Released From Rockpile After 90 Days' Confinement for Ill Conduct Toward Young Women, Arrest Again Follows.

STATE TAX COMMISSION SHOWS TAXABLE PROPERTY.

Released from the rockpile at Linton only five days ago, after serving 90 days for advertising for stenographers and insulting the girls who answered his call, Arley J. Townsend was arrested Saturday night by Detectives Carpenter and Price, charged with vagrancy. No overt acts are known to have been committed by Townsend since his release, but the information that the officers were again attracted to him when numbers of young women were seen visiting his quarters in the Oxford Hotel, 56 Sixth street.

Townsend was sentenced by Judge Tazewell on October 10, to be imprisoned at the rockpile for 90 days and to pay a fine of $100. Though he had little money at the time of his arrest, some unknown friend came forward and paid the fine, thereby setting him free on Tuesday and at once took quarters at the Oxford Hotel.

The former arrest of Townsend, by Detectives Graves, was occasioned by complaints made by Maud McCartney, 18 years old, a stenographer, and by Violet Thiele, of Omaha, guest at the Imperial Hotel, who had been told her story to the authorities. In investigating her case, it was discovered that Townsend had also similarly insulted Miss Thiele, causing her to flee from her room and move from the Imperial to the Oregon Hotel, where he made an attack upon her and took possession of her watch. Townsend sometimes used the name C. Y. Crane, and represented himself to be the owner of the Railway Exchange building. He dressed well and easily deceived the young women. After his arrest, letters received from young women in another city indicated that he had used similar methods with them.

Jersey Dairymen Sprays Hirsute Adornment Before Milking.

MONTECLAIR, N. J., Jan. 15.—The process of milking is being improved by the introduction of many new ideas, but one of the most original is that adopted by the owner of a large dairy near here. This dairyman has brought to a realization of the presence of dust in his otherwise perfectly appointed barn a few days ago by a glimmer of sunlight on the dust particles. Thereupon the dairy owner gave orders that before milking time the tail of each cow was to be sprayed with an atomizer containing filtered water, and now when the cows sweep their tails while the milking is under way there is no likelihood of their picking contaminating dust into the pails.

ATNEY FOR COLLECTION. The note was made in favor of Stimpson and signed by J. O. Rosa. Stimpson demanded that the collection be made at once, as it showed it was already overdue.

THE ATTORNEY CARRIED ON CORRESPONDENCE WITH ROSS AT PORTLAND. Letters were received from Ross explaining that he would be in position soon to take up the note as he had sold a carload of the stock to an Omaha concern for $45,000. He remitted a cashier's check issued by the First National Bank at Portland for $250 to cover the interest on the alleged note. The attorney advised Stimpson of the situation, but Stimpson still insisted that the note be taken up at once. Stimpson was introduced at the bank and deposited the $250 cashier's check, which was genuine, and $400 in cash. With $650 in hand, he and the attorney, standing sponsor for him, Stimpson was now prepared to receive re-

EAST SIDE MEETING REJECTS RAILROAD'S REQUEST.

Meeting Called to Indorse Mount Hood Company Plan Takes Opposite Action.

Opponents of the proposed franchise over East Side streets asked for by the Mount Hood Railway & Power Company was Saturday night at a mass meeting of the citizens held in the First Universalist Church, East Twenty-fourth street and Broadway. The meeting had been called to Indorse the franchise, but property owners on "Vedette" street and other streets in the neighborhood of the three hours discussion it was voted as the sense of the meeting that the franchise be not granted. The vote was 45 against the franchise to 29 for it. The result throws the entire question into the council for solution.

THE FRANCHISE WAS READ BY FRANK MOTTEN, C. B. Smith, representing the Mount Hood Railway & Power Company, said that the company had already spent $100,000 and was engaged in constructing an interurban railway, but that it would like to maintain a local streetcar service of eight miles.

WILLIAM REIDT SPOKE FOR THE FRANCHISE and declared that Portland needed interurban service, and that the property on Schuyler street, and would give the company $1000 to put its track on that street.

Opposition to the franchise was led by John H. Stevenson, Samuel G. White, L. D. Wolfard and Sidney Smith. Among those who favored it were: Miller Murdoch, Frank Motter, John B. Coffey and C. L. Ross. Councilman Menefee would make a brief statement at the close of the long discussion in which he said that he was open to suggestions. The question, cash, less attorney's fees, was $1000. In the latter part of last May Rosa sent a certified check for $2300 to the attorney, who immediately took up the note and paid Stimpson the $2300 in cash, less attorney's fees, but it is later the check was found to be bogus.

