

MYSTERIOUS GIRL TELLS HER STORY

Testimony Elicited by Police Is Admitted as Evidence in Glover Murder Case.

TRIAL NEARS CONCLUSION

Alleged Murderess Hid Under Bed Three Days, According to Her Statement to Witnesses, but She Is Reticent.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 6.—Prosecution in the trial of Hattie LeBlanc for the murder of Clarence F. Glover was its first important point late today in obtaining permission to have introduced in evidence tomorrow the testimony given by the second girl at her examination by the police after her arrest. This was conducted in French through the aid of Zella Gallant, a nurse, who served the police as interpreter.

Nurse Will Testify.

Counsel for the LeBlanc girl took an exception to the ruling. Miss Gallant will take the stand tomorrow. She may be the last witness for the government. Seymour S. Glover, brother of the murdered man, was cross-examined. He said he was employed as a shipper in the Waltham laundry after he had been notified of his brother's death, he and Mr. Whitehill, the manager, searched the laundry several times.

Girl Merely Nodded.

The witness then described the search of the Glover house on the Tuesday night after the murder, when Hattie LeBlanc was found under a bed. He heard Mr. LeBlanc's name called and he had been under the bed for three days, and the girl nodded, but he did not hear her say anything.

At the request of Mr. Johnson, Glover drew a diagram of the marks on the floor at the foot of the laundry stairs, as he remembered them. The attorney presented the Glover and his wife's diagrams to the jury for comparison.

Louis B. Callahan, a Waltham automobile dealer, testified today to seeing Glover twice on the night he was killed. The witness saw Glover about 3 o'clock, and again 15 or 20 minutes later. Glover was alone both times.

Robert L. Wiley, who Mrs. Glover had described in her testimony as "a big, handsome man," told of going to Newton by automobile after the murder, carrying a number of police inspectors who were searching for Hattie.

He was present at the Glover house when the first search for Hattie was made. He saw Mrs. Glover and she had but did not notice what she was doing.

Gilbert McCall, superintendent of the laundry owned by Glover, testified that after the murder he had found Glover's cap in a basket in a passageway. He had seen the marks on the floor described yesterday by witness Elmore. He also found a comb and a pin, which is alleged to be owned by the defendant.

Comb Is Identified.

In the cross-examination Mr. McCall admitted he might have made the marks found on the floor of the laundry the day after the shooting, for he was in the building the night before between 7 and 8 o'clock, and he admitted that in his opening argument last week claimed that the shooting occurred half or three-quarters of an hour subsequent to that time.

He drew a diagram of the marks as he remembered them, but when shown the three diagrams drawn by Lawyer Elmore, who said he had identified the marks, McCall said that Mr. Elmore's recollection differed from his own.

Regarding the comb which Mr. Elmore said he picked up in the laundry and which several witnesses had identified as belonging to Hattie LeBlanc, Mr. McCall said he saw Mrs. Glover wearing the comb or a similar comb the day after the shooting.

PORTLAND IS WELL LIKED

W. R. Callaway, of Soo Line, Surprised at Growth.

"Portland's progress since I was here a year ago is almost startling," declared W. R. Callaway, of Minneapolis, general passenger agent of the Soo Line, when he arrived in the city yesterday.

As he admiringly viewed the numerous skyscrapers under course of erection he shook his head and calmly remarked that he had never seen anything like it.

Mr. Callaway added that business out of Portland had increased wonderfully during the past year and that he expected it to grow even more in the next year. He left last night for San Francisco and other Southern points.

BAKER CITY NOW "BAKER"

New Appointment of Postmaster Necessary; Lachner May Be Man.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 6.—Representative Ellis was today notified by the Postmaster-General that in conformity with a general practice now being enforced, the name of Baker City postoffice will be curtailed by eliminating the word "City."

When this change is made it will be necessary to make new appointment of a postmaster. Ellis is asked whether he desires the reappointment of W. J. Lachner, present postmaster, or whether a change is desired. He will be guided largely by the wishes of the people of Baker.

EXTRA SESSION IS PLANNED

(Continued from First Page.) Iowa is in the Eighth Circuit, which is to be represented in the Supreme Court appointments, and the President is anxious to consult as many Senators and Representatives from the circuit as possible.

Senators Bacon and Terrell and Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, were at the White House to urge the appointment of Judge Joseph R. Lamar, of Augusta, Ga., a Democrat. Senator Fenwick, of Pennsylvania, and Dick, of Ohio, and ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, all talked Supreme Court with the President late today.

