

MEMBERS OF BASEBALL LEAGUE GATHERING

Walter McCredie, Henry Berry and Happy Hogan Already in San Francisco.

SESSION DUE TONIGHT

Rumor Heard Again That Graham Will Not Accept Re-election to Presidency, but It Is Not Taken Seriously There.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—(Special.)—With Henry Berry, of Los Angeles; "Happy" Hogan, of Vernon, and Walter McCredie, of Portland, already on the ground, the adjourned annual meeting of the Pacific Coast League will have a full attendance when it is called at the St. Francis Hotel at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Aside from an unfounded rumor that has been denied, to the effect that Judge Graham might not accept the post for another year, there is everything to indicate that Judge Graham and D. W. Long will be re-elected as president and secretary respectively.

It there is said by Representative McCredie, there are enough votes to put through the incumbents without any trouble, unless they should decline to serve.

The Southern magnates arrived from Los Angeles in the morning, while Walter McCredie, who is here primarily to secure trade for his club, got in last night on the Shasta Limited.

McCredie Is Noncommittal. Walter McCredie was somewhat non-committal on the subject of election of officers and said that did not concern him to any extent. He wants to be sure that there is no change in the schedule which will work to the disadvantage of the Beavers and also wants to pick out training quarters.

Either Bill Curtis or Charlie Graham, or perhaps both of them, will be here to represent Sacramento, while Ewing and Walsh for San Francisco and Ed Walter, of Oakland, will round out the full list of delegates.

As the meeting is scheduled to take place in the evening, it is evident that the league officials do not anticipate any extended session.

VICTORIA GETS "BILL" LANE Eddie Householder Signs Twirler Formerly With Oakland.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—"Bill" Lane, best known as the star pitcher of the St. Vincent's team four years ago, is the latest of the local ball players to be grabbed by Eddie Householder for his new Victoria club, in the Northwest League. Lane today signed his contract.

After completing his college course, Lane pitched semi-professional ball here for some time and then went to the Stockton club for the State League, then as "outlaw" organization. Then he was offered more money by "Bill" Reidy to join the Oakland Cougars and he jumped into organized ball. Later he became dissatisfied with his berth on the Cougars and again berthed into the outlaw camp.

VANCOUVER LANDS LOCKWOOD Bob Brown Secures Washington "U" Star Player.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Bob Brown, manager of the Beavers, has just sent word from California that he has obtained the star collegiate player, Lockwood, from the University of Washington for this year's team.

Lockwood, though not anxious to become a professional, is a cracking good fielder and said to be fast enough to hold down a place on any minor league team.

EXERCISE IS PREVENTIVE Students Urged to Engage in Sports for General Health.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Outdoor exercise is the prescription given by Trainer Hayward, athletic director of the university, as the best general preventive of typhus germs. That every student may take an active part in winter athletics, Hayward is promoting soccer, rugby, lacrosse and cross-country, and his main effort will be to encourage the less robust members of the associated student body to take part in sports.

This step is the outgrowth of sentiment that student participation in athletics is not as general as it should be. The contention is that most of the students do not benefit from the games and that the tendency is to apply undue pressure upon comparatively few specially trained athletes.

Effective organization of the new system already has been accomplished here, and it is probable that rugby and soccer will be developed sufficiently to warrant the entrance of teams in the leagues with the City of Portland. It is understood that the Portland players are anxious for such an outcome.

STRONG SOCCER IS PROMISED All Stars and National Champions to Meet Tomorrow.

The annual soccer game between the All-Star eleven and the National champion team this year will be played on the Catholic Young Men's Athletic ground, Williams avenue and Station streets, tomorrow afternoon. The kickoff will be at 3:30 P. M. This probably will be the best game of the season, as the All-Star team is in fine shape and the Nationals will be able to put their best team in the field for this game. The lineup will be:

All Stars—Goal, Duncan (Oceanic); fullbacks, Macfie (Multnomah) and Pratt (Cricketers); halfbacks, Howard (Cricketers), Simmons (Multnomah) and H. Matthews (Multnomah); forwards, Dick and A. Matthews (Multnomah), and Albinson, Stewart and Gray (Cricketers). Nationals—Goal, Buchanan; fullbacks, Buchanan and Towne; halfbacks, Needham, Robertson and Hight; forwards, Babur, Inglis, Billington, Duncan and Gray.

