J. D. Kiggins and Michael Warren in Announcing Platforms Base Campaign on Municipal System-Election December 6.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. I.—(Special.)—Voters and citizens of Vancouver are in the midst of an election campaign, the main issue of which is the question of municipal water. The the question of municipal water. The fight is growing more bitter as the time for the election, December 6, approaches. This week both of the opposing candidates, J. P. Kiggins and Michael Warren, have begun to advertise extensively, posting placards, sending matter through the mail and distributing large bills throughout the

J. P. Kirgins has been Mayor on the Republican ticket for the past two years, and would succeed himself. His platform as announced in:

"Progressive candidate for Mayor: one whom the ring cannot handle; one who employs a bucket brigade and pays the highest wages; one who has reduced your taxes 10 mills this year; one who is proud of his record as Mayor; one who fights for your rights with his ewn money; one who believes in buying the present water system at the right price; the taxpayers' friend."

Fear Boosts Taxes.

Last year the taxes were 44 mills here, 10 mills of which were added because the fight between the "wets" and "drys" was on and the Council was afraid the city would vote "dry" and thus reduce the revenues of the city by $25,000. It was ascessary that the mency be raised, but as the city went "wet." the money is now in the treasury, and there is no necessity of making the maxes 44 mills, the highest ever paid by the city.

making the taxes 44 mills, the highest ever paid by the city.

When asked what he considered a fair price for the present water system. Mayor Kiggins said that he believed $40,000 was almost too much to pay, but he might be willing to pay $40,000, aithough the plant would not be wortalt. J. H.