NAVY TO HAVE DENTAL CORPS

Bill Provides Automatically to Make Them Officers in 11 Years.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A corps of 30 dentists is to be a permanent part of the Navy. If the action of the House Committee on Naval Affairs today is affirmed by the House, the committee favorably reported the bill entering members of the dental corps as acting assistant surgeons, with provision that after 11 years' service there may be developed from them automatically one Lieutenant-Commander, four passed assistant surgeons and 25 assistant surgeons.

The age limit in the bill, fixed at from 25 to 35, was changed to 24 to 32.

WILL IS NOT OPPOSED

MRS. EDDY'S SON ASSENTS TO REQUESTS OF FOUNDER.

CHURCH WILL GET FORTUNE—George Washington Glover goes to funeral not in "hostile spirit."

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—(Special.)—George Washington Glover, son of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, will not contest the will of the founder of Christian Science, he stated today in Chicago, and his close family friend, John C. Ryan, made the same statement in a positive manner.

Mr. Glover, with his son and daughter, George, Jr., and Miss Mary Glover, and Mr. Ryan, reached Chicago early in the day on his way from Lead, S. D., to Mrs. Eddy's funeral.

Mr. Glover said he was not going "in any hostile attitude," and Mr. Ryan made the open declaration that there would be no fight on the will, which leaves Mrs. Eddy's $2,000,000 fortune to the Christian Science Church.

"The estate was settled, so far as Mr. Glover is concerned, two years ago," he said. He refused to say what the settlement was, but report has put the amount given him at $150,000, in the shape of a trust fund.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR TOMB

Funeral Services to Be Held Thursday, If Son Agrees.

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—The north shore of Haverhill Lake in an exclusive section of Mount Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge will become the last resting place of Mary Baker Glover Eddy, widow of the founder of the Christian Science Church.

Three lots, the only ones remaining in the circle about the lake, have been bought by friends of Mrs. Eddy, and the tomb will be made at once and work begun in the Spring on a suitable tomb.

Directly across the little lake may be seen the tombs of James Russell Lowell and Oliver Wendell Holmes, while many other names famous in American letters and professional life may be read on nearby memorials.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday at the Chestnut Hill home, if Mr. Glover enters no objection.

MORE MONEY TO BE ASKED

Forest Patrol Will Make Demands on State Legislatures.

SPOKANE, Dec. 6.—With the convening of Legislatures the most earnest efforts will be made by lumbermen in four states—Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon, to secure appropriations for forest fire fighting of $100,000 or more. The amounts heretofore assigned for use each year. This policy was brought out at today's session of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, now meeting here.

W. B. Greeley, district forecaster of Missouri, Mont., talked of ground telephone systems, insulated wires being simply laid on the surface, as an aid in fire fighting. He said:

"Next season we are going to install another system, also recommended by Signal Corps men. This is known as the 'Field buzzer,' and can be used for as much as five miles as a telephone, and from that to 30 miles as a telegraph. It is a buzzer with a key and the Morse code.

"The use of dynamite in fighting fires was an innovation this year," Eugene McQuint, superintendent of the Washington Fire Association, its use, however, has convinced that the experiment was worth while."

WOMEN LOCKED IN TRAP

One of the Victims in Newark Fire Was in Charge.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 6.—W. Irving Wolf, president of the Wolf Undergarment Manufacturing Company, 25 of whose women and girl employees perished in the fire of Saturday, November 26, testified today before a Coroner's jury that Miss Anna Haag, one of the victims, was in charge of the plant. He stated there never had been any fire drill of employees and that the door at the foot of the stairs was sometimes kept locked.

Lucius McQuint, superintendent of the Anchor Lamp Company, where the fire started, said that when he ran into the hallway to give the alarm to employees of the Wolf factory on the floor above he found the door leading up the stairway locked. If it had been unlocked the entire floor could have been emptied.

RIVER PROJECT OPPOSED

Secretary of War Advising Against Canalizing of Idaho Stream.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 6.—The Secretary of War today sent Congress a report recommending against an appropriation for canalizing Clearwater river, Idaho, from its mouth to Kamiah.

This is the only feasible means of opening this stream to practical navigation, giving a depth of six feet as desired, but Army engineers are of the opinion that the limited commerce that would be benefited would not justify the expenditure of an amount necessary to build canals.

lary Manufacturing Company, Pittsburg, Pa.

32 Individuals Defendants.

The individual defendants are: Theodore A. Ahrens, Francis J. Torrance, E. L. Davies, and W. A. Myler, respectively president, first and second vice-presidents and treasurer of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company.

