

CHINESE DOCTOR ACCUSES OFFICIAL

Returning to Orient He Will File Charge Against Ambassador Chong.

CHINATOWN IS AROUSED

Cartoons Posted in San Francisco Demand Recall of Nation's Representative at Washington. Alleged Snub Is Resented.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—(Special.)—In anything but a pleasant frame of mind because of his treatment by Ambassador Chong Yia Tsong and his secretary, Dr. King H. Kwan, who sailed from San Francisco on the steamer Chinayo Maru this afternoon, to lay a grievance before the authorities of China and to assume charge of the hospital at Tientsin.

The trouble between the Chinese officials at Washington and Dr. Kwan grew out of the case of Ling Shee, son of a prominent merchant in Chinatown, who was denied a landing in this country. Kwan, who made a study of tropical diseases, visited the United States to attend a conference of surgeons in Washington.

While here the case of Ling Shee was brought to his attention. This individual had been refused admittance on the ground that he was suffering from a disease which might prove contagious.

To make a test of Shee's case, Kwan was asked to go to Washington in behalf of the local Chinese, who feared that such a thing might become a precedent, and that some of their countrymen might be denied permission to land here in future.

At Washington Kwan struggled to achieve his purpose, but in all his efforts he says he was without any assistance from either the Ambassador or that official's secretary.

He is known to be particularly bitter against the secretary, and as a result of his report to the Chinese merchants here, Chinatown has been filled with cartoons and notices calling for the removal of the Ambassador, and denouncing the act of his secretary. Yesterday a memorial was prepared and it will be presented to the Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The matter has assumed large importance, and more than likely drastic measures may be employed against those in Washington.

JOHN D.'S BIG GIFT

ported by the people, with whom up to now he had simply been co-operating.

Withdrawal Is Definite.
Mr. Rockefeller's idea, it is said, is that he is turning over the institution and its endowment to Chicago and the West and in so doing withdraws from any further representation in its control.

Announcement of the gift was made at the quarterly convocation at the university this afternoon.

The gift was announced in a letter to the president and trustees. It says: "New York, December 12, 1910.—To the president and trustees of the University of Chicago:

Funds Are Set Aside.
"Dear Sirs: I have this day caused to be set aside from the University of Chicago from the funds of the general education board, which was subject to my disposition, income-bearing securities of the present market value of approximately $5,000,000, the same to be delivered to the university in ten equal annual installments beginning January 1, 1911, each installment to bear income to the university from the date of such delivery only.

"A list of these securities is appended herewith. In a separate letter of seven days my wishes regarding the investment and uses of the fund are more specifically expressed.

Others May Make Gifts.
"It is far better that the university be supported and enlarged by the gifts of many than by those of a single donor.

"This I have recognized from the beginning, and accordingly, have sought to assist you in eliciting the interest and securing the contributions of many others, at times by making my own gifts conditional on the gifts of others, and at times by aiding you by means of unconditional gifts to make the university as generally useful, worthy and attractive as possible.

West Is Appreciated.
"Most heartily do I recognize and rejoice in the generous response of citizens of Chicago and the West. Their contributions to the resources of the university have been, I believe, more than $7,000,000. It might, perhaps, be difficult to find a parallel to this generosity so large and so widely distributed as this, exercised in behalf of an institution so recently founded.

"I desire to express my appreciation also of the extraordinary wisdom and fidelity which you, as president and trustees, have shown in conducting the affairs of the university. In the multitude of students so quickly gathered, in the high character of the instruction, in the variety and extent of original research, in the valuable contributions to human knowledge, in the uplifting influence of the university as a whole upon education throughout the West, my highest hopes have been far exceeded.

Gift Is Final One.
"It is those considerations, with others, that move me to sum up in a single and final gift, distributing its payment over a period of many years to come, such further contributions as I have proposed to make to the university.

"The sum I now give is intended to make provision, with such gifts as may reasonably be expected from others, for such needed buildings, equipment and endowment as the departments thus far established will need. This gift completes the task which I have set before myself. The founding and support of new departments for the development of the varied and alluring field of applied science, including medicine, I leave to the wisdom of the trustees, as funds may be furnished for these purposes by other friends of the university.

"In making an end of my gifts to the university, as I now do, and in withdrawing from the board of trustees my personal representatives whose resignations I inclose, I am acting on an early and permanent conviction that this institution, being the property of the people, should be controlled, conducted and supported by the people, in whose generous efforts for its upbuilding I have been permitted simply to co-operate; and I could wish to co-ordinate anew to the great cause of education the funds which I have given if that were possible in preventing the institution a second time. Insofar as I have aided in founding it, to the people of Chicago and the West; and express my hope that, under their management and with their generous support, the university may be an increasing blessing to them to their children and to future generations. Very truly yours,

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

President Ryerson Speaks.
President Ryerson, of the board of trustees, making announcement of the gift, said:
"It would be difficult to describe adequately the emotions aroused in the minds of the members of the board of trustees by the communication I have just read.