FATHERPLEADS FOR SON DECLARES ERNEST WINKLEY INSANE WHEN HE KILLED.

Trial of Oregon Man at Everett, Wash., Opens With Defense Plea of Insanity.

EVERETT, Wash., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—That Ernest Winkley was insane when he shot and killed his wife, Viola, on the evening of October 14, was the contention of the defense today in outlining the case, and Henry Winkley, father of the accused, aged 70 years, a resident of Eugene, Or., was the first witness called.

He testified that Ernest's mother was insane on a number of occasions, the longest period being five and one-half months. He kept her at home the first six weeks of this period, and when he went to the field to sow his grain he hoped for a fight between two trees so that she could not run away. Relatives elsewhere took care of her the other four months.

Mrs. Winkley made two attempts to kill herself while deranged, on one occasion slashing her throat with a dull knife and on the other by wading into a stream of water with an 8-year-old child puting back on her skirts in an effort to get her to change her mind.

In outlining the case Attorney Cooley stated that his client had no actual knowledge of the killing, and that the revolver with which the crime was committed belonged to Viola Winkley, the dead woman. He asserted that the body of Ernest Winkley came into a kitchen of the Spicer residence and pressed a revolver to his brow. He struggled with her and gained possession of the weapon, and remembered nothing further until he found himself in his cabin.

CHINESE DEMAND LIBERTY Glamor for Assembly Aimed at Expulsion of Japanese.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 6.—Details of the visit of a Tientsin last month following the clamor for the immediate opening of a Chinese National Assembly and the granting of a constitution were received today by the Express in this city.

A great mob in which over 1000 students were the organizing force, made a demonstration in front of the Yamen of the Viceroy. Many of the youths cut off a finger, and some are reported to have broken their arms. Banners and documents inscribed with blood were much in evidence, and the whole scene said to have been shocking.

The Viceroy refused to show himself, saying he was ill. His secretary promised to memorialize Peking on behalf of the rioters.

Mukden and other cities, the agitation continues unabated and the coming new year holidays will be marked by great demonstrations in many cities. Several papers of Tokyo say the purpose of the Mukden radicals is to drive the Japanese out of Manchuria under the guise of promoting the immediate opening of a national assembly.

The Viceroy of Mukden received a reburial from Peking as a result of the memorial forwarded by him. Some of the banners carried at Mukden and Tientsin bore legends stating China would follow Portugal's example unless the demands of the people were acceded to.

TWO UMPIRES BEST Tinker and Jones Decried Lone Official System.

ONE MAN CAN'T SEE ALL Famous Baseball Players Think Pacific Coast League Is Making Grave Mistake Rejecting Plan of Double Umpires.

Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago National League club, and Fielder Jones, base-manager of the Chicago American League team, say the Pacific Coast League is making a grave mistake in rejecting the double umpire system.

Both diamond stars assert that the game of baseball has progressed to such an extent that one umpire cannot be expected to do his teams justice while handling a game alone.

"No umpire, I do not care how expert or honest, can handle a modern game of baseball and satisfy everyone," said Joe Tinker yesterday. "A single umpire cannot see two plays, and neither can he watch both first and third bases when there is more than one or two baserunners on the path. It does not matter how fair or impartial an official may be, when working alone, he is handicapped every time a runner gets to first base. He must either umpire the game from behind the plate or back of the pitcher's box, and in either case he cannot move quickly enough to judge close plays on the base accurately. This is especially so of the official behind the plate, and if he is behind the pitcher he will frequently err on balls hit along either the first or third-base line.

Instance Is Cited. "I have seen a ball hit along the third-base line in the ninth inning of a game called a fair ball, when there were at least two or three inches foul, and had it been properly judged the pitcher would have won a no hit, no run game. Being called a safe hit, it went for three bases and scored a runner, tying the score, and the batter afterwards scored the winning run.

"Not only are such instances an injustice to the pitcher and his team-mates, who are working hard to win, but are also displeasing to patrons of the game. That decision referred to cannot be blamed on the umpire, but on the fact that he was sharply hit ball and traveled fast, but the official, being located behind the pitcher, simply could not judge the play accurately. Had there been a double umpire, the man behind the plate could have judged the foul ball accurately, and the other man devoted his attention to the base-runner or runners and seen to it that they touched the bases in the order named.

