Fifty-one Known to Have Perished in Delagua, Colo., Mine Disaster.

HERO GIVES HELMET AWAY

Engineer, to Save Buried Slav Digger, Sacrifices Own Life—Rescue Work Hazardous—Many More in Depths Want Help.

DELAGUA, Colo., Nov. 9.—Through two openings scarcely 200 feet apart, the dead and living were taken from the Delagua mines of the Victor American Company at the same time today, but the dead far outnumbered the living.

Tonight 51 are known to be dead, while 18 have escaped alive. One of the imprisoned miners, staggering out of No. 2 mine unaided, brought the news that others were alive in the No. 2 workings.

R. Akay, a Japanese, after lying insensible from the effects of the after-damp, all night, recovered his senses this morning and found his way to the surface. He was dazed and unable to tell through what passage he had come, but was certain that others still lived in the part of the mine he had crossed.

Thirteen Are Rescued.

The rescue crew followed back from No. 2 entry and soon brought 13 others to the surface. Scarcely had a line of rescued men begun to trickle from No. 2 mine, when it became known that 35 bodies had been found piled in No. 1 entry north. Later other bodies were found in the same section of the mine, which brought the total to 51.

At 10 o'clock tonight, 25 bodies had been brought out to the morgue established at the machine-shop.

Dead All Foreigners.

Both living and dead found today were foreigners. Twenty-nine Mexicans were found in one heap. Seven of the department heads of the mine are known to be buried in a cave-in 400 feet long, which blocks the main shaft. It may be many days before the bodies are recovered.

The rescue work today brought a constant series of narrow escapes to rescuers. Many were overcome and were carried out on the backs of their companions. J. C. Roberts, in charge of the Government mine rescue car and some of his men lost their way in the unfamiliar workings just in time to stumble on to a party of the rescuers who were almost overcome. The Government experts immediately applied restoratives and brought the exhausted men to the surface.

Disaster Probe Begun.

State Mine Inspector John F. Jones reached here today and made preliminary examination of the mine to determine the cause of the disaster. Partial canvass of the company's clerks show that 7 men are unaccounted for although it is not known definitely that they are in the mine.

Among the dead are: William Lewis, mine superintendent. W. J. Evans, assistant superintendent.

William Kilpatrick, outside foreman. Lewellyn Evans, pit boss. David Bell, motorman.

James J. Young, master mechanic. Willis Evans, engineer of Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. at Primero.

James Bennett, motorman. L. Martin, car tender. G. B. Bart Jennings, night boss. Tell Woodward, assistant electrician.

Engineer Is Hero.

E. Willis Evans, a young engineer of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., gave his life in the rescue of the four miners taken out alive last night.

He immediately joined a party searching the fourth north entry equipped with oxygen helmets. They worked their way along the entry and heard the faint tapping of a pick on solid rock, the wireless call of the miner. Realizing that at least some of their comrades were alive, they attacked the fallen mass of rock that blocked the entry with renewed hope. When they were within the cave, they found four Slav miners alive and unhurt. They were 300 feet from the surface without helmets and without a moment's hesitation, Evans and one of the other rescuers took off their helmets and gave them to the rescued men and waited for the return of the rescue party. When the rescuers returned, Evans had disappeared. It is supposed he had followed them out without a helmet and went out without searching for him. They discovered he had not reached the surface and another party was sent in after him. They discovered him at 11 o'clock last night unconscious from gas. He had evidently attempted to reach the surface and had been in the mine never regained consciousness and died at 6:45 this morning.

Victim's Brother Frantic.

His brother, Wallace Evans, was also a member of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company crew and was almost frantic with grief as he stood at his brother's side and fought in vain to revive him. His body was brought to Trinidad.

The Bureau of Mines rescue car which was rushed to Delagua from Denver arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. J. C. Roberts, in charge of the car and his men are working with the fuel company's men.

The fire which is blamed for the explosion is believed to have started in a broken entry door which caught fire through some unknown means. The fire has been extinguished.

Lewis, Young, Lewellyn Evans and Bell were killed by a fall of rock with in 200 feet of the entrance of the main shaft. The fire started in the slope with a fire hose when the explosion occurred. Their bodies have not been recovered.

Body Thrown in Manhole.

Spokane Man Robbed, Murdered, Tumbled in Sewer.

SPokane, Wash., Nov. 9.—The body of R. H. Patterson, a young carpenter, was found in the bottom of a sewer man-hole at Pacific avenue and Division street early this morning. Indications are strong that the man was murdered for $100, which he was known to have possessed Tuesday night.

Patterson's head was badly cut. One theory is that after a struggle he was knocked in the head, robbed, dragged across the street and thrown into the man-hole. The man's hat and a garter were found clear across Pacific avenue, some little distance from the body.

on the way against American business places and breaking windows in the San Francisco Hotel.

