state prohibition bill covering "search warrants" and told of how in the event of its passage the wages of the police and the homes searched and looted without regard for their wives or children. He said that it was through such means that the prohibitionists hoped to enact reforms.

The meeting was particularly notable on account of the large representation of laboring men. A band concert preceded the lecture. From Roseburg Mr. Darrow will proceed to Eugene.

WOMAN CHALLENGES DARROW

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia, Wants Prohibition Debate.

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, is the last speaker of the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association to receive a challenge to debate the prohibition question. The challenge was made by J. P. Newell, of the Prohibitionists, on behalf of Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia. Mr. Newell's letter reads:

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia, will deliver a lecture at the Armory on Sunday, October 23, at 3 P. M., in favor of Prohibition.

We would be very glad to have her address the question with you, at that meeting. If you do not feel disposed to accept the question with her, we would be pleased to have you present in the audience, and hear what this wonderful woman, from Georgia, has to say upon this question.

Mr. Darrow replied:

Your kind letter inviting me to hear Mrs. Armor is received. I am leaving Oregon Sunday evening, and for that reason will not be able to accept the challenge.

If I were to debate with Mrs. Armor, but I would certainly be glad to attend and hear her speak, and I am sure that she will have a good audience, as no doubt she will, the important thing is that in all these questions, it is full and free discussion.

DECEPTION IS CHARGED

HOME RULE LITERATURE MISLEADING, SAYS E. L. EDDY.

D. Solis Cohen Denies, However, That City Would Have Right to Disregard State Law.

"The Local Option law is one of the criminal laws of the State of Oregon and the obstacle which is proposed to be overcome by the home-rule amendment. NEED LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Brookfield, Mo.—"Two years ago I was unable to do any kind of work and only weighed 118 pounds. My trouble dates back to the time that women may expect nature to bring on them the Change of Life. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel much better, and I have continued its use. I am very grateful to you for the good health it has given me."

—Mrs. SARAH LOUISIGNON, 414 S. Livingston Street, Brookfield, Mo.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ill—inflammation, irritation, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

that any Supreme Court in the United States would decide that the proposed addition to article 4 of the Constitution of the Greater Oregon Home-Rule Association grants the municipality no power other than the right to have only its own voters decide whether or not liquor shall be sold. It does not mean that the city would have the right to disregard state legislation touching on the sale of liquor or any other criminal statutes of the state."

WHEAT SAMPLES READY

OREGON GRAIN TO BE SENT TO MARKET CENTERS.

Chamber of Commerce Prepares 11,200 Pounds in Packages, Showing Grades.

It will take just 11,200 pounds of wheat to distribute among the leading grain dealers of the Pacific Northwest, and the grain standards established by the Portland Chamber of Commerce for the 1910 crop.

The two varieties grown in the Pacific Northwest for export trade are the White Walla Walla and Blue Stem wheats, and every carload or shipload, carrying from Portland a part of the 97,000 bushels of the annual output, must be subjected to rigid inspection and come up to the standard set by the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

Samples are now being prepared for distribution among the dealers and it is expected that shipments will be made to the various foreign market centers in a few days. Samples of the two grades will be sent this week to the London Corn Trade Association and the Liverpool Corn Trade Association, the two organizations of the world's grain buyers.

"It is an important matter to Portland to see that the grades we establish are correct," said Secretary Giltner of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. "The volume of the wheat export business from this port depends largely on the methods we follow and the standards we set. We are anxious to see that our grades to the leading buying centers in order to build up the export business for Portland. It is necessary for us to see that the cargoes of wheat are uniform in grade and quality to the grade and quality of our samples."

In order to back up our guarantee to outside buyers, we cause every shipment of wheat from Portland to be thoroughly inspected. We not only maintain an inspection force in Portland but also on Puget Sound. The methods followed by the Portland Chamber of Commerce have been instrumental, in a great degree, in making Portland one of the largest grain exporting ports in the world."

ROAD OFFICIAL TO ATTEND

F. W. Robinson Will Meet Farmers to Discuss Wheat Rates East.

Frank W. Robinson, general freight agent of the O. R. & N., left last night for Walla Walla to be in attendance today at the conference of railroad officials and representatives of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union.

Mr. Robinson has been invited by the O. R. & N. officials here as to the definite nature of the meeting, further than to discuss freight rates on wheat to the East.

In the communication from H. H. McLean, president of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, no reference was made as to whether the farmers desired to have special rates from the railroads," said Mr. Robinson.

"Of course, if they expect the railroads to reduce rates East so that they could compete with the growers living in the Middle West, their demands would be entirely out of reason. It would seem that nothing is to be done in that regard at the present time. The East must be dependent upon the Pacific Coast for wheat before the product can be shipped East with profit to the growers. The matter of freight rates will then adjust itself accordingly."
