BAR'S PLAN IS TO SCARE ATTORNEYS

Grievance Committee Would Publish Names and Offenses of Wrongdoers.

15 LAWYERS SIN IN YEAR

In First Session of Oregon Association Plan Is Broached to Discipline Members-Election Up Today.

Twice yesterday the nineteenth anqual convention of the Oregon State Bar Association split on the question of disciplining attorneys who prove unfaithful to their elients. It was made evident that before Frederick V. Hol-

Brewster retires from the grievance committee that the association will propare the way to disapprove transactions that are only just within the law.

It is probable that final action of the convention will provide that the grievence committee shall publish the charcter of the offense for which any lawyer of the state is investigated. This course may be followed particularly when the attorney under investigation cannot be disbarred because of inability of the committee to secure evidence of sufficient weight to be presented to

Most of the complaints alleged that the lawyers had failed to turn ever money collected for their clients. In every case it was reported that the lawyers accured of the questionable practices had been able to effect a compromise with the client who complained, and that thereafter the client would refuse to aid the Bar Association in prosecuting the attorney. The grievance committee offered the following resolution, which will be again considered today:

Be it resolved, That the grievance com-lities of this association be and it is here-r authorized in its discretion to include a names of the members of the bar who re deserving of censure in its annual re-port, although this committee may have a intention of preferring charges.

Among the well-known lawyers who participated in the discussion were C. W. Fulton, F. V. Holman, W. M. Davis, R. R. Duniway, T. G. Greene, A. E. Clark, Wirt Minor, Lionel R. Webster and H. H. Northup. All of the speakers favored action which would serve to advise the public that an attorney was unworthy of confidence, but all differed as to just how it will be done. President Holman in his annual address discussed "The Uncertainty of Results Under the Initiative Amendments to the Oregon Constitution" relating to city charters. He averred that the endity of many amendments was such that it had been necessary for the courts to smend them in making them into workable statutes. Mr.

The speaker de clared that Oregon was to be the battle ground upon which new ideas of taxation are to be fought out, and that he had ascertained that the organization which fostered the new taxation plan in the last campaign will be plentifully supplied with money to be spent in a campaign of education.

Mr. Veazie decried the plan of making the land bear all taxes as visionary, and pointed out many reasons why it would prove unsatisfactory. Instead of mak-ing the state a universal landlord, Attorney Veazie a universal landlord, At-torney Veazie favored individual owner-ship of land, saying that the induce-ment to acquire and own homes has been a great factor in the development of the West.

Lindberg was arrested several weeks ago by Patroimen Montgomery and Shaffer. His attorney, John F. Logan, set up a contention that the ordinance under which Lindberg was charged had been repealed by a later one, of 1805, in which the maximum penalty was 100 and the license privilege was not $100 and the license privilege was not affected. Judge Taxwell passed upon this question yesterday and held that the older ordinance is still valid. Lindberg's grill license has already been revoked, independent of the case on

LEGISLATORS IN CAUCUS

Sentiment Prevails That County Is Entitled to One of Two Positions-Bowerman's Desire May Affect Result.

Whether to try to elest a Speaker the lower House or the President of the the lower House or the President of the Senate in the next Legislature is a problem puzzling the members of the Multnomah County legislative delegation.

To decide the puzzle, one meeting has been held and another is planned for an early date. The legislators believe Multnomah County is entitled to one of the two big places in the Legislature, but it is doubted that both can be captured, although members of the Multnomah delegation are to be found who, aspire to each of the places.

ach of the places. each of the places.

Presidency of the Senate is most to be desired. This decison was reached quickly Monday when a meeting of legislators was held at the Commercial Club. At that time three of the Multiman delegation were discussed for the esidency of the Senate. Dan J. Maresidency of the Senate. Dan J. Ma-urkey, C. W. Nottingham and Ben Sell-

At the same time it was ascertained that two of the delegation in the lower House would like to be Speaker. The two are A. G. Rushlight and James Abbott.

"But we can't very well get both places," suggested Representative Collins, who acted as chairman of the meeting. There was no dissenting voice from the opinion that the presidency of the Senate was the more attractive place. But Inasmuch as three Senators were considered it could not be readily de-termined which one should be selected as the choice of the delegation. That will be considered in a few days. Mr. Collins will call the next meeting Mr. Collins will call the next meeting some time this week, the time and place to be decided on by him. In the meantime an effort will be made to center on one of the three aspirants for the presidency. There is a general inclination among the delegation to believe the place will go to either Mr. Malarkey or Mr. Selling—at least, that one of those two will get the support of the Multnomah delegation. Another point must be looked into, so it was decided. That is whether Jay Bowerman wants to succeed himself as president of the Senate. Mr. Bower-man served in that capacity at the last session, but whether he desires to suction, as the delegation takes the stand that Multnomah is entitled to one of

SOUTHERN PACIFIC DISCRIMI-NATES, IS CHARGED.

Medford Traffic Bureau Alleges Higher Rates in Oregon Than Are Charged in California.

MEDFORD, Or., Nov. 15.—(Special.)
—Chief Examiner Pugh, of the Inter-state Commerce Commission, is in Medford hearing the arguments of the Medford Traffic Bureau and the Southern Pacific Railroad concerning the duction of freight rates between Med-ford and points in Northern California. The Medford Traffic Bureau was rep-resented by its rate expert, Frank M. McCune, of Spokane, and three members of the bureau. It was shown by Attorney McCune that the Southern Pacific charges a considerably higher rate in Oregon than in California, despite the fact that the actual cost of transportation per mile in Oregon is less than in the latter state. The profits per mile in Oregon are considerably greater than in Cali-ley on the Southern Pacific cheaper than by rail.

