

JUDGE WILL NOT TOLERATE THREATS

Hassing Tragedy to Result in Court Dealing Less Leniently With Accused.

NO CHANCES TO BE TAKEN

Slayer of Mrs. Hassing May Live to Be Tried on Murder Charge. Husband Is Said to Have Beaten Wife Frequently.

"Hereafter, when a man has been so foolish as to make threats to kill another and is brought before me, I shall take no chances in letting him go upon evidence except of the most convincing kind," said Judge Taxwell yesterday, referring to the murder of Mrs. Hassing by her husband, two weeks after the murderer's appearance in his court on a charge of threatening to kill. "My conscience is clear as regards this case," said the judge. "Because the woman herself appeared in court and said that she was no longer afraid of her husband, and did not wish him held in jail under a bond that he could not give, Hassing seemed to show genuine regret for his foolish words, and to be harmless. In the future, however, those who make demonstrations against the lives of others must expect to take the consequences, no matter whether the injured party consents or not. I shall not again take the chance of turning a potential murderer loose upon the community."

Hassing Insanely Jealous.

Insane jealousy appears to have possessed Hassing for a long time before the two assault and battery cases in Milwaukee, not connected with the present case, and was before the justice court there upon the complaint of the neighbors that he had beaten his wife until her screams disturbed the community. It is alleged that prior to that time he had thrown a knife at his wife when they lived in San Francisco.

Divorce proceedings were in progress at Oregon City at the time of the murder of Mrs. Hassing. The husband had enlisted the services of Attorney L. C. Mackay, but the lawyer, after looking into the conduct of his client, was forced to refuse to handle his case. Mackay was also solicited to defend Hassing upon his recent appearance in Municipal Court, but refused, stating that the man was insane.

Hassing lies at St. Vincent's Hospital in a precarious condition from his two self-inflicted wounds, but it is believed that he will recover to stand trial for the murder of his wife. There was much comment yesterday over the tragedy, coming so soon after the acquittal of A. M. Richardson and the escape with a light sentence of H. M. Lambert, both of whom committed acts similar to Hassing's, under the influence of jealousy. There is every appearance that Hassing was encouraged by the results of these trials. It is thought improbable, however, that he goes to trial, as his associates say that he appeared to be a man of normal mind, except for his jealousy, and that the authorities for not pressing against Hassing. Hedman is quoted as saying that they must either hang Hassing or himself.

DOG SET UP MESSENGER

Women Accused of Inciting Violent Assault.

Terribly lacerated by the teeth of a vicious bulldog and bruised by blows from a club, Joseph Van Veleen, a delivery boy, was taken to the police station yesterday morning, where he charged Mrs. George Simpson, of the notorious Eagle House, Third and Burnside streets, and Mrs. Charles Oswald, with instigating the dog's attack.

Van Veleen, who is employed by a cleaning works, was sent to deliver packages at the Eagle House and to collect $1.70 charges. The woman said that the bill was too high and refused to pay it or to return the package. When the boy insisted, she was set upon with a club, he says, and the dog was urged upon him. The brute seized him by the arm and mangled the flesh fearfully, beside biting other parts of his person. With the dog hanging to him, the boy fled to the entrance, where passing men assisted him in driving off the animal. Van Veleen submitted to the cauterization and dressing of his wounds by Dr. Riggs, and then swore to a complaint drawn by Deputy District Attorney Hennessy, charging the women with assault. They were arrested yesterday afternoon.

MUCH LIQUOR IS SEIZED

Estacada Raid on "Blind Pigs" Yields Four Wagonloads.

ESTACADA, Or., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—The raid by Sheriff Beattie and his deputies yesterday on so-called "soft drink" establishments yielded four wagonloads of beer and whiskey. The four men arrested are held in $500 bail each. That liquor was being sold in Estacada in violation of the local option law which obtains here, has been known for some time, but all efforts by local officials to locate the illicit dealers seemed to be vain. The stock was seized for the purpose of running down the violators of the law brought out evidence that was beyond question, and the raid by Sheriff Beattie and his posse yesterday followed, with the result that the biggest stock of liquors ever seized on a similar raid in local option districts in Oregon came into the hands of the officials.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Morris Marks Sinks Down on Way Home From Visit.