C. M. Voelke and T. R. Barnes, president and secretary of the Barnes Manufacturing Company.

Frank H. Caldwell and J. J. Mahoney, president and vice-president of the Cahill Iron Works.

James T. Duryea and Burt O. Tilden, president and secretary of Odwell Lead Company.

W. G. Winfield and A. G. Ward, president and vice-president of the Day-Ward Company.

S. M. Ford and R. G. Carpenter, president and secretary of the Humphrey's Manufacturing Company.

J. A. Fraumenheim, president and treasurer of the Kerner Manufacturing Company.

Jordan Mott and Max Goebel, president and secretary of the J. L. Mott Iron Works.

Thomas Walker and Alexander C. Walker, president and director of McVay & Walker.

Lloyd C. McCrum and Howard T. Gates, president and secretary of the McCrum-Howell Company.

Frank G. Borden and D. W. Davis, president and secretary of the National Sanitary Manufacturing Company.

L. C. Huesman and E. V. Brugham, president and secretary of the Union Sanitary Manufacturing Company.

Charles F. Arrott and A. H. Clima, Jr., president and secretary of the United States Sanitary & Manufacturing Company.

Anton Welkitt, president of A. Welkitt & Sons Company.

Ludwig M. Wolf and Herman M. Hoelcher, president and secretary of L. Wolf Manufacturing Company.

J. E. Wright and George W. Franzheim, president and secretary of the Wheeling Enamelled Iron Company.

Four Counts in Indictments.

The two indictments against each defendant contain six and four counts respectively, and charge that the defendants controlled 85 per cent of the annual output combined to restrain the trade of manufacturers and of jobbers of plumbing supplies by refusing to sell to jobbers handling the goods of so-called independents, by fixing re-sale prices, by dividing the United States into 11 zones and by refusing to sell to jobbers who would not maintain the re-sale prices.

It is charged that the effect of these re-sale prices is to make the price the same throughout the United States and to eliminate competition of jobbers as well as of manufacturers.

The indictment also charge that the defendants compelled the jobbers to enter into uniform contracts and that all the defendants refused to sign to any jobber unless he would sign a contract.

The government officials took the ground that the evidence in the civil suit established that the defendants attempted to disguise their combination by the subterfuge of purchasing the certain tools and licensing certain firms to use these tools.

Wayman Important Witness.

The government places great weight on the testimony of Edwin L. Wayman, of Pittsburg, who is described as the licensor of the alleged combination and whose testimony in the civil suit has given him immunity from criminal proceedings.

The charge is that Wayman obtained $7000 from the People's State Bank of Pittsburg by getting 100 shares of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company as security and that in using this fund to purchase several patents $5000 went back to the Standard Manufacturing Company for patent that it is alleged to have turned over to the combination. Wayman is not a voluntary witness.

The government charges that Wayman collected $5 a furnace a day from each of the 16 defendant firms, some of which had as many as 50 furnaces, and that after two months the State States which did not violate the agreement were to receive a rebate of 80 per cent of this contribution. Wayman's collection, it is alleged, ran as high as $700 a day.

The defendants against whom indictments were found will be required to appear at once in the United States Court here and give bonds for their appearance.

Among the witnesses who gave testimony here are: Walter J. Koenig, president of the J. M. Kohler Sons Company, Sheboygan, Chicago, San Francisco and New York; John A. Kelly, of the Iron City Sanitary Manufacturing Company, Pittsburg, and Zelinople, Pa.; John L. Sullwood, president of the Western Supply Company, St. Paul, Minn.; Henry E. Bullock, president of the Illinois Malleable Iron Company, Chicago; James K. Gilmore, president of the D. M. Gilmore Company, Minneapolis.

EVASION CAUSE OF INQUIRY

Department of Justice Roused by Attempt at Subterfuge.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—When advice reached the Department of Justice late today relating to the indictment in Detroit of officials of 16 corporations engaged in the manufacture of bathtubs, enameled ware, etc., the department issued a statement concerning its investigation of the alleged combination.

Reviewing the evidence, the statement in part, follows:

"The department some time since brought about suit against this combination and has been taking evidence in the suit for some time. This developed the facts that the annual output of bathtubs and plumbing supplies, etc., aggregates about $15,000,000 a year; that the defendants have fixed prices by agreement and have advanced prices so fixed and have regulated by agreement the price at which jobbers were permitted to resell the products purchased from the combination, and that an effort had been made to bind all jobbers in the business to sell such wares at only the prices fixed by the combination.

"To that end the combination refused to sell jobbers who would not agree to resell at the prices fixed, and also refused to sell to any jobbers who handled any supplies manufactured by persons not in the combination.