Single Umpire Can't See All. "Many a game is won through a daring base-stealing attempt, and the failure of the umpire to see the play. Two good umpires don't miss these plays, and it pays any league to hire the best men they can get, and have two of them working together all the time. Keep the same pair of umpires together all season is another piece of advice I would give presidents of leagues, for the success in perfecting a set of signals and do better work together."

"I cannot add any more to what Tinker said," explained Jones for me, and every league should adopt it for the protection of not only the players, but the patrons as well. "I am sure that the two Chicago players brought out the interesting information that Joe Tinker had never been hit by a pitched ball since he joined the Chicago club in 1902, while on the other hand, Fielder Jones, during his stay with Comiskey, was most frequently wanted to first through stopping wild shoots of the pitchers' bats.

Having performed an original operation, a young medical student, C. Lisicum, was severely censured yesterday by the Board after testimony was given, indicating that Lisicum also had violated the state medical laws.

Dr. E. B. McDaniel, one of the members of the Board, said that Lisicum waited upon Mrs. Folsen three days before she died, and at that time represented himself as Dr. G. O. Pelgram. Lisicum is accused not only of practicing without a state license but also of assuming the name of a person who is a licensed and practicing physician.

Dr. W. B. Hamilton, who attended Mrs. Folsen after the operation had been performed and until the time of her death, introduced a note signed by Mrs. Folsen, in which she said Dr. E. B. McDaniel operated on her October 13 and that Dr. G. O. Pelgram, who was with her two or three days before, but that it had not resulted seriously.

Dr. Hamilton was asked if he told the grand jury the same facts he told the Medical Board and said he did. He was asked if the note, signed just before Mrs. Folsen died, was shown the grand jury, and said Dr. Norden showed it to the jury, and District Attorney McDaniel submitted the note to the coroner's jury.

Miss Peterson, who worked at the house during Mrs. Folsen's illness, Lisicum, Mrs. Folsen's husband, and Dr. Ben Norden also testified as to Mrs. Folsen's condition and as to what sort of operation Dr. E. B. McDaniel performed.

The hearing was continued until tonight when Miss R. Brown, a nurse, will arrive from Hood River to give testimony relative to the note signed by Mrs. Folsen before she died. Miss Brown was a witness to the signature.

GAVANESS NOW SOUGHT MAN WITH RECORD ACCUSED IN BULLION THEFT.

James Whelan Threatened With Bronchitis and May Be Held Under Guard in Hospital.

Frank Cavaness, a brother of Orville Cavaness, is being sought by the Federal authorities in connection with the theft of more than $75,000 in gold bullion from express and mail packages which were being shipped from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Seattle. The last seen of Cavaness was when he attended the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight at Reno, Nev., and he is reported to have gone from there to Mexico.

He was arrested in Portland about three years ago with "Doc" Sheehan and a man named Dorsey. They were accused of passing bills purporting to be issued by the Merchants' & Planters' Bank of Georgia, which is no longer in existence. The Federal judge sustained a demurrer to the indictment, this decision freeing the prisoners. The legal technicalities arose because the bills were actual impressions taken from one of the bank's electrolyte plates, although the bills were worthless. It is reported also that Cavaness is wanted in Canada for working a bunco game, securing about $300.

A charge of opium smuggling is also reported to have been lodged against Cavaness in Seattle.

James Whelan, manager of the Fargo Saloon, is still confined in the County Jail; "Ace" Hamilton, proprietor of the saloon, having failed thus far to raise the $15,000 bail required for his release. Whelan's attorney was closeted with him yesterday morning, Assistant United States District Attorney Evans and a Secret Service agent being present at the interview. Whelan is said to have denied strenuously that he is connected with the thieves, or that he was in possession of the stolen gold. Bronchitis is said to have fastened itself upon him, so that it may be necessary to remove him, under guard, to a hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Anna Clanshan, one of the successful applicants, averred that her husband was so jealous that he once attacked her with a butcher knife. She said she saved her life only after a hard struggle and much pleading.

Anna A. Zelms was released from Charles A. They have six children, and Mrs. Zelms testified that the head of the household regularly beat the entire family. She was awarded the custody of the children.
