Nominees for Supreme Court Judges Get Very Little Support-Woman Suffrage Is Expected to Win, There Being No Opposition.

SEATTLE, Wash, Nov. L-(Special.)-The indications are that a light vote The indications are that a light vote will be cast tomerrow. The campaign has been lacking in enthusiasm, save in one or two contests, and the Republicans are confident of victory. The canvass for the so-called non-partisan Supreme Court ticket has falled to receive the support expected by its promoters, and the election of the five Republican candidates for the Supreme Court Bench is reasonably certain.

there has been no organized movement against it.

In the First Congressional district Representative William E. Humphrey has been conducting a winning fight. The Republicans predict that he will be elected by the normal party majority. The Democrats, who have endeavored to enflet insurgent Republicans in the cause of W. W. Black, predict a close vote, but age not hopeful that their candidate will with.

In the Second Congressional district Maurice Langhorne, Democrat, has made a hard fight against Stanton Warburton, Republican, for Representative in Con-gress. Both sides are claiming victory, and the result of tomorrow's voting is be doubt.

on Representativo. TACOMA Wash, Nov. 7,-(Special.) Indications tonight are that even with good weather tomorrow Pierce County will cast only the usual off-year vote and that, in the event of rain, the vote will be very much smaller than usual.

Interest in the campaign centers wholly in the Congressional fight between Maurice Langhorne, Democrat, and Stanton Warburton, Republican, both of Tacoma. Both then are claiming the county and the district, Warburton by 7500 to 12,000, and the Langhorne men, by what 3500 burton by 7500 to 12,000, and the Lang-horne men by about 3500.

On the Supreme Court ticket, the non-parlisans have not even caused a flurry, and the Republican nominees will carry Pierce easily. On the superior judgeships, Clifford and Card are likely to wing. The Democrats have besed some sing. The Democrats have based some opes on ex-Mayor Wright for County Assessor, but admit privately they have few hopes of landing him or anybody else on the county ticket, but claim they do believe that in view of War-burton's record they can overcome the large normal Republican majority and carry Pierce County for Langhorne to-

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 7 .- (Special)-(Special)-Mudslinging characterized the last day of the campaign which closed here tonight, and more bitterness is being shown than was ever before known in this county. Street Orators at Fourth and Washington Unite When One Speaker Downs Other.

Prohibitionists and Socialists divid-

Pronibitionists and Socialists divided a meeting at Fourth and Washington streets last night. The biggest crowd that has congregated on the streets of Portland during the campaign, stood for three hours, part of the time with raised umbrellas, hearing the tenets of Socialism and the cause of prohibition expounded.

The Socialist meeting at Fourth and Alder streets broke up early on account of a shower. Most of the crowd moved down to Washington street. This augmented that crowd till it packed the street from curb to curb. Then the Socialists began asking questions and shouting, until the prohibition speaker could not be heard. J. M. Boam, one of the street-corner crators for the Socialists, made his way to an automobile, climbed in and waving his arms, shouted:

"We ask for the right of free speech;

"We ask for the right of free speech;

"We ask for the right of free speech; give these men the same right. Let's hear what they have to say. Don't interrupt them."

A calm spread over the restless audience. This so pleased the "drys" that Rev. E. H. Mowre, who had been speaking, announced that they would divide the meeting with the Socialists. The announcement was received with sheats by both sides and they assumed an attentive attitude. Boam then made a speech from the automobile, saying it was the first time in his life he had ever been in one. Mr. Mowre followed. He did not speak on Socialism, but he He did not speak on Socialism, but he flayed M. C. Banfield and W. H. Cor-bett and the officers and members of the Greater Overon Home Rule Associa-tion, saying they are all employers who are fighting union labor. Rev. W. F. Reager then took up the same line of argument and was fol-lowed by Millard Price, Socialist. He talked both Socialism and prohibition, and when he shouted, "I would like to see the whole liquor business wiped off the face of the earth," there was great applause.

Rev. Mr. Mowre said, "I wish this meeting would last all night," and introduced Rev. William Parsons, who delivered the last address.

COMMISSIONER SWIGERT NOT FAVOR-GRANTER, HE SAYS.

Fred A. Ballin Declares He Will Give W. H. Corbett Chance to Prove Assertion in Court.

"As to Mr. Swigert's ownership of stock in the Willametts Iron & Steel Works, it is not a matter open to specula-tion or discussion by those not connected, any more than to reiterate that he is any more than to reterate that he is not a stockholder with us and has not been for some years, and furthermore has never shown us any more favor than other customers who were satisfied with what they purchased from us, says W. H. Corbett in a letter to The Oregonian.

So much for Mr. Corbett's opinion of Fred A. Ballin, a marine engineer.

Mr. Ballin spoaks as follows of Mr. Corbett in another spistle which arrived at The Oregonian office yesterday:

"Mr. Corbett states I was responsible for the downfall of the Wolf & Zwicker from Works, This is a contemptible falsehood on his part. I shall give him a chance to prove his assertion in court.

that Ball was in my office he wanted me to sign a contract giving his firm the exclusive right to manufacture and sell my boiler. I refused. Next, Mr. Swigert was instructed to bribe my partner, Mr. Norrlin, and by offering him a salary of $200 a month they secured his services. "As long as I was useful to them and lined up with their interests I was welcome. The grand jury probably will decide whether I have drawn on my imagination. When called to the stand I shall be able to prove my statements by documentary and other evidence."

Captain George Pope has this to say in-reply to Mr. Corbett's assertion that he was forced to resign his position with Lloyds:

he was forced to resign his position with Lioyds:

"I resigned on account of a difference. That difference was that I tried to protect one of our local shippers, namely the firm of Meyer. Wilson & Co. These people were swindled out of thousands of dollars. The case arose over the ship Decau. Anyone who has traced this case knows how I was borne out by the facts. For 15 years my contingent resignation was in Lioyds' hands and when I found I was not sustained in the Decau case, I retired."

Mr. Corbett admits in his letter that he was somewhat hasty in his remarks in reference to M. G. Munly. He says he was somewhat hasty in his remarks in reference to M. G. Munly. He says in explanation:

"I wrote the article watered to with my temperature a little above normal. I really have no quarrel with Judge Munly or the people who want the Broadway bridge built, although I still think the project is an unwarranted one at this time. What I object to is the character of the campaign being waged against the Port of Portland and the dragging in of my personal business relations. I have no apologies whatever to offer for my remarks in reference to the Big Four whose careers past and present were referred to, and whose affidavits were the meat of the alleged evidence against the Port of Portland Commission."

Referring to the drydock controversy, Mr. Corbett says that no basis of rental was arranged for the leasing of the public dock to the Oregon Drydock Company. He asserts that the tonnage handled on docks has increased since the Oregon drydock was built, and asserts that the new rates established by the Commission are lower than the old rates, also that both docks operate on them. Further extracts from his communication are as follows:

"Collusive bidding on the contract for the Port of Portland drydock is beyond any knowledge of the writer."

"Mr. Munly says we have never ex-yond any knowledge of the writer."

"Mr. Munly says we have never explained why we built the Oregon drydock when the public drydock falled to pay expenses. This is a poser for us. Sometimes we wonder ourselves, but we hope in the course of events to prove to our steckholders that our confidence in the growth of the port was not misplaced."

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of pectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of mere than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the specialists in the treatment of women's diseases. Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them.
