GAZE IS ON OREGON

English and Irish Interested, Says Erwin.

THIS SECTION IS BOOSTED

Representative of O. R. & N. Has Talked and Shown Pictures of Pacific Northwest to Many Peoples in Seven Years.

"People in England and Ireland are more interested in Oregon and the Northwest than they are in their own colonies," says J. W. Erwin, official lecturer of the O. R. & N. Company, who arrived in Portland yesterday after an absence from the city of nearly seven years, most of which time was spent in telling the people of the other states and foreign countries of the wonders of this section of the world.

In his tour of England Mr. Erwin delivered 476 half-hour talks in Earl's Court, and on no occasion was he able to accommodate the crowds. He visited all the important cities and many obscure places and turned people away from the hall in nearly every instance. On some rainy evenings, when the Britishers ordinarily remained indoors, he packed his lecture room. He makes all-levance, however, for the fact that admission to the lectures was free.

People Ask Questions.

"Following my lectures," said Mr. Erwin, "people would crowd around my platform and ask questions about Oregon. In the brief time that I had I explained the best that I could and encouraged them to come to the state and live. I distributed literature of the various districts and always aimed to give information suited to the industry to which my patrons were accustomed. For instance, if a man told me he was only interested in the produce of the state, I directed his attention to those sections that produce fruit, and if he was interested in livestock, I told him about the great grazing districts."

"But most of my personal inquiries came from men and women who were working for wages in the factories or mills, and who desired to come to America to engage in agriculture."

Literature in Demand.

"Of the tons and tons of pamphlets and literature that I took with me I distributed every piece. The people were so eager to obtain the booklets that I had to lock them up and give out only limited numbers at each place, for fear that my supply would be depleted. In England they had never heard of such methods of community advertising as those practiced by the enterprising towns of Oregon, Washington and other states in the Northwest."

Mr. Erwin found a like interest in Oregon affairs among the people of the New England and other Eastern states through which he traveled. His directions sent many people to the Coast.

In Los Angeles last week, he reports, he met a party of tourists who first became interested in this country by listening to one of his lectures in London. He directed them to come to the Coast, and they are now viewing the country with the object of ultimately seeking a permanent location. They will probably locate in Oregon.

Lectures Are Illustrated.

The lectures which Mr. Erwin gives are illustrated with moving pictures of Oregon industries. In fact, he says, the moving-pictures might be said to be explained by his lectures. He has 20,000 feet of films made from scenes in orchards of the Hood River district, the salmon fisheries on the Columbia and the Rose Festival in Portland. They are actual stereoscopic views, the same as those exhibited in the moving-picture shows, and not lantern slides made from photographs. He constantly renews his films with late pictures.

Mr. Erwin will remain in Portland a few days, after which he will start on a tour of the Eastern United States. Tonight he will give his illustrated lecture, "Oregon and the Golden West," at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Third and Taylor streets, and tomorrow night he will repeat it at the White Temple, Twelfth and Taylor streets. Admission will be free.

LOCAL FIR DECKS GIANT

ORDER PLACED HERE FOR WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIP.

Vessel Now Building at Stettin, Capacity 5000 Passengers, Gets Oregon Timber.

Decks of the world's largest vessel, the keel of which has been laid at Stettin and which will be operated across the Atlantic by the Hamburg-American line, will be composed of Oregon fir. To provide the necessary material 2,000,000 feet has been purchased and it will be dispatched to Hamburg on the German ship Omega, which crossed into the Columbia River yesterday after a voyage of 25 days from San Diego.

The Pacific Export Lumber Company has sold the cargo. For months the lumber has been drying here, as it was contracted for under special specifications that call for clear, vertical-grain stuff. The Portland Lumber Company and North Pacific Lumber Company have the order, and it is possible the vessel will take on a small lot at a third mill.

The new liner is to have a speed of 22 knots and be of 45,000 tons gross register. Her length will be 350 feet, beam 36 feet and depth of hold 54 feet, with accommodations for 5000 passengers. The Omega is in ballast, and after discharging at Linton will proceed at once to a loading berth.