THE NEXT PLACE WAS SEATTLE, where they successfully worked the same deal before the People's Savings Bank, which $1521.83 in cash. In Tacoma they victimized the Bank of California by the same methods to the extent of $750. They went to Berkeley following their operations on Puget Sound, but it is not known that they carried on their fraudulent game there.

They operated in Nevada early last Fall, defrauding the Bank of Sparks at Sparks, Nev., of $1445 and the Washoe County Bank at Reno, Nev., of $1400.

THE GANG ARRIVED AT WALLA WALLA in October and remained there more than a month. It was in that city where Rose Correll is first known to have been an accomplice of Thorpe and Rosa. She is said to be a beautiful young woman, while in Walla Walla she represented herself as an author and to be a distant relative of Marie Correll, the novelist.

MONEY LAVISHED ON WOMAN.

Through letters of credit of the Walteburg National Bank, Thorpe and Rosa were able to defraud three banks at Walla Walla and to finance the merchants. The Baker-Beyer National Bank lost $375, J. L. Eliam's bank $400 and the Third National Bank $400. It is estimated that Thorpe and Rosa were worth of diamonds, jewels and clothing, most of which was lavished upon Rosa Correll.

From Walla Walla the trio went to La Grande and Baker, but they were unable to receive encouragement at either place. From Baker, Thorpe was traced by the detectives to the South. He finally arrived at Hot Springs, Ark., where he was cutting a wide swath at the time of his arrest last Saturday.

THADDEUS YORK, who was arrested at Hot Springs six months ago, as a suspicious character, is accused by the detectives to be implicated with Thorpe and Ross in their operations.

Man of Many Aliases Hit Scores in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—In the capture by the Pinkerton Detective Agency's St. Louis representative on Saturday of the author of both C. E. Everett, the author of the biggest bank swindlers that has operated through the Pacific coast country in several years. Everett is a man of many aliases, is said to have taken more than $50,000 from banks in San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Reno and Sparks, Nev. in the last 18 months.

THE SPECIFIC CHARGE ON WHICH HE WAS ARRESTED Saturday was the swindling of the People's Savings Bank of Seattle out of between $100 and $200 last August. In this city he worked under the aliases of Roy R. Thorpe and George W. Mier.

According to the representative of Pinkerton's Detective Agency here, the Merchants' National Bank of Portland, was the heaviest loser. Everett, under the alias Roy R. Thorpe, is said to have made $2300 in one transaction. Seattle detectives say that Everett operated in Portland along virtually the same lines as in Seattle, Tacoma and Walla Walla. He was charged with establishing banking relations through the bank's legal counsel, whose confidence he would gain before issuing forged checks $100 and $200 last August. Sheriff Robert Hodge will go to Olympia tomorrow to obtain requisition papers. The Pinkertons had trailed Everett since last October, but were unable to gather sufficient incriminating evidence and a verification of his identity until they found him at Hot Springs, Ark. Joseph T. Greenleaf, of the People's Savings Bank, while admitting his bank has been victimized by Everett's clever system, declined to discuss the matter in detail last night.

Appearing at the People's Bank last August under the name of Roy R. Thorpe, representing himself to be an Alaskan miner, he deposited $500 and asked to be directed to a reputable attorney, as he had a note that he desired to collect. In this instance he was sent to Attorney W. W. Thompson, in whose hands he placed the note on some man supposed to be at Ketchikan, Alaska. He going to Alaska himself he is said to have met the note, paying it under the fictitious name, and obtaining a draft on a New York bank through the Miners' & Merchants' Bank of Ketchikan.

In obtaining this draft from the Ketchikan bank he obtained the cashier's signature, and he is charged with the signature was forged on other bogus drafts on the New York bank which Everett cashed at other cities.

Returning to Seattle from Alaska he refused to discuss the matter, but the note which he had given the lawyer to collect, cashed one of the bogus drafts and then withdrew his $500 deposit.

SAFER IN TIME OF WAR WITHOUT FORTIFICATIONS, SAY SIGNERS OF APPEAL.

DAWN OF PEACE IS SEEN

Men and Women Publicists Declare United States Would Be Insincere in Arming Portals.

COST ALSO OBJECTION.

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—A statement embodying six reasons why the Panama Canal should be neutralized, bearing the signatures of men and women prominent in the United States and abroad, was made public today. Richard Olney, ex-Secretary of State, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr. University; William Dean Howells, author; Charles P. Anderson, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Chicago; William H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University; Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; George H. Holt, Justice of the United States District Court and George Foster Peabody, of the New York banker, are among the signers of the document. The statement follows:

"Why the Panama Canal should be neutralized, not fortified."

