POISON EATEN GREEDILY

Denth Struggle of Gypsy Queen, Big African Brute, 87 Years Old, Continues for 44 Minutes-Doelle in Last Hour.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.-It took 500 grains of cyanide of potassi n, the most deadly poison, to kill Gypsy Queen, a trick elephant, executed today for the murder of her keeper, Robert Schiel, on October 20. Less than one grain is sufficient to kill any man and the first convulsive symptoms supervene almost before the victim can set down the glass from which he

Gypsy Queen swayed backware and forward, flapping her big ears, for ten-minutes before she showed the least uneasiness. It was 44 minutes before whe was prenounced dead.

The poison was given in three pali-fuls of bran mash, in which had been guins of bran mash, in which had been sprinkled 100 capsules, each of five grains of cyanide. The elephant had been starved, for 24 hours and ate greedily. At the end of ten minutes she shivered in all her bulk of 7500 pounds, her knees weakened, her trunk grew rigid, she rolled her eyes and

In the next two minutes she got up In the next two minutes she got up four times, struggling against the chains that bound her. At the end of 20 minutes her breathing was imper-ceptible, but 48 minutes after her first swallow she blinked when her trainer passed his hand before her eyes. That was the last sign of life. The Queen was born in Africa 57 years ago and was one of the largest elephanis in captivity. Of recent years her temper grew sullen. Last October she select an unaccustomed keeper, who had been warned not to go near her, slammed him against the wall of her cell and then trod him into a pulp A few days ago she grabbed for another keeper, but he kept out of reach.

Nevertheless her trainer never lost faith in her. To prove her decility he took her out today a few minutes be-fore her execution and led her through her paces. She seemed willing to per-form and submitted to caresses before she was led in to her death.

ORANGE N. J., Nov. 25 .- Thanksgiving day for the children of the late Jasob Deckenbach, formerly a resident of Orange, always will have a peculiar significance, for it brought the news that they were helrs to a fortune of $100,000 left by their father. Chance alone placed them in the way of the money, the administrators of his eatate having discovered the exister of the children only through a land search by a prospective purchaser of a block in Portland, Or. The search brought inquiries to Orange and the in-formation that they obtained showed that the children were living.

Those to benefit are John and Adam Deckenbach. Their father went West 25 years ago. He was not heard of for many years, and died three years ago

Mrs. Johanna Deckenbach, who conducts a rooming-house at 4041 East Morrison street, said last night that she does not understand why the statement should be made that the children of Jacob Deckenbach, her deceased husband, should be said to be heirs to the real estate of Mr. Deckenbach. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26-The As-ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The Associated Press received early today from Vladimir Tschertkoff, literary agent of the late Count Telstol, the last article written by Tolatol. It is entitled "Effective Meana" It was written by Tolstol shortly after he began his self-imposed exile from home.

The article says: "I em naturally anxious to do all I can against evil, which tortures the best suirits of our which tortures the best spirits of our think the present effective war against capital punishment does not need forcing; there is no need for an expression of indignation against its immorality, cruelty and absurdity. New Form of Protest Needed.

"Therefore I think that neither the expression of indignation against the murder of our fellow men nor the suggestion of its barror is mainly needed, but something totally different.

"What knowledge need we communi-cate to the deluded human mind regarding the indispensableness, usefulness or justice of capital punishment in order that said delusion may destroy itself. "Such knowledge, in my opinion, is this: The knowledge of what is man, what is surrounding world; what his destiny; bence, what man can and must do and principally what he cannot and must Hangmen Want to Preserve Selves.

"I know this is not an easy task. The employers and approvers of hangmen with the instinct of self preservation, feel that this knowledge will make impos-sible the maintenance of the position which they occupy, hence not only will they themselves not adopt it, but by all means in their power, by violence, deceit, lies and cruelty they will try to hide from the people this knowledge.

Therefore, if we wish readily to destroy the delusion of capital punish-

TOLSTOPS LIFE IS EULOGIZED

Rabbi Wise Pays Tribute to Character of Great Russian.

Jonah B. Wise paid an eloquent tribute to the great Russian novelist. Rabbi Wise briefly outlined the life of Tolstoi, which was begun amidst the enervating environment of Russian nobility, where, as he himself said, his mother was ambitions for him to be able to boast of an intrigue with a woman of nobility, and where prince and slave, master and and where prince and slave, master and man were the classes of society.

The growth of Tolstol's moral character was depicted, showing how he became a believer in immortality, a hater of dogma, and a lover of religious measures to men. The speaker read some of Tolstol's articles on Christianity, and his love for religion was described as "not dogma, but faith; not damnation, but the forgiving of even the adulter-ess-not stupid coddling of inferior vir-tue, but strengthening even power for doing good."

The speaker told of Tolstoi's work as a novellst, especially his appeal for help for those oppressed, for conscience sake, by Russia, in "The Resurrection." Tolstot as a humanitarian, novellst, philos-opher, hater of war, despiser of false-hood, seeker after truth, was shown in the summing up of the great Russian's

FEE REACHES MILLIONS

INDIAN ATTORNEY EXPLAINS $20,0000,000 CONTRACT.

House Committee Hears Testlmony Covering Claims of Delaware Tribe in Big Land Grant.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- Contracts by Richard C. Adams, an attorney, to collect from the Federal Government $20,000,000 for Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes were explained today by Adams to the House special committee appointed to inquire into contracts with the Indians. Adams is a Delaware Indian and most of his contracts were with that tribe.

Were Adams to collect all his claims, he would be entitled to a contingent fee ranging from 10 to 35 per cent. He estimated that the average fee would be 16 per cent. This would amount to about $2,200,000. In addition, Adams told the committee, he had a contract to attend to a claim of Cherokees against the State of Texas, rising out of land alleged to have been taken from the Indians, and involving probably $29,000,000. Of this he would get a contingent fee of 35 per cent. The claims against the Federal Government included war claims, re-munerations for "Delaware" lands given to New York Indians, and the right to land free from a 25-year re-striction as to sale. Adams denied that he had made statements that Representative Carter, of Oklahoma, testified Adams had made in regard to the attempt to get Congress to approve the "McMurray contracts" for the sale of Indian lands. Adams said he had, however, an interest in the contracts, having been employed by McMurray. He testified that Carter was "mistaken."

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "92" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead nor had the scadp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are en-tirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth. When Rexail "93" Hair Tonic will do as above stated, it is not strange that we have such great faith in it and that we claim it will prevent baldness when used in time. It acts scientifically, de-stroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor per-manently stain the hair. We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Cor. 7th and Washington Sts