TWO ACRES PRODUCE $900

Walla Walla Gardener Gets 60,000-Pound Crop of Cabbage.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—Two acres of cabbage, grown by Jim Will, a gardener near the city, this year, yielded a 60,000-pound crop. This was sold at the prevailing price, $1.50 a hundred, bringing him $900 an acre for his vegetable.

Owing to the good crops of cabbage raised here, and the always ready market, the gardeners of this vicinity are preparing to plant a doubled acreage of cabbage here next year. Nearly always sure of a big price and always of a big crop, cabbage is one of the surest money makers in truck gardening in this vicinity.

ISLANDS NEED MONEY

DEVELOPMENT IN PHILIPPINES RETARDED, DR. COE SAYS.

Country Offers Many Opportunities for American Investment, Is His Opinion.

American capital is needed in the Philippines to develop the unlimited resources of the island possessions, according to Dr. Henry W. Coe, who returned yesterday after an extended trip to the Orient.

Dr. Coe says that the hemp industry in the Philippines has grown wonderfully during the past few years with the result that Manila is the world's market for the product. The rice and cotton and hardwood lumber industries are being developed more slowly, said Dr. Coe, on account of the lack of money. In these industries Dr. Coe believes there are excellent opportunities for Americans.

"I visited the principal cities in Japan and made prolonged stays at Shanghai and Hongkong," said Dr. Coe, "and in these matters of interest at these places. Shanghai, situated on the Yang Tsi River, has the same relative position as Portland in regard to the outlet to the sea. The people of Shanghai seem to be wide-awake and are outdoing Hongkong, with its deep-sea harbor."

Dr. Coe was met at Honolulu by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Olds, of Portland, and they made the trip together from that point. In Manila they were entertained by Major Phil Eastwick, formerly of Portland. Mr. Eastwick is at the head of a large banking corporation at Manila.

Relative to the affairs of the large irrigation project at Honolulu, in which Dr. Coe is interested, he said that there is no serious obstacle in the way for adjusting matters of the company. He said that the financial affairs of the company were getting along satisfactorily.

Dr. Coe is of the belief that there are no grounds for the investigation of the management of the Crystal Springs Sanitarium, which he says the affairs of the sanitarium will be straightened out in a short time.

MR. MUNLY REPLIES

Makes a Few Caustic Remarks About Mr. Henry.

PORTLAND, Oct. 31.—(To the Editor.)—Mr. Henry takes occasion in a page advertisement in Sunday's Oregonian to refer to myself as one who does not pay taxes. This is one of a number of similar attacks appearing in the same effect. Presumably Mr. Henry's purpose is to persuade the public that I have nothing to do with the State of Oregon, and for nearly 20 years I have been a taxpayer and have been on the tax list. Mr. Henry's statements are entirely untrue. The property holdings of myself and my wife in this county and in the county of Clackamas aggregate many thousands of dollars.

I am interested financially in a productive industry operated in Alaska that annually swells the bank clearances of our city to the extent of about $400,000. Of this sum there is paid out in salaries and for supplies labor and other items, ever $200,000. All of this money is brought here and remains here as an addition to the city. If there was a line of steamers from Portland to Alaska water shipments would be made to this city by shipping headquarters instead of Seattle. By such a line the amount of approximately 350 carloads of railroad and water shipments every year would be added to the summer of Portland.

I have lived in this city for nearly 25 years. I have never been out of town for a moment. I think my neighbors and fellow-citizens believe that I have acquitted myself in every capacity, public and private. I pay my debts and owe no man anything that I cannot pay. I am not afraid of comparisons with the members of the Port of Portland, or any body of representative citizens in our community. I hope I will be pardoned this brief statement in the history of Mr. Henry as to who I am.

Now, who is Mr. Henry? Up until a very recent date he had very little. Has he ever added a dollar to the wealth of the city? And speaking of this, Mr. Henry rich, and his wealth has putted him up and made him arrogant. He tries to show as a public-spirited citizen, but he is on record as opposing every kind of public improvement which does not immediately benefit the schemes of himself and his friends. He opposes the Broadway bridge; he opposes the opening of Oak street; he opposed a recent important street improvement in North Portland.