"There is, first of all, a feeling of the deepest gratitude for this wonderful gift. It assures to the university for many years to come a continuous development which cannot fail to inspire confidence and resolve for further progress through the aid of other benefactors.

Sentiment Referred To.
"In withdrawing from an active interest in the affairs of the university the founder has left no cause for disappointment in the material side, but there are sentimental considerations which cannot be overlooked, and the university has derived from his interest in its welfare there must be taken into account not only the great sum of his benefactions and the wisdom with which they were bestowed, but also the constant encouragement derived from his personal interest and sympathy.

"An aged, however, with the regret that Mr. Rockefeller should deem it wise to sever the ties that have united the founder to the university, there is recognition of the force of the reason given for this action, and there is the conviction that in thus anticipating all he had in mind to do for the university and in withdrawing his representation, Mr. Rockefeller is moving solely by a desire to promote the welfare of the institution he founded.

"The board of trustees adopted a resolution expressing appreciation of Mr. Rockefeller's generosity and ordered a copy spread upon the records, one of which was presented to Mr. Rockefeller by a special committee.

WILL PROVIDES ALIMONY

$50,000 SET ASIDE FOR WIDOW OF MAJOR HANSEN.

Codicil Places Sum at Disposal of Theosophist Relatives—Entire Estate Valued at $350,000.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 20.—The will of Major John Hansen, president of the Central Georgia Railroad, was filed for probate today. The value of the estate is estimated at $350,000.
The sum of $50,000 is set aside for use of both principal and interest on allmonee for the widow, Mrs. Cora L. Hansen, the testator's widow, from whom he had been separated. At her death the remainder reverts to the estate.
Except for the provisions of Mrs. Hansen, the estate is to be divided among Major Hansen's children and grandchildren.
A codicil refers to the membership in the Theosophist cult in California of Mrs. Fannie Hansen White and her children and the four children of Walter T. Hansen. Being informed that Theosophists can have no individual property, the testator allows Mrs. White and her children free use of the income of their share of the estate, but the full principal is not to be paid until after Mrs. White's death and after the children have renounced Theosophy or until the children reach the age of 21.
The same provision applies to Walter T. Hansen's children.

CANAL MEN GET NO RISE

Boilermakers' Union Will Not Bar Members From Work on Isthmus.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—H. L. Mayhew, representing the hourly employees of the Panama Canal, was at the White House today and asked President Taft to grant still further concessions to the boilermakers and other mechanics on the Isthmus.

Following his recent visit to the zone, the President denied a request for a general increase in pay but did grant an increase in the amount of leave with pay granted the hourly employees. It is doubtful if the President will make any further concessions.

Members of the International Boilermakers' Union will be permitted by that body to go to the Isthmus of Panama for work on the Canal, notwithstanding the action of 199 boilermakers in resigning positions there.

The resignation of the boilermakers is not regarded by the Canal Commission in any sense as a strike, as the men gave the usual five days' notice. The Commission is glad the matter will not develop into a labor problem as it is desired to employ American citizens as far as possible. The action of the Isthmians, it is said, will obviate any necessity for seeking boilermakers outside the United States.

TOMATO PASTE IS SEIZED

Carload of New Jersey Oysters Also Under Pure Food Law Ban.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Acting on an order of the United States District Court here, the United States Marshal for the Northern District of California seized a large shipment of tomato paste which arrived here today from New York. According to the complaint filed by the Federal Pure Food inspectors with the court, the paste contains filthy decomposed vegetable substances. The shipment was made by Pietro Roncoloni of New York, and consigned to A. J. Smith & Brothers of this city.

The authorities are now prepared to seize a carload of oysters, due to arrive here today from Long Beach, California. New Jersey. Extraordinary precautions will be taken by the officials to prevent the shippers from dumping the cargo into the bay. According to a telegram received today from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the shipment consists of oysters which were taken from polluted waters.

Senator Aldrich's Hand Treated.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Senator Aldrich today had a slight operation on his left hand to relieve a tension of the cords between the index and middle fingers. The trouble, which is not regarded seriously, was caused by an injury he received last fall, when he was struck by a streetcar while walking in Madison avenue.

War Secretary Says United States Could Not Repel Invasion on Either Coast—Defenses Are Equipped Inadequately.

resolution, in reference to the state of readiness of the country for defense in the event of war, with particular reference to its preparedness to repel invasion if attempted (a) on the Atlantic or Gulf coasts or (b) on the Pacific Coast.

"In my opinion this country cannot, so far as its land forces are concerned, be considered in a state of readiness for defense or to repel invasion, if attempted on our coasts by any first-class power having the shipping, transports, and the navy to protect the transit of her armed forces over the sea.

Enemy's Conduct Forecast.
"An enemy operating on the offensive against our Atlantic and Gulf or our Pacific coasts would have a wide choice of objectives and points of landing. He would manifestly keep us ignorant as to the point of attack selected, and would attempt to make his lodgment on the coast by attacking the coast defenses from the front, by landing one or more of the coast defense guns and attacking the fortifications from the rear or by a combination of both methods.

