Mr. Cudahy was born in Callan, Coun ty Kilkenny, Ireland, December 17, 1841. He came to the United States with his parents in 1849, the family settling at Milwaukee. In 1855, while a boy of 15, Mr. Cudahy became an employe in a Milwaukes packing-house and this marked the beginning of his career in the in dustry in which he took a prominent part. From a butcher, Mr. Cudaby moved up rapidly to foreman, packing-house manager and meat inspector. At this time he attracted the attention of the late P D. Armour, and at the latter's solicitation, came to Chicago.

In 1872 Mr. Cudahy was made a pariner in the firm of Armour & Co. He continued in this connection until 1890, when e was instrumental in organizing the Cudahy Packing Company of which he was made president. His brothers, John and Patrick, were associates with him.

The firm established numerous branch houses and became well known in Milwaukee, Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Los Angeles, Sioux City, St. Louis and FARMING STATIONS WILL DOT OREGON.

Plan Under Way to Extend Experimental Work of Agricultural College.

GOVERNMENT TO GIVE AID

Department of Agriculture Will Pay One-Half Cost of Maintaining Undertakings and State Will Pay Other Half.

An elaborate plan for extending the experimental work of the Oregon Agricultural College by establishing new stations in various parts of the state, is now being considered by President W. J. Kerr, of the institution, and officers of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. Mr. Kerr arrived in Portland yesterday from Washington, where he attended an educators' conference.

The plan which Mr. Kerr last night announced for the first time contemplates a co-operative system of onducting the experimental stations through the Oregon Agricultural College.

An experimental station probably will be established in Southern Oregon to take up the problems with which farmers and horticulturalists in that part of the state have to contend, another station in the Harney Valley to experiment with cereals for dry farming, and experiments in the Willamette Valley with irrigation to bring up the quality and increase the quantity of all farm products, vegetables and fruit.

Definite Plans Outlined.

President Kerr attended the conven tion of the Association of the American Colleges of Agriculture and Experi-mental Stations. While there he took up the matter of establishing new experimental stations in Oregon and the problems that confront the agricultur-ist and horticulturist in this state on account of its diversified climate, soil and altitude.

As a result of a series of conferences definite plans were outlined, whereby the Government will pay one-half the cost of maintaining the several experi-mental undertakings and the state the ther half. The entire proposition will be presented to the Board of Regents of the college at its annual meeting in December and a report will be formulated, so that the matter may be presented to the Legislature with a request for an appropriation equal to an amount the National Government is willing to give to assist the state in furthering its experiments and disseminating knowledge thus gained to those inter-ested in rural industries.

The experiments contemplated for the Willamette Valley will be to improve the quality and increase the quantity of all products now grown, with the assistance of irrigation.

Vegetables to Be Aided.

Experiments will especially be directed to raising vegetables, green pasture for he dairying interests and small fruit. While the experiments will be along scientific lines, they will also be conducted with a view to financial profits, basing the result on the net returns the rigated products will bring. In the Harney Valley nundreds of acres are available for dry farming, but an experiment station is needed to de-termine what cereals are best suited to the climate and altitude and the short

These stations will not be used for the benefit of the particular district in which they are located, but will be in the nature of distributing points, from which the professors of the col-leges may operate.
