NOB HILL HOMES SELL

DEALER REPORTS TRANSFERS AGGREGATING $54,000.

Influx of Easterners Brings Big Demand for Medium-Priced Houses.

Donald Macleod, real estate dealer, reports the sale of considerable property in Goldsmith's Addition, in the residence district of the West Side, at 819 Johnson street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, A. E. Charney, attorney in the Chamber of Commerce, bought the 12-room home of James R. McCracken, paying $15,000. This stands on a lot 40 by 100 feet on one of the best residence streets in that district.

H. D. Townsend, assistant counsel representing the United States Attorney-General in the prosecution of the bandit grant cases, has bought the eight-room house at 221 Twenty-fourth street, in the same part of the city from W. F. G. Thatcher. This stands on a lot 50 by 100 feet midway between Lovejoy and Marshall streets and brought $9500. Mr. Townsend has only recently come here from the East to make his home and will remodel this house.

Joseph E. Forester paid $9000 last week for the seven-room house at 221 Twenty-fourth street owned by Mrs. John Catlin. This stands on a 50 by 100 lot between Marshall and Northrup streets. Mr. Macleod reports an unusually brisk demand for houses in this part of Portland, and says other deals of still greater magnitude are pending but have not yet been closed. He attributes this to the great influx of people from the East seeking medium-priced homes part of this demand, but says also that the natural growth of the city in this direction has much to do with the activity.

CHURCH CONFERENCE NEAR

Prominent Men to Address Congregationalists of Oregon.

Commencing Wednesday afternoon, October 26, the Oregon State Conference of Congregational Churches will hold its annual meeting at Pilgrim Congregational Church. The sessions will continue for three days. It is expected that over 100 delegates will be present.

Among the prominent speakers will be William H. Lewis, of Seattle, National president of Congregational Brotherhood; Rev. H. Melville Tenny, D. D., of San Francisco; Rev. H. H. Wilsoff, of Oakland; Rev. George W. Hinman, of Seattle; Rev. W. W. McArthur, of Denver, and some leading pastors and laymen of the Oregon field.

The following subjects will be taken up: "Gospel Healing in the Churches," "Gains and Losses in Critical Study of the Bible," "Training Oregon's Ministry," "Systematic Benevolences," and "The Church and the Young Man."

A concert will be given by the faculty and students of the Pacific University on Thursday evening. The fellowship meeting will be held on Friday morning, and will be addressed by Dr. H. H. Benson, Foulkes, Reager and Young.

On Friday evening the men's rally will be held, which will be in charge of the Brotherhood president, Mr. Lewis.

Increase in the number of automobiles in New York is not bringing down the price of horses. The average price for a horse is $110 and mules cost $14 more.

It is the duty of every citizen of Portland to patronize, encourage and stand by the Portland man, Frank L. Smith, who is "Fighting the Chicago Beef Trust." It shows what the Beef Trust is, when they import a man of