While on the way home from the residence of a daughter, Mrs. Morris Marks, of 321 Northrup street, was seized with an attack, supposed to be hemorrhage of the brain, a short distance from her home early yesterday morning, and died on the street within a few minutes.

Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Marks had spent the evening at the home of her daughter, at 492 Lovejoy street, and had remained until after midnight. During the visit she seemed to be in excellent health and spirits. The couple left the residence of their daughter about 1 o'clock and started to walk home. Near the intersection of Twenty-fourth and Lovejoy streets Mrs. Marks suddenly sank unconscious. Physicians were called, but were unable to render assistance.

The body was carried into the nearby residence of G. G. Gramma, 492 Lovejoy street, whence it was removed by the Holman Undertaking firm, who will have charge of the funeral. The coroner was notified and made an investigation, but there will be no inquest.

Several months ago, while on a visit to the same place at the time of the birth of a grandchild, Mrs. Marks lost a number of valuable diamonds in a mysterious manner. A servant in the house was suspected, but the mystery was never solved.

Mrs. Marks was very prominent in Jewish circles, and was a philanthropist of note. She had lived in Portland for 20 years and was a member of the Beth Israel congregation. Funeral services will be at the late residence at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, under the conduct of Rabbi Wise. Mrs. Marks is survived by a son, Meyer Marks, and two daughters, Mrs. Sol Goldstein and Mrs. S. E. Wertheimer.

TRANSFER IS OPPOSED

HEALTH BOARD WOULD RETAIN PLUMBING INSPECTOR.

Members Declare That Retention Is Necessary in Order That Rulings May Be Enforced.

Efforts to have the plumbing inspector transferred from the Health Department to the Building Inspector's Department have aroused considerable opposition on the part of the health officials, but whether the present fight is to be brought to an early end depends largely on the opinion of the City Attorney, who was asked by the health and police committees of the Council at a meeting yesterday morning to determine whether the charter would permit the proposed change.

Members of the Board of Health who were present at the meeting yesterday morning argued that if the plumbing inspector were taken away from their jurisdiction, it would mean that they would have to employ plumbers to aid in determining sanitary conditions. They presented letters from 51 cities of the United States, in which it was said that of that number 77 cities combined the plumbing inspector with the health department.

BARTENDER IS FINED $35

SEIVING LIQUOR TO MAN ALREADY DRUNK IS CHARGE.

First Conviction in Many Years Is Expected to Accomplish Much in Way of Reform.

For selling liquor to a man already drunk, Mike Gravit, a North End saloonkeeper, was fined $35 in Municipal Court yesterday morning. The conviction is said to be the first under this ordinance in many years, if not in the history of the city. The ordinance is of long standing, but was wholly disregarded until a few days ago, when Judge Taxwell, impressed by the disgraceful spectacles brought to light and demanded that the police act under its provisions. Chief Cox joined heartily in the movement and issued instructions to all officers to arrest any saloonkeeper found selling liquor to a man who was obviously drunk.

Patrolmen Burri and Johnson, patrolling the Burnside-street district, were the first to observe a flagrant infraction of the ordinance. They went into Gravit's saloon and were approached by a boisterous customer, who had to be repressed violently by his companions to keep him from being arrested. Immediately thereafter the customer stepped up to the bar and was served with more liquor. Gravit was arrested.

ACT TO REGULATE CORPORATIONS UP

Public Service Commission Bill to Be Proposed in January Legislature.

MALARKEY BACKS MOVE

Measure Will Be Modeled After New York Law Though Division of State in Districts Will Be Omitted.