Jack Davis, an automobile repairman, had a hand-to-hand encounter with a dozen members of the crowd when they attempted to tear the top of his automobile and enter his establishment. He knocked several of them to the pavement and drove them from his place.

At the head of Juarez avenue, around the famous statue of the Iron Horse, speeches were made denouncing all Americans and a passing streetcar containing school children to the American school was stoned. One child was struck and severely injured.

Windows of the car were shattered. Among others who were assaulted were the son of Ambassador Wilson and William Marshall, an employe of the National Railways was hit on the head with a stone.

In the progress of the students about the city Governor Landay Escandon of the Federal District, Felix Diaz, Chief of Police, and Joaquin Casaus, ex-Ambassador to the United States, fled in automobiles.

At the municipal palace, Governor Landay refused approval of the students' protest but cautioned them against violence.

Ambassador Wilson in his note to the government, described the occurrence as a disgrace to the Mexican people and expressed surprise that inasmuch as his office had warned in advance of the demonstrations, the Mexican authorities had taken no action to prevent it.

Foreign Minister Cressel said tonight that every effort would be made to punish those guilty of offering insult to the flag.

MEXICO PROTESTS LYNCHING

Claim for Reparation on Rodrigues Affair Is Presented.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Protesting vigorously on behalf of the Mexican government, Senor de la Barra, Ambassador to the United States from Mexico, presented a claim for reparation to the State Department today because of the lynching of Antonio Rodrigues at Rock Springs, Texas, on November 2.

Rodrigues who was a Mexican citizen, confessed to the murder of Mrs. Lemm, a woman at Rock Springs, and was burned at the stake.

The Mexican ambassador tonight said that he felt confident that the American government would administer justice and had communicated this information to Mexico in the hope of allaying the ill-feeling toward the United States, which seems to have arisen because of the affair.

ROLL OF BUTTER GUILTY

ARTICLE, NOT VENDOR, OFFENDS, RULES JUSTICE.

Medford Court Finds Pure Food Law Is Unconstitutional, and Inspector Protests.

That the food law was violated by the roll of butter that failed to attain the required standard of weight, and that the firm which sold it was guilty of no violation of law was ruled by Justice of Peace Cannon, of Medford, recently. So said Inspector Shroek, who returned yesterday from a trip into Southern Oregon.

The Justice held the law unconstitutional as applying to the seller because it failed to contain the words, "any person who sells," within the provision that "every square or roll of butter kept exposed or offered for sale in the State of Oregon shall contain not less than eight ounces, 16 ounces or 32 ounces, and each square or roll of butter shall be plainly marked with the number of ounces they contain."

The Justice remarked, in deciding the case, that the law provided for the guilt of the roll of butter, but not for that of "any person."

B. B. Barch Is Expected by Depositors to Come to Relief—President of Wrecked Institution Broken in Spirit.

SEASIDE, Or., Nov. 9.—(Special)—

President W. S. Henninger, of the closed bank of Seaside, arrived here last night and went directly to his home, where he has been ever since. He has issued no statement and even Howard Leighton, who is secretary of the Seaside Lumber & Manufacturing Company, of which he is also president, has not been advised as to the real condition of the affairs relative to the bank trouble.

Attorney Frank Spittle of Astoria arrived on the noon train and went directly to Henninger's home.

Henninger was in Astoria yesterday afternoon in consultation with Spittle, who is attorney for the mill interests and acting attorney for this city. He made a settlement with him to cover the amount of city money on deposit at the time the bank closed.

The suicide cashier was City Treasurer. His last thought, written in a note found in his coat pocket by the coroner, was to the effect that he was afraid to live because the loss of the city funds might be the means of sending him to the penitentiary.

Observation Car Is Avoided.

Henninger did not ride in the observation car last night, as is his custom, but occupied a rear seat in one of the day coaches. He did not speak to any one during his journey from Astoria. His hat was pulled down over his eyes and he held a magazine in front of his face. People who knew the man when he left here a few weeks ago would not recognize him, as he is pale and his sunken face shows the ordeal through which he has passed.

Although asserting that he is not interested in the bank in any way, B. B. Barch arrived here from Portland on the noon train today and immediately went to his summer home at the south end of the Boardwalk. As he is a man of considerable means the depositors with considerable means the depositors at bank president, retaining $5000 in stock which he subscribed for at the time the bank was started.

Storm Closes Logging Camps.

The mill is still in operation but the logging-camps have been shut down, presumably on account of the big storm which is raging in this vicinity.

The ocean is rolling very heavily and will do considerable damage to the board walk on the high tide tonight unless the wind subsides.

The buildings along Bridge street have suffered considerable damage by the breaking of window panes and a number of shutters have been blown from the windows of the Summer cottages.
