

5000 HEAR "DRY" MINISTERS TALK

Meetings Are Held Simultaneously in Four of Principal Churches.

SPEAKERS SEE VICTORY

Preachers Go From One House of Worship to Another in Automobiles and There Are No Interruptions—Home Rule Scored.

The simultaneous meetings at the First Baptist, First Methodist Episcopal, First Congregational and First Presbyterian churches last night was the big event of the prohibitionists' campaign in Portland. It is estimated that the four speakers addressed an audience of 5000 during the night.

Four subjects were selected: "The Moral Equivalent of War," "Deathbed Repentance," "Will Prohibition Kill Portland?" and "After the Battle, What?" The speakers were Dr. Walter B. Hinson, Dr. Luther Dyott, Dr. William Hiram Foulkes and Dr. Fletcher Thomas, president of Willamette University. The programme was so arranged that the audiences in each church heard all four subjects discussed. It was a novel plan that proved a big drawing feature and the changing of subjects and arrivals of new speakers had the effect of keeping each audience intensely interested.

Half-Hour Speeches Made.

Each speech lasted about a half hour. Automobiles carried the ministers from church to church and their speeches were timed so that there was no delay. The Albany Business Men's Quartet sang at each church and special music filled in the waits so that none of the audiences grew tired.

While four subjects were discussed by each minister, the text was not adhered to strictly by any one of them. Each spoke extemporaneously, and if an opportunity presented itself to make a point in favor of prohibition, he was not slow to do so. The subject or not, it was driven in, hammered down and sealed for election day. No matter what the subject, the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association came in for a drubbing and its speakers were made the targets for harsh criticism, ridicule and witticisms.

Last Topic Popular.

Perhaps the greatest interest centered in the subject, "After the Battle, What?" None of the ministers would concede defeat, but in that event, announced that another campaign to make Oregon dry would begin Wednesday morning. However, this was a contingency that the speakers mentioned as almost an impossibility and predicted that Oregon would go "dry" by an overwhelming majority. If the prohibitionists win, it was announced that efforts will be directed to enforcing the prohibitory law.

Officials were warned that if they did not enforce the prohibition law they would be recalled and men elected who would enforce the law. In short, the ministers said it would be a test case, whether or not prohibition could be made to prohibit.

Relays Supply Pulpit.

The prohibitionists' meeting in the White Temple yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, continued two hours, relays of speakers supplying the pulpit. Dr. Benjamin Young was the first speaker. He confined most of his remarks to ex-Mayor Ross of Milwaukee; Clarence Darrow and Rev. W. A. Wasson. He said that Darrow was brought to Oregon to "bamboozle the laboring men."

Rev. Clarence True Wilson was the next speaker. Alluding to the street speaking Saturday night, he said a man had counted the hearers at the prohibitionists had addressed 20,000, and that nine-tenths of all who listened were in sympathy with the movement. He said that fraud might be practiced at the polls tomorrow, and asked for volunteers to watch the voting places until the last vote was counted.

Judge Bronaugh called the attorneys who signed opinions that the Home Rule Bill would not abrogate the criminal laws of the State "poor lawyers." He said:

"I never have heard anyone advance the argument that the Home Rule Bill would abrogate the criminal laws of the State, and I don't know the reason for all this denial. If there would be any chance for the State of Oregon to repeal any power over the sale of liquor I have yet to hear of it. What would be the reason for it? What would become of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors? What would become of the Sunday closing law?"

In discussing the Home Rule Association, Judge Bronaugh said that there were good men in the organization, and that he was surprised to find that they had been misled by the liquor men.

Rev. W. T. White, of Albany, declared that the Greater Oregon Home Rule Association "had its birth in a Portland dive." He declared that prohibition did prohibit, and cited Linn County and Albany as examples. He said both the county and city were dry and that the law was enforced.

"There is not a respectable business man in Linn County," said he, "who will not vote for prohibition."

STEEL IN EYE 36 YEARS

Surgeons Find Piece of Metal in Eyeball of J. J. Knapp.

A piece of steel which had been carried in the eyeball for 36 years without serious inconvenience was found by the specialist last week who operated on the eye of J. J. Knapp, of Hood River. Mr. Knapp was formerly part owner in a food factory on Belmont street.

Outside the injury at the time the steel flew into the eye, it was injured three other times before it was finally removed by surgery. When Mr. Knapp was 11 years old he was watching a father grind a plow point and a chip of steel imbedded itself in the back part of the eyeball, traversing the cornea and crystalline lens.