The doctrine that the public has an interest in the use of the property of corporations engaged in a public service is to be whittled into shape by Dan Malarkey, Senator from Multnomah County, and a bill creating a Public Service Commission is to be introduced in the session of the Oregon Legislature, which will convene at the state capital early in January. The act will be one of the first measures presented for the consideration of the Senate, and will provide means for the regulation of streetcar transportation, power, light, water, telegraph, telephone and all other corporations selling their goods to the people while making use of some of the property of the people. The bill will be modeled somewhat after the law now in operation in the State of New York, but it is not intended to divide the state into districts.

Bill to Be State-Wide.

By making the bill state-wide in its application, Senator Malarkey hopes to secure the support of those who are now advocating the creation of a Public Service Commission for Portland, and who have threatened to secure a law by initiative at the next city election.

Senator Malarkey is now engaged in securing the views of well-known citizens as to the best method of making the law efficient, but instead of creating an entirely new commission the Senator is inclined to favor the views advanced by the committee representing the Irvington Push Club, of which Walter H. Craven is chairman, and which favors amplifying the powers of the State Railroad Commission and giving that body jurisdiction over all public utility companies.

Governor-elect West is quoted as favoring the latter plan, as against a new commission. Mr. West has said that the Railroad Commissioners have plenty of time to care for the additional duties, and the expense of administration would be minimized. He is said to believe that the employment of a few experts to gather the data would enable the Railroad Commissioners to act as a public service commission, and that the administration of railroad problems and those arising from the new law are so closely allied as to be best handled without a conflict between boards.

Regulation Authority Proposed.

Senator Malarkey, however, announces as certain that the law will be introduced in the next Legislature to regulate many of the things now complained of by the people of Portland and the state, will confer power on the public utility companies, and will confer jurisdiction on the courts to enforce the penalties.

It is also probable that the publicity feature of the New York law will be incorporated into the proposed statute, requiring all public utility corporations to submit statements of their financial condition for publication in the annual report of the commission. "The Public Service Commission bill will be introduced in the next Legislature in compliance with a demand from the people of the entire state," said Senator Malarkey yesterday. In canvassing the state recently I found that other cities of smaller size than Portland, but entitled to a measure of relief just the same as this city, were as strong for such a measure as were the people of this city.

Opposition Is Expected.

"I believe that the progress of the bill through the legislative bodies will be blockaded at every turn by representatives of the utility corporations it will be intended to reach, but the time has come, in my opinion, when the sentiment of the people shall be determined. It might just as well be fought out now as some other time. A law can be enacted that would give adequate service in consideration of the use of the streets, without decreasing the earnings of the utilities below a reasonable rate of interest. Power companies can be required to make reasonable rates, gas rates can be regulated and a system of metering established that will be of benefit to both the companies and the consumers."

"I cannot now say what the entire scope of the bill will be, but it is fair to everybody concerned to understand what we are endeavoring to accomplish. Personally, I am inclined to favor placing these duties in the hands of the State Railroad Commission. There are not such a number of railroads in the state, or such an enormous amount of mileage, or a multiplicity of schedules that the Commissioners will be prevented handling this business. The employment of extra clerical help and experts would probably be less expensive than the maintenance of a new organization. However, my mind is fixed in that direction and I am in a receptive mood concerning the bill."

Good Things in Markets

BY LILIAN TINGLE
Planning for the meals immediately after Thanksgiving is no longer to be thought of. It is all very well to say "hush up the turkey," but even hashed turkey comes to an end, and if not indigestion, at least that perverse state of mind—or body—in which "holiday dainties" have lost a good deal of their interest, and "ordinary" dishes seem plainer by force of contrast. Anyway, that is how one housekeeper was lamenting yesterday; and I suppose there are others.

But for those who still have desire for turkey dinners, there are still good birds to be had, at moderate prices. Fresh killed "fancy stock" sell at 29 cents a pound; but cold storage leftovers, in good condition, can be had at 29 to 25 cents a pound, at which price they are really cheaper than chicken, though chicken is lower than usual, at 18 to 22 cents a pound. Ducks and geese also have been affected by the drop in turkey prices, and are to be had at 15 to 20 cents a pound.