"The liberty of choosing the point of attack which belongs to the offensive and the necessity of providing an adequate defense available for all points liable to attack, involves our having, first, a sufficient force of cavalry, field artillery and infantry to prevent his landing out of range of the seacoast armament and capturing the defenses from the rear, and, second, a sufficient manning detail of coast artillery troops, with ample supplies for operating the coast defenses, to insure our having, first, a sufficient force of cavalry, field artillery and infantry to prevent his landing out of range of the seacoast armament and capturing the defenses from the rear, and, second, a sufficient manning detail of coast artillery troops, with ample supplies for operating the coast defenses, to insure our having,

"A conservative estimate of the forces which could be transported in a single expedition over the Atlantic Ocean to a fur coast by a first-class power would be 100,000 men, and the time required would be from 10 days to 18 days.

"Such an expeditionary force might be followed by another of like strength in from 20 to 40 days.

Atlantic Not Well Guarded.

"The minimum number of trained mobile troops necessary to be placed in readiness in the first line at strategic points in the New England, Middle Atlantic and Gulf states, to prevent a lodgment by the first expeditionary force on the Atlantic or Gulf coast is 400,000.
"These troops, about 50,000 of which would be regulars, should be in proper proportion of infantry, cavalry, field artillery, etc., fully equipped for the field and organized into the highest tactical units, capable of being ready for field operations within 10 or 20 days after military operations start.
"To meet this requirement we probably would require, in all parts of the United States a total force of 114,500 mobile troops—32,500 regulars and 82,000 organized militia.
"The Secretary says that the length of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, exclusive of indentations, is about 3,000 miles long. The defenses already established there require for their effective operation a force of 20,000 coast artillery troops, 16,200 regular coast artillery and 438 militia coast artillery.
"This force could be assembled in the defenses in from 20 to 30 days.

It is declared that the Atlantic and Gulf coasts lack 255,000 men in the mobile troops and 19,149 of coast artillery troops.

Pacific Needs 235,500 Men.

Exclusive of Alaska, the Pacific Coast is about 1500 miles long. "The defenses already established," says the report, "require as a minimum for all parts of the coast a force of 10,255 officers and men of the Coast Artillery Corps. To meet this requirement we have available in all parts of the United States, already stated, a total force of 20,000 coast artillery and 430 militia coast artillery.
"This force, it is thought, could be assembled in the Pacific Coast forts in from 20 to 30 days.
"The situation on the Pacific Coast seems to be:
Mobile troops—Needed to defend the coast from attack, 450,000; available, 114,500. Deficiency, 335,500.
Coast artillery troops needed to man the defenses, 10,255; available, 20,430.
Figures Declared Conservative.

The Secretary gives it as his opinion that the United States should have available at all times a trained mobile force of regulars and militia approximating 450,000 men. "The seacoast armament should be augmented where necessary and equipped with appliances and provided with an ample supply of ammunition.

"It is apparent," says the report, "after considering this paper, which is based upon a most careful analysis of the existing situation, that we are almost wholly unprepared for war; that, outside of a reserve of small arms and small arms ammunition, we have not the equipment adequate to meet the needs of the present regular army and organized militia at war strength, and, consequently, that we must need more and that things which will take longest to supply, especially field artillery guns and ammunition."

The report declares the figures to be conservative. It says that "we are almost wholly unprepared for war." The remedy is declared to be "self-evident." Preparations for enrollment, equipment and supply must be made. Supplies, other than subsistence, necessary for six months, should be assembled and packed in such a way as to permit of their prompt distribution. The lack of a "well defined military policy" is mentioned.

The Secretary concludes by advising the creation of a permanent council of national defense. "To be composed of members of the legislative and executive branches of the Government upon whom joint responsibility in this matter rests, to determine a general policy of national defense and to recommend to the Congress and to the President from time to time such measures relating to the National Defense as shall seem necessary and expedient."

BERGER'S VIEW IGNORED

Socialist Leader Fails to Impress Own Party in Milwaukee.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 20.—Victor L. Berger, alderman-at-large and Socialist-Democratic Representative-elect, was defeated by the Socialist contingent in the City Council when he opposed the measure which the city attorney has declared unconstitutional. The measure was one to allow washerwomen to use city water free of charge. The Socialist City Attorney had declared the measure unconstitutional, but the Socialists wanted to pass it any way and did so despite the objections of Berger.
The Council adopted 17 resolutions asking for the passage by the Legislature of that number of special Milwaukee bills allowing the city to engage in various enterprises at present barred by the law. The Socialists, among other requests want the authorities to erect municipal hospitals, ice plants, packing-houses, to conduct any public utility, and in general to have complete home rule granted Milwaukee, instead of the city being forced to ask legislative approval for every innovation proposed.
