

Great Closing-Out Sale of Entire

Women's Department

At the Brownsville Woolen Mill Store, Third and Morrison Sts.

Grand $25,000 Stock Of Spick and Span New Goods

To Go Regardless of Cost

A colossal clearance of an entire department to make room for our new Boys' Clothing Section, which is to occupy the entire second floor. This popular store doesn't do things by half—no two bites of the cherry here. Every article of women's apparel must go, and go speedily, and we're going to sell out the department quickly and cleanly by an unheard of sacrifice. Prices have been slashed on most garments to ONE-HALF REGULAR FIGURES, while in many cases ONE-THIRD OF THE ORIGINAL SELLING PRICE will take away the goods. Not a piece of old stock in the entire store—every article has been manufactured this season in the very latest styles, and as is usual with Brownsville methods, the quality is the very best obtainable in every instance.

Merely a few items picked at random from the huge stock are given here—just a small number to give you a slight idea of the immense reductions in effect. A no uncertain opportunity to save many bright and shining dollars by attending this amazing, unprecedented sale event.

- Women's Dresses worth to $20, on sale at $9.85

TURKEYS GO TO ALL

Thanksgiving Dinner Will Be Served to Poor.

HOMELESS TOTS TO FEAST

Charitable Persons of Portland Give Material for Royal Spread to Various Institutions of City and County.

Not alone will the children of the private homes of Portland enjoy the exquisite flavor and appetizing fumes of the "National bird" tomorrow, but indications are that children, as well as others, in the different institutions of the city will be royally feasted on turkey, with all the "fixins," cranberry sauce, mince pie, plum pudding, vegetables, fruit and everything that goes to make a feast of that most important meal of the year—a Thanksgiving dinner. The heads of the various homes and hospitals are busy making final preparations, and not a detail is being overlooked which might help in giving the poor, afflicted and orphaned a real Thanksgiving.

Ten Turkeys Are for Aid Society.

Ten big, fat, juicy turkeys will be required to contribute to the sumptuous spread which has been planned for the little inmates of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society Home. These little homeless tots have never enjoyed a more "wreathful" Thanksgiving than they are promised this year, and no doubt to some it will be the first time they have participated in a "turkey dinner," which is so dear to the heart of every youngster. The celebration will be carried on during the evening, when the children will enjoy games and a short programme will be given.

At the Frazer Detention Home 30 little unfortunates will be served "stuffed turkey" with all its concomitants prepared to a turn by the matronly cook of the home. At the Home for the Aged, it will be the old people who will revel in the festivities of Thanksgiving day. When the planned-for turkey dinner is set before them the 150 inmates of the home will endeavor to prove that the children and young people have not "cornered" the appetites for "turkey and cranberry sauce." This evidence will also be offered by the 80 old persons who have their residence at the Patton Home.

Out at the County Poor Farm more than 200 pounds of the Thanksgiving

"turk" will be consumed by the 200 inmates of that institution. Today some of the church organizations of the city will take presents out to those living at the farm, to make it seem to them more like a holiday.

The Thanksgiving bird will reign supreme at the County Hospital, where there are 70 patients and many employes who will enjoy a dinner replete with good things.

The Good Samaritan Hospital will serve an appetizing dinner to the employees and patients, as also will St. Vincent's. At the latter institution bridge and singing will be included in the 6 o'clock mass tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon there will be given another musical programme.

Thanksgiving festivities, including the turkey dinner, will also be held at the Crittenton home. The majority of these Thanksgiving dinners are the outcome of the generosity and good will of the residents of Portland, who have opened their purses for the occasion in order that the day of thanks will mean for everyone a general good time and satisfied appetites.

TEST CASE TO BE MADE

Franchise Involves Paving, Even Without Tracks, Is Contention.

Property owners on East Twenty-eighth street, between the concrete bridge across Sullivan's Gulch and Halsey street, and on Halsey street between East Nineteenth and East Twenty-first, where the street railway company has a franchise but no tracks, will protest against the assessments made against them for pavements, and will institute suit to require the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company to pay its portion of the assessments.

The railway company has a franchise on Halsey street, which connects with the Broadway line, but it removed the tracks more than a year ago. Halsey street has been paved and the assessment has been made for the improvement. On East Twenty-eighth street, between the concrete bridge across Sullivan's Gulch the street has been paved and the property owners have been assessed. The street railway company has a franchise on East Twenty-eighth, but no tracks, but the property owners declare that the company should be assessed and be required to pay for the space which its franchise covers.

At a meeting of the property owners in the Universalist Church, Broadway and East Twenty-fourth streets, yesterday it was decided to make formal remonstrance against the assessments and to employ special counsel. The remonstrance was signed by the property owners present.

There are other places in the city where the street railway company has a franchise but no tracks, where the streets have been paved, and the suit will be in the nature of a test.

OLD LAW TO BE ENFORCED

Saloonkeepers Who Sell Drink to Drunken Men to Be Prosecuted.

Stricter enforcement of the much-neglected law prohibiting the sale of liquors to intoxicated men, is promised, through action taken by Judge Taxwell yesterday in Municipal Court. If necessary, extra forces of policemen will be placed at points where the evil is most common. Chief of Police Cox has assured Judge Taxwell that he will support him heartily in any effort to curb the practice.

Aroused by seeing before him every morning a long string of derelicts who lie before him until they could no longer stand at the bar, many of them telling of months' wages lost in one night in saloons, Judge Taxwell determined to take action, and ordered the tender or saloonkeeper found selling to police to bring before him every barman visibly intoxicated.