"Because the canal would be safer in war time without fortifications. According to the statement signed by the League conference in 1907, fortified coast places cannot be bombarded."

Neutrality First Intended.

"2. Because the original intention of our Government, as distinctly expressed in 1900 and previously, was to prohibit fortifications on the canal. Though this prohibition was omitted in the finally agreed Hay-Pauncefote treaty, signed in 1902, this in no wise implied that we ought to fortify it, nor was its construction proposed as primarily a military undertaking."

"Because though the Suez Canal was built with English money, England agreed to its neutralization. The Straits of Magellan are also neutralized, and the International Union in 1910 declared in favor of the neutralization of all inter-oceanic waterways."

"4. Because the United States in all its history has never been attacked and never every foreign war it ever had, and is too important a customer for any great nation at this late day to wantonly attack."

Canada Line Is Example.

"5. Because with the experience of nearly a century's peace with England insured by our undefined Canadian border, it is not necessary to fortify complete arbitration treaties with all possible future enemies and have been refused, we should be insincere in incurring the expense of fortifying the canal, especially in view of the fact that since 1862 the nations have signed 100 arbitration treaties and President Taft has made the impressive declaration that we are not to move by force of arms, and that we will not resort to force of arms whatever should not be arbitrated; that the second Hague conference in various ways diminished the likelihood of resort to force, and that the British ships in time of war, as well as in time of peace, and while it is probably true that no other nation could claim any advantage by virtue of this treaty, it is also true that we have thereby placed ourselves under moral obligation to maintain an open canal for the ships of all nations at all times, in war as well as in peace."

Expense Would Be Heavy.

"6. Because in the words of David J. Foster, chairman of the committee of foreign affairs in the House of Representatives, 'The cost of the necessary fortifications would not be less than $25,000,000; in all probability, it would not be less than $50,000,000. The annual expense of maintaining such fortification 200 miles from home would probably amount to $5,000,000.'"

"We are bound by solemn treaty obligations to see to it that the canal shall be kept open for the free passage of British ships in time of war, as well as in time of peace, and while it is probably true that no other nation could claim any advantage by virtue of this treaty, it is also true that we have thereby placed ourselves under moral obligation to maintain an open canal for the ships of all nations at all times, in war as well as in peace."

BOYS WEAK ON SEWING PLAN TO RUB OFF 'ROUGH PLACES' OF NO AVAIL.

Chicago Schools Try to Make Youngsters Into Seamstresses, but Find Them Skittish.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(Special.)—The "rough and virile mannerisms" that make for the success of Chicago boys are said to be the reason why the city's plan to make its young boys into seamstresses is being abandoned.

THE SCHOOLS TEACHERS—the women are under suspicion—who thought they would "rub off the rough places" by having the boys sew articles of dainty white muslin discovered yesterday that neither the fathers nor the superintendent approved of that method.

Mrs. Young embodied her ideas on the subject in a circular letter sent to the teachers, in which she emphatically set forth that boys should not be called upon to make anything with a needle that they would not have use for themselves.

COARSE MARBLE BAGS. Carriers for skates. Carpenters' aprons. Heavy mittens.

THE TROUBLE BEGAN SOME DAYS ago when the course of sewing in the elementary grades was opened to boys as well as girls. The boys, it was discovered, had been put to sewing white muslin.

But, contrary to their expectations, the fathers weren't proud of their sons' accomplishments. On the contrary, they indignantly complained to Mrs. Young, asking why such useless tasks should be set for otherwise manly boys.

Water for Use of Legislators at Salem to Be Boiled.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Oregon's legislators will be served tomorrow with hot water for drinking. Responsive to resolutions adopted by both houses last week, Chief Janitor Rockwell has provided two 60-gallon water tanks, each of which will be kept filled with the germ-free water. One of these tanks will be placed in a committee room at the rear of the Senate chamber and the other will be in the Representative Hall.

Provision for this pure water supply was considered expedient by the legislators in view of typhoid fever epidemic at Eugene and a similar epidemic in Salem less than two years ago. Both cities get their water supply from the Willamette River.

ALBANY TO HAVE FIVE-STORY BUILDING.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Albany's first five-story building will be erected the coming summer. It will be built by the First National Bank and will probably stand on property owned by that institution at the north corner of Commercial and Broadway streets, just across the street from the site chosen for Albany's Federal building. The new building will be constructed of brick and will be a handsome structure.
