OWNERS WILL MEET.-A PROPERTY OWNERS WILL MEET.—A meeting of the property owners on Powell street, between Milwaukie and East Twenty-first, will be called in a few days in the hall at Powell and Milwaukie streets to consider the widening of Powell street. A. C. Kautz, who has interested himself in the proposed high bridge on Ellaworth street said yesterday that the whole bridge project depends on what provisions were made for the control of th in East Side atreet that will extend from the river eastward and not wind it. "We cannot expect that the bridge be located on an alley," declared Mr. itz. "The property owners on Powell street are willing to widen that street provided they have assurance that it will be continued direct to the river and that the bridge be eracted. It is my judgment that if we can get the written assurance that the property owners will widen Powell to 60 feet it will help to induce the Council to go ahead and prepare plans and estimates for the bridge. So we will send notices to all property owners of this meeting." City Auditor Barbur has prepared a full list of propowners on Powell interested in the

Douglas Belts Is Accused of Land Conspiracy.

TWO WOMEN ARE IN DEAL

Government Will Not Prosecute Criminally, but Will Attempt Recovery of Homestead Pendleton.

Douglas Belts, an old-time sheep wner in the vicinity of Pendleton. was esterday accused of conspiracy in the United States Court. His co-defendants are Oilie Abel and Sarah E. Wilson. With those women Mr. Belts is accused of having attempted to negotiate a scheme by which the United States was to have been defrauded of certain grazing lands amounting to 330 acres.

It is admitted that no criminal prosecution will be instituted, but the Government will attempt to recover the property because of certain alleged false representations made in completing the final proofs. The women are accused of having testified that they located on the lands and after estab-lishing homes cultivated certain amounts of from 20 to 30 acres, when in truth and fact they were never on the lands or reclaimed any portion of

The United States Attorney points out that Belts was a friend of the women and, recognizing that the hometeaders were crowding in on his sheep asture, induced them to take up laims which were to be later sold to him. And it is also said that Belts furnished all of the money used in the payment of the land office charges for he entries, final proofs and patents. Taking the women to La Grands, Mr. Belts is accused of entertaining them at the hotel of the place and of inducing the land office officials to accept the entries as being in good faith.

PETTY OFFENDERS INDICTED

Federal Grand Jury Fails to Report on Bank Cases.

The United States grand jury rendered its first report yesterday afternoon and, contrary to expectations, submitted a number of indictments of petty offenders rather than the bank wreckers of Southern Oregon, on whose cases they have spent the greater part of the past week. An indictment of the efficers of the old-Bank of Vale may be expected at any time. The corridors of the Federal building have been crowded all the week with Vale citizens, who are supposed to have knowledge of some of the transactions. Bishop B. McCarter was the first man named as having violated the Federal statutes. He is charged with rifling registered letters in order to indulge his passion for music. McCarter, who was s railway mail clerk, was arrested at the a fallway mail clerk, was arrested at the Hotel Eaton in May, where he was dining a couple of lady friends in his room. Gambling Renewed in Violation of Agreement With Police.

After almost two weeks of closed gambling games in Chinatown, the lid has begun to tilt a little, small fry test-ing the stringency of the regulation with little penny-ante games, as a preliminary to reopening on the part of the big fellows, it is said. One game was raided Thursday night by Patrolman Klingel and three Chinese were found playing, with money on the table. The game was discovered at 93 Second street, where George Wah. Oh Louie and Yuen Huey were en-gaged. The gambiers were secreted in as closed room at the back of a tea store. When Klingel entered they made a frantic effort to conceal the stakes, and the officer succeeded in capturing only 40 cents, besides a quantity of dominoes, dice and beans.

Hearing went over.

Police officers have been skeptical of the good faith of the Chinese gamblers in their announcement that they would comply with the order of the Chief of Police and close their games. #### "Watch Tacoma Grow!"

It seems that of the cities of the Northwest. Portland and Spokane are alone willing to have a fair count for the census. Well, they are prosperous cities and need no padding. Portland may not have as many people as some claimed, but whether over or under 200,000 makes little difference. We know the city is growing, expanding as never before. Take our Irvington Park property, which was considered pretty well out a very short time ago—now it is close in and soon, before we realize it, the city will be built solid to and beyond it. At $475 per lot it is the best buy now in the market.

An order was read to the reliefs yesterday, calling attention to a report that a party of gambiers, recently run out of Seattle, have taken up their residence in this city. Chief Cox instructed all officers to be on the alert to arrest these men, either in the ac of gambling or as vagrants.

SOUTHERN IDAHO GROWING

C. C. Chapman Says Portland Car Secure Its Trade

Southern Idaho is growing rapidly and with the millions of acres of land being reclaimed and settled on by Easterners, the Panhandle State will develop a great market for Portland," said C. C. Chapman, manager of the publicity committee of the Portland commercial Club, who returned yester day from a four days' trip into Idaho. "At present Salt Lake City is getting a large part of the Southern Idaho trade. The people there, however, feel kindly disposed towards Portland, and I believe that practically all the whole sale and shipping business can be se-cured by Portland if our business men put forth efforts in that direction.

"Idaho people believe that they will be greatly benefited by the Panama Canal. They realize that in future the bulk of their products must find a market on the Pacific Coast and in the
