sailors engaged in a fist fight in front of it and one of them was knocked knocked through it. The devastation who gave the names of Jim Towns, David Nyper and Frank Mulr, were arrested by Patrolman Rupert. They had had trouble in a restaurant at 108 Sixth street, and went out on the sidewalk to finish it. Yesterday afternoon a representative of the owner of the building visited the men in prison and they gave him an order for all the money and an assignment of the damage. They are still held on a charge of being out after hours.

PREBETRIAN TAKES LANTERN.—James W.
Ryan, realizing that his condition as to sobriety made him an objection to the public streets and wishing to comply with the city ordinance in relation thereto, took a red lantern from another obstruction, at Seventh and Alder streets, and meandered along to Park and Yamhill streets carrying his danger signal will to the fore. He was observed by Patrolman Porter, who, after a brief cause he did not have a green light to port, as required of all craft under way.
He was booked on a charge of being out after midnight.

FRUSTRATED IRON CAVERS FIRE ALARM.—An electric pressing in the Hotel Alder, with the current running through its coils, occasioned an alarm of fire from the Hotel Alder building, Fourth and Alder streets, yesterday afternoon. Two companies of firemen responded, and a cloud of smoke pouring from the shop of Louis Cohen, over the hotel entrance. No harm had yet started and no damage was done except by smoke. The firemen turned a small stream on the overheated iron, cooled it and turned off the current.

WOMAN HELD FOR SELLING LIQUOR.— For selling liquor on Sunday and without a license, Katie Fox, proprietor of the Marion rooming-house, First and Madison streets, was arrested yesterday, by Patrolman Cramer, and taken to jail held under bail of $25. The two officers, dressed in plain clothes and guided by a chance acquaintance, rented a room in the house and called for beer. The woman brought in two bottles, and was then asked for a flask of whisky, which she also produced. The intoxicants were taken as evidence.

Residents north and south of Sullivan's Gulch will insist that the proposed bridge ting the game to run and Ike Killeb, Tom White, Fred Robinson and Jack Jones held under bail of $50 each.

THEY KNOW.—The Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express has the United States to choose from in selecting turkeys for disseminating to those people, yet each year they buy 1500 Oregon turkeys for distribution among their officials and employes.
They turn down all Eastern stock. As usual all of Frank L. Smith's markets will sell nothing but this strictly-choice Oregon poultry for Thanksgiving. The handsome display of many thousand turkeys, fattened geese, domestic ducks and milk-fattened chickens, at Smith's big market, which runs from 23d Alder st. to 14th 1st st. (where the music plays), is one of the season's sights. You should go and see it. It is the biggest and finest market on the Pacific Coast and runs over with luxury new. Smith's turkeys are 25c to 30c per pound; geese are 15c per duck are 25c to 30c; chickens sell for 20c.

NEW HOME DEDICATED.
VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA OPEN
MODERN INSTITUTION.
Poor Working Girls and Persons Needing Aid Will Be Given Assistance by Society.

The Volunteers of America Young Women's Christian Home, at 12 East Seventh street, was dedicated yesterday afternoon under the direction of Staff Captain Jessie P. Starks, superintendent of all branches of the work in Portland, Mrs.
Colonel Walter Duncan, regimental commander, assisted by Mayor Simon and others. The house, which was built a dwelling, was attractively decorated, and was filled with friends of the Volunteers. After the opening song and prayer, Mayor Simon, representing the city, was introduced.
He congratulated the Volunteers of America on the successful accomplishment of their undertaking. "I am glad to know that a building of this character, controlled by those who devote their lives to the uplift and for the benefit of humanity has been secured in our midst," said the speaker. "I know that great good will result from these efforts.
I have deep veneration for the churches of today, no matter what their denomination may be, yet I respect and honor the men and women who are representing the churches and the Volunteers of America. While occupying a field peculiarly their own, the work and good they do is inseparable. They seek out the poor and the lowly and minister to their wants. Food, clothing and fuel they furnish to deserving needy people. Again, I congratulate you on your achievement, and trust that your labors in this field will be crowned with success."
B. L. Paset, representing the business interests of the city spoke briefly, commending the enterprise and as one worthy of the support of the business men of the city. Rev. H. H. Moore, representing the churches, said the home was worthy of the support of the community. He said that Volunteers of America are doing a work that the churches are not doing, but might do.
Colonel Duncan spoke in eloquent terms of the work of the Volunteers, which she declared was to uplift and lend the helping hand to the poor, girl, man and woman when they need it. She spoke of the dangers surrounding the young woman who seeks employment in the city without home surroundings, and said that the Volunteers of America are trying to make it safe for young women by providing homes where they would have Christian environments. She said further:
"The home is well patronized and much good is done along this line. We have purchased this property for $300, $200 down, and the balance in three payments at various periods with interest.
It is managed with the aid of an advisory committee of three citizens, and I shall take the pleasure of making known the names of the committee." At the conclusion of the services the audience was shown through the rooms of the home, after which the raising of the American flag and the white banner of the Volunteers of America over the building by the Mayor, concluded the dedication of the new home.

ANENT BREAD.

Portland Admitted to Have the Cleanest Bakery in the World.
Partly because of the fact that there are so many advertisements crowded into a daily paper, many people frequently miss something which not only concerns them vitally, but which might save them trouble and in some instances sickness in their homes. In this issue of The Oregonian such an advertisement appears on page 10. It is that of the Royal Bakery, Time, thought and honest endeavor are embodied in this particular advertisement.
It embodies not only the truth, but honesty of purpose and a really sincere desire to render the public a service. If you never have read and studied an advertisement before, take the time to read and study this one. It is worth while, for it means much to you and your family.

CONVICTS ARE WATCHED
PETTY CRIMES FOLLOW COMING OF RELEASED MEN.
Desperate Characters Known to Be Among Those Just Free From Work on State Road.

Presence in Portland of 11 ex-convicts, released Saturday from a state road camp near Kalama, Wash., is keeping the police force on the lookout, as it is known that among the discharged prisoners are some desperate characters.
All of them are known to have come to this city, and nine were seen at one time in North End saloon Saturday night. While not charging the men indiscriminately, the detective force is keeping close watch on them, particularly upon a few who are of the habitual criminal class and has just finished a sentence of nine years, which was his second in the State of Washington, and under the laws of that state he is liable to a life sentence if he is convicted again.