For a three-mile haul, just over the California side of the boundary, the cost is 5 cents per hundred, but for the same load, carried two miles on the Oregon side of the line, a charge of 14

ACCUSED, WITH "OTHER WOM-AN," IS UNDER ARREST.

Minnesotan, Thinking Self Divorced, Weds Former Spouse's Cousin; Traces First Husband.

Married for the second time, after hearing from her husband that he had divorced her. Alice Grinstend, a young girl from Minnesota, came to this city a few days ago, to discover that her for-mer husband had provided himself with new wife and that no divorce proceed ngs had ever been entered upon. The seluded woman yesterday appealed to the District Attorney and swore to a com-plaint charging Arthur Grinstead and Kate Rauch with a felony. The accused were arrested last night by Constable Wagner at their home on Quimby street. The complainant was married to Grin-stead about a year ago. Soon afterward he came to the Pacific Coast and wrote for her to follow him-Francisco, but he falled to meet her. The descried women made a search and final-ly located her husband. Then, she says, ly located her husband. Then, she says, he demanded that she should support him
by immoral practices, but she refused.
Her mother, back in Minnesota, was taken ill, and she worked in a box factory till she made enough money to take her back there.
Shortly after her return to Minnesota
Mrs. Grinstead received a letter from her hisband, saying that he had secured a divorce at Oakland, Cal. A heavy mort-gage was impending over the home farm and her mother was ill. Robin Adair happened along, in the person of Grinstead's cousin, William Grinstead, and she married him, not because she cared for him, but to secure ease for her mother. The mortgage was satisfied and the unhappy woman was beginning to enjoy comparative ease, when a letter came from Grinstead, the first, saying that his former statement concerning that his former gatement concerning the divorce was false and that she was still his wife.

Horrified by the discovery, Mrs. Grinstetd again set out for California, and, arriving at San Rafael, found that her former husband had been married there. She went to Oakland and searched the records for the divorce proceedings, but found none on record. She got on the trail of the alleged bigamist and followed thin to this city.

She found him, she says, living with the other woman as his wife. He admitted that he had not been divorced to the his wife. and that the pursuer was also his wife, she says. She told the District Attorney that Grinstead had threatened her with 14 years in the penitentiary if she made him any trouble. She told the District Attorney that she had just $3 left and was working in a local factory to maintain herself until she can secure justice from her husband.

Better Cuts Decline First.

New York, the greatest consuming New York, the greatest consuming point of fresh meat in the country, noted first a marked reduction in the price of the better cuts of beef and then a greater decline in all grades of pork and pork products. Sirloin steak, formerly sold at 24 cents a pound, brought only 22 cents today and porterhouse dropped from 28 and 30 cents to 25 and 27 cents. The reduction most generally affecting the local markets was that in fresh pork, cuts that sold recently at 22 cents being quoted today at 18 and even lower. Lard went down 2 cents. Dealers say that mutton, veal and other products will begin to decline more rapidly in a few days, following the downward tendency of pork.

"Prices of the first grades of beef have been falling for about a week," said Frank A. Froehling. "They did not go off all at once, but the packing-house has been coming down about half a cent at a time, until now the price for prime beef is between 4 and 5 cents lower than it was last week at this time, and the better grades of perk are 2 to 3 cents lower. This applies, of course, to fine roast beef and steak, for the ordinary quality has not steak, for the ordinary quality has not fallen off and I do not think it will."

Cheaper Grades Firm.

All meats declined in St. Louis. Beef carcasses dropped from 11 to 8 cents, pork loins from 15 to 121/2 cents, and Medford jobbers submitted figures showing that due to the high freight rates and discriminations made in favor of California shippers they could ship goods by wagon to points in the valley on the Southern Facific chesper than by rei! grades. Everything except ham and bacon declined in Indianapolis. Mil-waukee was one of the exceptions of the day. There the prices of foods generally, except meat, went off, but meat did not change. All fresh meats were cheaper in Detroit, Omaha, St. Paul and cities of the Central West. Paul and cities of the Central West. In Pittsburg the expected decline in meats has been offset to some extent by a marked rise in eggs. Philadel-phia dealers seem to have little confidence in the permanency of the reduc-tion in meat prices, for they are laying in large stocks in the expectation of an early return to the old figures. In San Francisco and Los Angeles

In San Francisco and Los Angeles the reductions reached the consumer in only a few instances. Los Angeles reports cheaper lard, the high price having fallen from 18 to 15 cents, but the decrease of half a cent in the wholesale price of bacon has not affected the retail figures. The price of turkeys is three cents higher than last year, but dealers say that the quality is that much better.

A curious situation develops in Seattle and Spokane, in which cities, although the Eastern quotations usually govern, there is a decline in pork products and an increase, or prospective increase, in the prices of fresh products and an increase, or prospective increase, in the prices of fresh meats. Fish is increasing in price in Seattle, in spite of growing supply. In the wholesale district, in Washington, b. C., the price of beef was reported reduced between 4 and 5 cents a pound by the packers. The price of pork went down about 3 cents. Hope was held out that mutton and veal and other products of the packing houses would follow in the downward movement. Retailers in Washington have not heard of the decrease officially except as to the price of pork. Beef was selling today as high as ever in the today as high as ever in the

The natural inquiry among the theatrical men of the city is why mention was made of "where they do not now have theaters" in the Cort contract.