In 1888 the eye was injured when Mr. Knapp ran against a clothesline and sprang it into the eye. Then in 1896 his 10-year-old daughter accidentally struck with her finger. Finally, when pruned trees, four months ago, a twig struck the injured eye and caused hemorrhage and inflammation, so that it became necessary to remove the left eye to save the other. It was then the piece of steel was found. The operation was performed at the Portland Sanitarium.

SINGER PREVENTED FROM APPEARING ON STAGE WILL FIGHT CASE IN COURT.

MISS SOPHIE TUCKER, WHO DENIES SHE SOUGHT TO RIDICULE MRS. BALDWIN.

SINGER'S IRE IS UP

Sophie Tucker to Fight Charges in Court.

ACT NOT BAD, SHE SAYS

Pantages Vocalist Declares She Is Not Immoral as Alleged by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of Public Safety Department.

"I am going to appear in court tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and I am going to fight this thing to a finish. I will not leave this town until I am cleared of the charges made against me." This was the statement made last night by Sophie Tucker, the singer whose engagement at the Panopticon Theater was cut short Saturday night by a complaint of Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of the Department of Public Safety to Women, charging her with putting on an immoral act.

"I am going to prove to the people of the state and of Portland that I am not immoral and that I have done no wrong whatever. I understand that Mrs. Baldwin thinks that I ridiculed her before the audience after she had first complained against me. This is a mistake. While I was singing I said 'very immoral,' which I meant in the way of a question, merely asking my audience if they considered it so. I never meant any insult to Mrs. Baldwin whatever. I am afflicted with too many charitable associations to condemn anyone who is trying to do good, and I would be the last one to come out on the stage and ridicule Mrs. Baldwin or her work. I am not that kind of a woman and I am sorry Mrs. Baldwin thinks so bad of me."

Miss Tucker is booked to leave here Thursday for Sacramento, where she is to commence her engagement Sunday. "I am going to have a jury trial," she said, "and I feel sure that everything will come out all right."

ANNEXATION TO BE TOPIC

Citizens of District Adjacent to Lents to Meet Tonight.

For the purpose of discussing ways and means of annexing a large district adjacent to Lents, at Mount Scott, to Portland, a meeting of citizens has been called for tonight in the Grange hall on Main street, near the schoolhouse. Ben Eisinger and others, who assisted in annexing Woodstock and part of Mount Scott, will tell how it was done. There will be a musical programme.