"The evidence tended to show that the defendants knew, when they entered into this combination, that after an arrangement would be unlawful and that they accordingly sought for a device behind which to conceal the true character of the combination, that after they had agreed upon the terms and conditions and upon re-sale prices, on the day before the final meeting, at which the agreement was to be signed, three members of the combination assigned certain patents for tools used in the manufacture of the ware to the promoter of the combination, who borrowed securities on which to obtain a loan of $7000, by the expenditure of $4000, of which he asserted he had acquired the patents and thereby the right to control the entire output of the 16 manufacturers, aggregating millions of dollars annually.

"The evidence further showed that the manufacturer assigned a committee on the day they entered into this combination, which committee, with the license referred to, fixed the price of all the products sold by the combination and the terms and conditions upon which they shall be sold.

"It further appeared that the defendants, at a meeting in New York City, appointed a committee to determine the 'price and schedule committee,' to determine prices and conditions of sale. This committee held a ten-day session at Mount Clemens, Mich., some months ago, and fixed prices, conditions, etc.

"The department, being satisfied that not only was this a deliberate case of international violation of the antitrust law, but a fictitious semblance of dealing in patented articles, under a legitimate patent license agreement, was adopted of the nature of the transaction, it caused the evidence to be submitted to a judge at Detroit and this investigation has resulted in the indictments above referred to."

PROTEST WILL BE MADE

Astoria Port Commission Says Dredging River Hurting Harbor.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—The Port of Astoria Commission met in regular monthly session at the courthouse this morning with all the members present, excepting Commissioner E. J. H. Smith, who was absent.

The committee decided that as soon as arrangements can be made, probably on next Tuesday, the Commissioners will go to Portland to meet with Major McIndoe, of the United States Engineers, and confer with him regarding the dredging that is now in progress above the city and which is injuring the local harbor.

The Commission will also request the department to make a survey of the Astoria harbor as the last one was made in 1905, five years ago. A levy of one mill on the taxable property in the county was made to raise funds for defraying the expenses of the Commission's work and to make needed surveys.

MAILCARRIER IS MISSING

Full-blooded Indian Believed to Have Drowned in Siletz.

NEWPORT, Or., Dec. 6.—Word was received here last evening that Guy Chapman, the mail carrier between Siletz and Kerville, was drowned in the Siletz River some time during Friday. He was on his return trip from Kerville, and left that place Friday morning for the Siletz, a distance of 30 miles, of which are made by boat on the Siletz River. Chapman should have reached Siletz early Friday evening, but failing to arrive there, search was made for him, which resulted in finding his boat, capsized, a few miles above Kerville. The way mail sack was also found nearby, but the second sack is missing. Chapman is a full-blooded Indian, about 23 years old, and held a Government contract on this mail route.

mated them with gray hearts. Meanwhile in Pasadena the gray clouds of Siletz and Kerville, was drowned in the Siletz River some time during Friday. He was on his return trip from Kerville, and left that place Friday morning for the Siletz, a distance of 30 miles, of which are made by boat on the Siletz River. Chapman should have reached Siletz early Friday evening, but failing to arrive there, search was made for him, which resulted in finding his boat, capsized, a few miles above Kerville. These were dark days for Linnard. His invitation to Jap officers had been accepted. His guests had refused to attend. He finally made up his courage to send a note to Admiral Yashiro that owing to circumstances over which he had no control the dance and ball would not be given. The gentle Japs were very sorry about the circumstances over which their friend had no control, but they consoled themselves with the thought of their own fine ball to be given on the 14th, when they would meet the gracious beauties of that dear Pasadena.

Three o'clock came, and the cutters began arriving with heated and perspiring Los Angeles Japanese, with a sprinkling of Los Angeles business men.

Four o'clock arrived, and the Japanese band struck up an American two-step. The dancing floor was bare and ready to be used. But there were no dancers.

Four o'clock and still no Pasadena beauties. The delicious luncheon which had been prepared by the Japanese stewards was served.

Children Told Not to Come.

Admiral Yashiro, who had scarcely left the entrance to the dancing floor, was a little anxious. He walked several times to the gangway and peered earnestly toward the harbor. Masanori Alexander and a number of Councilmen of Los Angeles arrived. They were politely received.

Flurry o'clock came and still no Pasadena people. Admiral Yashiro was plainly nettled. The willing Japanese band had been playing heroically toward the harbor.

A message came that the schoolchildren of Long Beach, fully 500 strong, were about to start for the battleship upon the invitation of Admiral Yashiro.

Admiral Yashiro immediately sent a messenger with the information that the schoolchildren need not come.
