Oak Park and Washington High Meet in Championship Contest Today.

STATEMENTS OF COACHES OF RIVAL TEAMS THAT PLAY TODAY.

Robert C. Zuppke, Oak Park—Just how my men will get along on the heavy wet field remains to be seen. There is one thing certain and that is we will endeavor to avoid some real Eastern football. My men are hoping for a dry day. The forward pass will be successful. This is our first experience on a wet field, but nevertheless I think we will pull through all right. I would like to see the team back to the field without having the goal crossed. The boys are prepared to make a hard fight.

Virgil Earl, Washington High School—My men appear to be in the best condition in every way and are ready for the fight of their lives. They fully realize what a win over Oak Park will mean and they are imbued with a dog-eat-dog spirit. I think we are forecasting a hard result, but do not think we'll be beaten as badly as we were.

Physically perfect, their team work of the highest order and with a promise of fair weather and a comparatively dry and fast field, the Oak Park High School, of Chicago, and Washington High School, of Portland, contenders for the interscholastic football championship of the United States, are anxiously awaiting the referee's whistle to start the game this afternoon at Recreation Park, Twenty-fourth and Washington streets. The game will commence promptly at 2:30.

Assured of the football feat of the season and the display of really "new" ball, the largest crowd that has attended a game in Portland this year is prepared to flock to the baseball park. There are plenty of seats under cover to accommodate the crowd should it rain. The grandstand will comfortably seat 5000 people.

Rounding off their hard stage of practice and preparatory work with fast zig-zagging and execution of trick plays in which the forward pass will no doubt figure conspicuously, both teams had their last practice yesterday afternoon at Recreation Park. Two different systems of coaching have been used in developing the teams. Coach Zuppke has worked his men hard all season, giving them all the practice he could give. On the other hand, Coach Earl has been sending his men through practice work twice daily for the past week. Each coach sees the advantages of his system and the spectators may look forward to a sensational afternoon's play.

Field Is Made Faster.

Under the personal supervision of K. M. Patterson, manager of the Oak Park team, and Coach Earl, for Washington, Recreation Park was yesterday placed in better football condition than exhibition of copious amounts of sawdust. This will probably be rolled this morning to produce firmness and good footing for the players. From the appearance of the field it looks to be in better condition than for any other game this season.

In each camp there is an attitude of confidence. Chicago confident of returning home without having been secured upon, and Washington equally confident of attaining the big honor of trailing the blue and gold of the Oregon team.

The report was current that Oak Park was somewhat crippled by the grueling game with the local team. It is seen that the amount of "rip" displayed in practice yesterday that report could easily be relegated to the Annals Club. Quarterbacks of Washington are expected to be in the game. Washington reports not an injury on the entire team.

Although Oak Park slightly outweighs the local team, it is not thought that the weight will add much in the chances for victory.

Reserved seats will be on sale until noon today at the Meter & Frank Company store only.

Six-Round Boat at Milwaukie Is Replete With Sensation—Eddie Keogh Falls to Appear.

Before a small crowd at the Milwaukie Country Club last night, Jockey Bennett, of Portland, and Tommy Hennessy, of Boston, put up one of the fastest and cleverest six-round boxing exhibitions in this vicinity for a number of months.

Bennett was originally scheduled to box Eddie Keogh, but on the last minute he was changed to go on over a hitch in the terms and Hennessy, being present, immediately volunteered to appear instead, and Bennett also assented to the change, which proved quite satisfactory to the spectators.

Later they were glad of the switch, for Hennessy put up a rattling good match, and while Hennessy's cleverness and punching ability outshone that of the Boston boy, the latter is deserving of special credit for his performance.

Both lads were on their feet throughout the contest, and so were half of the spectators, for the two little mit artists mixed it in lively fashion in every round. Bennett's cleverness in the lightening fight demonstrated him to be the superior boxer of the two, while Hennessy's gameness earned him the applause of the spectators.

Before the main event Bobby Evans and Ed Exposito mixed it four lively rounds. At the end of the preliminary there was little to choose between the curtain-raiser, for both were clever and aggressive and landed about as frequently.

The Milwaukie Country Club is planning to hold another smoker in the near future and a good card is promised.

BERKELEY WINS SECOND GAME

Victoria Out-Generaled, California Scoring First Time in Series.

VICTORIA, Dec. 30.—Berkeley won the second rugby match for the Cooper-Kelly cup from the Victoria team, marking the first time in the series. Evans, after some clever passing close to the Victoria line, got over in a rush just as the first half closed.

The second half ended with no additional scoring, although the Victoria men made the most of the extra time. The ground was wet, rain falling during the greater portion of the game.

The play was free from the roughness on the part of the collegians which marked the first game. The Californians excelled in passing and gained much ground by clever combination. They played with a light touch and, when Victoria had the ball close to the line, this superiority told. Victoria dribbled much better than the visitors. A number of brilliant rushes were made at the expense of the Victoria team.

A large crowd saw the game. Alex Martin, Jordan and Phegler, of Victoria, were out of the game today. The last game of the series will be played Monday.

ATHLETIC WAR NOT COMING

Sullivan Says Research Society's Work Will Be Welcome.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—War between the Amateur Athletic Union and the Athletic Research Society is unlikely, according to A. A. U. officials today. The aims of both organizations are similar, and there is no cause for a clash. The A. A. U. is willing, its officials state, that athletic federation branches established by the Athletic Research Society compete among themselves without A. A. U. registration. The only compulsory registration would be for athletes desiring to compete in A. A. U. open events.

James E. Sullivan, secretary of the A. A. U., says the efforts of the society to promote interest in athletics among young people all over the country meet with the approval of his organization.

"It is a good thing for sport and the research society is now starting to do what the A. A. U. has been doing for the last 30 years," said Mr. Sullivan. "If the society succeeds in missing all the churches, schools, settlements, playgrounds and similar associations under one great head it will be a great move. The A. A. U. will give all possible aid, and it will be a splendid thing for us."

Johnson Not Yet Matched.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight, said last night he had not signed any agreement to meet the winner of the Sam Langford-Jesse Jeannette fight, as reported in a dispatch from Paris.

My next fight will be in this country," the champion said in talking of the report. "I am my own manager, and if any one has me tangled up in a fight over there, I am not to blame. When the time comes for me to sign articles and talk over things pertaining to a battle, Jack Johnson will make all arrangements, and I will continue to do this until I appoint some one to act as my manager."

Johnson is willing to fight any man in the world under the auspices of Hugh D. McIntosh, provided he receives $10,000, win, lose or draw.

SAILORS TO COMPETE WITH CREWS IN BOATS.

Motor Craft to Hold Sway in Afternoon—Seamen to Partake of Feast in Evening.

Such an enthusiastic co-operative spirit has been evinced by firms and individuals on the waterfront in assisting to hold the races planned for Monday morning between seamen of various craft, that the committee reported last evening that the financial part represented by the few additional collectors today the programme will be finally decided on, prizes fixed and executives of the Seamen's Mission informed as to what will be available for the spread Monday evening, to which all seamen from ships in port will be welcomed.

Today officials of the course will be selected, flags arranged for the different boats and rules of the race and swimming events given out. In view of the fact there will be motorboat races in the afternoon, the committee desires to complete the sailors' programme by 12 o'clock, and a prompt start will be made from the start line. Captain Napender, of the big coaster Bear, is willing that his crew be represented, and if a boat can be prepared the ship will be in line, while others may be included in the list at Brown & McCabe's today.