PORTLAND PROOF

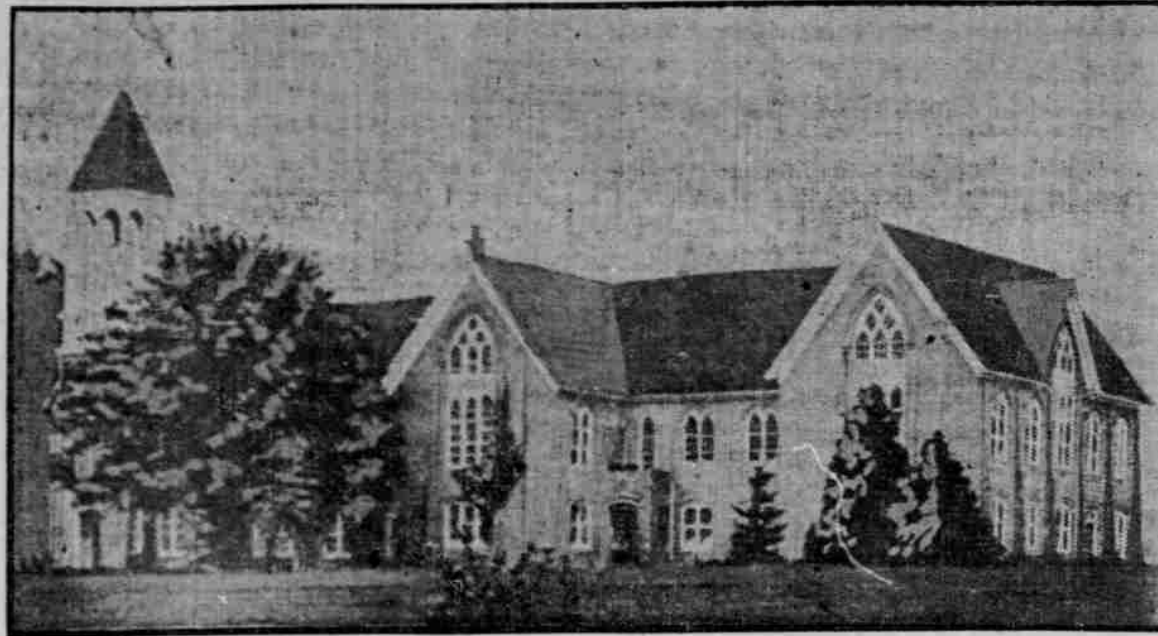

George K. Parrish, 32 1/2 Grand Ave., Portland, Oregon, says: "The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a dull pain across my back, which gradually grew worse. I knew that something must be done. Whenever I caught cold I had an acute attack of backache and felt miserable in every way. I read a convincing statement regarding Doan's Kidney Pills, and I was led to try this remedy. Before long my trouble was removed." (Statement given March 2, 1903.)

A LASTING EFFECT.

On April 4, 1910, Mr. Parrish said: "I have been well ever since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. My former indorsement of this remedy still holds good."

Following is a statement issued by officers of the Oregon Equal Suffrage Association: "The Oregon Equal Suffrage Association, which represents nearly 40,000 affiliated adherents in the State, received by official count at the election of 1908 the affirmative votes of nearly 27,000 men. The association claims that it never has been defeated, as its opponents allege, because women have never been allowed to vote upon the question at all. Its executive committee passed, at the October meeting, a unanimous vote of thanks to the less than a dozen wealthy and non-producing women 'ants' and their toadying satellites who pose as 'the best people' for having published at their own

ELECTION WAGERS FEW

ODDS OF 10 TO 7 OFFERED ON BOWERMAN FOR GOVERNOR.

"Wet" End of Prohibition Question Quoted at Long Odds, but No Takers Are Reported.

Betting on tomorrow's election is not very brisk thus far and no bets of consequence have so far been listed. A great deal of talk has been indulged in on the odds of 10 to 7 offered on Bowerman for Governor, but the takers of the bet have so far failed to put up much cash. At Schiller's one betting commission has posted $1000 on Bowerman to win against $700 on West, and this sum is said to look good to a coterie of Salem bettors, who have promised to cover the bet today. The name of the Bowerman enthusiast is withheld at the cigar store at the bettor's request.

One or two small wagers on the fight between McGinn and Cleland for Circuit Judge and for W. N. Gatens against John Ditchburn for the same office have been recorded, but these were of small amount. Wagers on the other offices are not known, though it is rumored that two men contemplate placing money on the chances of Lafferty and Manning, respectively, for Representative in Congress.

Odds of 10 to 8 and 10 to 7 have been offered on the prohibition question, the "wet" and being quoted at the long odds, but no takers have been thus far recorded. Bettors favoring the failure of the home rule bill to pass are far more numerous than are those who think Oregon will go "dry."

Women in Politics.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 6.—(To the Editor.)—If Mrs. Frances J. Bailey, a resident of the State of Washington, who is posing as the figurehead of a few wealthy women legates in Portland and calls herself "The Association Opposed to the Extension of the Right of Suffrage to Women," will come over to Oregon to attend a "dry" meeting, she will learn that she and the little coterie of would-be obstructionists she represents are not the only women already in politics. Nor will the movement stop. The only cure for the political strife now raging among men and women is liberty—more liberty—for all the people, of whom women are half. Make Oregon free. ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNNWAY, President Oregon State Equal Suffrage Association.

PAINS THAT RACK A TIRED BACK

KIDNEY TROUBLES are too little understood. Many a bachache, many an obstinate rheumatic pain, is only a hint that the kidneys are out of order and need repair. The kidneys are the blood-filters—the sewers of the body. Sound kidneys mean good blood; weak kidneys mean bad, poisoned blood—backache, dizzy spells, swellings of the limbs or joints, too frequent, scanty or painful urination, brick-dust sediment, gravel, lame back, weak back, tired back. If you have any of these troubles, don't dally. Give the weakened kidneys quick help—use Doan's Kidney Pills for quick relief and a lasting cure.

Mrs. A. E. Fulton, 311 Skidmore St., Portland, Or., says: "I had dropsy and my limbs swelled terribly. There were puffy spots beneath my eyes, and at times my whole body bloated. The kidney secretions looked unnatural and plainly showed that my kidneys were at fault. I doctored and tried several good remedies, but nothing did me any good until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. The contents of three boxes cured me, and since that time I have enjoyed good health. This cure has convinced me that Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of indorsement."