The supply of game is not so good as it was earlier in the week, but wild geese, teal, widgeon, mallards and snipe are still available.

In the fish market salmon and halibut, those twin "standbys" of Portland housewives, are most abundant. The fish list being somewhat shorter than usual. Black cod, tom-cod, smelt and flounder cost 10 cents a pound; sole and catfish, 15 cents. The holiday displays of cured fish, in many varieties, and of an incredible number of different cheeses, offer tempting "snacks" for any unfortunate person who has lost interest in "square meals."

Vegetables are good, plentiful and inexpensive. The cabbage family, the squash family, and the celery family being leaders. Very good artichokes are in just now. Chicory, too, is of good quality, and is an excellent "cleanser of the palate," to use a favorite phrase of old style gourmets. Grape fruit seems to be in good demand this week, and can be had, in various sizes and qualities, from 5 to 15 cents each. Oranges are coming more into prominence, and cost 20 to 25 cents a dozen; but apples are still the most popular, as well as the least expensive of fruits. There are fairly good grapes to be had at 35 to 40 cents a basket. Pomegranates cost 5 to 10 cents each, and can be used effectively in cocktails. There are persimmons and prickly pears at 5 cents each, and pineapples at 20 to 30 cents. A few strawberries are to be seen at about 25 cents a basket. Nuts are much in demand at 15 to 25 cents a pound, and so are cranberries, at 10 to 12 cents a quart.

Butter is slightly higher this week, and the best eggs cost 50 cents a dozen. Happy is the housewife with crocks full of them, in greater glass, or with personally supervised hens, who can still be persuaded to do their duty, regardless of market prices.

APPLE SHOW PLANS BIG

NUMBER OF EXHIBITORS WILL EXCEED ALL RECORDS.

Fruit Is Already Coming in and Being Placed in Storage—Horticulturists to Meet.

General officers of the Portland Apple Show will open their desks in the Majestic Theater building, Fifth and Washington streets, next Monday for the purpose of completing arrangements for the coming display of Pacific Coast apples. Exhibitors are already coming in and are being stored at the warehouses preparatory to arranging the floor space.

Secretary Powell received in the morning mail yesterday a large number of applications for space, and the number of exhibitors will exceed anything heretofore experienced in the annual meetings of the Oregon State Horticultural Society. Among those who notified the secretary that they would be on hand with displays were the Dufur Commercial Club, The Dalles Commercial Club, S. D. Conley of Roseburg, W. K. Newell of Gaston, G. L. Tarbell of Yankton, W. L. West of Newton and the Salem Fruit Union.

One of the interesting features of the show will be the address by Dr. J. R. Cardwell, for over 20 years president of the State Horticultural Society. Secretary Powell returned from Salem yesterday, having secured a large number of exhibits, and this morning he will endeavor to persuade the exhibitors there to come to Portland.

The special anniversary program in honor of the 25th anniversary of the State Horticultural Society will be held Friday afternoon, December 2. Dr. J. R. Cardwell, honorary president, will preside.

Responses on behalf of the veterans will be made by E. L. Smith, of Hood River. Addresses and informal talks will be given by ex-Counsel Miller, ex-Governor Geer, George H. Himes, J. H. Settlemeier, Judge Stewart, of Yankton, Mark Levy, Horticultural Commissioner Carson, Judge Riddle, of Hillsdale, Dr. O. F. S. Plummer, Dr. A. Sharples, R. D. Allen, Henry Freborough, C. A. Swallow, C. H. Welch, Arthur Miller, Asa Holladay and others.

La Grande Crop Goes to Market.

UNION, Or., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—A large force of packers have been at work and the apple crop is moving at a lively pace. Until recently there has been a shortage of cars. The yield for 1910 was fine and the quality above the average. The price offered is satisfactory. The time is not far distant when the Grand Ronde apple pack is expected to equal the best in the Northwest.