About the time when the Irvington district inaugurated its hard-surface pavements he installed a cheap macadam pavement in an adjoining addition.

His talk about taxes and his apparent solicitude for the harbor are a sham pretense to hide his sordid and contemptible motives that actuate himself and his undisciplined principals in their opposition to the bond election and approved by the people in the manner in which the Broadway bridge project was carried out is a fair tale, of a piece with the recent dynamite plot to blow him up. And speaking of this, there are any difference between the dynamiter and the assassin of character?

There has been no public improvement ever undertaken in this city which has been more thoroughly discussed or carefully considered than the Broadway bridge project, and none which meets such general approval. It was submitted to and approved by the taxpayers' League prior to the bond election, and approved by the people by a large majority at the election.

There is no improvement project which is so sorely needed by the people. The opposition set up by Mr. Henry and his conspirators against the will of the people in this matter is scandalous and outrageous, and the people are going to rise up and put an end to it by all legal means in their power. TWO-STATE EXHIBIT OFF

OREGON AND WASHINGTON TO SHOW AT CHICAGO.

Train Bearing Fruit in Its Natural State to Leave This Morning. Collection Is Stellar.

A carload of Oregon and Washington farm and orchard products will be dispatched over the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company line this morning for Chicago to be exhibited at the United States Land and Irrigation Show to be held in the Coliseum from November 15 to November 24.

Railroad officials and fruitgrowers have been busy for the last few months collecting samples for this display, and while they did not aim to secure unusual products to present an unfair exhibit, they sought to gather the best specimens in each of the various lines of industry represented in the state.

All the fruit will be shown in its natural state and not in processed form and under seal as heretofore. It is believed that in this way visitors to the show will obtain a better idea of the Oregon crops than if they looked at them through glass jars.

A display in which the local exhibitors are taking especial pride is the collection of grapes sent from the Dalles. The grapes are packed in cork dust, according to the Spanish style, and hang in clusters so large that they are almost as large as the heads of New York growers not only envious but covetous.

The display, while in Chicago, will be in charge of a committee of Oregon growers, consisting of J. C. Skinner, of Hood River; E. T. Bolton, of Grants Pass; C. Malheur, of Medford; B. W. Johnson, of Corvallis, and L. M. Brown, of Walla Walla. A. E. Morse and W. E. Benton will represent the O. R. & N. and will assist in explaining to Eastern visitors the opportunities in Oregon and Washington lands.

North Bend to Have Water Works.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—The City of North Bend is planning to have its own water works system. Engineer Stannard, of Portland, who laid out the system for Bandon in this county, has made plans and estimates for a municipal system here, and the members of the City Council will meet in a few days to hear the Engineer's report. The city now gets its water from a plant in Marshfield which is owned by a private corporation. The purpose is to establish a municipal system which will guarantee supply for the future.

"HOME RULE" BILL

Concerning Attorney-General Crawford's Interpretation.

In an opinion on this bill, the Attorney-General, after quoting it in part, says, "That amendment vests the legal voters of every city or town with authority to amend their charters in any manner which does not violate the provisions of the constitution of the state or the criminal laws of the state."

There is a serious question here because the power to license, regulate, control, etc., in the amendment comes after the clause "subject to the constitution and criminal laws of the state of Oregon." The intention seems to be to make the power to license, regulate, etc., superior to the criminal laws of the state. Why did not the amendment read "The legal voters of every city and town are hereby granted the power to enact and amend their municipal charters, and the exclusive power to license, regulate, control, or suppress or prohibit, the sale of intoxicating liquors therein is vested in such municipality, subject to the constitution and criminal laws of the state." Further on the Attorney-General says, "Then it vests in the City Council, or in the people through the City Council, the exclusive power to control and regulate or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors." It would be a sad day for our cities when their Councils are made the object of the legal voters of our breweries and distillers. Political corruption of the rankest and most rotten kind would be the result. Are the voters willing to place the control of saloons and dives in the question of having in connection with them wineries, gambling, Sunday opening and prostitution—to the City Council? Yet the Attorney-General of Oregon says that is what the Home Rule Amendment means.
