KLAMATH REDS MAY SELL

INDIAN RESERVATION LAND OF 800 ACRES ADVERTISED.

Farm Tracts and Timber Holdings to Be Disposed of Says Indian Agent Watson.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Jan. 2.—(Special)—Eight hundred acres of land belonging to the Klamath Indians on the reservation is now being advertised for sale by Indian Agent Watson. This is the second batch of Indian land which has been offered for sale on the Klamath reserve since the act of the Legislature of 1907 gave the Indians the right to dispose of holdings which came to them through deceased relatives.

Some of the lands offered in this sale are among the best farm land on the reserve while others are timber. The plan under which this is disposed of is that the owner has to apply to the Indian agent for a permit to dispose of such land as he owns which was left by a deceased relative. The agent then goes, or sends an agent, to appraise the tract and this appraisal is not to be known by any other than the agent or the man making it. Then it is advertised for 60 days and prospective buyers have to turn in their bids, sealed, to be opened on a certain date. If the bids are above the appraised price the agent accepts the highest bid, subject to the approval of the owner. The bids must be accompanied by a certified check for 10 per cent of the bid and when the sale is made 15 per cent more of the purchase price must be paid. The other payments are then arranged suitable to the agent, owner and purchaser in notes to draw interest until paid. When the final payment is made the purchaser then gets his patent.
